Dept. of Economic Development to attack urban problems

Carter aides study new cabinet-level post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressed to develop a comprehensive strategy for dealing with urban ills, President Carter's advisers are considering the possibility of creating a new Cabinet-level Department of Economic Development.

Administration sources said consideration of a new department is included in a reorganization study of federal programs that are aimed at promoting local economic development.

That study now is being speeded up as part of an overall White House push to quickly devise an extensive urban strategy.

Although there was no indication Carter directly ordered that consideration be given to creating a new Cabinet department, it was learned he has been informed about the study's proposal.

According to several sources, the new Cabinet department could assume a variety of economic development tasks that currently are spread among existing agencies, such as the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Commerce, Agriculture and Labor departments.

The major economic development tasks currently are carried out in the Commerce Department, under its Economic Development Administration, and at the Agriculture Department, which operates a rural development program.

The latest department to be created was the Department of Energy, which took form only this year. During his campaign for president, Carter had also mentioned the possibility of forming a Cabinet education department. That idea is now under study.

The White House effort to develop a broad urban policy was given high priority following recent complaints to Carter by members of the Congressional Black Caucus and by spokesmen for the urban poor. The push to develop a White House urban program is being directed by Stuart Eizenstat, the President's assistant for domestic affairs and policy.

Two bodyguards also killed in ambush

President of Basque province slain

GUERNICA, Spain (AP) — The Basque president of Vizcaya province was shot to death Saturday in an ambush outside his jai lai court. His two police bodyguards were also killed and a driver was seriously wounded in the submachinegun attack.

Police sources said the killings were apparently the work of the Basque separatist organization ETA, which seeks independence for the Basque provinces of northern Spain. Guernica is a symbolic center of Basque nationalism.

Augusto Unceta Barrenechea, 53, president of the Vizcaya provincial government, was shot in the face and chest as he stepped from his car for his regular jai lai workout, police said. His guards were fatally shot while still in the car.

Police said the wounded guards tried to turn their car in the direction of the attack, but crashed into a car full of teenage girls, none of whom were injured.

Police sealed off the town and launched an intensive search for the killers.

The attack was the worst since rightist gunmen killed eight leftists in Madrid last January. It came as Suarez and his government prepared to grant amnesty to Spain's remaining political prisoners and negotiated to return to the Basques the autonomy they lost at the end of the Spanish civil war in 1939.

Police noted that ETA had announced only 24 hours earlier that amnesty was not enough and that it was fighting for independence to establish a Marxist state in the Basque region.

Carter signs after considering veto

New law may cut benefits for 16,000 vets

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter signed legislation Saturday that could result in a loss of veteran benefit elibility for some of the 16,000 persons whose military discharges were upgraded under an administration program.

A White House spokesman said Carter seriously considered vetoing the bill but decided, on balance, that the legislation will help veterans.

The White House announced Carter's signing of the measure, but the President was at Camp David in Maryland's Catoctin mountains for a three-day weekend with wife Rosalynn and daughter Amy.

There had been speculation during the day that the President would veto the measure, which had been sent to him on Sept. 23. It would have been the first veto of his administration.

"It was a close call," said presidential assistant Stuart Eizenstat.

The measure does not change the honorable discharges granted under Carter's program that was aimed at upgrading discharges of some Vietnam-era veterans. About 16,000 veterans who originally left the service with less-than-honorable papers took advantage of Carter's program.

The bill requires a case-by-case reevalution of the eligibility of those veterans for Veterans Administration benefits.

Veterans whose discharges were upgraded under Carter's program had automatically been eligible for VA benefits.

Carter said in a statement that the requirement for the reevaluation was one of the provisions that troubled him and "which I will attempt to alleviate by submitting legislation next year."

The White House said less than 100 of the 16,000 veterans who received the upgraded discharges have sought and received VA benefits.

Admits ruining masterpieces

Art vandal, 40, 'must destroy'

HAMBURG, West Germany (AP) — A 40-year-old widower, who told investigators, "I must destroy what other men cherish," has confessed to vandalizing nearly a dozen art treasures in West German galleries, police said Saturday.

Hans-Joachim Bohlmann, described by police as emotionally disturbed, was arrested Friday night at his apartment in Hamburg, where the first attacks took place seven months ago.

The arrest came eight hours after acid was sprayed on four paintings, two of them by the Dutch master Rembrandt, in a gallery in Kassel, 150 miles south of Hamburg.

Police said Bohlmann, who is unemployed, suffered from "pent-up aggression" which was relieved by destroying art treasures.

After the Kassel attack, visitors to the gallery in the Wilhelmshoehe Palace told police they had seen a suspicious man near the paintings just before the damage was discovered.

According to authorities, Kassel police screened hotel records and found that Bohlmann had booked a room for a week but checked out prematurely soon after the attack.

The description of Bohlmann given by hotel employes matched that provided by the gallery visitors.

Crowd of 2,000 attacks Nazis

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Eight uniformed Nazis dodged eggs, tomatoes, sticks and fists Saturday as an angry crowd of 2,000 disrupted an attempted white-power demonstration, police said.

"We're Americans. We should be allowed to speak," cried one member of the National Socialist White Workers party at the ill-fated demonstration.

"Down with scum! We don't want scum in the valley!" was the shouted reply from the crowd.

Police Sgt. Thomas Seck said there were 17 arrests in the brief melee in St. James Park. One policeman was slightly injured by a flying object and one of those arrested was taken to a local hospital with minor injuries.

Several hundred people had crammed city council chambers Friday, when the council voted 5-2 to reverse its decision to revoke the Nazi's permit and granted them permission to hold the rally.

Mayor Janet Gray Hayes, who switched her stand on the controversy, said in a joint statement with Councilman Jim Self the city was legally bound to grant the permit.

"We do not condone the Nazi party. They are a despicable and pitiful group which represents the worst example of hatred the world has ever seen," the statement said.

"There are many people who are outraged that we are changing our votes, but I have to do what's right," Hayes said.

The council also granted the Equal Rights Committee the right to hold a rally in the same downtown park. The group had vowed to hold a counter-demonstration to any Nazi demonstration.

OFFICER JUDY HAINES—'FREEZE'

Foil jewelry store holdup

2 ladies go into action, jail 4 male suspects

By CONRAD CASLER
PB Staff Writer

Two women — -one using guile and the other big bore diplomacy — - helped break up a Glendora jewelry store robbery Saturday landing four young valley men in jail.

Arrest of the quartet may have solved another jewelry store hiest an hour earlier in Claremont, police said.

The bizarre case began at 1 p.m. when two young men sauntered into Mayfair Jewelers at Baseline Road and Grand Avenue in Glendora and looked at jewelry displays. They then walked out and met two other men outside, police said.

Clerk Mary Dzierwa became suspicious and called police. While she was on the phone, three of the young men walked back in brandishing pistols.

"Your watch is ready, sir," Mrs. Dzierwa told the police officer to whom she was talking.

"Are you being robbed?" he asked at his end of the phone line.

"Yes," she answered sweetly and hung up.

Officer Judy Haines, a Glendora patrolwoman for 16 months, was just getting into her car a mile from the robbery scene when she heard the robbery broadcast on her police radio.

She raced to the small shopping center just in time to see police Agent John Maycock chasing one suspect into an alley nearby. Officer Haines stopped her car and ran to Maycock's aid as the suspect tossed a gun into a trash can, then dashed through a restaurant rear door out the front door with both officers in pursuit.

Chaffey student, 17, shot at football game

A 17-year-old Chaffey High School student was shot in an altercation on the campus about 9:35 p.m. Friday evening as the football game at the school stadium was ending.

Bruce Lewman was reported in fair and stable condition at Ontario Community Hospital Saturday night after receiving a blast from a .410 shotgun with a sawed off barrel.

Police said that Lewman was shot following an altercation between a group of white and Latin youths in the north quad area of the campus near the swimming pool. Officers said that the severity of Lewman's wounds was reduced because he did not receive the full brunt of the blast directly, but at an angle when he was struck in the left shoulder and chest by the pellets shotgun.

Police said that the weapon believed used in the incident was found this morning under a bush in the 1300 block of North Euclid Avenue.

No arrests have been made, but police are continuing their investigation.

'It sounded like an earthquake'

Airplane flap slams Walnut home

One of three pieces of an aircraft landing flap which fell from a Houston to Los Angeles jetliner Saturday, slammed through a roof and window of a Walnut home.

Two other pieces of the flap wrenched from the Continental Airlines DC10, fell harmlessly in the 19800 block of Valley Boulevard and the 500 block of Camino de Teodoro.

Daniel Thomas of 19919 Camino de Rosa, a night accountant at a Los Angeles newspaper, said he was sleeping when the flap hit his roof, bounced onto a camper truck in the driveway, then richocheted through a picture window scattering glass and debris into the home.

"It sounded like an earthquake. It really shook the house," Thomas said. "My father-in-law from Holland was out in the front yard yelling in Dutch 'Airplane, Airplane.' I ran out and he was pointing up the hill and over the other way where the other two pieces fell, "Thomas said.

No one was injured in the 11 a.m. mishap which apparently occurred as the pilot lowered his flaps for the landing approach to LAX. Thomas said the piece of flap which hit his home weighed more than 200 pounds. "It took four sheriff's deputies to carry it off," he said.

The aircraft landed at LAX without incident.

Thomas said the flap hit directly on a roof beam when it struck his house. "Otherwise it would have come right through the roof and ceiling," he said.

Cause of the mishap was not immediately known but is under investigation.

Thomas said no one from the airline has contacted him. "I haven't heard from those turkeys yet," he said.

Police jail Chino man after valley shooting

West End heriff's deputies are today continuing their search for persons involved in a shooting Friday evening at at a Cucamonga shopping center.

Following an altercation between two men, Craig Stankiewicz and Ronald Livengood, and a group of Latins at the Sunrise Shopping Center, Base Line Road and Carnelian Avenue, Stankiewicz was shot with a large caliber handgun.

Deputies said that the altercation broke out in the shopping center's parking lot with heated words exchanged about 8:40 p.m. Members of the Latin group apparently pulled the gun from their car and shot Stankiewicz in the chest.

Livengood then proceeded to chase the group of Latins on foot for several blocks before deputies from the West End Sheriff's substation arrived.

Arrested was Paul Andrew Malgra, 32, of Second Street in Chino. Deputies are continuing their investigation of the incident.

Stankiewicz was treated at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland where he was reported in fair condition Saturday night.

Police seek two suspects

Ontario police are searching today for two male Latin adults believed to be involved with a burglary and attempted rape in the 200 block of East California Street Friday night.

Police said the burglary and attack took place about 9:45 p.m. Friday with two suspects, in their 20s, seen fleeing on a dark colored Japanese motorcycle.

Compton man, 22, booked

100 mph freeway chase ends in arrest

A 100-mile per hour freeway chase ended in the arrest of a Compton man late Friday night by Montclair police near the intersection of Rosewood Avenue and Orange Street in Ontario.

Montclair police said Leonard White, 22, was arrested after officers responded to a call of a break in at the apartment of Diane Marchinsky, 9414 Benson Ave., Montclair about 11 p.m. Friday.

When officers arrived at the scene, they were informed that White had broken into the apartment. When he failed to stop as he pulled away from the curb officers went into pursuit through Montclair and Ontario at speeds up to 70 miles per hour.

White's car entered the San Bernardino Freeway eastbound at Mountain Avenue with officers still in pursuit in a 100-mile per hour chase. He left the freeway at Fourth Street in Ontario and was then stopped by police.

The child was recovered in White's car by Montclair police.

3 burglars are sought

Montclair police are today searching for three burglars who stole an estimed $4,000 worth of household items from a Montclair apartment Friday night.

Police said the home of January Kirt, 10390 Amherst St. was burglarized about 11 p.m. Friday with numerous household items taken.

Police said they are looking for three black males approximately 5-feet, 9-inches in height and ranging in age from 19 to 21 who were seen fleeing the scene on foot.

Two women come to the rescue

Maycock nabbed his suspect when the man dashed headlong into a moving car in the shopping center and fell. "He was looking over his shoulder when he heard me click a round (of ammunition) into my shotgun and he didn't see the car," Maycock said.

Officer Haines a few steps behind Maycock was passing the front door of the jewelry shop when two other suspects burst out and almost ran into her.

"I was only three feet from them when they came out," she said. "I leveled my 9 mm (automatic pistol) and them and told them to get their hands on the wall.

"Yes, m'am," m'am, was all they said. Then my walkie talkie started broadcasting information about the robbery and that all four suspects were armed. 'Don't you move,' I told them,' Officer Haines said.

"Yes, m'am," they said again.

"It couldn't have been over a couple of minutes until other officers got there and we got them (the suspects) on the ground and handcuffed them," she said.

Meanwhile two other patrolmen nabbed the getaway car driver suspect as he attempted to flee the shopping center.

Miss Haines said she wasn't scared during the chase and capture. "That old adrenalin was really moving through my bloodstream," she said.

Glendora detectives said an hour before the Glendora robbery attempt, two robbers, either women or men dressed as women, robbed Foster Jewelry at 310 N. Yale Ave. in Claremont. That pair escaped with a large quantity of diamond jewelry and watches after threatening and shoving two young women clerks.

Glendora police said although the car used in the Glendora robbery was not the same as the one in Claremont, a jacket worn by one of the suspects was identical to one worn in the Claremont holdup. Investigation of that link is continuing.

Held on robbery bookings at Glendora jail are Earl Lee, 18, of Monrovia; Ozine Matthews, 21, of 1449 E. D St., Ontario, and two juveniles — -one on probation following a burglary conviction, police said.

The getaway car seized in Glendora was stolen earlier Saturday in Ontario, police said.

"This was the first time I've been involved in a 211 (robbery)," Officer Haines, all 118 pounds of her, said.

Deadly brotherhood born of prison life

Blood in, blood out—Mexican Mafia wages a war of terror

By BILL GARDNER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bruno Chavez wasn't a kid anymore. At 29, he was slowing down, getting tired of the killings and the deadly brotherhood of the gang known as the Mexican Mafia. He decided to quietly drop out and go his own way.

It was a fatal mistake. His former comrades stabbed him 12 times.

That's the story as told by Edward Gonzales, a former Mexican Mafia member who has turned state's evidence.

Gonzales told a grand jury last spring that he was present when the Mexican Mafia voted to kill Chavez. Gonzales said Chavez was killed because he wanted to stop doing Mexican Mafia business and to "kick on back and just live his life."

Law enforcement experts on the Mexican Mafia tell the same story.

> 'There's no retirement from the Mexican Mafia . . . You've got to spill someone's blood to get in . . . they spill yours if you try to get out'

"It's a blood in, blood out organization," said another. "You've got to spill someone's blood to get in. They spill yours if you try to get out."

Active primarily in California, the Mexican Mafia has spilled a lot of blood in the state over the past 2½ years. A police intelligence officer who has kept score since January 1975 blames about 100 killings on the Mexican Mafia or its rival gang, the Nuestra Familia, including more than 40 such killings already this year.

Fresno alone has had 18 gang killings since last fall, and in Los Angeles, police have declared war on the Mexican Mafia following a recent spate of violence. But the murders stretch throughout the state and are often brutal. A few examples from this year:

—Pomona, Jan. 21: Carlos N. Rodriguez, .12-gauge shotgun fired point-blank at his face.

—San Jose, Feb. 8: Raul Mendoza, shot with .45-caliber pistol and dumped in culvert.

—Los Angeles, Feb. 15: George Felix, stabbed more than 30 times.

—Sacramento, Feb. 17: Ellen Delia, shot three times in the head.

—Monterey County, July 18: Gracie Maria Hernandez, stabbed numerous times, shot twice in the head, car set afire.

—Fresno, July 28: Frank Neri Vindiola, 36, shot three times in chest, once in head.

The Mexican Mafia — who are they and what do they want?

The gang was born in the state prison system in the late 1950s but in the past few years has set up business on the streets as inmates were turned loose. They went home to their neighborhoods, banged on the door of the local drug dealer and demanded a piece of the action.

If he was stubborn, they killed him. Unless the dealer had a small army of bodyguards, he didn't have much choice. "What's the guy going to do, call the cops and say his drug business is getting ripped off?" asked one investigator.

Most officials won't talk on the record about the Mexican Mafia, but they estimate there are several hundred members, about half in prison and half on the streets. Many persons contacted in connection with this story would talk only if their names were not used.

Many Californians have probably never heard the term Mexican Mafia and find it hard to believe such a group exists. Some might think it's a derogatory term used by police to refer to any criminal activity in Mexican-American areas. But the gang named

Buys two luxurious railway sleeping cars

He gambles $100,000 that wealthy people like old trains

MONTE CARLO (AP) — An American businessman, gambling $100,000 that he can make nostalgia pay off, bought a pair of luxurious 1920s railway sleeping cars at auction here Saturday.

James Sherwood, the 44-year-old president of Sea Container, Inc., said he planned to use the two 16-bed sleeping cars to carry wealthy tourists from London through Paris to his company's luxury hotel in Venice, the Cipriane.

The auction was touted by its organizer, the British firm of Sotheby Parke Bernet, as a sale for society buffs ready to drop a little fortune to realize memories of days when plush railroad cars rumbled across Europe carrying the nobleborn or the rich in bygone splendor.

But the auctioneers missed their mark.

Most of the bidders were businessmen interested less in high life than in turning a profit from the romantic nostalgia of trains like the Orient Express and the Fleche d'Or.

Sherwood, from Lexington, Ky., told reporters: "I don't know much about trains myself but I'm surrounded by people who do."

"Nostalgic train travel seems to have touched a nerve in people who are looking for a little adventure," he said.

A dining car also in the five-coach lot went for $58,000 to the Zurich-based Intraflug travel agency that operates an modern-day Orient Express between Zurich and Istanbul. Intraflug charges its passengers $950 a head.

The final two cars, another sleeper and an opulent lounge car with embossed velvet wingchairs and inlaid glass floral designs in its wood paneling, went to a nervous, thick-browed bidder who insisted on remaining anonymous.

He signed certified checks for the total price of $132,000 with a trembling hand in the name "Andre Paccard."

"It's personal, it's personal," he responded when asked what he planned to do with the cars.

Later, however, the man told a bystander the coaches would be used commercially. There was speculation he planned to turn them into a restaurant.

Sotheby Chairman Peter Wilson, who ran the auction, estimated the cars would cost about $425,000 apiece to build today. That is three times what they cost when the Compagnie Internationale des Wagon-Lits — the European equivalent of the American coachmaker Pullman — had them built in the 1920s.

Zamora's lawyer joining drive to curb violence on television

MIAMI (AP) — The lawyer who claimed his young client was driven to kill by "the bizarre and unusual murders" on television said Saturday that he was joining a national campaign against television violence.

"There are millions of people in this country who think that television is affecting their children," said Ellis Rubin. "I think the Ronny Zamora case will give this a direction."

Rubin defended Zamora, 15, on charges of first-degree murder in the shooting of his elderly next-door neighbor. The junior high school student faces a minimum of 25 years in jail. A jury found him guilty Thursday.

Rubin said he has been contacted by several organizations, including one from the Methodist Church and a group led by Nicholas Johnson, a former Federal Communications Commission member who is fighting TV violence.

"I think there is a great movement out there," Rubin said. "I'm going to devote as much to it as I can."

Rubin's announcement came during a press conference called by the boy's parents to ask for public support in appealing the case.

Four die as plane crashes into home

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — A twin-engine plane crashed into a home and burst into flames Saturday, killing a woman in the kitchen and three people aboard the aircraft, police said.

Six other occupants of the house escaped safely before the two-story building was destroyed by fire, said Fire Chief Otto Jensen.

The Piper Navajo, registered to Mark 50 Machinery, Inc. of Portland, Ore., took off from Pearson Airpark here about 8:30 a.m. and crashed minutes later, police said.

Authorities said they believed only three persons were aboard the plane.

Jensen said it appeared one of the plane's engines may have stalled. He said Federal Aviation Administration and National Transportation Safety Board officials were investigating the accident.

S.B. man is killed in shootout

WRIGHTWOOD (AP) — A San Bernardino man has been killed in a canyon shootout with San Bernardino County sheriff's officers, officers say.

John F. Schweikart Jr., 23, was pronounced dead on arrival at a Loma Linda hospital Friday night after being flown there by helicopter from Lone Pine Canyon where the fatal shootout occurred.

Deputy Sonja Barber said Schweikart had been arrested at a Wrightwood service station Friday after an employe reported that he resembled a robber who had held up the place several days earlier.

16 persons injured in railroad accident

SPENCER, N.C. (AP) — Sixteen passengers were injured Saturday when a Southern Railway train derailed in a switching yard, smashing into several freight cars sitting on an adjacent track.

Three persons were admitted to Rowan Memorial Hospital in nearby Salisbury. The rest were treated and released.

Southern Railway officials said 135 passengers were aboard the Southern Crescent, which was enroute from Washington, D.C., to Atlanta and New Orleans.

Four engines, two baggage cars and nine passenger cars including the diner and lounge car were derailed, a spokesman said. None overturned, but one of the freight cars was knocked on its side.

"It was rough for a few minutes. The car was on the ground and felt like it was going sideways," said conductor R.E. McCowan. "All the signals was clear, we don't know what happened."

A malfunction in a switch appeared to cause the 2:50 a.m. accident, said a railyard worker who asked his name not be used.

60 days to answer treaty suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has 60 days to tell a federal judge why he believes the House of Representatives should have no say in the ratification of the Panama Canal treaty.

Seven Democrats joined 44 Republican House members Monday in filing suit against Carter to force him to submit the pact to both houses of Congress.

Meanwhile, several members of Congress are lined up to testify today before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which is holding hearings on the treaty.

Opposition to the pact is considered stronger in the House than in the Senate, but House members will have no vote on the treaty unless the congressmen win their case in court. The House would, however, have to approve funds to carry out certain provisions ratified by the Senate.

Actually, there are two treaties, but they are considered indivisible. Under one the United States would turn over sovereignty of the Canal Zone to Panama by the year 2000. The other would always permit the United States to militarily ensure the neutrality of the canal.

In their suit, the House members told U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker that both houses of Congress must vote on the pact since it would dispose of U.S. property acquired under an act of Congress in 1903.

Barrington gave the President two months to respond.

Vacant castle is royal concern

IONE, Calif. (AP) — Up in the Sierra foothills sits a 120room castle with 20 fireplaces. Nobody knows what to do with it, and efforts by local townspeople to restore it have hit a dead end.

A few years ago a newspaper article excited some interest in the site, and a couple from Southern California wrote that they would like to be the castle's baron and baroness.

But nobody — the tiny city of Ione, the rural county of Amador 90 miles east of San Francisco or the State of California — has come up with an idea and any money to take care of the castle, built in the 1890s as a state reform school.

"We're at a dead end. It will just fall down eventually, go to pieces. It's all just leading to decay," says Audrey Miller, the mayor of Ione.

The castle's roof is falling in. Many of its windows are broken. Birds, owls, pigeons and even a fox, are the castle's residents.

Years ago the structure's furnishings were removed by the state and some of the material was used in restoration projects elsewhere.

Back in 1958 the state decided to quit using the old structure and knock it down, but local residents signed a petition and fought the move until the state abandoned the idea.

"It has really become something people expect to see there. It would be understandable if it fell down in the middle of the night," said C.A. Terhune, superintendent of the state-run Preston School of Industry which surrounds the castle.

"But to come in with bulldozers and drop it would cause some heavy concerns," said Terhune, who heads the Youth Authority facility for 400 offenders from 17 to 24.

People get excited about possible uses for the castle when they see it, Terhune says, but the cost of revamping the castle always acts as a "major stumbling block."

This stumbling block has finally become too much for Mrs. Miller. She says she will write the local merchants' association to recommend disbanding the campaign.

Smooth ride for bus plan

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's court-ordered school desegregation program is well into its second year, and the debate over the pupil busing issue has diminished from a shout to a whisper.

To the surprise of many, the Motor City ended a year of limited busing last January without a single major incident.

In the first days of the program, parents kept youngsters at home apparently out of fear, but the desegregation plan was launched without the kind of violence that marred similar programs in Boston and Louisville.

"This city met the challenge with peace and dignity," proclaims Detroit School Supt. Arthur Jefferson. "It set an example for the nation it can be proud of."

In a 124-page decree handed down in August 1975, U.S. District Court Judge Robert DeMascio rejected proposals for massive busing in Detroit and ordered adoption of a limited busing plan.

But a year later, the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the busing plan was inadequate, and DeMascio was ordered to expand the program to include some inner city black schools that had been left out. This could mean the busing of more blacks to some predominantly white schools.

There have been fewer and fewer of these at the beginning of each new school term, however.

Mexican Mafia stirs public fear—

> 'Police Chief Ed Davis wants to put them out of business and that's exactly what we're going to do . . . I'm declaring war'
> —LAPD Cmdr. Ray Ruddell

themselves and they're very much in existence.

One Mexican-American intelligence officer who specializes on the organization said, "Some people in East Los Angeles think the use of the term is an insult to all Chicanos, but people there should be aware the Mexican Mafia does exist."

The Mexican Mafia is not a group with strong family ties and an "Honor Thy Father" tradition. They are simply a bunch of men who got together in prison and stayed together when they got out. Most are in their 20's or early 30's.

Although Mexican Mafia is their own term, they usually refer to themselves by the nickname "La Eme," for the Spanish letter "M." Many wear tattoos of "MM," "La Eme" or "EME." Police have a photo of one member with the words "Mexican Mafia" tattooed across his chest in big letters.

"Guys don't wear shirts much in prison and the tattoos serve a purpose," one officer said. "If you see one of those tattoos coming, you get out of the way. But on the outside it backfires on them by letting us know who they are."

For all the murders blamed on the Mexican Mafia during the past couple of years, the gang didn't really catch the public eye until the murder of Ellen Delia last February. Mrs. Delia was shot to death in Sacramento, hours before a meeting she had scheduled to tell state officials about fraud and corruption in East Los Angeles federally funded social projects.

The Sacramento County prosecutor, John O'Mara, told the grand jury that Mrs. Delia was killed because "she possessed too much knowledge" about the Mexican Mafia. Four men, including her estranged husband, Michael Delia, have been charged with her murder.

Delia ran the Get Going halfway house in East Los Angeles and Mrs. Delia worked there.

"People can get upset about the Ellen Delia killing because she seemed to be a normal person," an organized crime official said.

Most of the other murders involved gang members killing members of other gangs or "disciplining" their own members. Many of the killings took place in prison.

"As long as the killings were inside the joint, nobody gave a damn," one official said.

Along with controlling drug traffic, a major goal of the Mexican Mafia, officials say, infiltration of the federally funded social projects, as in the Delia case. Many of these projects try to rehabilitate ex-convicts.

"The ex-convict comes into these programs as a client and, because of his expertise in the barrio, he later gets hired as a counselor. Eventually, he becomes management and has a say as to where the grant money goes. There is very little accountability in these programs. Money disappears and nobody knows where it went."

Officials say two East Los Angeles social projects, Community Concern and Delia's Get Going, were infiltrated by the Mexican Mafia. The City Council ordered Get Going shut down after Delia's arrest, and Councilman Arthur Snyder has waged a personal battle to halt funding of Community Concern.

Snyder persuaded the City Council to disqualify Community Concern for about $300,000 in federal funds. Shortly after that, Snyder said he received a death threat and was given armed bodyguards by police.

Snyder also enrolled himself and his wife, Michele, in a police firearms course. He now packs a gun and says crossing swords with the Mexican Mafia "makes it a great deal harder to sleep at night."

The councilman and his wife announced Aug. 10 that they had agreed to divorce because of political pressures and the strain of threats from the Mexican Mafia.

Rudolfo "Cheyenne" Cadena, an early leader of the Mexican Mafia, is credited for targeting social projects as a money source. "He was sort of a visionary," said one officer. "He had a lot more foresight than most of these guys."

In 1972, Cadena was stabbed 50 times and thrown off a tier in a prison battle with the rival gang, the Nuestra Familia. He has since become a legendary figure in the crime culture. There are songs and poems about him. Inspired Mexican Mafia members have been known to have their picture taken at his grave as soon as they get out of prison, authorities say.

Since Cadena's death, fighting between the two gangs has been deadly. The Mexican Mafia is primarily of urban Mexican-Americans, while Nuestra Familia members come from rural areas in the San Joaquin Valley.

"Just to belong to the Nuestra Familia is a capital crime as far as the Mexican Mafia is concerned," an official said.

State officials try to keep the two gangs apart by sending Mexican Mafia inmates to Folsom or San Quentin prisons and Nuestra Familia members to Soledad or Deuel Vocational Institute at Tracy.

"We go to great lengths to try to find out what gang a guy belongs to," said Phil Guthrie, spokesman for the Department of Corrections. "We have some obligation to keep the guy from getting killed. Half to two-thirds of the killings in prison are gang related and most of that is due to warfare between the Nuestra Familia and the Mexican Mafia."

How is California law enforcement dealing with the two gangs outside prison?

A small state task force attempts to monitor gang activities, keeping local police agencies up to date on the latest intelligence. Officers from the task force also help local police fit particular murders into a possible pattern of gang killings.

"We are keeping in touch with local law enforcement officials regarding the Mexican Mafia and trying to provide assistance in the way of intelligence," said Casey.

When the task force was set up five years ago, even law enforcement officials hadn't heard of the Mexican Mafia. "People laughed at us for years," said one original member of the task force. "But what if law enforcement had not touched these people (the gangs) the last four or five years?"

Although the state offers intelligence assistance, it's the local agencies that must provide the muscle, and at least one department has decided to hit the Mexican Mafia full force.

On Sept. 6, Los Angeles police announced they were "declaring war" on the gang, following a sudden surge of local gang activity, including the threat to Councilman Snyder, a $39,000 bank robbery and increased narcotics traffic.

"When there's no activity, who the hell's going to declare war?" asked police Cmdr. Ray Ruddell. "Now that there's activity," he continued, "I'm declaring war, I'm telling you."

Ruddell told reporters that Police Chief Ed Davis wants to "put them out of business and that's exactly what we're going to do."

Ruddell said the depart-

Negotiates such things as who, when to kill

Garcia is Henry Kissinger of barrio street gangs

By BILL GARDNER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jose Garcia is the Henry Kissinger of the rough East Los Angeles barrio neighborhoods where some Mexican Mafia members learned their trade. He negotiates such things as when they can kill each other, how they can kill each other and who gets killed.

It's like the Hatfields and the McCoys in this Mexican-American ghetto. Nearly every neighborhood is at war with at least one other neighborhood. Many of these disputes go back years, and there are traditional rivalries.

Some people call it a juvenile gang problem, but it's bigger than that, Garcia says. Each neighborhood is a colony, and most of the warriors are juveniles but many are in their 20s or older. A few youths choose to be warriors for the neighborhood, but most don't, Garcia said.

The Mexican Mafia, on the other hand, is a gang. It's not tied to any particular neighborhood, and if a member of the neighborhood joins the Mexican Mafia, he is considered a traitor, Garcia said.

Garcia, in his early 40s, spoke admiringly of one neighborhood that managed to stay out of wars for eight years. That peace was shattered a year ago when a young child was killed by a rival neighborhood, and it's been steady war since.

Garcia, not his real name, is a local government official who grew up in this area and is paid to promote peace. Negotiation is his main job, Garcia said while giving a tour of the barrio.

"There's one guy I'm negotiating for," he said, pointing to a man working on his car. One group wanted to kill him, but Garcia was trying to talk them out of it.

"Sometimes a group will bring me a list of eight people they plan to kill, and I'll look it over and say this one guy just became a Christian or this guy's getting married and moving away. So maybe they'll say, 'Okay, you can have these two guys, but forget about the others, we're gonna get them.'"

Garcia also negotiates the times and style of battle. In one recent dispute, bullets were flying at all hours of the day. The neighborhoods refused to stop fighting, but Garcia got them to agree to a cease-fire from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

"Guys were working out there during the day on both sides and there were innocent children working with them," Garcia said.

In one case, Garcia said he talked opposing groups into firing their bullets up the street instead of across the street. That way, most bullets would harmlessly hit a freeway embankment instead of putting holes in people's houses.

Garcia said he told the groups, "Now you can shoot that way but try not to shoot this way."

Warriors from one neighborhood are not welcome in others, and Garcia told of talking one day to more than 100 school-age warriors who were not enrolled in school because their school was in another neighborhood. "They wouldn't go there, no matter what," he said.

These kids have nothing to do during the day, and that's the biggest reason for the violence, Garcia said. "Boredom, that's it. A few get government jobs, but it's 'Clean this, clean that.' Nothing meaningful."

ment is gathering intelligence on the Mexican Mafia through intensive undercover surveillance in an effort to run the gang out of the city.

"We will not tolerate $39,000 robberies," said Ruddell, growing intense almost to the point of anger during an interview. "We will not tolerate threats, we will not tolerate the disbursement of heroin, we will not tolerate their ripoff of the public."

Ruddell's apparent personal vengeance toward the gang and the emotional fervor with which he discusses the group can also be seen in other law enforcement officials in the state who are close to the problem.

One ranking law enforcement official has two pictures tacked to his wall. One is Farrah Fawcett-Majors. The other is Joe Morgan, generally regarded as the top man in the Mexican Mafia.

"I keep that picture there to remind me this guy is running around on the streets somewhere," the official says. "How would you like to meet him in a dark alley?"

Often called the "Godfather" because of his work to expand the gang, Morgan is one of its few Anglo members. But he grew up in a Mexican-American community.

Morgan, who has spent nearly 30 of his 47 years in prison, was recently arrested in the Los Angeles suburb of Lomita. He had spent more than a year on the run after skipping bail on a heroin charge but was

Mexican Mafia blamed

Delia's 'murder' shocks public, spotlights crime

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Perhaps more than any other incident, the discovery of Ellen Delia's body in a field near the Sacramento airport last winter has brought the Mexican Mafia to the attention of authorities and the public.

She had been shot to death in the back of the head before she could keep a meeting with state officials to talk about irregularities in East Los Angeles halfway houses for ex-convicts.

The highly publicized investigation of her death led to further revelations in Los Angeles about the doings of the Mexican Mafia and related slayings.

And the Sacramento murder trial stemming from her slaying, scheduled to unfold in the next two months, may focus more of a spotlight on the gang that was spawned in California prisons.

Sacramento County Deputy Dist. Atty. John O'Mara, according to a grand jury transcript, said, "The evidence will disclose that the motive, at least in part, for this particular killing was the feeling by members of the Mexican Mafia that the victim possessed too much knowledge about that group and might go to outside persons and reveal this knowledge."

Mrs. Delia, 35, was expert in obtaining federal and state funds for community projects. Her body was found early Feb. 18 alongside a rural road about eight miles from the airport where she had arrived from Los Angeles the night before.

Four men, including the woman's estranged husband, Michael Delia, 32, have pleaded innocent to murder charges. The trial is tentatively scheduled to begin Oct. 11.

Delia operated the Get-Going Project, a halfway house for ex-convicts in East Los Angeles. He signed a letter dated Dec. 28, 1976, to the state's top welfare official, Mario Obledo, complaining of a coalition squeezing his project out. The letter said there was documented proof of wrongdoing.

Mrs. Delia's murder touched off a state audit of Get-Going and two other halfway houses in the same area. Auditors found alleged conflict of interest and questionable expenses. Other information was not released and was turned over to the state attorney general.

Delia's co-defendants are Alfred R. Sosa, 34, of Los Angeles, and two Sacramento men, Abraham and Joe Hernandez, who are unrelated.

Edward C. Gonzales, an unindicted co-conspirator who may be granted immunity for his testimony, appeared before a grand jury April 13. His testimony was sealed.

However, Sacramento homicide detective Donald Steed II filed an affidavit with the court that included statements by Gonzales that Sosa was the "shooter" and he claimed that Sosa verified with Delia by telephone that Mrs. Delia "had to die" and that it was "strictly Mexican Mafia business."

A court order prevents attorneys on both sides from discussing the case. James dela Vergne, a lawyer appointed to help Delia with his defense, said, "My client's position is going to be he's not a member (of the Mexican Mafia), period."

Delia also awaits trial in Los Angeles on two counts of murder. He has pleaded innocent in that case also.

Another murder trial for Sosa is pending too in Fresno in the Feb. 1 shotgun slaying of a man who was to have appeared in Tulare County court the next day on a robbery charge. Sosa pleaded innocent.

Public Defender Kenneth Wells, arguing his unsuccessful motion to have pretrial hearings closed to the press and the public, said this past summer that presenting his material in open court would cause a sensation "up and down the state."

Another defense lawyer, Ernest Winters, said public knowledge of matters yet to be unveiled would be an "invasion of the privacies of people not represented here...these people could be in jeopardy themselves."

BINGO! Church of All Faiths draws crowds, official scrutiny

Progress Bulletin

Pomona, California ■ Sunday, October 9, 1977

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

If you drive north on Garey Avenue in Pomona most any night, you're likely to go past one of the brightest and busiest spots in the valley: The Church of All Faiths.

The large storefront window is undraped, and the light that spills onto the sidewalk paints a strange contrast to the after-hours darkness of the rest of the shopping center at Garey Avenue and Foothill Boulevard.

It is after 10 o'clock, and the sidewalk is rolled up except for the nightly church event which once more has brought together more than 300 participants, not only from the valley but also from as far as San Diego and Bakersfield.

The energy is high. The concentration is intense as the congregation and its guests, mostly middle aged, sit at tables that span the entire room and respond to the call of numbers in the back.

Six nights a week they come to the church for entertainment, for a social life and to pass the time. And in so doing, they make it possible to run one of the largest current bingo operations in Southern California, one that grosses between $80,000 and $100,000 a month.

The church and its affiliate, the Christian Fellowship Center, are operated as a corporation by the Rev. Bob Smith of Orange, as president; Jack Rosenberg of Ontario as treasurer; Sharon Bratlosky of Ontario as secretary, and the Rev. Michael V. (Vic) Barbish as associate pastor. He has the final say on policy matters.

That the operation is legal — under a state initiative passed by the voters in November, 1975, which gave cities the option to permit charitable organizations to play bingo for money — there is no doubt.

What some city officials question is whether the organization is a church that plays bingo or a bingo game that uses a church facade to circumvent the spirit of the law.

And while Barbish, the local guru of bingo who has been running games here and in San Berrardino for the past six years, admits that without the nightly bingo he couldn't run the church, he also points out that the church does a lot of evangelizing all over the Southland.

Moreover, Barbish contends, profits from bingo also help support the Pomona Valley Humane Society to which he is contributing $5,000 a month, and the Pomona Boys' Club which is supposed to get $24,000 over the next year, providing that the Pomona City Council doesn't curtail his operation.

An ordinance that would cut back Barbish's operation to one night a week is coming up for final approval by the council Monday night.

City Atty. Pat Sampson believes any nonprofit organization which holds bingo games six nights a week is "abusing the privilege of the license."

"I have no hangups about playing two, or even three nights a week," he declared. "But playing every night is like the tail wagging the dog."

As usual, Barbish will be on hand to fight the ordinance. If necessary, he will go to court.

Fighting city hall is nothing new to the 42-year-old former restauranteur, food market operator, shoe concessionaire, and investor, who began working at nine on his grandfather's dairy farm in Pennsylvania. Barbish, a product of a well-to-do family, has always been an individualist with strong beliefs.

It was those beliefs which locked him in a three-year fight with La Verne, when he tried to open a card room over his restaurant at 1520 White Avenue Ave. in the late 1960s, a fight which, he says, left him practically penniless.

It was his belief that there was nothing wrong with bingo that subsequently led himto run a game for the benefit of the handicapped in San Bernardino where he was raided and arrested five times within a six month period.

And he says it was his desire to help youths that prompted him to start a donation-type game on the Pomona Mall that lasted several years but proved not too profitable. Much of the proceeds went to legal costs in fighting gambling charges.

Further, Barbish insists, it is his determination to fight prejudice and to preach love of mankind regardless of race or religion that prompted him to join Smith and Rosenberg in establishing the "Church of All Faiths" two years ago.

"Don't get me wrong," he explains. "There is nothing wrong with making money. But in this case my need to preach is also satisfied."

Barbish says he spent nine months in St. Herman's Monastery in Illinois when he was a younger man.

In 1974, he obtained a clergyman's certificate from the Universal Life Church that allowed him to preach and to perform marriage ceremonies. But he says he was too embarrassed to use it.

"It was a mail order house," he contended. "You send in your money and you get a diploma. You didn't have to study. Anybody can get one."

So in 1975 he joined Smith's Christian Fellowship Ministry, and was ordained an associate pastor six months later. He says he is continuing his studies to become a fullfledged pastor.

Now, Barbish preaches along with Smith at tent services, revivals and before Bible study groups. He also preaches to his gambling audiences.

One of his favorite sermons is a denunciation of pornography and prostitution which, he contends are not only immoral but tends to cause decay in society.

Bingo, on the other hand, is immoral only when the game is corrupt. He sees bingo as a social game, primarily for people who want a few hours of diversion.

Barbish insists that he runs a total-

A DUALITY OF PURPOSE

Signs on the window of the Church of All Faiths — nightly bingo on the left and Bible lectures at right — testify to the dual purpose of the church's existence. The Pomona City Council is considering cutting the games to once a week so the "tail doesn't wag the dog."

Agoraphobia—morbid fear of many things

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

A young housewife was standing in the checkout line at the supermarket when she suddenly left her cart and fled out the door. The clerk stared after her, thinking she was just another impatient customer.

Another woman, in the midst of a cocktail party, grabbed her husband's arm and pleaded to leave immediately. Her hostess thought the woman had been offended by another guest.

The clerk and the hostess were wrong.

Agoraphobia is the morbid fear of many things, places or situations. As such, it is a condition where many things can produce a phobic reaction.

"One out of 100 people probably are victims of this rarely discussed condition, but they are hiding the fact," says Dr. Erwin Theobold, a psychologists who specializes in treating these victims.

"These people make excuses for not going out of the house, shopping, attending parties or driving, because they fear an attack."

It's an understandable reaction, says the psychologist. Neither the public nor the medical profession has much awareness of the condition although many other phobias are well identified.

"It's natural to be afraid of strange situations and everyone has some fear and anxiety, but when these fears become so severe that the person can no longer function, then treatment is needed."

The fear that overtakes an agoraphobic is a very real reaction. They may be afraid that they will faint. They break out in a cold sweat, fight for their breath and panic.

According to Dr. Theobold, the usual method of insight therapy has not proven very effective with phobias.

"But a new group therapy program first developed by Dr. A.B. Hardy in Menlo Park has proven highly successful," says the psychologist who now conducts therapy sessions in Southern California.

The new organization for treating agoraphobics is called Terrap, a contraction of the phrase Territorial Apprehensiveness. First organized for the specific purpose of making information available concerning the recognition, cause and treatment of the phobia, the group has developed effective procedures for diagnosing and treating agoraphobia.

"For some, the idea of leaving their home is appalling. We have to go into the home and urge them to just approach the front door at first.

"With constant encouragement and reassurance, we finally get them to leave the house, enter a car, and join us at a session.

"Almost every person approaches the first meeting with great anxiety. But then the person is delighted to learn that others share the same problem," continued Dr. Theobold.

The psychologist, who maintains a practice in Pasadena, became involved with agoraphobics through attempting to help a woman patient with severe phobias.

He contacted Dr. Hardy and others involved in the treatment of phobias and started researching the field.

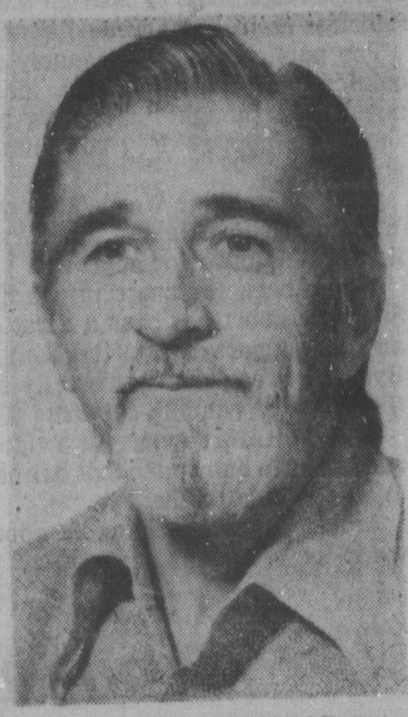
"I now have about 20 patients who have severe phobias, but none as bad as that first woman," he adds.

"I enjoy working with these patients because they do make progress."

He says phobic patients do get depressed, but this is not their major problem and it can be treated.

Dr. Theobold is organizing a Terrap group in the valley now.

Most agoraphobics are women, usually young and middle or upper class, although men are among the more than 1½ million persons in the United States suffering from the phobia. The typical victim is a creative, dramatic, brighter-than-average person who has been inhibited by excessive criticism and has a desire to please.



ERWIN THEOBOLD

Dr. Theobold says he encourages spouses, a relative or an understanding friend to attend the Terrap sessions and share in the program.

"In fact, most of the victims need someone along to leave home and attend the meeting," adds the psychologist.

Interested persons are sent a questionnaire to complete before attending their first session. The fee includes lectures, self-help programs, literature and other educational services.

Valley residents interested in learning more about Terrap are invited to call the regional office in Garden Grove at (714) 636-1551, or Joyce Boyd, valley coordinator, in Claremont at 614-7423.

Bingo issue looms Monday

Many bingo enthusiasts are expected to crowd the Pomona City Council chamber Monday at 8 p.m. when the council holds the second reading of an ordinance restricting the playing of bingo to once a week.

Protestors of the ordinance which would go into effect in a month probably will be led by Victor Barbish of the Church of All Faiths, 3240 N. Garey Ave., Pomona, where bingo is played every night except Sunday.

Other organizations which sponsor bingo in the city are the Fraternal Order of Eagles, VFW Post 2018, St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Knight of Columbus Pomona Council 877, and Loyal Order of Moose 650.

Merchants at Garey Center, the location of the Church of All Faiths, have complained to the city about the parking problem.

Freedom is in our hands

You would become furious if a policeman put his hand over your mouth while you were trying to tell people what you thought about Jimmy Carter or Gerald Ford.

"Hey," you might say, "I've got a right to speak freely — the Constitution says so."

But would you stand up and protest when a public official gags a newspaper?

Probably not. Few Americans do. They don't realize that freedom of the press is every bit as important to them as their right to speak out.

When the press is gagged or otherwise restricted, there is little or no chance for people to learn what is happening in the world around them; no adequate way to let government know how citizens feel about important issues, and no hope that we can continue to live in the free society we enjoy today.

Free press. Free speech. Free society. They go together. You can't have one without the other.

Most Americans don't appreciate freedom of the press because they have never been without it. They really can't comprehend that most people in the world don't have a free press — and don't have any means of knowing the truth about what is happening in their own country or the world beyond.

In China, the editor of the People's Daily states flatly that his job is to print propaganda for the Communist Party.

In all of these countries, and many more, press has become a bulletin board for the government. The readers know only what their rulers want them to know — and have no chance to talk back.

Could it happen here?

It's entirely possible. Frequent efforts are made to restrain the press from reporting events of public interest, to prevent reporters from attending meetings of public officials who are conducting the public's business, to close records of interest to the public, to jail newsmen for failing to reveal sources of confidential information that has been printed in the public interest.

Most of the efforts to destroy the free press have been defeated by vigilant newspapers and newspaper organizations which have waged campaigns against restrictive legislation and gone to court to fight for their First Amendment rights.

The public remains strangely silent. One public opinion poll indicated that most of the people questioned thought that news about government should be approved by government before it was printed.

Can you imagine Woodward and Bernstein of the Washington Post taking their Watergate stories to the White House for approval?

We've been fortunate in the United States. The Supreme Court has been a First Amendment court and has supported press freedom in most instances. But courts can change, usually in the direction of the prevailing public opinion.

Strong citizen support for a vigorous, free press is necessary to guarantee that our nation will continue to be the land of the free.

Americans are holding freedom in their hands when they read the newspaper.

Thoughts

"Enter by the narrow gate; for the gate is wide and the way is easy, that leads to destruction, and those who enter by it are many. For the gate is narrow and the way is hard, that leads to life, and those who find it are few." — Matthew 7:13, 14.

"God asks now man whether he will accept life. That is not the choice. You must take it. The only choice is how." Henry Ward Beecher, American clergyman.

The Lord has sworn by the pride of Jacob: "Surely I will never forget any of their deeds." — Amos 8:7.

"We may elevate ourselves but we should never reach so high that we would ever forget those who helped us get there." — Will Rogers, American humorist.

But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control; against such there is no law. — Galatians 5:22, 23.

"Today we are afraid of simple words like goodness and mercy and kindness. We don't believe in the good old words because we don't believe in the good old values anymore. And that is why the world is so sick." — Lin Yutang, Chinese philosopher.

Draw near to God and he will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, you sinner, and purify your hearts, you men of double mind. — James 4:8.

"Better keep yourself clean and bright; you are the window through which you must see the world." — George Bernard Shaw, British playwright.

Alcohol fuel bill readied

WASHINGTON — In past columns, we have raised the possibility that alcohol fuels could make up much of the oil deficit and reduce our dangerous dependence upon overseas supplies.

The idea is now catching on in Congress, where Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and Rep. David Emery, R-Me., are preparing alcohol fuel legislation.

They may introduce a comprehensive bill, which would require the nation to use alcohol for 10 percent of its automotive fuels needs by 1985. A 10 percent blend of alcohol fuel with gasoline, experts tell us, would require no engine adjustments in most cars.

Only minor alterations would be necessary to convert engines to 100 percent alcohol fuel. Government experts contend alcohol engines would operate more efficiently and produce less pollution.

Alcohol fuels could also be produced in the United States, thus saving billions that we now pay to the oil potentates. The fuel could be distilled from coal, grain, wood and even garbage.

The proposed legislation would offer tax incentives to encourage the production of alcohol fuels. Dr. William Scheller, a University of Nebraska professor, has conducted a comprehensive study of the production problems. With a three-cent tax credit, he contends, "gasohol" could be produced and sold at a price competitive with unleaded gasoline in Nebraska. This would be gasoline with a 10 percent alcohol mix.

At least 20 senators, Democrats and Republicans alike, are ready to back the alcohol fuel legislation the moment it is introduced. Some want to bar the oil industry from participating in alcohol fuel production.

Senators from farm states are the strongest supporters. They see alcohol fuel as a way to utilize the growing stockpile of surplus grain. According to Dr. Scheller, two-thirds of the wheat that is processed into alcohol can be salvaged as protein mash. This can be used as cattle feed or a base for breakfast cereals.

Sens. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., and Robert Dole, R-Kas., co-sponsored an amendment to the farm bill, which will provide $60 million in federal loan subsidies to build four alcohol production plants.

The Agriculture Department has shown little interest, however, in the project. A spokesman told our reporter Hal Bernton that Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland would prefer to let the Energy Department build the plants. Their economists are skeptical of Dr. Scheller's studies.

Indeed, no one at the top level of the Carter administration is excited about alcohol fuels. Yet President Carter has called for a 10 percent reduction in foreign oil imports. He hopes to achieve this by conserving oil. But a major effort to produce enough alcohol fuel could help to reduce oil imports without requiring Americans to change their lifestyles.

At the middle levels, meanwhile, energy officials have been impressed with the results of their alcohol fuel studies. One of our recent columns on alcohol fuels also stimulated the Federal Energy Administration into commissioning a more comprehensive study.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: In violation of a Justice Department ruling, Thaddeus Garrett has continued to hold down two outside jobs while he serves on the Consumer Product Safety Commission. He is an associate pastor at a church in Akron and a member of Ohio's Board of Education. At the time of Garrett's appointment a year ago, the Justice Department ruled these jobs were "prohibited," adding: "We assume that he intends to resign from these outside activities." Garrett promised he would do so, but he never got around to it. He told us he sees no conflict because he doesn't draw a salary from either outside job. Now he has accepted the vice presidency of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

— A bizarre loophole in the Senate anti-bribe bill would allow corporations to refuse to let the Securities and Exchange Commission see corporate books on "national security" work. This would protect the military contractors from scrutiny, yet they have been among the biggest offenders in the SEC's bribe revelations. Declares an unpublished report by the Military Audit Project: "Political bribery, which is concealed from the stockholders, has . . . an effect upon a company's foreign corporations" which the stockholders have a right to know about.

— Gun enthusiasts are quietly pushing on Capitol Hill to take tax money away from wildlife refuges and authorize its use instead for target shooting ranges. For years, states have been free to spend certain tax revenues from firearms on preserving wildlife facilities. But a House proposal would force the states to earmark 50 percent of the tax money for the construction of shooting ranges. An alarmed Rep. Abner Mikva, D-Ill., will oppose the move.

— Space officials are preparing plans to apply the lessons learned in space to improve daily living on earth. Within the next decade, for example, people may use Dick Tracy wristwatches for communication. They could call for help, for example, without the need for a telephone. By bouncing radio signals off satellites, the wristwatch radios will make individuals capable of instantaneous communication. Scientists are also working on holographic lights — laser beams that can project eerie, three-dimensional images anywhere. Businessmen could have face-to-face conferences across the nation without leaving their offices.

Acupuncture—used and misused

Not all that we call progress is.

I am unconvinced that higher and faster and farther and bigger are necessarily better.

But in alleviating pain, in affording humans and animals additional, useful years with less physical discomfort — that is progress!

Among the prestigious dozen hospitals which have established special pain clinics is Presbyterian St. Luke's in Chicago.

In charge of this clinic is Dr. Max Sadove, a scientist determined that science must challenge itself.

Acupuncture, as anesthesia, had to prove itself to him personally in three of five surgical operations.

So what? We have anesthetics which ensure five-for-five.

Acupuncture, as an analgesic, had to prove itself — but how?

Results, alleviating pain with acupuncture, seemed impressive — but how could we know that the effect was not "hypnotic" or otherwise dependent upon the patient's psychological response?

After all, any surgeon recognizes that, for example, the discomfort from a nose job — where the objective is beauty — is much less than the discomfort from a similar degree of mutilating surgery.

So — back to the laboratory.

Then each was repeatedly tested with identical low-level electrical shocks.

The rats had not read the books. The rats did not know the purpose of the needles.

Dr. Sadove carefully distinguishes between "pain, suffering and sorrow."

Suffering is a reaction. Some people suffer before the needle goes in. Pain is a definitive brain response unrelated to anxiety.

Purposely, I have been writing around some big words such as "endorphins" and "enkefalins" but the "beta endorphins" are what cause the analgesic effect and it is now established that acupuncture does increase the beta-endorphin level — thus minimizing pain.

Acupuncture has been evolving for 3,000 years. As with most sciences, recently that evolution has accelerated. More than 20 new acupuncture techniques have been developed in China in the past decade.

Essentially, the classic theory remains this: There are 12 channels in the human body (comparable to the primary circuitry in your television set). Any blockage of a channel (any short-circuit, so to speak) causes a flaw in the energy flow and must be corrected with properly placed needles. (As your TV repairman does with his soldering iron.)

Yet, while therapeutic acupuncture has demonstrated some effectiveness in the treatment of diabetes, hypertension, ulcers, epilepsy and assorted chronic pain — there are now semi-skilled or unskilled practitioners running in all directions with their exaggerated claims, peddling acupuncture treatments for obesity, for erasing wrinkles, for growing hair.

For the truth confirms that acupuncture has a place alongside dozens of drug combinations and biofeedback and hypnosis and "blocks" in the alleviation of pain.

As with electricity — and this science may involve that — we are required to believe more than we can see if we are to benefit from it.

Just in jest

Bureaucracy in action is a wonderful thing to behold provided one has the stomach to behold it. So when I read that a special panel had been set up to devise ways and means for reducing government paper work, I wasn't quite sure I was constitutionally up to witnessing the results of that study. And I must admit my fears were certainly justified. After all, wouldn't it make you feel a bit nauseated to learn that a panel to reduce government paper work turned out 36 separate reports and 770 recommendations before coming to the conclusion that poorly written legislation is to blame for government red tape?

* * *

I note that recreation departments in some cities throughout the valley are now offering classes in belly dancing. A woeful misuse of the taxpayers' dollars, I say. Wouldn't it be far more practical to use that money to teach the fine art of using an abacus to all the new leisure folks who are blessed with having the time to devote to such exotic oriental activities?

Rabbit's night vision is poor

DEAR DR. MILLER: How come Lillian Leper, my rabbit, has such poor night vision? I thought carrots were supposed to fix a problem like that. So much for that theory. Lillian loves carrots and eats them by the bushel. — S.E.

DEAR S.E.: Lillian Leper's lack of night vision doesn't ruin the theory, it just indicates that her poor vision is not related to a carotine or vitamin A deficiency. What's causing it? Well, only her doctor knows for sure (or could, if he had the chance to look . . .)

DEAR DR. MILLER: Homer, my pigeon, never made it home from his first test flight. I found out too late it was because of a cloudy day and that he needed the sun to find his way home.

How do birds who migrate for long distances ever find their way if the weather is cloudy? — K.G.

DEAR K.G.: Birds from cuckoos to starlings migrate using polarized light so they can navigate using the sun or even a small patch of blue sky. Conversely, many birds could not care less about the sun during migration. These night flyers, from sea birds to warblers, use the stars for navigation. Others, including robins, can utilize the earth's magnetic field as a directional guide. Some birds may use a combination of some of the above along with other navigational aids. (Pigeons, nearing home, use familiar terrain.)

DEAR DR. MILLER: How come a nine-week-old puppy — Bumper is a schnauser — has such sharp teeth? My hands are not puncture-proof I'm finding out, and he doesn't know his own strength yet so he bites too hard.

How long will I have to wait before he knows enough to be gentle? — N.B.

DEAR N.B.: It could be a long, long wait. Those needle-sharp puppy teeth will be replaced with duller but stronger adult teeth in about four months (should you last so long). You won't, probably, unless you teach Bumper that his hand biting is unacceptable. It is. You can't expect him to stop on his own, however, since gnawing is pleasurable to puppies and if he is allowed to gnaw on human flesh without restriction, there is no reason, from his standpoint, not to. The young puppy who learns that chewing on humans is permissible will tend to do so as an adult with even graver consequences. Even puppies weeks younger than Bumper should be dissuaded from this practice by substituting some other acceptable gnawing substance or, preferably, by never letting them start.

What people say

"If I had one wish for my children, it would be that each of you would dare to do the things and reach for goals . . . doing as much as you can for everybody, but not worrying if you don't please everyone."

Ann Landers

Time to end 'klutz number'

Dear Ann Landers: I was very much interested in the letter signed "Carol The Klutz." I know the feeling well — and I'm a guy.

When I was in the seventh grade the class voted me "The Klutz of the Year."

All my life people have been telling me "Slow Down," "Don't Hurry," "Watch out, there's a plant there," "Look up, you're going to walk into the fire hydrant."

I have accidentally tripped waitresses, run into the bishop of our church with my bike, spilled soup on my rich aunt, torn the sleeve out of the neighbor lady's dress by just pulling a loose thread. (How did I know it was something she crocheted herself?) I once dropped the whole Thanksgiving turkey trying to help my grandmother. That same night I stumbled and fell — face first into the pumpkin pie.

I am what you called "star-crossed" and nothing can be done about it. Now that I have accepted my fate I am a lot happier, but I still do some awfully klutzy things.

If you take a good look at this letter you'll see I started, "Dear Abby," and crossed out her name and wrote yours.

I know you can't help me, but you can at least wish me luck. — King Of The Klutzes

Dear King: I do wish you luck, but I still say as long as you resign yourself to being klutzy you'll be one. The day you announce, "I've done the klutz number long enough — from now on I shape up" — you'll see a big improvement.

Dear Ann: Regarding your answer to Jerry in Yonkers who doesn't need to work to be happy and whose statement "work — which I hate" you found so "revealing:"

It's too bad YOU didn't get YOUR problem resolved earlier. Anyone who finds leisure "hell" exhibits a terrible emptiness. For one whose work is supposed to give her such joy, your lack of perception is astonishing.

Hooray for Jerry who hates work and will settle for a can of beer and a story by Faulkner. Down with Philistines like you! — Rebecca In Pittsburgh

Dear Pitts: Go back and read that column again, please. I did not say "leisure is hell." I said, "My idea of hell would be a life of leisure." And that's exactly what I meant.

If a person who enjoys work is a Philistine, then I plead guilty as charged — and I make no apologies.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 26 years old, wear a size five dress and have a baby face. To look at me you'd think I was 16, even though I have two sons. One is seven, the other is six.

The problem is that whenever my husband and I go out I am taken for his daughter. When the kids are with us people think they are my little brothers. Clyde is only 37 years of age, but he is bald on top and his love of beer shows. He has a pot-belly that hangs over his belt.

Don't suggest that I wear more sophisticated clothes. I hate high heels and frilly lady outfits. I feel as if I am "playing house." Clyde never says anything, but I know it must have hurt him when the waiter asked last night, "And what would your daughter like?"

Any suggestions? — Idaho Falls

Dear Ida: My suggestions are for Clyde. He's the one with the problem. He should lose weight and keep his hat on whenever possible.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Erma Bombeck

Household junk or mementos?

I was going to clean the house a few years back, but I thought, "What the heck. Might as well wait until the children are grown."

The other day my husband said to me, "When are you going to get rid of the potty seat with the ducks on it in the hall bathroom?"

"When the baby no longer needs it."

"The 'baby' is a sophomore at USC."

"He comes home on holidays, doesn't he?"

"Look," he said, "you're being unrealistic to hang onto all this junk. When I get home tonight, I want to see how strong you really are. Just close your eyes and start tossing."

I wanted to throw away my report cards from the first eight grades — I really did — but I rationalized if they ever fell into the wrong hands, I'd be ruined.

I toyed with the idea of discarding three maternity skirts with the cut-out fronts and the drawstrings, but the way my body was going, I figured it was only a matter of months before I could turn them around and wear them backwards.

I wavered over whether or not to toss out a signature of Imogene Coca on a cocktail napkin, a kitchen linen calendar from 1969, and a French fry basket that needed a handle.

On some things, there was no decision to be made . . . the melted candles, the rain-soaked Halloween masks, a single boot, and 35 used adhesive bows from Christmas packages . . . all would be saved.

Other things I wasn't so decisive about . . . the pre-hips bikini suit that would make wonderful coasters. The 15 navel bands (still in pre-soak) that would come in handy if one of the kids suffered from an umbilical hernia.

But I was ruthless. At the end of the day I was proud as I stood beside four neatly stacked boxes of junk!

My husband's eyes glistened when he saw it. "I told you you could do it," he said. "It's just a matter of being realistic and saying, 'I'm never going to use this again.' Wait a minute! Are those my golf scorecards from pre-Pearl Harbor? And the composition books from the first class I ever taught? Good Lord, woman, what are you doing with my loafers with the pennies in them? And my porkpie hat? And the picture of Gale Storm that came with my billfold and . . ."

Dr. Lamb

Prostate cancer warning

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am writing this on the most depressing day of my life. This is the first day of an extended sick leave leading to disability retirement. I am a 60-year-old male. A year ago a bone scan showed my prostate cancer in several bones. My urologist started me on female hormone when he felt the enlarged prostate. A prostate operation and castration followed. Three months ago I started having nighttime pain in my bones and joints from my hips down. The urologist has limited my hormones because of possible side effects such as blood clots.

Would aspirin act as a blood thinner and help prevent the complications of female hormones in forming blood clots? Would it be a good choice for my aches and pains in view of this?

My castration and retirement have made it difficult to maintain even the slightest semblance of weight control. What kind of exercise would you suggest?

I'd like also to give some advice to men over 40. Don't depend upon symptoms you have heard about or your doctor to tell you when you should get your prostate gland checked. The classic symptoms may never occur or come on so gradually that they are not recognized.

Men over 40 should use age alone as a guide as to how often the prostate should be examined. Perhaps an annual check is adequate for men in their early 40s. By 45 or 50 a semi-annual check or every three months would be a good thing. At the rate my urologist charges for office calls the weekly cost for a checkup every three months would be only $1.25. To learn you have prostate cancer after it is too late for surgery to cure it is a much higher price.

DEAR READER — Yours is an all too familiar story. I agree that every man over 40 should have an annual examination of his prostate gland and think it would be wise to have such an examination at least twice a year after age 50.

You are absolutely right it is important to find the cancer while it can still be completely cured. Prostate cancer is the third most common cause of cancer deaths in American men largely because this simple examination is not done. It is just as important to find a lump in a man's prostate as it is to find a lump in a woman's breast.

Unfortunately the public has not been made aware of the importance of early detection of prostate cancer. Some cancer literature even suggests that symptoms of prostatic obstruction or bone pain should be cause to seek professional help. How shocking! The public needs to be told the time to find and cure prostate cancer is before there are any symptoms. I am sending you the Health Letter number 1-6, Prostate Gland, which will tell you more about the gland and its common disorders. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019.

You might be able to get some benefit from aspirin but talk to your doctor about it. You don't want to start bleeding from an area where the tissue is eroded.

For exercise I would suggest walking as long as that is feasible. If you like swimming that would be good exercise too.

Look into the possibilities of chemotherapy with a cancer specialty unit. Some modern chemotherapy can make life a lot more comfortable.

Opening lead — 5♥

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

South was most unhappy. He had been doing very well until this hand came along and felt that his failure to make more than three notrump would be a very bad score.

Actually, it turned out to be a good one. He won the opening lead with the king of hearts over East's jack, entered dummy with a club, led the jack of spades, ducked after East played low and let West take his queen.

West led a second heart. South played low and East scored his queen. South was held to nine tricks, since he still had to lose a spade and a diamond. Left to himself, he might have dropped the queen of hearts and made an overtrick.

Why did South turn out to have a good score? Other South declarers played the same way with the same result. When North became declarer at three notrump the queen of diamonds was led. He would win in either hand, make the same spade play, watch West lead a second diamond and wind up losing two diamonds and two spades.

Then a couple of declarers got to six clubs and went down two tricks for the really bad North-South scores.

Forget about an elephant

Please do not think of an elephant as you read the rest of this column. Do not let the word elephant occur to you. Do not picture an elephant in your mind. You can prove your mental strength by following these instructions exactly. Others may weaken, and think elephant, elephant, elephant. But not you. Resist.

Out of the American College of Allergists once came the report that seven out of every 10 asthmatic children stop wheezing within one week after they've been moved away from their parents into new surroundings.

You've read that the word "lord" comes from the Anglo-Saxon for "loaf keeper," but were you aware that the word "lady" out of the same language once meant "dough kneader?"

MAN'S WEIGHT

Statisticians for years have reported that the weight of the average man is in the neighborhood of 165 pounds. Some airlines simply accepted that, and lost money. For instance, Condor Airlines, a subsidiary of Lufthansa. Its managers just couldn't figure out why their planes were making so many unscheduled fuel stops, so shy they were falling short of their projected profits every year by about $2 million. When they found that the average weight of the man who flies is closer to 185 pounds, more like Dumbo, they fixed the thing.

To qualify as a Pony Express rider, an applicant had to swear he was a regular reader of the Bible, bear in mind. The authorities who so decreed explained that biblical quotations would impress pesky Indians.

EINSTEIN

Another little known fact about the theory genius Albert Einstein is that he was an unsuccessful inventor. In Berlin during the 1920s, he patented a quiet refrigerator with no moving parts. Better refrigeration techniques sank that one. Years later at Princeton, he devised an electric eye to control a camera lens opening. But the camera makers ignored it, then.

Counseling Corner

No short cut to divorce survival

By CLIFF WATERS
Marriage and Family Counselor

It takes five years to survive a divorce. There are no short cuts.

To achieve a successful marital partnership is probably the most difficult of life's social requirements. Roughly half those who marry this year will divorce.

Divorce isn't so much an event as it is a process. It begins at the point of contemplating divorce, goes on through the litigation, through feeling uncomfortable about being divorced, and getting accustomed to being single. This transition from being married to being single requires redirection of a person's life.

When a person is thinking about getting a divorce, there is often a long period of basic ambivalence. This strings out the misery.

The person who has made the decision to get divorced isn't ready to pay the cost of getting out. So, he plays it safe. He keeps hanging in and hanging in. Nobody wants to say simply, "I want to get out of the marriage."

The litigation part begins when the person picks up the telephone to call the lawyer. Many people make the first call to the lawyer with the fantasy that they won't end the marriage, they'll improve it. They look at the telephone call as a demonstration of how serious they are about their demands.

They say, "That will fix my husband; now he'll know I mean it."

The legal proceedings can drag on and be the roughest part of all. People who have lived through it call it "the crazies" because people going through it do nutty, unpredictable things.

After divorce, a person is uncomfortable being alone. They fight being single. This period usually lasts about eighteen months. This is a very stress-filled period.

If the wife has the children, there is not enough money or time.

Men engage in empty, meaningless activities. But it's better than going home to an empty apartment, I'm told. Men describe feelings of rootlessness and emptiness. They drink, get involved in work and date a whole lot for a swinger's image. For the most part, it is just to kill time.

Redirection comes about when they stop fighting being single. They start doing things for themselves that they wouldn't have done when married. When they do these things, they feel good about it.

People also meet themselves again and they are delighted. They get back to the person they were before they got married, and it's kind of nice.

Time is a friend. The bitterness, the pain, and the yearning for the ex-spouse passes. It will be a bad time, but time is an ally.

A community self-help project

Greenhouse is designed to 'yield' energy

By JOE WHEELAN
Associated Press Writer

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — If you ask Gary Garber what the sun, coal, wood, cow manure and water in 55-gallon drums have in common, he'll tell you: They will help heat the nation's first community greenhouse, where vegetables will be raised for the poor and elderly.

Garber, 29, is the boss of a unique project whose goal is twofold. He aims to show people they can draw upon cheap and renewable resources to heat their homes, and he hopes to feed scores of Cheyenne's elderly and poor with home-grown vegetables.

"We're trying to bring technology down to earth," Garber says. "Big no longer is good."

Garber works for Community Action of Laramie County, a service organization whose purpose is to assist low-income families. The greenhouse complex is the most ambitious undertaking tackled so far by Community Action, which is regarded as one of the most innovative organizations in the nation.

When completed later this year, the three units forming the solar greenhouse will be a showcase of inexpensive, alternative energy sources and an important food source for low-income persons. A federal stipend of $15,000 has defrayed some of the $35,000 cost of building the complex, Garber said.

Seventy of Cheyenne's elderly will be bused to the greenhouse daily to tend the vegetables grown there. They will take much of what they grow home with them. What's left will either wind up on the tables of some of the city's poor, or be sold to the public.

And the grassroots-level technology employed to heat the greenhouse is so elementary that it could easily be put to work heating homes, Garber says.

Flanked by two smaller greenhouses, the principal greenhouse unit will stay warm because of hinged fiberglass panels fitted into the south roof that open to let sunshine in and close to keep out the cold at night.

During the day, the sun's heat is trapped in a row of black, 55-gallon drums filled with water. When the panels are lowered back into place at night, the drums exude the heat they have absorbed during the day, sustaining the warm, moist conditions needed to grow tomatoes, lettuce, green chili and carrots.

Garber says a series of cloudy days presents no problems, because the greenhouse has a backup heating source — methane gas from cow manure.

If the greenhouse is the heart of the project, the methane digestor is its stomach. It works like one.

The other two greenhouse units will rely on coal and wood stoves for heat on cloudy days, and they, too, will depend on removable fiber glass panels and steel drums for their primary source of heat.

Mexican Mafia targeted—

released again on bail two days later.

"We have no assurances whatever that he'll show up for trial (Oct. 11)," said Robert Schirn, head of the Los Angeles County district attorney's narcotics section, who is personally handling the Morgan case.

"He's got no reason to stick around, except for the fact that he might feel that he can beat the case."

Why then did the courts let him out a second time after he skipped bail once before? Schirn said that bail cannot be denied except in a capital case If a person has a record of jumping bail, he explained, his bail could be increased but not denied.

In the Morgan case, bail was increased from $5,000 to $25,000, but the Mexican Mafia had no trouble coming up with the money to gain freedom for a member.

Officials don't know how much money the Mexican Mafia makes off drug traffic, but there always seems to be plenty for bail. One member made bail of $350,000, police report.

The gang presumably makes money but it's not clear what they do with it besides saving it for bail. "We really don't see where the money goes," said one Mexican-American officer who was himself a juvenile gang member and is considered one of the leading experts on the gang.

Mexican Mafia members don't live big. There are no long, black limousines or secluded mansions. They seem to stay in the communities they grew up in and don't bother to change lifestyles even if they get some money.

The gang has yet to turn its money into legitimate businesses as organized crime has done in other parts of the country. "They've yet to develop a great deal of sophistication," one official said. "These folks didn't graduate from Harvard School of Business."

Though Morgan is a leader, officials say, the Mexican Mafia is organized as a one-man one-vote democracy. Certain members have more respect, but there is no rigid hierarchy. The Nuestra Familia, on the other hand, has generals and is run like the military.

One law enforcement official believes the democratic organization of the Mexican Mafia cuts their effectiveness. "They're kind of stumbling over each other to get the job done. Once they develop a board of directors, there's no stopping them."

So far, neither the Mexican Mafia nor the Nuestra Familia has gone in for assassinating politicians or shooting police. But the investigators dealing with the gangs are wary.

One Mexican-American officer said, "It's scary as hell knowing this bunch of hoodlums is after you. And I hear they have a particular animosity toward Chicano law enforcement. Anybody who says he's not afraid is a fool."

A joke-cracking hulk of a man, this officer says rumors that he sleeps with a shotgun are exaggerated but he realizes the gang knows his name. "They even know what I look like. I talked to one of them who told me their description of me is perfect — a big, fat, ugly Mexican."

The officer said the gangs would have to be crazy to start shooting police. "Cops are tough, man. You put one down and 10 more will stand up to take his place."

Prison officials say they have been getting calls from other states asking about the Mexican Mafia and the Nuestra Familia. Arizona already has a bit of a problem with the gangs in the state prison at Florence, and gang members are popping up in federal prisons around the country, officials say.

A big reason that federal prisons will be seeing more and more gang members is that the most common offense for an ex-convict is being an ex-convict with a gun — a federal offense.

White, formal rites preferred by majority

By Rosette Hargrove

PARIS (NEA) — Anybody who declared that a white or formal wedding no longer interested young couples would have had to eat his words after visiting the first "Salon du Mariage".

The organizers based their efforts on statistics revealing 400,000 marriages were performed last year in France. They dreamed up an emporium of just about everything related to a wedding, plus a display of dreamy wedding dresses.

The salon proved an immense success. Over 10,000 people came, despite the absence of advance publicity. Admission was free and visitors were greeted by a bevy of pretty young hostesses who led the way to the bar where a glass of champagne and a piece of wedding cake were offered.

A third of the 400,000 marriages reported took place in and around Paris, a good reason for the show here.

On show a young couple could see all the things that could be loosely connected with the "happiest day" of their lives. From caterer to house agent, from honeymoon cruises to house furnishings, from table decorations to furniture (ranging from Louis XV pieces to more modern ideas), a book store, a florist, a bank, a legal advisor, a display of wedding rings, and, finally, a booth run by the representative of a well-known marriage bureau — for the timid soul. The book store provided a choice of cookbooks, hints on homemaking and a solemn volume on contraception. Maryline Dognin, one of the organizers, had met many young people who needed advice, and their mothers.

According to George Becker, the man behind the novel emporium, the salon provided a particularly relevant function. Most people, he had found out, have little or no experience when it comes to entertaining on a large scale.

Prospective in-laws, for example, want to know how and where, not to mention how much the event will cost.

Naturally, the bulk of the visitors were couples, or prospective brides accompanied by by a girl friend starting to think about a forthcoming marriage. The marriage season in France starts late in May and continues through July.

At the salon we learned the cost of an average wedding usually comes to about $5,000 dollars. A leading was able to offer suggestions for buffet luncheons, cocktail party or afternoon reception, places where these could be held. Starting price was $800 for a buffet lunch for 50 people, including champagne, whiskey and soft drinks, also all the dishes, glasses and two or three waiters.

There were four fashion shows a day run by the three leading wedding-dress specialists in Paris — Aurore, Pronuptia and Ceremonial. Their models range in price from $100 to $1,000 and up, and offered a dazzling procession of romantic, ethereal wedding dresses for every type. According to reports, brides still favor a train of sorts, while veils vary from the brief shoulder length to yards and yards of fluttering net or a widebrimmed picture hat.

Pure white still is the favorite even though a mod bride might choose to be married in a daytime dress. Bridegrooms were either dressed in a black or all-white tuxedo and, for very posh ceremonies, the cutaway coat, striped trousers and gray topper. These shows were accompanied by appropriate organ bridal marches.

Average age for weddings is said to be 22 for the girl and 24 for the man. One young couple finally overcame their shyness to say they had come to visit the Salon because they planned a white wedding, also because they wanted to start a family the right way and finally because marriage was preferable to so-called free love. Many of their friends, they said, were not against trial marriage but they still believed the consecration of marriage added something to their relationship besides contributing a happy memory.

Special occasions marked

Wondering what to give your spouse on your anniversary? If it is the first commemoration of the happy occasion, paper is traditional, but then so is a bottle of wine or a bouquet of flowers.

Wood is the custom on the fifth anniversary. At least it was the custom. Crystal and glass are just as appropriate nowadays.

As is generally the case in this age of change, the list of traditional gifts for wedding anniversaries is being updated, says researcher Sally Hopkins of Hallmark Cards. So, just as there are traditional and modern weddings, there are traditional and modern gift lists for anniversaries.

The traditional list reads: first, paper; second, cotton; third, leather; fourth, fruits or flowers; fifth, wood; sixth, candy or iron; seventh, wool or copper; eighth, bronze or pottery; ninth, pottery or willow; 10th, tin or aluminum; 11th, steel; 12th, silk or linen; 13th, lace; 14th, ivory; 15th, crystal; 20th, china; 25th, silver; 30th, pearl; 35th, coral; 40th, ruby; 45th, sapphire; 50th, emerald; 60th, diamond.

The modern presents for the first 15 anniversaries are: wine or flowers, books, house plants, pottery, crystal or glass, copper, linens, wood, pewter, art, gourmet cookware, leather, clocks or watches, iron or steel and pearls.

Coral can now be given on a 30th anniversary and jade on a 35th. The other anniversary gifts are the same as the traditional list.

What do you do when it is your 17th anniversary? Or when you just can't find the right piece of jade? Miss Hopkins says a greeting card is always appropriate.

'Church' bingo faces council bid to cut it back—

ly honest operation, earning a salary of less than $20,000 a year, not from bingo but from the church.

Barbish says more than half the money that's taken in is returned to participants in prizes. The rest is turned over to the "Church of All Faiths" which has about 10 paid employees. The church employes then run the games "free."

The church also pays for the cost of services, all expenses related to evangelizing, and mortgages on the building. Donations to charitable causes are paid out of the bingo fund.

The bingo games are run by Rosenberg. Barbish says he merely oversees the operation. He says he'd rather preach.

Ironically, the church is not allowed to hold services in the building because, being in a shopping center, it is in the wrong zone.

So instead of church services, Barbish holds Bible study sessions — those are allowed.

Barbish maintains that if the Pomona City Council cuts him back to one night a week he will go broke, "and a lot of people will be hurt. There will always be bingo, but people will have to find them, and some of the operations are corrupt."

He says last week he polled his players on the issue.

"Nobody raised a hand to playing once a week," he shrugged. "Only about six people were satisfied with three times a week. The rest wanted to keep it open like it is."

He says the fact that other organizations who offer bingo in the city — the Eagles, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, St. Joseph's Catholic Church, The Knights of Columbus, the Moose — play only once a week is a matter of preference.

For Barbish, the bingo players comprise a captive church audience. He frequently gives mini-sermons.

Without bingo the audience dwindles.

Last Sept. 25, Barbish took out a large ad in the newspapers extolling people to come to a revival at the church. As part of the service, there would be free food.

Barbish bought enough food for 400, but only 88 persons showed up.

The next night the bingo players had a feast.

Less than half now OK Carter performance

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time, less than half the American people approve of President Carter's performance in the White House, according to an NBC poll.

Poll analysts said the people questioned found nothing specific Carter had done that they could praise, while they cited inflation, the Panama Canal treaties and the resignation of budget director Bert Lance as areas they disapproved of.

The network said only 46 per cent of the 1,600 persons polled said they approved of Carter's performance, down from 56 per cent in June and 60 per cent in February.

In addition, NBC said its poll showed the same decline in the South, where Carter's approval rate went from 66 per cent in August to 47 per cent this week.

Pollster Louis Harris reported on Monday that the public's rating of Carter on "inspiring confidence in the White House" dropped from 75 per cent last March to 50 per cent in September.

Bird, beetle pests

Starlings, sparrows and Japanese beetles are among the major agricultural pests in the United States which have come from foreign lands. However, the North American muskrat overran Europe and the European rabbit nearly ruined Australia, reports National Geographic.

Phenomena center enjoys success

Oil spill information valuable commodity

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A landslide leveled three small villages high in the mountains of Yugoslavia, and eight people took notes in a basement near Harvard Square.

The next day, they darted after details about an earthquake shaking eastern Romania, 682 rare red-necked grebes winging along the Massachusetts coast and a volcano spouting eight streams of lava in the Aleutian Islands.

Pestilence, catastrophe and assorted acts of God are the daily concerns of this curious group. It is the Center for Short-Lived Phenomena, perhaps the world's strangest news service.

For a yearly fee, they inform scientists, corporations, libraries and amateur naturalists around the world about oddities of man and nature.

Unlike the sooner-or-later approach of scholarly journals, this group thrives on immediacy. And depending on how much its subscribers are willing to pay, it will send daily telegrams or weekly packets of reports.

"We try to report everything around the world," says Richard Golob, the center's director. Everything boils down to about 300 "event notification reports" a year.

Typically, half of the reports concern natural events: earthquakes, tidal waves, fireballs, red tide, dolphin strandings, meteorites, mudslides, forest fires, epidemics and rat infestations.

The rest tell about pollution accidents. They range over chemical leaks in Chicago, oil spills in the Strait of Malacca and the escape of dangerous gas from a refinery in Houston.

The center was set up nine years ago as part of the Smithsonian Institution. It was intended to let the institution's scientists know about volcanoes and other natural outbursts so they could dash off to study them.

Two years ago, however, it split from the government and now is struggling to meet its $150,000 annual expenses as a private, nonprofit organization.

It is trying to build a reputation of impartiality that will make it as trusted by conservation groups as by oil companies.

"Newspapers take a very man-oriented view toward the world," Golob says. "It's a different type of information that we provide. It doesn't focus on individuals. It focuses on events.

"We report all earthquakes 6.5 on the Richter scale and above. We report them whether they are on a remote island or kill 60 million people in China."

The reports are pieced together in a small suite of offices in the basement of a building on the fringe of Harvard University. Golob, 26, directs a staff that deals by mail and phone with a scattered global corps of correspondents.

The number of these contributors, 2,000, rivals the list of subscribers, 2,200.

Most contributors are government scientists and college researchers. But they also include common folk who happen to see the unusual. A cab driver in Chicago, for instance, calls with reports on pollution spills, and a radarman in Alaska watches vapor clouds over volcanoes.

"I always had a great conflict between doing work in a laboratory and being in the outdoors," Godob says. He has a biochemistry degree from Harvard, but the environment is as much a concern as molecular formulas. "So this organization is a very exciting marriage between my interests."

Dealing with nature on its most terrifying scale has given him a feeling about how man fits in.

"The constant exposure to volcanic eruptions, earthquakes and infestations does provide a very real sense of man's niche in the ecosystem," he says. "Man is one of many species occupying the planet, and the forces of the planet are so powerful that man cannot deal with them."

Most of the people who subscribe to the service receive the reports in weekly packets of postcards. The costs range from $35 a year for reports on natural science to $600 for telegrams on all of the center's reports.

Elder Brown to serve on board

NEWPORT BEACH (BW) — The election of former governor Edmund G. Brown to the board of directors of National Systems Corp. was announced by John McNaughton, president and chairman of the vocational educational organization.

Gov. "Pat" Brown was elected at a special shareholders meeting held in the Sheraton Hotel in Newport Beach.

Brown became the ninth member of the board and will serve for a two-year term. He now serves on several commissions, being chairman of the California Council for Environmental & Economic Balance and formerly chairman of the President's Commission on Reform of the Federal Criminal Laws.

He is a senior partner in the Beverly Hills law firm of Ball, Hunt, Hart, Brown and Baerwitz.

A third-generation Californian, Brown served two terms as district attorney before becoming attorney general in 1950. He was elected governor of the State of California for the first time in 1958 and was re-elected for a second term.

In the history of the state, his administration is credited with the vital California Water Project which brought water to central and southern California for the first time in 1958 and under a 20-year program financed by a multi-billion dollar bond issue.

He also pioneered in smog control legislation, higher education master planning, and established the Office of Consumer Counsel and the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

"We are pleased to welcome the Honorable Edmund G. Brown to the board of National Systems," President McNaughton told shareholders at the meeting. "We know that former-governor Brown's interest in education and his business acumen will be invaluable in the direction of the company," he said.

National Systems is America's largest publicly owned company solely dedicated to vocational education. It owns and franchises more than 70 vocational schools throughout the United States and currently trains more than 65,000 active students in such fields as aircraft maintenance, flight training, real estate, dental/medical assisting, secretarial, legal secretarial, contracting, drafting and accounting.

Its accredited correspondence and resident schools include North American Correspondence Schools, Anthony Schools, Spartan School of Aeronautics and Bryman-Sawyer Schools.

Recession just over the horizon?

Fear of high interest rates, trade 'imbalance' visible

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Is the stock market depressed because of fears of higher interest rates, the imbalance of trade, worry about upcoming income tax proposals, or concern that Congress will overreact to the slowdown?

Or perhaps because it is feared a recession is just over the horizon, that the Carter administration's programs are slow to develop, that government is anti-business, that the Fed is confused, that U.S. productivity is slowing?

Still searching? Try these: a belief that consumer confidence is slipping, that capital investment by industry isn't taking up the slack, that we are headed into the downside of the economic cycle.

All were offered this week by market analysts, who've found that "explanations" are as much a commodity for sale as are forecasts of things to come.

The grab-bag of explanations is now overstuffed with plausible theories, always available to those who claim to have some understanding of the market or who simply cannot afford to appear mute before puzzled clients.

Although he has offered some theories of his own in the past — mainly that the Fed's money policy is the cause — John Wright this week breaks with the ranks, avoid explanations and just tells where the market is.

Measured in inflation'adjusted dollars, he observes, the Down Jones Industrial Average is now about the same as its average price 23 years ago, lower even than in the 1974 bear market.

Meanwhile, he continues, earnings are now 50 percent higher than in 1954, and dividends are about 8 percent greater and growing faster than earnings.

Refreshingly, no explanation of how the market got to where it is — just some compelling, clear evidence that it is there.

Other comparisons by Wright, whose Wright Investors Service of Bridgeport, Conn. is widely used by professional portfolio managers, add emphasis.

—The current dividend yield of about 5.3 percent is far above both 1929 and post-World War II averages of 4.2 percent (but apparently not sufficiently attractive to investors.)

—The 8.7 to 1 ratio of market price to earnings is about one-third below the post-1929 average of 14 to 1 and lower than the average for any years except 1948-1950 and 1974.

The cost of a share in the 30 Dow Jones industrial blue chips now averages about $1.06 per dollar of shareholders' equity, about one third less than the post-1929 average of $1.54, and less than during any of the 47 intervening years except 1932-1933, 1942 and 1975.

Thus he comments that "it is inescapable that on any basis which takes into account historic value relationships during peace and war, prosperity and recession, stock prices are today severely undervalued."

"WIS believes that equity investment values are currently so attractive in relation to both historic standards and prospective earnings and dividends that high-quality common stocks should be accumulated now in expectation of a sustained stock market recovery and advance beginning before 1977 yearend."

Commerce department computes direct costs

Shoplifting — and stopping it — multi-billion dollar business

By DAN SKARTVEDT
Associated ress Writer

LOS ANGELES — Shoplifting — and stopping it — has become a multi-billon-dollar business these days.

A recent study by the Commerce department computes the direct costs of shoplifting at $1.5 billion a year, but it notes that retailers spend even more money trying to protect themselves against shoplifters and other thieves, expending some $2 billion for security.

Ultimately, of course, these expenses are passed on to consumers in the form of higher prices. As one Los Angeles small retailer puts it: "We can absorb some of the costs, but eventually the public has to pay for it. There's no Santa Claus."

California merchants, the victims of roughly 10 per cent of the nation's total shoplifting incidents, now are armed with a new law which should help cut their losses.

They should also benefit from advice contained in a new antishoplifting manual which the Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce has just published and hopes to distribute to retailers throughout the state.

The law, which took effect this year, is aimed particularly at juveniles, who are blamed for up to half of all shoplifting. Under its provisions, parents or legal guardians of a minor caught stealing merchandise can be made to pay for goods not recovered in marketable condition, and could face civil penalties up to $500.

The law also specifies that petty theft is punishable by up to six months in jail and fines of up to $1,000, and provides that a portion of the proceeds from these fines may be earmarked for public school counseling sessions and classes to deter young people from such pilfering.

Another tough provision of the new law gives merchants broad authority to detain shoplifting suspects and to use "non-deadly force" in preventing their escape. If a merchant subsequently is sued for false arrest, he may present a suitable defense merely by demonstrating that he had probable cause to be suspicious.

Economy upswing hits General Telephone

Training requirements doubled

SANTA MONICA (BW) — An upswing in the economy over the past year-and-a-half has helped nearly double General Telephone of California's employee job training requirements, with women heavily involved as they move into traditionally male jobs.

"As the economy improved in the third quarter of 1976, customer demand increased. General also began accelerated hiring for the first time in several years and job transfers began speeding up," said S.A. Jacobucci, training director for General.

This, coupled with changes resulting from competition, a more sophisticated work force and advanced technology, has greatly accelerated company training needs.

General trained 7,316 persons in the first half of 1977, compared with 5,543 during the like period of 1976. "During this year we expect to train at least double the number of employes we trained last year," Jacobucci said.

An increasing number of those employes are women moving into traditionally men's jobs and, to a lesser extent, men moving into the traditional female jobs, such as operator and customer representative.

Today, 83.7 percent of General's frame maintenance are women, filling jobs which formerly were a male-only domain. Female percentages in other former male bastions are: cable splicers, 3.6 percent; equipment maintainers, 13.6 percent; warehouse attendants, 44.3 percent; senior equipment production assemblers, 75.8 percent, and equipment installers, 13 percent.

In 1976, the company had 251 employes going through its telephone pole climbing classes. This year, 323 already have gone through the class and the total is expected to reach 775 by the end of the year.

Jacobucci said approximately two out of three women students pass the pole climbing class, with failures mainly attributed to physical inability to complete the strenuous course.

The male failure rate — about 5 percent — is traced primarily to mental attitudes. "Some people are just bothered by heights," Jacobucci said, and the pole climbers have to be able to scramble up poles at least 22 feet high.

(General's equal employment opportunity record, both in regard to women and minorities, has received compliments from federal and state enforcement agencies.

In 1971, for instance, only 5.4 percent of its top five grade level jobs were filled by female employes. Today, however, with a 44.7 percent female work force, 15 percent of the top five level jobs are held by females and one member of the board of directors is a woman.

General also has more than doubled its percentage of minority management employes — from 4.4 percent in 1971 to 10.4 percent today, and is aiming at 16.4 percent by 1979).

Jacobucci said that training efforts are aimed at two goals: developing the company's work force to provide the best possible service to customers, and, assisting employes in their own personal career and job development.

"The telephone industry is unique in that much of what we do isn't taught anywhere else," he said. General's training program today includes about 360 courses ranging from an eight-hour cardiopulmonary resuscitation class to a 185-day course in toll switching center control room operator and equipment maintenance training.

The company is making increasing use of video tape units and is putting as much material as possible on a self-teach basis using video and audio tapes and accompanying workbooks as an economical means of offering material on a timely basis.

Many courses, of course, are still instructor-taught in classroom situations, utilizing "hands-on" demonstration of operating equipment whenever possible.

And, in addition to its own extensive craft and management courses, General also encourages its employes to work toward college degrees, assisting 360 employes in doing so last year via its tuition aid program.

Pan American World Airways is offering a "Fearful Flyer" seminar Oct. 11-19.

Captain T.W. "Slim" Cummings, a 30-year veteran with Pan Am, will lead the seven session course. Although this marks the West Coast debut of the program, Capt. Cummings, a licensed psychologist, has conducted 18 previous "Fearful Flyer" seminars throughout the United States.

The sessions include relaxation exercises, lectures, films and discussions with members of the Federal Aviation Administration. Culminating the program is a "Day at the Airport" taxi session and a one-hour graduate flight aboard a Pan Am jet.

By the time the seminar is over, graduates generally know far more about a commercial jetliner than the average passenger. With their new-found confidence and knowledge, participants have been able to overcome their fear and enjoy flying.

To date, there have been approximately 950 graduates — well over 90 percent of the students who have enrolled. The fee for the seminar is $100 and enrollment is limited to 70 participants.

For more information, contact 624-0192, ext. 365.

Players slate drama

The Four Colleges Players of Claremont will stage "Female Transport," a British drama by Steven Gooch, in Balch Auditorium, Scripps College, at 8 p.m. Oct. 19 through 23.

Set in the early 1800s, "Female Transport" focuses on six of 117 women convicts who are being transported from Britain to the colony of Australia. As the play unfolds, the six very different women reluctantly form a core of solidarity against the men who govern their lives on the ship.

Director Susan Obrow stresses the importance of physical and mental chains both in the 1800s and today. The action on the ship takes place within an open wooden complex designed by Phil Delony, lecturer in drama at Scripps, enabling the audience to be privy to the most detailed movement of each character.

General admission is $3, students and senior citizens, $1. Further information may be obtained by calling 626-8511, ext. 2974.

Steps into Farrah's sneakers

By DAVID HANDLER

I was very anxious to see whether Charlie's Angels would be the same without America's favorite set of choppers. If Farrah was missed, it would mean she's an authentic star. If, however, Cheryl Ladd could ably fill those cute little sneakers, it would mean that Farrah was merely last year's fad; a hot product for a while. Nothing more.

Farrah, I think you made a serious mistake.

Charlie's Angels was the first fall premiere show to strike gold since the Beverly Hillbillies. It catapulted Farrah Fawcett-Majors out of shampoo commercials and onto the wall of every auto body repair shop and mailroom in America. Parents witnessed a generation of young males ripening to sexual maturity over her — down came the poster of Kareem Abdul Jabbar making his patented sky hook shot, up went the one of Farrah tugging at a blonde lock. Week in and week out, tabloid and pulp magazine headlines promised us that her perfect marriage to the Six Million Dollar Stiff was on the rocks, that she stays thin by subsisting on a diet of franks 'n beans, that her hair looks like that because she washes it every morning in vinegar and lime jello.

So she became a free agent, and in stepped Cheryl Ladd. Cheryl, who breezes onto the scene as Farrah's kid sister, Chris Munroe, is pretty, sweet and looks fine in a bikini. She can also act. There's no chance she will overtake Kate Jackson as my Favorite Angel (Kate remains this viewer's FA, even if she did show up at the Emmy's on the arm of Nick Nolte, an insincere bum who will cramp her lifestyle and no doubt break her heart), but Cheryl is convincing evidence that Farrah's primary marketing asset was her image.

Farrah committed the one cardinal sin of the TV star: she cut off her air supply. Henry Winkler and John Travolta are both much bigger than the shows that made them superstars — each is starring in feature films now — but they knew better than to indulge in bridge burning. Oh sure, the press releases say that they've stayed on out of fan loyalty, but the truth is that a series is a weekly showcase. It keeps the name and the face alive. Without that, Farrah will fade away to the obscurity that inevitably overtakes our poster boys and girls.

The most popular poster stars of the last 15 years have been males. It seems to be an annual ritual. Each has had a spot on a TV show and then an album, although their talents generally consist of a sweet, innocent face. Run down the list: Davey Jones, Bobby Sherman, David Cassidy (who is now being overtaken by half-brother Shaun). David Soul of Starsky and Hutch is making a run this year; ironically he co-starred with Bobby Sherman about 10 years ago in Here Comes the Brides and was universally overlooked.

CHERYL LADD

These poster idols tend to fade into obscurity. It takes tremendous talent not to. Paul McCartney was once noteworthy as the heartthrob of the slumber party set.

The turnover for women poster stars hasn't been as rapid. Raquel Welch is Farrah's only true predecessor of recent times. I suspect this could be attributed to the proliferation of explicit and easily-accessible girlie magazines. And this is precisely what makes Farrah so unique. In an era that produced scratch-and-sniff centerfolds, she stands out as a totally wholesome sex object. Farrah openly advocates the likes of true love, monogamy and the work ethic. You won't find her lolling around Bernie Cornfeld's pool.

I can't help but think that much of Farrah's appeal is nostalgic. She is, after all, an anachronism, a throwback to simple, man-woman interaction that is the stuff of Hollywood myth. Only time and the caliber of her work away from Charlie's Angels will allow us to determine whether she'll go the way of the hula-hoop.

Barber shop at Garrison

The Carousel Chorus of the Pomona Valley chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America will present a concert in Garrison Theater of the Claremont Colleges at 8 o'clock tonight. Carl Walters directs.

The concert is sponsored by the Junior Women's Club and the Claremont Parks and Recreation Department. Admission is $4.

Antique show at Riverside

The 12th annual Riverside Antique Show will be held in the Convention Center of Raincross Square, Riverside, Friday, Saturday and next Sunday.

The show — one of California's oldest such events — changed its dates from September because the hot weather often prohibited attendance by interested parties from areas outside the Inland Empire.

This year's show features antique shops from Illinois, Texas, Arizona and California.

Antique shows are one of the few mart-type events that are open to the general public for an admission price. Children are admitted free, along with antique shop owners and decorators.

Pomona singer at MM

Otis Roy, Pomona's "singing custodian," will sing and yoddle at a bluegrass festival and banjo contest at Magic Mountain, Valencia amusement park, from noon to six p.m. today.

Roy will perform with Billy Webb's band.

Lamkin previews opera

Michael Lamkin, assistant professor at Scripps College and director of the Concert Choir of the Claremont Colleges, will present a preview of Bizet's "Carmen" to the West End Opera Guild at an apertivo at the home of Mrs. Ronald Mathis, 1656 N. Laurel Ave., Upland, Thursday.

The West End Opera Company will present the opera in Spring Auditorium, Ontario, at 8 p.m. Oct. 22. Lamkin will discuss the opera, the life of the composer, and the social background in which the opera takes place.

Lamkin, a graduate of Baylor University, holds a master of music degree from the university and a doctorate of musicology from the University of Iowa.

CONSORT CONCERT — John Biggs will lead the John Biggs Consort in a program of Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque and contemporary music in Spring Auditorium, Ontario, at 8 p.m. Oct. 20 under the auspices of the Pomona Valley Community Concert Association.

Police shows fading from tube

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Like the Western before it, the police show is in danger of extinction, victim of its own popularity and a continuing assault on television violence.

Four years ago there were 17 police series on TV. This season the networks pared them to 10, and no new ones are planned for midseason or next year.

"I can see the cop shows disappearing altogether," says David Gerber, executive producer of "Police Woman" and "Police Story."

Although Gerber places the major blame on pressure groups which he says "would turn television into a benign, passive, stultifying medium."

Last year five new police shows bowed, but only one made it. That was "Charlie's Angels," a fairy tale with sex and humor. This year, there's only one new police show, "CHiPs," which has been described as bubblegum for kid viewers.

Frank Price, president of Universal Television, which supplies 11 series' each week to the three networks, says he doesn't like the meddling by pressure groups but likes the end result — "the better variety of shows."

McMahon and others agree that if the police show disappears, it won't be for long. Television is cyclical. Medical shows and lawyers have periodically vanished and reappeared.

Until this year the police show remained a television staple despite antiviolence campaigns that date back 10 years. But the networks now are feeling real pressure, particularly from the American Medical Association, the Parent-Teacher Association and the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting.

Although the networks still are in the market for movies with police themes, such as a two-hour "Police Story" film, the end of this season will see the ranks of TV policemen further depleted. Robert Blake has said this is his final year with "Baretta," "Hawaii Five-0," now in its 10th year, could be nearing the end of the line. "Barnaby Jones" also is showing signs of strain and "Switch" was renewed only by the skin of its teeth.

Gerber believes that now that police shows are declining, the next target will be sex on TV.

"People will start finding sex on television where it's never been before because the pressure groups will start calling attention to it."

Gerber, who says he has been working with other producers to answer the critics, says, "We're taking off the so-called violent shows. That makes television better? Baloney! What's violence? Who decides?

"It comes down to who is going to decide what the American public sees."

PVCCA to present John Biggs Consort

The John Biggs Consort, an ensemble made up of four singers who also play various instruments of the medieval, Renaissance, Baroque and contemporary periods, will open the 1977-78 season of the Pomona Valley Community Concert Association in Spring Auditorium, Ontario, at 8 p.m. Oct. 20.

The group was founded by Biggs while he was a student at UCLA. His first formal training in music began at the age of seven when he was granted a scholarship in violin to the National Institute of Music and Art in Los Angeles. Later as a member of the Roger Wagner Chorale he met his wife Salli Terri, singer, arranger and recording star, who won a Grammy Award with Laurindo Almeida for their album on Angel Records, "Duets with the Spanish Guitar." At that time Biggs began to build up a large private collection of authentic reproductions of early instruments all of which he learned to play.

The Consort has made an award-winning movie, "Discovery of the Music of the Middle Ages," that has become the definitive film on the subject on campuses across the country.

Non-member persons wishing to attend the concert, the first of four attractions this season, may contact Mrs. Stuart Brockway, secretary, at 986-5789.

Dodgers singing in Philadelphia rain

Progress Bulletin
Sports
Pomona, California ■ Sunday, October 9, 1977

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, behind the clutch pitching of Tommy John and the home run power of Dusty Baker, survived the most adverse weather conditions in baseball playoff history to beat the Philadelphia Phillies 4-1 Saturday night and win the National League pennant.

Baker's two-run homer in the second inning was all the Dodgers needed to back the seven-hit pitching of John, who three years ago was told he'd never throw a baseball again.

Dodgers rookie Manager Tommy Lasorda said the big thing to him was beating the Phillies two straight in Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium, where the East Division champions won 60 and lost 21 for a .741 percentage during the regular season.

Lasorda a made a point to say, "And they said we couldn't win in Philadelphia. It's very satisfying to clinch it here. I saw a clipping that quoted Greg Luzinski as saying the Dodgers didn't even belong on the same field as the Phillies.

"Then my brother sent me another clipping with Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark saying the Phils would win the thing and all anyone has talked about during the playoffs is that the Dodgers couldn't win at the Vet."

The 34-year-old John, who underwent a unique arm operation in Sept. 1974, said, "I owe a lot to the Dodgers' organization for putting up with me the year I was out."

John said he threw 90 per cent fastballs at the Phillies, generally an explosive fastball-hitting team.

"I had to go out there and challenge hitters and keep the ball low," said John, who in his 17th year of professional baseball won 20 games for the first time.

Someone asked the Dodgers' pitcher when he started planning for Saturday night's game.

"During the sixth inning of the first game, after I left the game," John replied. "I was in Lasorda's office watching the game on TV. I was taught as a youngster that sometimes you learn more by not pitching than actually pitching."

"If we had stopped and put the tarp on, we never would have been able to get it off," Feeney said. "I think both teams were entitled to play nine innings."

It was Feeney's decision to start the game, which began 17 minutes late after more than an hour of steady drizzle. The rain could be seen splashing off puddles in front of the Phillies' dugout. But the nationally-televised show went on, even though the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted clear weather for today and Monday.

Meanwhile, back in the ballgame, the Dodgers took a 2-0 lead against Philadelphia's 23-game winner Steve Carlton, who failed to finish for the second time in the series.

Baker turned out to be the offensive hero of the series for the Dodgers collecting five hits in 14 at-bats, hitting two homers and driving in eight runs to break Henry Aaron's 1969 playoff record of seven RBI.

The Dodgers put it away in the fifth as the troublesome Baker walked. With one out, Steve Yeager singled Baker to second. John bunted foul on a third strike for a strikeout, but Carlton threw a wild pitch with the slippery baseball, Baker scoring all the way from second and Yeager advancing to third.

The Dodgers got an assist from the soaking-wet turf on the next play when Bill Russell dropped a suicide squeeze bunt toward third. Yeager scored as Carlton slipped off the mound trying to field the ball.

Feeney said that once the game started, it had to be played to its completion.

'WE WON!'

Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda is embraced by Reggie Smith, left, and Steve Garvey, right, after the Dodgers won the National League pennant in Philadelphia Saturday night.

'Best game of my life'-John

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tommy John, who pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers into the World Series Saturday night with a 4-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, called his performance "the best game of my life."

"I think I threw about 90 per cent fastballs," he said in the lockeroom, hefting a bottle of California champagne. "I knew that I had good stuff. I had to go out there and challenge the hitters and keep the ball low.

The Phillies spent most of the evening grounding out to Dodger infielders, hitting less than a half-dozen balls out of the infield on the fly.

The 34-year-old Dodger left-hander, who was told by doctors two years ago that a ruptured ligament in his left elbow had ended his pitching career, said the victory was the icing on "a storybook year for me."

"Last year people didn't think I could win," John said. "Then everything fell into place this year. I have to thank God ... win or lose, I just thank God I'm playing baseball. You don't realize how much you miss it until you're out of it."

Baker, who has homered in three of his last five games, picked up one in the second inning Saturday night to drive in Ron Cey with what proved to be the winning runs.

Baker and the Phillies' Greg Luzinski were the only players to hit safely in all four playoff games.

Yanks win to even series

KANSAS CITY (AP) — So now, the seesaw American League pennant playoff has come down to a single, winner-take-all-fifth game, a familiar feeling for the Kansas City Royals and New York Yankees.

Sparky Lyle, New York's rubber-armed reliever, bailed the Yankees out with 5 1/3 innings of two-hit relief Saturday that saved a 6-4 victory and tied the best-of-five series at 2-2 with the deciding fifth game scheduled for tonight.

A year ago, the same two teams also went the full five-game limit before the Yankees won the pennant. New York's Lou Piniella thinks the memory of that nightmarish ninth-inning loss will hurt the Royals.

"We beat them in Game Five last year," said Piniella. "They know it and we know it. That will work in our favor."

So, too, will Lyle—if needed.

He was the last dependable pitcher available in the Yankee bullpen Saturday, and he'll be back there again tonight when Ron Guidry starts for New York against the Royals' Paul Splittorff.

Lyle permitted just two hits and shut off a Royal comeback that nearly wiped out an early 4-0 Yankee lead. It was a great clutch performance by Lyle, who led the American League by pitching in 72 games and had a piece of 39 of New York's 100 regular-season victories with 13 wins and 26 saves.

Using his slider and some tight New York defense, the left-handed reliever kept the Yankees' championship hopes alive in this do-or-die game. He came on with runners at first and third in the fourth inning and retired George Brett on a rally-ending line drive that left Kansas City's comeback one run short.

Then he kept the Royals away for the rest of this windy, chilly afternoon.

USC comes to life too late

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — USC came to life too late.

The Trojans (4-1) played some of the greatest football in their long and storied history Saturday against seventh-ranked Alabama in the last nine minutes and 34 seconds.

'Bama escaped when Hertel's pass for an attempted two-point conversion and a win was intercepted.

In an actual elapsed time of 8:59, Hertel took Southern Cal on touchdown drives of 91 and 79 yards completing 12 of 17 passes to six different receivers for 158 yards and a touchdown in the process.

The former Los Altos star also connected on a two-point conversion pass to fullback Mosi Tatupu after the first touchdown drive to make it 13 of 18 completions in 8:59.

Hertel was tackled and threw the ball as he was falling. Tatupu grabbed it at the two and raced over the goalline as the Coliseum crowd of 63,140 screamed.

The situation was the same on the second two-point attempt. This time Hertel was hit and barely managed to get the ball away sidearm.

He threw up a dying quail just before hitting the turf and it fell into the waiting hands of Alabama linebacker Barry Krauss.

The 21-20 loss snapped USC's 15-game winning streak which was the longest in major college football at the time. The loss will knock the Trojans out of first place when the ratings come out and possibly out of a (later) national championship.

"I think it was a great football game," said USC coach John Robinson. "They (Alabama) won, but I'm extremely proud of our kids.

"I don't think they played great football throughout the game and that's probably why we lost. But they came back like no team I've ever seen."

Hertel, who had only two of six completions for nine yards with one interception in the first half, finished the day with 18 of 30 for 239 yards out of USC's total offensive effort of 359 (to 'Bama's 249).

"They seemed to stop our run pretty much," said Hertel. "I didn't throw much in the first half so I couldn't get much rhythm.

"But our balanced offense has been so successful that we kept running even though they stopped our run today. We thought we could bowl 'em over."

Indeed, Alabama's speedy, swarming and quick defense smothered Troy's ground game. The Trojans ran for just 120 yards, 83 of them in the first half (out of a first half total of only 92).

Charlie White was held to 63 yards on 15 carries (10 carries and 47 yards in the first half). Dwight Ford had 31 yards on 13 carries (including 5-for-14 in the first half). Tatupu, 33 yards on four carries in the first half, finished with nine for 40 yards.

"It actually was three different games," said Alabama's "Bear" Bryant. "We had an even first half. We won the first half of the second half and they won the second half of the second half. We came back and they came back.

"Never have I seen a team come back as strong as USC today. It's a tribute to their coaching. And that Hertel, my was he hot. They've got some kind of program.

"I was a little disappointed in our pass rush, but our overall defense has really tightened since the Nebraska game. This was a great win for our team."

But the Trojans didn't score again until after the visitors had taken a 7-3 lead following a 51-yard drive in the third quarter.

USC drove 79 yards to to a second-and-one at the Tide's one. But Tatupu couldn't gain and Ford was thrown for a five-yard loss. So Jordan had to boot a 23-yard field goal from the 15 to make it 7-6.

Alabama went 77 yards in nine plays plus two USC penalties in the fourth quarter to go ahead 14-6. When Troy got the ball, Hertel's pass was intercepted at his own eight and Tony Nathan scored his second TD for 'Bama and it was 21-6.

"This won't hurt us for the conference," said Hertel. "We'll come out smokin' for Oregon."

Chaffey claims Mission opener

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Chaffey College overcame a blizzard of penalty flags Saturday night to down visiting Palomar College 27-14 in the Mission Conference opener for both schools.

The win gives the high-flying Panthers a perfect 4-0 season mark, the schools' best start in many years.

On a night when Chaffey rule infractions (14 flags for 130 yards) kept Palomar in the contest until midway through the final quarter, it was the rugged Panther defense which carried the day for the hosts.

Despite giving up two touchdowns (both set up on penalties), that Panther defensive eleven was virtually air-tight when it counted.

Chaffey, in addition to winning the battle on the scoreboard, also outclassed its foe in the other statistical departments.

The Panthers rolled up 320 yards in total offense and 23 first downs. In contrast, the Comets could manage only 118 yards in offense, and only eight of those yards came via the airways.

Potter, after a slow first half, finished the contest with 15 completions in 27 attempts good for 125 yards and one touchdown. Potter did not throw an interception, while Chaffey's secondary picked off three Palomar passes.

Actually, Comet quarterbacks Rick Disney and Greg Hadfield wound up "hitting" Chaffey defenders more often than their own mates. The two combined for only two completions in 16 attempts.

Carr, the Upland High grad, scored three times while San Dimas' Bob Pleasant had the other Chaffey TD. Carr scored on runs of one and two yards and also clicked with QB Potter on a 27-yard pass play.

Pleasant, spelling Carr, scored the final TD of the night on a four-yard run with less than a minute remaining in the contest.

The visiting Comets came back later in the final period to score and make things interesting at 20-14, but the CC defense toughened thereafter and came up with two big interceptions to put a halt to the comeback attempt.

Jennings was the game's leading rusher with 85 yards on 16 totes, while Carr contributed 56 yards and Potter 24 to the Panther running game.

Making those big pass thefts for Chaffey were John Gable, Dirk McJunkin and Ed Edwards. Chino High grad Dave McGeorge anchored the Panther defensive line with an outstanding night of his own, with plenty of help from another ex-Cowboy, Marty Edens.

Eddings catches touchdown pass

PULLMAN, Wash. — California wide receiver Floyd Eddings, a freshman from Ganesha High, caught a 21-yard touchdown pass from Gary Grauman with 1:09 remaining in the Bears' 17-10 loss to Washington State Saturday.

Poly can't move the ball

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

When a team manages only 15 yards total offense in a game, it's safe to say it has problems.

Northern Arizona's defense was just too much for the struggling Broncos Saturday as the visiting Lumberjacks enjoyed a 16-0 shutout at Kellogg Field.

Poly's defense also did an outstanding job, coming up with seven big plays to give the offense the ball in NAU territory.

As it turned out, the Broncs might have won the game if they went for a field goal on first down plays after getting the ball. In almost all cases, Poly's defense ended up retreating instead of advancing the ball.

Poly rolled up minus 39 yards on 41 rushing plays and managed only 54 through the air as three quarterbacks combined to complete only seven of 21 passes.

What really made the night frustrating for the winless Broncs (0-4) was the way they wasted golden opportunities created by the defense.

The trend of the night was established early in the first quarter when freshman Jim Wilson blocked a Northern Arizona punt on the Lumberjack 20. The offense managed to lose 10 yards on three plays so a 47-yard field goal try was short.

In the second half alone, Poly's defense gave the ball to the offense on the NAU 30 on Steve Boron's pass interception, on the NAU 47 on Jim Middleton's interception, on the NAU 49 on Scott Pickwith's fumble recovery, on the NAU 37 on Don Drake's fumble recovery, on the Lumberjack 13 on Rodney Soward's fumble recovery and on the Northern Arizona 35 on Boron's recovery of a bad hike from center.

Offensively, NAU quarterback Herb Daniel, a former Citrus College star, set a Lumberjack career total offense record with 137 Saturday night for a total of 2,326 in just 16 games.

Kicker Tom Jurich kicked field goals of 27, 34 and 32 yards to give him 12 for the season as Poly's tired defense allowed only one touchdown on an one-yard run by Carl Golden early in the second period.

The Lumberjacks (4-1) managed 362 yards total offense as Daniel completed 13 of 22 passes and Allan Clark ran for 109 yards.

Poly will have a bye next week before traveling to Muncie, Ind. in two weeks to face Ball State, another rugged defensive outfit.

UCLA edged, 32-28

Lofton, a senior wide receiver, had set up the winning score seconds earlier when he caught a 39-yard bomb from Dils, leaping high in the air to steal the ball from two UCLA defenders.

Dils, a junior who started in place of injured Guy Benjamin, completed 24 of 37 passes for 287 yards, but most of the heroics belonged to little Darrin Nelson.

Nelson, a freshman, gained 187 yards in 22 carries and scored on touchdown runs of 31 and four yards. He became the first freshman in Stanford's history to surpass 100 yards rushing in a game.

UCLA had trouble getting started and didn't gain a first down until early in the second quarter. By then, the Bruins trailed 16-0.

UCLA kept the game close on individual effort, including a 75-yard run by Theotis Brown and a 78-yard romp by Freeman McNeil.

UCLA had gone ahead for the first time in the game with 2:20 remaining when Brown caught a 21-yard pass from quarterback Rick Bashore. The score was set up by a 27-yard pass from Bashore to Homer Butler.

Stanford improved its record to 4-1, 2-0 in the Pac 8, while UCLA slipped to 2-3, 0-1. It was the Cardinals first win over UCLA since 1971.

Stanford dominated the game for most of the first half, despite holding only a 19-14 halftime advantage. The Cards had 18 first downs in the first half to only four for the Bruins.

Stanford scored the first time it had the ball on a 20-yard field-goal by Ken Naber, then made it 9-0 when Nelson skirted right end and sped through two would-be tacklers for a 31-yard touchdown.

The Cardinals extended the lead early in the second period when Phil Francis ran three yards for a score, but then the breaks turned for UCLA.

Stanford's Savann Thompson fumbled a punt and Ken Walker recoverd on the Stanford 15. Four plays later James Owens scored from five yards out.

Muldowney qualifies in 2nd position

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — Shirley Muldowney rushed from 14th place to second position Saturday at the end of qualifying for Sunday's eliminations in the $249,000 World Finals of Drag Racing at Ontario Motor Speedway.

John Abbott of Denver maintained the top spot among the 16 qualifiers with his Friday run of 5.883 seconds for the quarter mile, clocked at 243.24 miles per hour.

Miss Muldowney, 37, of Mount Clemens, Mich., is this year's world champion among top-fuel drivers. She improved her best time to 5.911 seconds Saturday, and a speed of 238.72 m.p.h.

Eleven of the qualifiers bettered six seconds.

Gary Burgin, Stanton, Calif., qualified first for the Sunday finals in the funny car category with 6.047 seconds and 241.93 m.p.h., just ahead of Don Prudhomme of Granada Hills, Calif., timed in 6.056 seconds and 241.28 m.p.h.

Top college teams falter

By The Associated Press

The nation's major unbeaten college football teams dwindled down to a precious few Saturday after upsets claimed top-ranked Southern Cal, second-ranked Oklahoma, 13th-ranked Brigham Young and No. 14 California.

Only five undefeated teams were left in the Top Twenty after No. 7 Alabama stunned Southern Cal 21-20; fifth-ranked Texas stopped Oklahoma 13-6; Oregon State trimmed Brigham Young 24-19 and Washington State edged California 17-10.

The Trojans made a belated bid to pull out their game with a dramatic fourth-quarter rally during which they scored 14 points in 10 minutes. But they fell short when their two-point conversion after their second touchdown ended in an intercepted pass.

Alabama halfback Tony Nathan ran for two fourth-quarter touchdowns to give the eight-point underdogs from Alabama a 21-6 lead before the furious Southern Cal comeback behind quarterback Rob Hertel.

Hertel hit Calvin Sweeney with a 10-yard touchdown pass with 6:46 remaining, then passed to Mosi Tatupu for the two-point conversion that made it 21-14.

Then, starting at his own 21yard line, Hertel marched the Trojans to the Alabama 1-yard line, where fullback Lynn Cain swept end for the score with 39 seconds left to play. But this time, the USC two-point conversion failed as Barry Krauss intercepted Hertel's desperation pass to preserve the victory.

Texas' third-string quarterback Randy McEachern, a redshirt junior who never has lettered, came off the bench to pass Oklahoma dizzy and Earl Campbell supplied the running muscle as the Longhorns prevailed in a bruising battle of the unbeaten.

A tremendous goal-line stand in the final four minutes sealed Texas' first victory over Oklahoma since 1970. Tackle Brad Shearer and defensive back Johnnie Johnson tackled Oklahoma quarterback Thomas Lott for no gain on fourth-and-one at the Texas 5.

"You might see something like that in a storybook," said Texas Coach Fred Akers. "Maybe make a movie about it, but I've never seen anything like that."

McEachern, who watched last year's annual Texas-OU battle from the press box as a spotter for a radio network, was pressed into service when the Longhorns' top two quarterbacks were injured in the first quarter.

"On the way to the game, I hoped I would have a chance to play, but I never dreamed of that," said McEachern, who guided the Longhorns on an 80-yard touchdown drive and a fourth-quarter field goal.

"For me to go in for a big game like this was pretty nerve-racking," added the redshirted junior from Pasadena. "I was a little uneasy and nervous. I never played in a big game like this."

Oregon State defenders intercepted three Gifford Nielsen passes and returned two of them for touchdowns as the Beavers defeated Brigham Young. Nielsen, college football's leading passer, had not thrown an interception going into the contest. He suffered a partial tear to ligaments in his left knee and had to leave the game in the final quarter.

Thompson orchestrated two touchdown drives for an early 17-0 lead and Washington State's eventual winning points, and the defense held off a furious, late rally by California.

In other games Saturday afternoon involving the ranked teams, No. 3 Michigan defeated Michigan State 24-14; No. 4 Ohio State walloped Purdue 46-0; No. 6 Colorado tripped Oklahoma State 29-13; No. 9 Nebraska turned back Kansas State 26-9; 10th-rated Penn State defeated Utah State 16-7.

Palomar nips MSAC by 3

By PAUL CLICK
PB Correspondent

Mt. San Antonio College came within theee points of upsetting the top offensive football team in the South Coast Conference Saturday night at MSAC.

The Mounties rolled up 356 yards and held San Diego Mesa's quarterback Steve Fairchild (top passer in the SCC) to no yards in the second half as he did not complete a pass. The Mounties ground game finally clicked as it rolled up 292 yards. Stan Webster (17-99), Russ Esmus (12-96) and Grady Hubbard (8-53) were given big holes to run through by the MSAC offensive line.

But the Olympians were able to take a 27-24 victory behind the talented legs of halfback Melvin Fields. He zig-zagged through the Mountie defense for a 49-yard touchdown to put Mesa ahead 27-24 with 11:30 remaining in the contest. His run wiped out a MSAC lead of 24-21. Earlier, he had galloped 13 yards for a score.

Fields concluded his night's work with 164 yards on 28 carries. Fairchild was 8 for 32 with 111 yards. Mesa racked up 346 offensive yards.

The Mounties were their own worst enemy with 13 turnovers. MSAC had four passes intercepted and committed nine fumbles. Mesa, the victor, had eight turnovers (three passes intercepted and five fumbles).

La Verne's defense stifles Azusa Pacific

By RAY NELSON
PB Correspondent

The common phrase could not have been truer than Saturday afternoon as La Verne capitalized on a staunch defense to gain a 10-point halftime lead and drew out to a 33-3 thrashing of Azusa Pacific.

Although the Leo defense dominated the Cougars throughout the first 30 minutes, it was not until the first play following intermission that La Verne iced its second win in three outings.

It was then that La Verne fullback Ben Morrow bulled his way through the line of scrimmage, broke into the clear and streaked down the right sidelines for an 80-yard touchdown which extended the Leo lead to 19-3 and broke the hearts of the Cougars.

The La Verne defense controlled the line of scrimmage to such an extent in the first two periods that APC could manage only minus 18 yards rushing. The Cougars did collect 121 yards in the air, but La Verne stiffened whenever Azusa crossed midfield.

After the Cougars were bottled up inside their own 10 halfway through the initial quarter and punted, La Verne took the ball and drove 19 yards to the APC 13, where Andrew Ford started the Leo scoring with a 30-yard field goal.

Four minutes later, Ford connected a 40-yard boot for what proved to be the winning points after La Verne recovered a Cougar fumble at the Azusa 26.

Bruce Hines intercepted a Greg Hines pass to set up a 24-yard scoring drive which culminated when Brad Frick plunged over from the two.

Morro followed his long TD run by racing over from the 6-yard line early in the final stanza and Frick embarrassed the Cougars by scampering for a 20-yard score in the last 30 seconds of the contest.

Morrow led the rushing battle With 171 yards on 30 carries, while Frick dashed for 105 yards on 20 rushes.

The Leos, besides surrendering a 30-yard field goal by Randy Granger in the second quarter, held the Cougars to minus 58 yards rushing for the contest and outdistanced APC, 341-133, as the defense actually became stiffer following intermission. APC could only accumulate 30 yards total offense in the second half.

Turner paces Calvary Baptist

VICTORVILLE — Visiting Calvary Baptist High won its Christian League opener in style here Saturday with a 47-26 rout of Victor Valley Christian at Victorville College.

Calvary Baptist (2-2 overall) piled up 264 yards rushing led by junior Robert Turner with 117 yards on 18 carries and scored five touchdowns.

Rams test Bear defense

CHICAGO (AP) -- Joe Namath and the Los Angeles Rams will test the Chicago Bears' soft defenses Monday night in a nationally televised game.

The Bears opened the season with a 30-20 victory over the Detroit Lions but have lost their last two games to St. Louis 16-13 and to New Orleans 42-24.

The Rams have worked in reverse. They dropped their opener to Atlanta 17-6 but have won their last two starts from Philadelphia 20-0 and San Francisco 34-14.

The Bears insist one man doesn't make or break a team but they miss tackle Wally Chambers who has an injured knee. The team has had virtually no pass rush in his absence. The Bears have not sacked a quarterback since their victory over Detroit.

As a result, Bear opponents have completed 41 of 66 passes for 622 yards and 62.1 completion percentage. Namath comes into the game with 34 completions in 67 attempts for 403 yards and a completion percentage of 50.7. Namath has been intercepted only once.

Bob Avellini, who won the quarterbacking job which many thought would go to Mike Phipps, has been pleagued by dropped passes. No less than seven passes which should have been caught were dropped by this receivers in the New Orleans game.

Avellini has completed 40 of 84 attempts for 460 yards and a completion percentage of 47.6. Four of his passes have been intercepted. The Rams led the National Football League in interceptions with 32 last year and have five this season.

In addition to Chambers who will not start but might see action Monday night, safety Doug Plank has an injured knee and might not play. Plank also missed the New Orleans game.

The Rams will be without wide receiver Ron Jessie who was lost for the season when he suffered torn ligaments on the second play of the 49ers' game.

Walter Payton once again is the bright spot for the Bears. Payton gained 140 yards in 19 carries against New Orleans and now has 336 yards in 53 attempts this season. He also has snared nine passes for 75 yards.

Queen Mary's final round set for today

By PHIL ROCHE
PB Staff Writer

The final round of the 72-hole, $30,000 Long Beach Queen Mary Open tournament will be played today at El Dorado Muncipal.

A host of touring pros and top-notch area professionals entered the tournament, which is growing steadily each year under the management of Monty Blodgett and Doug Ives.

The event is becoming so popular that tournament directors had to call a halt to entries when they reached the 156 maximum. The pros had to dig deeply too for entry fees for this one because it took $150 to get in.

If you're in the Long Beach area, drop in at El Dorado on Studebaker Rd, just south of the Willow Street offramp from the 605 Freeway.

Gallery tickets are priced at $2.50.

The Lake Havasu City Open tournament has been scheduled for the London Bridge Golf Course on April 22-24.

A field of 40 pros and 120 amateurs will compete in the $12,000 event at Lake Havasu, Ariz. Entry information can be obtained from Ralph Bernhisel, 2400 Club House Drive, Lake Havasu, Ariz.

Flight winners for the La Mancha Women's Club recently were: 1st flight, Bonnie Woodrow, low gross, Vel Fairbanks, low net; 2nd flight, May Extale and Doris Allen; 3rd flight, Beverly Greenwood and Albest Pate,

Marshall Canyon Men's Club will hold the annual turkey shoot on Saturday, Oct. 29 . . . The November away tournament is scheduled for Green River Golf Course on Saturday, Nov. 12 . . . Rich Croson shot an 80 to win low gross honors recently at the Los Serranos outing.

Thomas, the defending champ, had to birdie the first sudden death hole to beat out Jack Valasek for second place.

Other flight winners and runnersup were: flight 1, Maurice Johnson and J.B. Hogan; flight 2, Ron Hamer and Frank Cassis; flight 3, Keith Spencer and Bob Burwell; flight 4, George Benzon and Jim Totaro.

The National Association of Amateur Golfers will play their next tournament at San Clemente Municipal on Thursday, Oct. 20.

Lincoln-Mercury will sponsor the PGA Seniors Championship, which will be held Feb. 2-5, 1978 at Walt Disney World.

Harvey, who once held the record for Mountain Meadows Golf Course, was our source for the tip-top condition of Red Hill C.C. since the new fairway sprinkler system was installed.

Harvey, who has been a member of Red Hill C.C. since 1947, said the course was in splendid condition, not Burt Wheeler as reported here.

Incidentally I had a chance to play the challenging course last week, and I can vouch for Harvey's evaluation of Red Hill. It indeed is in excellent shape.

Two area women, Betty Greene and Betty Greenstein of Via Verde C.C., are among the qualifiers for the 3rd annual Silver Circle Senior Women's Golf Championship.

The Better-Ball of Partners tournament will be held Monday, Oct. 17 at Los Coyotes C.C. in Buena Park.

NHL season opens Wednesday

By Associated Press

With six new coaches, some hastily rearranged line-ups and a new playoff plan, the National Hockey League begins its 60th season Wednesday.

The new coaches are JeanGuy Talbot with the New York Rangers, Bob Pulford with the Chicago Black Hawks, Pat Kelly with the Colorado Rockies, Ron Stewart with the Los Angeles Kings, Johnny Wilson with the Pittsburgh Penguins and Roger Neilson with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

They'll lead their teams in the quest for the playoff championship the Montreal Canadiens have won the last two seasons, but there is uncertainty over exactly which players will be used.

That's because Monday — just two days before the campaign opens with four games — there will be an intra-league player draft designed to bolster the weaker teams.

The clubs will choose in the reverse order of last year's standings by points, meaning the Detroit Red Wings will choose first and the Canadiens last in the pool which will be conducted through a conference telephone bookup linking the franchises with league headquarters in Montreal.

Each team will protect 18 players, two goaltenders and three second-year players. First-year players are exempt from selection, as are unsigned draft choices and goalies who have played less than three years.

Once the draft is held, the teams can begin in earnest their attempts to unseat the powerful Canadiens.

The playoff structure also has been reorganized.

Lewis Homes—La Verne and San Dimas

'Close-in' locations are available

The crazy quilt pattern of surburban homebuilding over the past decade caused buyers to leapfrog further and further down freeways, leaving patches of more accessible building sites untouched, notes a Southland marketing executive.

"Two such closer-in locations, both in countrylike areas with spectacular mountain views, are San Dimas and La Verne," said Randall W. Lewis, vice-president of Lewis Homes. "They are fast becoming favorite residential havens for buyers whose workday desks are in Los Angeles and Orange County cities."

His firm's Lewis Homes-San Dimas and Lewis Homes-La Verne communities both display single-family homes with three or four bedrooms, two or 2½ baths and two or three-car garages. Shake roofs and wood-burning fireplaces are features noted.

The San Dimas development, centering at Allen Avenue, just east of San Dimas Avenue, displays one- and two-story elevations with up to 1,712 square feet of livable area. Purchase price is from $60,400 to $73,500.

The community may be reached from the Foothill Freeway by exiting at San Dimas Avenue and driving south ¼ mile to Allen Avenue, then left to the site. Another route is via the San Bernardino Freeway to Route 10 Freeway, north to Foothill Freeway 30, east to San Dimas Avenue and south ¼ mile to Allen Avenue then left to sales office.

A short distance away is Lewis Homes-La Verne, whose residences are designed in one- and two-story elevations as well as split-level designs. Floor plans range up to 2,194 square feet in living area, with purchase price bracketed from $69,000 to $85,000.

Located near the intersection of Damien Avenue and Sentinel Drive, the Lewis Homes-La Verne community is now conducting sales for its final unit of homes.

The route is via the San Bernardino Freeway to Route 210 Freeway. Continue north on Foothill Freeway to its junction with Foothill Freeway (30) to its end in La Verne at Foothill Boulevard. East on Foothill Boulevard 1 block to Damien Avenue. South (right) on Damien 1 block to Sentinel Drive then right to models.

New units in both communities are currently under construction with a wide range of homes available to current buyers.

Saddlewood community is for growing families

American National Housing Corporation's Saddlewood community in Chino offers the "Winchester," a four bedroom one story dramatically designed home for the growing family.

Double doors under an extended roof and beamed covering open to a formal entry inside. Soaring vaulted ceilings enchance the spacious formal living and dining rooms bring in the country views through sliding glass doors. The large family room is beautifully suited to active family life and informal entertaining with wood-burning fireplace and a huge, impressive wall of glass with sliding doors to the side patio area.

The kitchen features General Electric range and a double oven (continuous-cleaning lower oven), trash compactor, dishwasher and disposal plus ceramic tile countertops and eloquent custom finished hardwood cabinetry. Between the kitchen and family room is a sunny breakfast nook for those on-the-go meals.

The Master Suite offers a private bath with extra-large ceramic tiled shower and double lavatories of porcelainized steel set in luxurious cultured onyx pullman tops in the dressing area. The sense of space in the master bedroom is further expanded by vaulted ceiling and large glass sliding doors opening onto a possible private patio, whirlpool spa or garden spot to enjoy the big outdoors.

The "Winchester," with 2,030 square feet of living area, has a three-car garage with a laundry tray and direct access to a most convenient service room with washer and dryer spaces.

Outside, for the family that loves to live, the landscaped equestrian trails tie each half-acre average sized lot to the trail system and around to the compact but complete equestrian center which provides a training ring, wash-down area, water troughs, and horse trailer loading turnaround. The center and a park with playground, picnic and barbecue facilities are maintained by the Homeowner's Association, insuring carefree enjoyment of these unique Saddlewood facilities.

"Buyers have expressed high interest in Saddlewood's west-Chino location, so convenient to the Corona Freeway with fast access to Orange County via the Riverside Freeway or the Los Angeles, San Gabriel Valley employment centers via the Pomona Freeway just two miles north of Saddlewood" reports Jim Lenon, vice president of Sales and Marketing for American National Housing Corporation.

The models, priced from $82,995, may be viewed daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. by taking the Corona Freeway (71) to the Chino Avenue exit, east on Chino Avenue one block to Saddlewood. Phone 628-4761 for more information.

Inflationary 'pressures' cited

WASHINGTON — Robert Arquilla, president of the National Association of Home Builders, is urging Congress to conduct hearings on the many inflationary pressures, particularly the recent surge in materials costs, which are driving up the price of housing.

"The cost increases are hitting builders and consumers from all directions," Arquilla said. "And the danger signals which have warned of each national economic decline since World War II seem to be flashing once again."

Arquilla, a Chicago builder, said that while the rest of the economy is saddled with 6 percent inflation, the housing industry is experiencing cost increases reminiscent of the double-digit inflation days of 1973-74. "These costs, which must be passed along to the consumer, are shattering the housing hopes of millions of American families and raising serious doubts as to the strength and durability of the national economic recovery," he said.

Arquilla said there are many causes of housing's high rate of inflation including restrictive governmental regulations and delays, escalating land and development costs, and rising labor wages without a corresponding increase in productivity.

"But the straw that could break the camel's back," Arquilla said, "is the recent surge in materials costs."

Builders adopt voluntary energy guidelines for new construction

Voluntary energy guidelines for new home construction were adopted by the Board of Directors of the National Association of Home Builders.

Robert Arquilla, president of the 90,000-member NAHB, made the announcement during the Association's Fall Board of Directors and Builders Meeting being held here this week.

Arquilla called the new guidelines an important contribution to the housing industry and to the people of the United States. "For the first time" Arquilla said, "buyers of new one and two family homes and townhouses can be assured of a cost-effective and balanced package of energy conserving techniques regardless of where they live or the style of home they choose."

Arquilla, a Chicago homebuilder, said buyers will no longer need to compare the often conflicting claims for home energy packages. "Here is a simple and systematic approach, based upon performance engineering, that can be applied to all residential construction. It eliminates the guesswork for both builders and buyers," he said.

According to Arquilla, the guidelines establish criteria for equitably insulating ceilings, walls, windows, floors, doors and ducts of any new house in any part of the country. He said, "Any energy-saving investment beyond basic needs should pay for itself within seven years or less. The NAHB guidelines provide for a maximum seven-year payback; however, in most cases the payback period is within four to five years." Seven years is the length of time the average American stays in the same house.

The guidelines are based upon a set of energy index numbers. The index numbers are easily calculated from existing data on local weather conditions, fuel costs, and the type of heating and cooling system to be used in the home. The index numbers are then matched to bar graphs representing 19 construction items of energy concern (such as ceiling insulation, walls, windows) to determine the amount or type of energy conserving feature which is most effective for the money invested in it.

For example: for a gas-heated, electrically-cooled home in San Antonio the Energy Index number for determining the proper amount of ceiling insulation is 2227. When this number is applied to the bar graph for ceiling insulation it shows that R-19 (6-inches of mineral fiber blanket insulation or its equivalent) is the best choice. This simple procedure is then repeated for each of the construction items required by the design of the home.

The guidelines use a Present Worth Formula to project the length of time required to recoup an investment made today. This procedure allows the guidelines a unique flexibility in conforming with local economic conditions. The guidelines as presented make several basic assumptions: an annual increase in energy costs of 10 percent (in current dollars); a mortgage or financing interest rate of 9 percent; and national average costs for each energy conserving technique. These factors may be altered to more closely reflect specific local situations.

The NAHB guidelines recommend many other energy conserving techniques which could not be indexed. They cover such important factors as protecting against air infiltration, insulation application, mechanical/electrical equipment and appliances, construction techniques and design.

The thermal performance guidelines for one and two family homes was developed for NAHB by its Research Foundation, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of the association. The foundation's team of research engineers, worked with NAHB's technical staff and a specially appointed committee on energy headed by builders Ivan Wholworth of Hicksville, NY, and Jack Demetree of Jacksonville, FL.

Arquilla pointed out that the guidelines are voluntary. They may be adopted locally by both member and non-member builders of the association. NAHB holds the copyright to the guidelines.

"Right now," Arquilla said, "the industry is facing a shortage of insulation materials which will make it difficult in some areas for the guidelines to be put to use quickly and completely. However, we have developed an accurate new tool for coping with the energy crisis that confronts us all today. We feel it is our obligation to make this tool available wherever it can be used."

NAHB is scheduling a series of seminars throughout the country to inform builders, architects, engineers, and manufacturers on designing, building and selling energy conserving houses. NAHB's thermal performance guidelines will be a principal part of these seminars.

Our next step, Arquilla said, is to develop similar guidelines for commercial construction and for the retrofit market. "The sooner we can provide sound-investment guidelines for energy conserving improvements to each homeowner, the better our chances of beating the energy crunch."

Indian Oaks for young lifestyle

Saturday marked the grand opening of decorated models for Indian Oaks, a new community of reasonably priced, single family detached homes in Alta Loma designed to compliment the lifestyle of today's young, working couples.

"It is our policy to provide buyers with top quality at reasonable prices at a time when such opportunities are becoming increasingly rare," said Ira C. Norris, president of Inco Homes, codeveloper of Indian Oaks.

Located in the burgeoning, foothill community of Alta Loma, Indian Oaks enjoys an inspiring view of the San Bernardino Mountains and is 42 minutes from downtown Los Angeles, 30 minutes from Orange County and 25 minutes from Mt. Baldy.

In addition to the growing number of residential homes, the Alta Loma area boasts seven new freeways and several full service shopping centers including the ultra-modern Montclair Plaza regional center.

Priced from $54,990 to $69,990, the three and four bedroom Indian Oaks homes range in size from 1,360 to 1,941 square feet. No down VA, low down FHA and 10 and 20 percent down conventional financing plans are available.

The community is the result of a creative and highly professional development team, according to Norris. INCO Homes acted as the community's master planner following research into the needs and desires of families moving to the Alta Loma area. The firm also worked with the local government agencies to gain the necessary approvals for development and insure that Indian Oaks harmonized with its surroundings.

Crowell/Leventhal, Inc. is the general contractor whose local track record spans more than a decade and includes some 3,000 homes. More than 40 percent of Crowell/Leventhal's buyers were referred by satisfied customers. This figure is significantly above the industry average and is convincing evidence of the firm's quality and service.

The design team is headed by William R. Pauli, AIA whose architectural and neighborhood planning credits include residential communities in the U.S., Canada and Europe. Pauli has also designed private, custom homes.

The interiors are highlighted by Sumner Gravier Designs of Beverly Hills and the model complex features landscaping by Jerry Cummings & Associates. "The decor and landscaping are done in such a way that buyers can apply the ideas and techniques they see in the models to their own home," said Norris.

Indian Oaks offers two one-story homes and one two-story home. Buyers may select from a variety of exterior designs and colors and all models offer optional three-car garages. Architectural attractions include covered entries and heavy wood timber treatments. One of the two-story elevations features fixed windows above the front door and windows as well as a graceful entry arch.

Interiors are spacious with such quality standard features as ceramic tile entry foyers, wood-burning fireplaces, wall to wall carpeting, breakfast nooks in the kitchen areas, pantries, smoke detectors, walk-in closets and dressing rooms. A separate family room compliments the casual kitchen nook and the formal dining room.

Extra bedrooms easily convert to offices or special retreat rooms like a library or sewing room, Norris explained.

Energy conservation was also a primary design concern. Major features are fiberglass insulation in exterior walls and ceilings; dishwashers with cool-dry cycles; pilot-less high/low gas oven and burners using 30 percent less energy than ordinary gas units; 50 gallon, quick-recovery gas water heaters; covered entries and generous overhangs; and weatherstripping on exterior doors and windows.

To find Indian Oaks, take the San Bernardino Freeway to the Archibald Avenue exit, then turn north on Archibald Avenue to 19th Street (Route 30). Then right one block to Ramona Avenue. The sales office and models are open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

In recognition of the fact that nearly half of the state's population now lives in rental housing, the week of October 9-15 has been declared "Apartment Living Week" in a special state resoultion.

The joint resolution issued by the State Senate and Assembly Rules Committees cites apartment living as an attractive and economic lifestyle for millions of Californians.

Sponsored by Senator George Deukmejian (R-31st District) and Assemblyman Kenneth Maddy (R-30th District), the resolution also recognizes the greater efficiencies and energy savings inherent in multi-family housing.

Updating heating equipment can improve fuel economy

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Updating heating equipment can be a big factor in fuel economy. A new burner might save 15 to 20 per cent on your oil bill, a fact that might be difficult for some people to comprehend.

So says Lillian Siegel of Fairfield, Conn., who has been in the oil business for 48 years. She was explaining a notice — "a new burner can save you money" — that was appended to her oil bills.

"If an oil bill is $600 a year, a nominal amount, a new burner might save as much as $120 dollars. In addition, the equipment is modern. New burners have electronic controls and retention heads which are economical to operate." A burner is part of the boiler equipment.

It is a question of how old is old, she says. Some 40-year-old burners have motors and transformers in excellent condition, whereas newer ones might be exhausted. Much depends on the care they have been given and the quality of the equipment.

"Today's motors give you 3450 RPMs that go like mad, a little noisier, but they deliver more rapidly giving more energy at lower cost." Like other companies, she provides budget plans for the purchase of new equipment.

An oil service company should be trusted to give good advice and should be asked for an equipment check-up if bills become high.

What bothers Miss Siegel is that some customers don't trust her judgment even though "there are legions that do" who seek the advice of Lil, as she is known in the trade. In fact, when they call to ask questions she never asks whether they are customers. Some use other service companies because of business affiliations or because they owe the company money or whatever, but she has a long-time reputation for knowledgeability in the business so she willingly provides information.

Occasionally she "loses her cool," she says, when people ignore their equipment "because it isn't visible."

"If they had a pale pink boiler in the middle of the living room floor, they would keep it immaculate, but because it is out of sight they simply don't keep it clean.

"The worst form of insulation is soot. A burner should be adjusted every year and the boiler should be cleaned whenever it is sooty. A boiler must work twice as hard to deliver when the parts are dirty," she explained. It's energy dollars up the flue as far as she is concerned.

In her own oil business for 27 years — she is president of Superior Oil Co. — she has seen a lot of changes. In the beginning she "could not drive a truck" so she had to hire a man. He stayed until the first cold day.

She started the business from scratch — new customers and new trucks. One cold day she got some calls — one for 500 gallons of oil — "it had seemed stupendous at the time." Now she is into sales of millions of gallons of oil every year.

"Winter time is rough, full of emergencies," she says. "You might occasionally get a call and find that a person forgot to turn on a switch, but people are more sensible now."

When she started her business the price of oil delivery was less than half of what the oil costs wholesale today, and "it will soon go up again," she said. That is one reason she tries to interest people in asking for a check of their equipment.

Some homeowners are buying wood-burning furnaces, spending $800 or more for them, she said, something she cannot understand because "wood is so expensive."

Budget homes' features sometimes fade

In today's housing market, one of few alternatives to the high cost of new construction is to brave the glowing advertisements in the Sunday classifieds and search for an older home in need of care and repair.

Once you've moved into the cozy cottage of your dreams, however, the very elements that charmed a prospective buyer may come back to haunt you.

You vaguely remember exclaiming, "You just don't see these old claw-foot tubs anymore!" But facing it in its olden-days surroundings may prove pretty grim at 6 o'clock every morning.

New fixtures and cabinets are one answer. An expensive one. But beyond the budget, there is a subtlety involved in personalizing a "mature" home. To quote one homeowner, "The things you do to an old house should blend with what it is naturally."

His advice is sound based on his own experience. His natural answer was natural wood.

Numerous coats of old enamel were sanded off original built-in cabinets to reveal handsome grain in the framing, if not the face panels.

One coat of a waterproof sealer made the softwoods impervious to steamy shower conditions, except for a heavenly scent.

Richly customized by a surrounding rectangular counter of ¾-inch plywood covered with plastic laminate (bright orange!), the sink was framed in substantial fir 2x6s to match other trim.

A new counter-width mirror extends to the ceiling, flanked by floor to ceiling 2x6s which also serve as a light valance over the new unit. Exposed but recessed screws hold the framing together.

Track lighting, a new silver Mylar ceiling, Seth Thomas clock and mist-loving ferns complete the updated decor.

With a friend's help, the entire re-do took a few evenings and one weekend of labor, and about $300 in materials.

The stunning results, an upbeat blend of old and new, suit the house and its owners — and promise a contemporary bath for the next 50 years.

Mobile home increase set

Mobile home manufacturers across the country shipped 22,280 homes in July, an 11 percent increase over July, 1976.

The July shipment, according to a report prepared by Elrick and Lavidge for the Manufactured Housing Institute, brought 1977's cumulative shipments to 154,000, a 6 percent increase over last year.

Three regions of the country recorded strong July gains. The Pacific region continued strong with a 28 percent increase, the East North Central recorded a 21 percent gain and the South Central region registered a 17 percent increase over year ago totals.

With the Pacific region up 28 percent, most of the increase came from California. The state shipped 2,375 homes in July, a 47 percent increase over '76. California led all other states in total units shipped. Cumulatively, California has shipped 15,331 homes for the first seven months, up 26 percent.

Oregon shipped 761 units in July to bring their cumulative '77 total to 5,521, up 18 percent.

Washington totaled 1,077 units in July. Through July, Washington is ahead 20 percent over last year with 6,985 units shipped.

Arizona led the way with 464 units shipped, up 48 percent. Arizona has shipped 3,335 homes for the first seven months of 1977, up 27 percent.

Wyoming July shipments were up 45 percent and 24 percent cumulatively for the year. Utah also recorded a strong July, with 155 units shipped representing a 40 percent increase over July, '76.

New Mexico has shipped 2,747 units through July, up 51 percent over 1976s seven month total. Nevada also is experiencing strong mobile home sales with 1,255 homes shipped in 1977, up 69 percent over '76. Montana has shipped 2,047 homes through July, up 45 percent over last year.

The only two western states whose July shipments did not break their '76 total was Colorado, down 38 percent and Idaho, down 19 percent. However, Colorado cumulatively has shipped 2,164 homes through July, up 11 percent over last year and Idaho, with 2,309 cumulative shipments is up 6 percent over the 1976 January to July total.

Mobile home consumer manual

Manufacturers of mobile homes built under Federal standards are now required to give buyers a consumer manual. The manuals are to include such items as an explanation of Federal mobile home construction and safety standards, a list of state agencies to handle consumer complaints and a statement regarding warranties.

Coast problems

The West Coast has long been viewed as the Promised Land — high-paying jobs in a warm climate. But it has been hit by a variety of economic problems in recent years. Many West Coast metropolitan areas are having trouble providing jobs for people seeking work there.

Oriental paintings by Joan Beauregard are on display through October in the Lobby Gallery of Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 399 N. Garey Ave., Pomona. They include landscapes, florals and animals.

Although Mrs. Beauregard has worked mostly in acrylics in the oil style, she is now devoting herself to Oriental painting using brush and ink. She mixes her own ink using an ink stick made from pine smoke.

The artist has studied oil painting, watercolor and life drawing at Cal Poly under Walt Glaser. She is currently studying Oriental panting under Claremont artist Nigh Yeh. She is a member of Associated Artists and a member of the board of directors of the Pomona Valley Art Association. Mrs. Beauregard's works are in private collections throughout California, Texas and Hawaii. Her paintings have been on exhibit at several revolving shows as well as at the Cal Poly Library.

Gilbert art at library

The Chaffey Community Art Association will exhibit the weaving and stitchery of Cucamonga artist Gretchen Gilbert in the Garden Room of the Ontario Public Library during October. A reception for the artist will be held there at 2:30 this afternoon.

Miss Gilbert will discuss her work and answer questions at the reception, demonstrating her method of hand spinning raw wool with a simple dreidel.

Most of her weavings are created from fibers which she spins and dyes herself, using natural "ecology" products. She has used safflowers, acacia bark, onion skins, coffee, tea, various berries, juniper leaves, Brazil nut wood, herbs and a variety of other natural materials.

Miss Gilbert is a graduate of Scripps College and has studied art and literature at Cal State Los Angeles and UC Irvine, where she completed a year of doctoral study.

GISELA MAY and the Berkeley Cabaret Ensemble will present an evening of songs by Bertolt Brecht and Kurt Weill in UCLA's Schoenberg Hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

Artist to talk at D.B.

Local artist Lorraine Christensen will demonstrate portrait painting at a meeting of the Diamond Bar Artists Guild at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Chaparral Intermediate School, 1405 S. Spruce Tree Drive, Diamond Bar.

Studying commercial art in College, Mrs. Christensen decided to concentrate on portrait painting, especially children. She studied with Rio Terasaki and Lee Gomez and did further work in classes and workshops. She now teaches art at Rowland Adult School and does the art work for the Mt. San Antonio College bookstore. She is an active member of several art associations.

Further information on the meeting can be obtained from Gerry Vesey, 595-6396, or Lee Laue, 595-6573.

Pomona Valley Art Association

Celebrates 25th birthday

The Pomona Valley Art Association, the oldest and largest art club in the valley, will celebrate its 25th anniversary with a reception at the gallery, 300 S. Park Ave., Pomona, from 2 to 4 this afternoon. The public is invited.

Hosts at the reception will be president Dawn Scherer and board members. Refreshments will be served.

PVAA was born as the Pomona Art Club Jan. 21, 1952. The first president was nationally known artist David W. Scott. Some of the other past presidents were Richard Petterson, Paul Darrow, James Hueter, Milford Zornes, Drew Dobosh, Burton Frasher, Robert George, Diane Divelbess, Claire Dewey, Ross Taylor, Dorothy Decker, Mrs. Bing Pahl, Dorothy Downing, Joe Henry, Helen Romero, Orion Von Stetten, Joyce Rettick, Withy Hathaway and Al Anderson.

PVAA carries on an active, year-around program of exhibitions and contests in a variety of media. The annual student art exhibition results in scholarships being awarded to promising young artists. The association holds monthly meetings at which noted artists talk and give demonstrations.

Besides the exhibitions in the gallery, PVAA members take part in revolving shows through which their paintings are seen by the publ on the walls of banks, hospitals and offices throughout the valley.

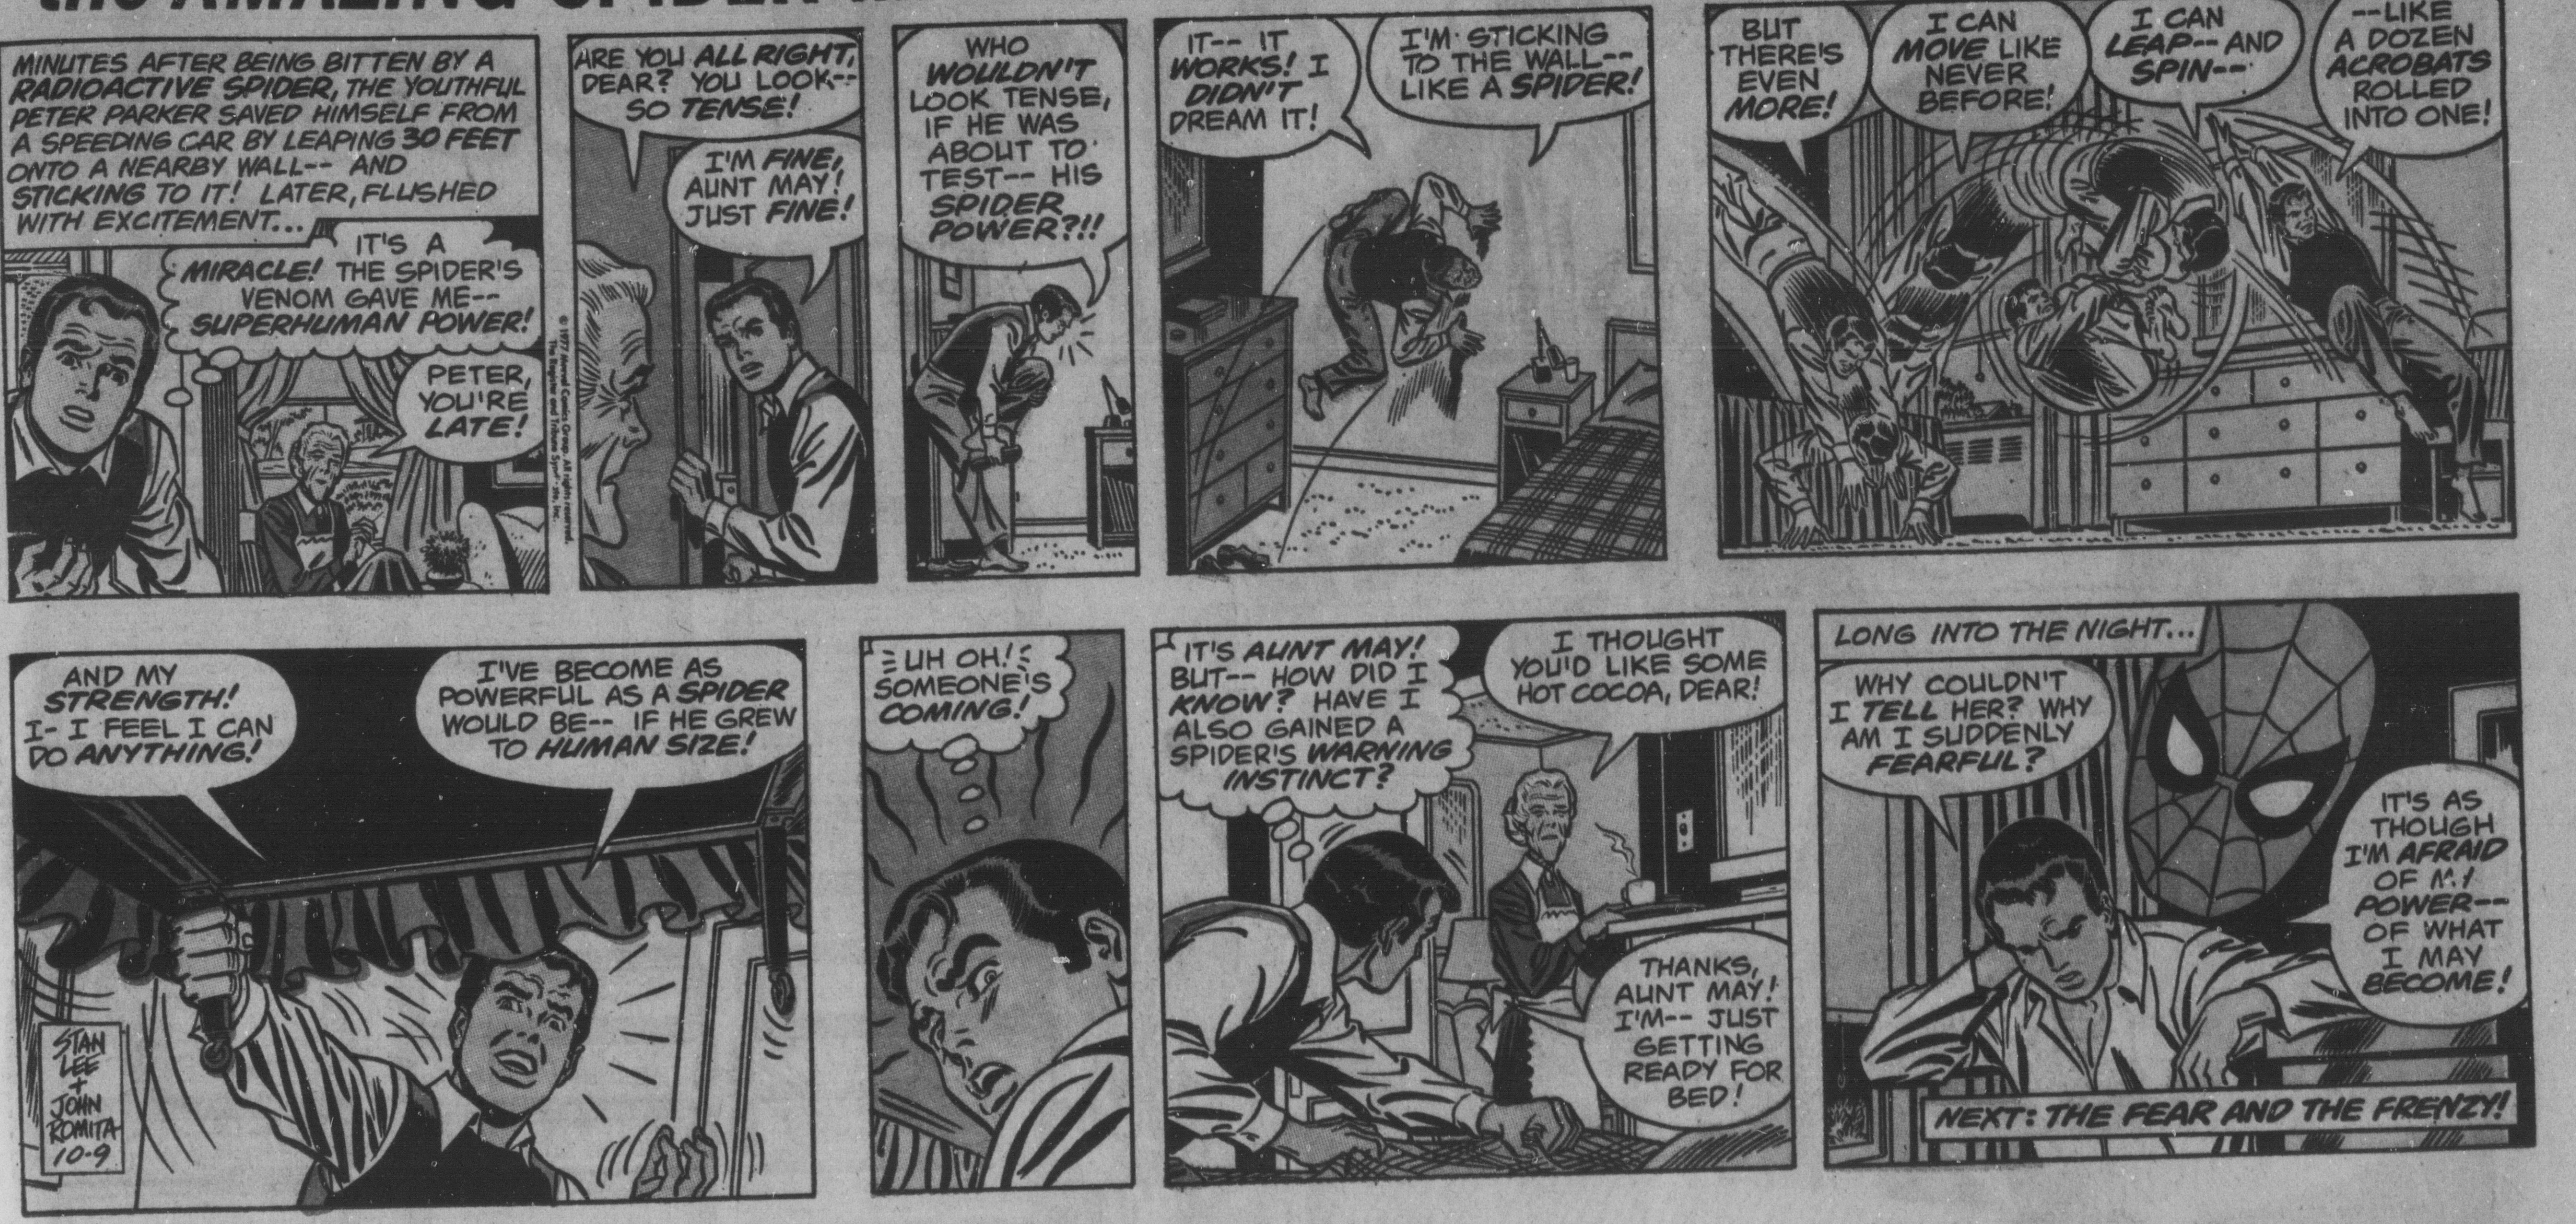
the AMAZING SPIDER-MAN®

By Stan Lee and John Romita



MINUTES AFTER BEING BITTEN BY A RADIOACTIVE SPIDER, THE YOUTHFUL PETER PARKER SAVED HIMSELF FROM A SPEEDING CAR BY LEAPING 30 FEET ONTO A NEARBY WALL-- AND STICKING TO IT! LATER, FLUSHED WITH EXCITEMENT...
IT'S A MIRACLE! THE SPIDER'S VENOM GAVE ME-- SUPERHUMAN POWER!
PETER, YOU'RE LATE!
© 1977 Marvel Comics Group. All rights reserved. The Register and Tribune Synd., Inc.
ARE YOU ALL RIGHT, DEAR? YOU LOOK-- SO TENSE!
I'M FINE, AUNT MAY! JUST FINE!
WHO WOULDN'T LOOK TENSE, IF HE WAS ABOUT TO TEST-- HIS SPIDER POWER?!!
IT-- IT WORKS! I DIDN'T DREAM IT!
I'M STICKING TO THE WALL-- LIKE A SPIDER!
BUT THERE'S EVEN MORE!
I CAN MOVE LIKE NEVER BEFORE!
I CAN LEAP-- AND SPIN--
--LIKE A DOZEN ACROBATS ROLLED INTO ONE!
AND MY STRENGTH! I- I FEEL I CAN DO ANYTHING!
I'VE BECOME AS POWERFUL AS A SPIDER WOULD BE-- IF HE GREW TO HUMAN SIZE!
STAN LEE + JOHN ROMITA 10-9
UH OH! SOMEONE'S COMING!
IT'S AUNT MAY! BUT-- HOW DID I KNOW? HAVE I ALSO GAINED A SPIDER'S WARNING INSTINCT?
I THOUGHT YOU'D LIKE SOME HOT COCOA, DEAR!
THANKS, AUNT MAY! I'M-- JUST GETTING READY FOR BED!
LONG INTO THE NIGHT...
WHY COULDN'T I TELL HER? WHY AM I SUDDENLY FEARFUL?
IT'S AS THOUGH I'M AFRAID OF MY POWER-- OF WHAT I MAY BECOME!
NEXT: THE FEAR AND THE FRENZY!

THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:
JANA HOWE OF MOUNDSVILLE, WV, ASKS:
"HOW DOES THE SUN TAN OUR SKIN?"
THERE ARE SPECIAL CELLS IN YOUR SKIN THAT PRODUCE A DARK COLORING PIGMENT. THIS PIGMENT, CALLED MELANIN, GIVES THE BROWN COLOR TO THE SKIN. WHEN YOUR SKIN IS EXPOSED TO SUNLIGHT, THE MELANIN-PRODUCING CELLS MAKE AN EXTRA AMOUNT OF MELANIN, AND THE SKIN BECOMES DARKER THAN USUAL. WE CALL THIS BROWNING ACTION "TANNING."

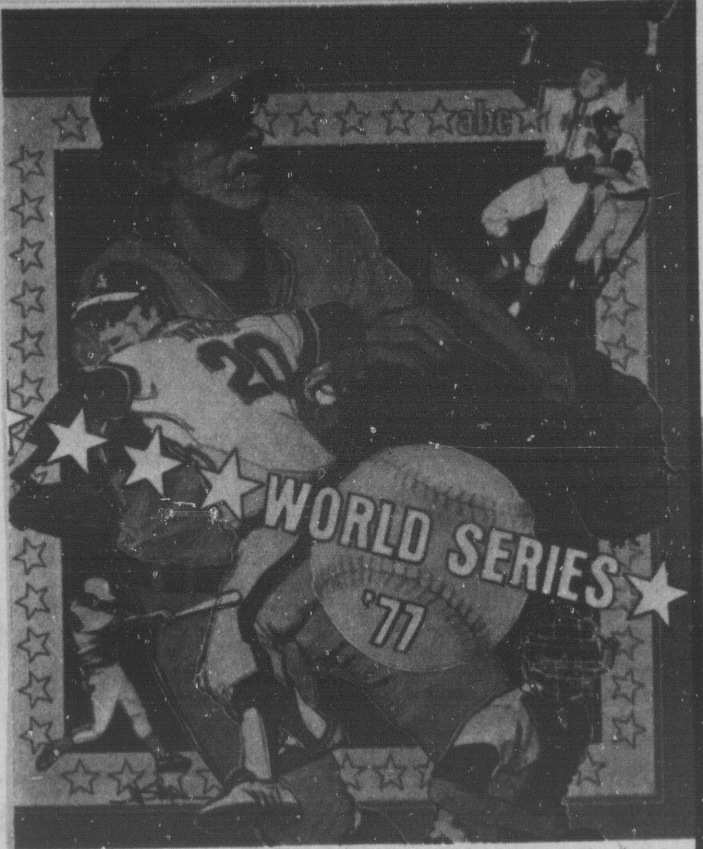
"SERVING THE POMONA & SAN GABRIEL VALLEYS FOR 15 YEARS"



The pageantry of America's favorite pastime—The World Series—is telecast for the first time on ABC television. Weekend starting times will depend upon the National League representative in the Series. The winners of the National and American Leagues will meet in the best-of-seven competition in alternating cities. The schedule follows:

TUESDAY, Oct. 11—Game 1, 5PM in the American League city.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 12—Game 2, 5PM in the American League city.

FRIDAY, Oct. 14—Game 3, 5PM in the National League city.

SATURDAY, Oct. 15—Game 4, either 9:30AM (if played in a National League city other than Los Angeles), or 1PM (if the National League city IS Los Angeles).

SUNDAY, Oct.16—Game 5 (if necessary) either 9:30AM or 1PM (depending on the National League city.

TUESDAY, Oct. 18—Game 6 (if necessary), 5PM in the American League city.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 19—Game 7 (if necessary), 5PM in the American League City.

"Dick Clark's Good Ol' Days: From Bobbysox to Bikinis," a two-hour special starring Frankie Avalon and Annette Funicello as hosts, airs as an NBC Big Event, Tuesday from 9 to 11PM. The special—combining live entertainment and film footage—deals with the music, fads, fashions and attitudes of the late 1950s and early 1960s. Among the stars set to appear and perform are Connie Francis, Fabian, Martha & the Vandellas, Joey Dee, Freddy Cannon, The Kingston Trio, Bo Diddley, The Shirelles, Lesley Gore, Edd Byrnes, Dion, and Snooky Lanson—all of whom enjoyed fame during the years 1957-1963, years in which America's youth sought to turn away from the fears and responsibilities facing adults. At intervals during the special, Avalon an Ms. Funicello are joined on camera by Dick Clark in recalling the "good ol' days" which were sometimes not so good.

"Hewitt's Just Different," an original story about the friendship of retarded 16-year-old Hewitt Calder (Perry Lang) and 12-year-old Willie Arthur (Moosie Drier), airs as an ABC Afterschool Special, Wednesday at 4PM. Hewitt is large for his age, is a good baseball player and helps the undersized Willie develop his skills to make the team. Once on the team, however, Willie is taunted by his teammates for befriending a "retard," so Willie disowns Hewitt to mollify his teammates. Hewitt is crestfallen and takes to following Willie at a distance. The team bully continues to taunt Willie and when he decides to stand up to the bully, he is overpowered. Hewitt comes to his friend's rescue and teaches Willie a new understanding of the words friendship and loyalty.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Can a big-city cop get along with a small-town police chief and work well with him? Can a small-town police chief get along with a big-city cop and work well with him?

Those are just two of the questions raised on ABC's new half-hour comedy series, Carter Country, airing Thursdays at 9:30PM. The series answers both questions with an emphatic "yes." But the very different backgrounds of the two men often lead them to hilarious misunderstandings and situations on their way to working well together.

Victor French stars as Roy Mobey, a big, kindly bear-of-a-man who was born and brought up in the small southern town where he is now chief of police. He's a little bit set in his ways and occasionally nostalgic for the good old days and ways. Kene Holliday stars as Roy's new sergeant, Curtis Baker. Curtis is a black, New York-trained policeman. He is young, savvy, quick-witted and irreverent. It is inevitable that the two often have disagreements and confrontations. Underlying them all, however, is a deep mutual respect because the two men understand each other and each other's methods.

French and Holliday were born on opposite sides of the United States—French in Santa Barbara, Calif., and Holliday in New York City, but their acting backgrounds are very similar in that both have a deep love for the stage.

French started training for his career as an actor during his years at Los Angeles State College, where he earned a degree in Drama. Then he studied at the Herbert Berghoff Studio in New York City, returning to Hollywood to play leading roles in such stage plays as "All the King's Men," "Of Mice and Men," and "Night of the Iguana." For years, French has directed the Victor French Drama Workshop, a regular weekly get-together in Hollywood, so that he and other prominent actors and actresses can meet and learn, rehearse, perform and generally just "stay in shape."

Recently he starred with his wife, actress Julie Cobb, in Arthur Miller's "After the Fall" at the Company of Angels Theatre in Hollywood. In the television field, besides many guest stints on top series, he co-starred as a regular on Little House on the Prairie in the role of Mr. Edwards.

Holliday attended the University of Maryland where he earned a B.S. degree in Speech and Drama Education. Holliday is a "new face" for network television, but he has been very active on local television in Washington, D.C., and theatre-goers in New York know him for his performance in the powerful Tony-nominated play, "Streamers." In Wasyington, he was on stage with the Folger Theatre Group, the University of Maryland Main Stage, the D.C. Repertory Company and the Burn Brae Dinner Theatre.

When he wasn't on stage or in front of a camera, most of Holliday's young adult life was spent in some aspect of the living theatre. At the Black Repertory Company, he taught "Fundamentals of Acting." For the Smithsonian Institution, he was stage manager and presenter for the performing artists at the American Folklife Festival.

PERIWINKLE

Pretty and petite 12-piece Demitasse Sets, only $9.95

When Marco Polo returned from China, he was laden with all sorts of treasure. But nothing amazed his fellow Europeans more than the snowy white, translucent pottery he brought with him.

This was the western world's first glimpse of Chinese porcelain, the fabulous material from which China's greatest artists and craftsmen made Ming vases and countless other priceless works of art.

The secret of true porcelain is in the clay. Nothing will do but kaolin clay, which is extremely fine in texture and absolutely white. Such clay is very rare.

The same clay used for Ming vases

Two of the world's most valuable deposits of kaolin lie in China; one in Li-ling in the Hunan Province, the other in Ching-te-chen in the Kiangsi Province. It seems certain that many of the original Ming vases that now grace the world's museums were made in these areas. Now you can own superb cups, saucers and other tableware made from the same rare and historic clay.

Weston World proudly presents authentic, imported Chinese dinnerware, made, hand-finished, and decorated in Li-ling and Ching-te-chen.

To appreciate their beauty, you must see them and use them — which is why we make this extraordinary, no risk offer:

Amazing low prices and free catalog!

Order any of the exquisite porcelain from China shown here for a 30-day trial — completely without risk to you! With your order you'll receive a color catalog of all the chinese porcelain Weston World offers—many stunning patterns and beautiful 12-piece, 20-piece and 45-piece sets. Now you can serve your family and guests on genuine Chinese porcelain — yet pay no more than you would for stoneware or plastic! Act now! Money back if not delighted.

PORCELAIN FROM CHINA

中国景德镇 MADE IN CHINA

AUTUMN
PERIWINKLE

Pretty and petite 12-piece Demitasse Sets, only $9.95

When Marco Polo returned from China, he was laden with all sorts of treasure. But nothing amazed his fellow Europeans more than the snowy white, translucent pottery he brought with him.

This was the western world's first glimpse of Chinese porcelain, the fabulous material from which China's greatest artists and craftsmen made Ming vases and countless other priceless works of art.

The secret of true porcelain is in the clay. Nothing will do but kaolin clay, which is extremely fine in texture and absolutely white. Such clay is very rare.

The same clay used for Ming vases

Two of the world's most valuable deposits of kaolin lie in China; one in Li-ling in the Hunan Province, the other in Ching-te-chen in the Kiangsi Province. It seems certain that many of the original Ming vases that now grace the world's museums were made in these areas. Now you can own superb cups, saucers and other tableware made from the same rare and historic clay.

Weston World proudly presents authentic, imported Chinese dinnerware, made, hand-finished, and decorated in Li-ling and Ching-te-chen.

To appreciate their beauty, you must see them and use them — which is why we make this extraordinary, no risk offer:

Amazing low prices and free catalog!

With your order you'll receive a color catalog of all the chinese porcelain Weston World offers—many stunning patterns and beautiful 12-piece, 20-piece and 45-piece sets. ASK THEM YOURSELF

Send the question, on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR KATE JACKSON, star of Charlie's Angels

How do you feel about dialogue with bad language and blasphemy? — C.J., Meridian, Miss.

● I've never used obscenities on TV, and I hope I never have to. Even if it's in the script, I won't say "Oh, God" on TV. I don't believe in saying "God" lightly. If I were doing a wonderful film and something awful happened to someone I loved and there was a poignant moment that called for me to say, "Oh, God," that would be all right. But, so far, that moment, or that kind of script, has not come.

FOR STEVIE WONDER, singer

Seems to me that every time I've seen you get an award on TV, you give it away to someone. Why? — L.L. Krause, Joliet, Ill.

● What I'm actually doing is sharing it with those who've been most instrumental in helping me win that award. I work hard, but the people who work with me don't have it easy, either. By handing away my trophy, I'm symbolically including them in my honor.

● I equate it with homework: isolation and a lot of work. Most of the time I write, I get sick to my stomach. The thrill is not in writing but in seeing the pages grow. With the last word, the excitement makes you want to start all over again. I'm fortunate in that I'm not regimented. I can write at odd times — not set ones, as most writers do. I usually toss off a few pages between housework and fixing dinner.

FOR JACK LA LANNE, physical-fitness authority

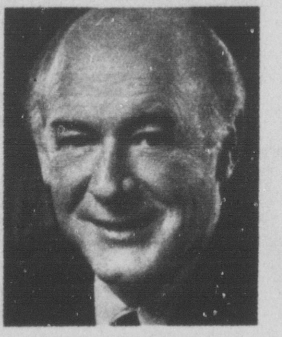
● I was a sickly boy, with poor grades and known as a "sugarholic." At 15, my mother took me to hear food naturalist Paul Bragg lecture. He saved my life. After the lecture, he talked to me for hours about natural foods and nutrition. From that day on, my life changed. Physically, I admired K.V. Iyer of India. I wanted to have his measurements. As I worked on building my body, I would match my measurements to his, and on my 19th birthday reached my goal.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

Way back in the 50's I used to adore Teresa Brewer. Whatever happened to her? — L.F., New London, N.H.

● She's busy working — mostly in Vegas and Lake Tahoe — with some guest appearances on talk shows thrown in. She's still making records and does a lot of overseas touring. This year she did a benefit in Rumania to aid the earthquake victims. She's prouder of her weight than she is of her long career. Teresa claims she's been 100 pounds since adolescence. She lives in upstate New York with her producer-husband, Bob Thiele, and three of her four daughters.



FOR CECIL D. ANDRUS, Secretary of the Interior

Now that fall is here and cold weather not far away, do you think this winter will be as bad as the last, and are you prepared for it? — B.C., Niagara Falls, N.Y.

● We have to go under the assumption that the next winter might be just as bad as this past one. That is why the President has ordered my Department and other Government agencies to do everything possible to see that natural gas production is increased. Just because the problem went away with the warm months, we can't afford to forget about the icy ones.

FOR TRACY AUSTIN, tennis player

Which is more important in tennis — brains or brawn? — S.S.N., Seattle, Wash.

● That's a tough question and, frankly, can't be answered. I've seen players without great skill win by sheer power — big serves, heavy ground strokes. But I've also seen smart players win over superior strength. As an aside, though, there are more "better" players around today than a generation ago.

FOR HENRY FORD II, chairman of the board, Ford Motor Company

What would surprise your grandfather the most if he could come back long enough to look your company over? — Joe Lowe, Logan, W. Va.

● I really can't think of anything that would surprise him. Cars, trucks and tractors are still the company's business. Even our work in space has roots in things my grandfather was doing when he was alive.

FOR CHRISTINA ELLEN MOLLER, America's Junior Miss for 1977

If you were First Lady, what's the first thing you'd try to do? — I.B., Crestline, Ohio

● I'd make the requirements for graduating students stiffer. High-school diplomas don't mean much anymore because they're too simple to come by. I'm not setting myself apart — I have it too easy, too. I'd rather be taught than have to work at learning. We're forgetting how to learn and think. I don't know why kids complain about getting too much work. I don't get enough.

FOR BENJAMIN F. BAILAR, Postmaster General

Is it costly to print so many special stamps? — Mrs. R.T.K., Key West, Fla.

● Millions of mail users in the U.S., including many stamp collectors, have indicated they like a variety of colorful stamps. It does cost more to print multicolored stamps than regular ones. However, the added cost is more than offset by the revenue received from the sales of philatelic items. In 1975 this revenue amounted to approximately $52 million, which was applied against the operational deficit of the Postal Service.

PRO AND CON

Should TV Cameras Be Allowed In The Courtroom?

PRO Chief Justice Edward E. Pringle, Colorado Supreme Court

The time has come to end the treatment of judicial proceedings as the holy of holies into which none may enter. It's important that people see exactly what is happening in our courtrooms instead of getting information from fictional characterizations. Any technique which facilitates an actual representation of court proceedings ought to be encouraged rather than discouraged. TV cameras are allowed in Colorado courtrooms, and I've never found it to cause any problem with the operation of the system. I've never seen witnesses show off or jurors become upset. If the judge is going to showboat, he is going to showboat anyway. Maybe the people ought to see it. But I've never seen it happen.

CON Prof. Geoffrey C. Hazard Jr., Yale U. Law School

There are three reasons which argue against TV in the courtroom. First, camera noise and a two-or three-person TV crew usually will be distracting. Second, broadcasting pictures of the trial participants presents them before a larger audience. This can change their behavior in the courtroom. Third, the possibility of being televised may intimidate some jurors, witnesses or litigants. Some may be afraid of retaliation if it is known they were involved in a particular legal case. The result can be that a televised trial may turn out different from one not televised. That is injustice in some sense. The difficult question is whether this risk is outweighed by the value of publicizing trials.

WHAT SETS LIV ULLMANN APART?

A special kind of beauty, masterful performances that have made her known as one of the world's great actresses and a best-selling autobiography...these are just a few of the qualities that make her a unique woman.

Roger Prigent/Sygma

By William Wolf

At 38 Liv Ullmann is the career woman who has everything — almost.

Some critics have acclaimed the Norwegian star as the world's greatest film actress working today. Her first attempt as an author resulted in an unusual autobiography, Changing, which became a best seller and a Book of the Month Club selection. She was lauded for her Broadway performance last season in the revival of Eugene O'Neill's Anna Christie. Celebrated Swedish director Ingmar Bergman writes film after film with outstanding parts for her, and she is besieged with other screen offers. She adores her 11-year-old daughter Linn, and her current status as an independent, single woman gives her freedom of choice with men.

What's missing?

Ullmann is still not a Hollywood superstar. The New York Critics Circle gave her its award for her shattering performance of a woman having a mental breakdown in Bergman's Face to Face, but at the Academy Awards last spring, she sat in the audience only to see the best-actress Oscar go to Faye Dunaway for Network. She says with resignation, "Foreigners don't usually get Oscars," but regards her performance in Face to Face as "an exam in everything I know as a film actress." She is clearly disappointed.

Mindful of her extraordinarily photogenic face as well as her talent, people talk about her as the new Garbo. Ingrid Bergman is another Scandinavian actress who succeeded in American movies. But the odds are against a star from abroad making a spectacular transition to films in English. Ullmann's efforts away from Bergman's genius have been uneven, and in the case of the ill-conceived musical remake of Lost Horizon, downright embarrassing. She was used so awkwardly that one would never have guessed she is a seasoned actress, let alone a great one.

"Normally, such disasters would have locked the doors, but I'm lucky and get second chances," she says. "Now I'm being more careful with what I choose."

One thing she doesn't have to worry about is attitudes of the sort that drove Ingrid Bergman from Hollywood when she and director Roberto Rossellini had a child out of wedlock. Ullmann was welcomed with open arms when she first went to Hollywood, even though Ingmar Bergman had fathered her daughter while she was married to psychiatrist Dr. Jappe Stang, from whom she is now divorced. (Her liaison with Bergman lasted six years.) Times have changed. Socially, Liv is adored in Hollywood; everyone vies to have her at parties and men consider her a prize date. In Changing Ullmann writes amusingly and perceptively of how Henry Kissinger had someone scout her as a possible "blind date" and then finally phoned himself prior to escorting her to an official ball.

Before leaving for a stage engagement in Norway, Liv reminisced about her book and her latest stay in the United States. "I'm getting tremendous feedback — letters from people who say they realize for the first time that there is someone else who feels as they do about life and also has contradictory reactions. My writing of the mixed feelings I have about so many aspects of life strikes a note of recognition in people who think similarly but have been reluctant to express themselves. For some reason I have received much mail from nuns and monks."

Ullmann deliberately refrained from writing the typically indulgent star-tells-all type of autobiography. Instead, she gives a free-form series of impressions, almost like a Bergman script, and subtly reveals much about herself and her questioning attitudes toward what is expected of her as a woman and mother in relation to what she wants for herself.

"Someone criticized me for supposedly not telling enough about my work as an actress," she continues. "That's ridiculous. Lee Strasberg wrote me and said he was making my book required reading for his students at the Strasberg Institute and the Actors Studio.

"That gives me great satisfaction. I suppose the letter most important to me is the one from Bette Davis. She wrote that she felt the book to be an honest, intelligent and true picture of what it is to be a woman performer, or any woman who works. This is especially meaningful, for seeing her pictures gave me the inspiration for wanting to be an actress."

Liv is elated about the warmth she encountered here. "Americans tend to be more friendly to visitors than we are in Norway, and I feel at home. It is so easy to be friendly in return. In Norway we are less open to foreigners than Americans are.

"My stay here was also good because Linn got to like New York this time. Before, she hated it and didn't want us to return. This time, she is urging me to come back. I'll tell you a funny story about Linn. At the opening-night dinner party for Anna Christie, a girlfriend of mine whom I had invited was there with a very handsome man. He and Linn got into a long conversation. Suddenly I realized that she wasn't there. Neither was he. They were gone a long time, and I began to worry. Finally, when they returned, I learned that Linn had told him that she didn't like the fish being served and suggested that they go out to a coffee shop to get a hamburger. She had made off with an attractive man. That's pretty good — even I would need nerve to do that."

Leonard De Raemy/Sygma

Linn is beautiful and graceful as well as self-assured. She takes ballet lessons, and the great George Balanchine obligingly choreographed a little dance for her. The youngster spends some of the year with her father, with whom Ullmann maintains both a close friendship and a professional relationship. The Passion of Anna, Persona, Cries and Whispers and Scenes from a Marriage are some of the Bergman films that have enhanced her reputation. (Their latest film together, The Serpent's Egg, is his first picture in English.)

Liv hints that Bergman might come to New York next season to direct her in a production of Ibsen's Rosmershoim on Broadway. It would be a theatrical event of importance — the first time Bergman would direct in New York. She also may do a Broadway musical. "I'd like to continue writing, too, but I have to decide what to write next. It is very hard work, and I'd like to take more time for the next thing I do. I wrote Changing while working in the theater, devoting time to it each day."

She is more amused than offended at being asked about the rumor mill concerning her love life. "Either people talk about me as someone who is lonely all the time or as someone running around having affairs with everybody," she says. "There was one report that I was secretly married. I don't like to deny that one because if people thought I were married, I could live quietly for years with someone and be left alone. No, I'm not secretly married. I really don't like to talk about my private life. But I can say unequivocally that I did not have an affair with Henry Kissinger, Ryan O'Neal or Warren Beatty."

With or without Hollywood, Ullmann is already assured a major place in film history by virtue of her triumphs in Bergman's masterpieces. She would be less than human if she did not want to prove she can be a Hollywood superstar, too. However, as anyone who has read her book knows, she has her own values as a person and as an artist and is not one to hunger for mere glamor or tinsel.

Merit Challenges Entire Low Tar Field To Match Taste.

Until MERIT. Until work began on the tobacco end of smoking.

By cracking cigarette smoke down into separate elements, researchers were able to isolate certain flavor-rich ingredients that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

The result was 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. Tobacco that delivers the kind of taste smokers can switch to.
And stick with.

A TREASURE TROVE OF BASEBALL NOSTALGIA

Each year, more than 200,000 people visit this shrine to see everything from Mickey Mantle's locker to Joe DiMaggio's uniform.

Babe Ruth by Robert Riger

By Geoffrey Bocca

On the banks of Lake Otsego, by the Susquehanna River in Cooperstown, N.Y., the world's greatest shrine to a single sport is about to expand. The Baseball Museum and Hall of Fame has begun its second extension since World War II. It enjoys no subsidy. All the money comes from the more than 200,000 visitors who pass through the turnstile into the shrine of Gen. Abner Doubleday, the man who did not invent baseball.

Cooperstown, pop. 2,500, is so placid out of season that a recent visitor stood in the middle of Main Street at noon looking for someone to give him directions. It is so quaint that shops still sell Bicentennial souvenirs.

But the Cooperstown baseball complex is one of the sporting wonders of the world. Churchill Downs, Ky., and Aintree, England, are venerated by horse players. Lords Cricket Ground in London is called "the temple of cricket" from Canberra to Calcutta. At all these shrines the sports themselves are enjoyed, but in Cooperstown's pocket-sized ballpark only one game of importance is played each year — a ceremonial contest between two major-league teams to honor the heroes elected to the Hall of Fame that year.

So why Cooperstown? The township was settled in Indian territory by the Cooper family, and here James Fenimore Cooper wrote The Last of the Mohicans in 1826. After that, "nothing" happened in Cooperstown for 113 years. Then, in June, 1939, in a brilliant ceremony, the town was inaugurated as the birthplace of our national game.

It happened to be the birthplace of Gen. Doubleday, who fired the first shot at Fort Sumter, sparking the Civil War. Doubleday also distinguished himself at Gettysburg. In 1839 he had doodled with a game approximating baseball to be played by West Point cadets, and for simplicity's sake he is credited as the inventor of the modern game. Much of the "evidence" emerged more than 50 years later in the faulty memory of Doubleday's friend, Abner Graves, then in his 70's. Doubleday never claimed to be the inventor. When he died in 1893, his obituary in the New York Times made no reference to baseball. But he was a gallant officer, a gentleman and a sportsman. What better man could fill the role? And what more ideal home could be found than his birthplace, the lovely, unspoiled little village on the lake, miles from anywhere? In fact, the rules of the game, scarcely changed to this day, were drawn up by the Knickerbocker Club in New York in 1845.

The first players elected to the Hall of Fame in 1939 were Ty Cobb, leading with 222 of the 228 ballots, Babe Ruth and Honus Wagner with 206 apiece, Christy Matthewson with 204 and Walter Johnson with 188.

The Museum consists of a wondrous collection of baseball memorabilia, including the original lockers of great players, with their uniforms, shoes, caps and bats. This close-up view of athletic royalty is sometimes disconcerting. When we recall Joe DiMaggio's balletic spanning of the bases, we don't think of his wearing shirts with inside tags that contain such mortal information as "Dry-clean only."

Many visitors find themselves drawn more and more to the lockers and memories of the tremendous heroes who filled the uniforms. One Museum executive said that visitors often stand next to the locker of Ruth, DiMaggio or Mantle for hours, just looking, filling the uniforms with dreams. "Like the famous painting of the Duke of Wellington contemplating the tomb of Napoleon," the executive added.

There are baseball shoes, old and new, and catcher's masks dating back more than 100 years. There is a section on the Negro leagues, the youth leagues and the minor leagues. There are statues, paintings and great Norman Rockwell covers from the Saturday Evening Post and American Weekly. An entire room is devoted to the memorabilia and accomplishments of Babe Ruth.

On speakerphones one can hear the firsthand, on-the-spot account of Bobby Thomson's 1951 home run, the Babe's whiskeyish admonitions to the youth of America, DiMaggio's description of the tightrope he trod when he hit safely in 56 consecutive games.

The quasi-religious feeling inside the red-brick Georgian building is overwhelming. The Hall of Fame gallery is 89 feet long, 43 feet wide and 25 feet high. With its marble grandeur and its walls lined with plaques commemorating the 163 members, it looks like a cross between an imperial museum and a rococo Moscow subway station. One feels the only things missing are an eternal flame in an urn and the piped-in voice of Lucy Monroe singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" as she used to do — flat — at every World Series.

Sometime in the past, the Museum directorate, consciously or unconsciously, had to decide whether they presided over a museum or a shrine. Although called a museum, it actually is a shrine. It sees no evil, ennobles no villains. There is no acknowledgment of the blackest episode in baseball history, the 1919 World Series, when players on the Chicago Black Sox confessed to taking bribes. Yet surely one of the most immortal lines in baseball history is the heartbroken cry of a little boy to his fallen idol, Shoeless Joe Jackson: "Say it ain't so, Joe." The directorate justifies the omission by pointing out that one can read about the scandal in the library. The library, however, is restricted to researchers. A photograph of the triumphant Cincinnati team is the only reminder of the scandal.

Still, there is one word one can use for the Baseball Museum without embarrassment or exaggeration — "inspiring." Fans who have never been there feel its impact in their everyday lives. One of the most serious problems in British sport is the hooliganism of youthful fans in the bleachers. Unlike American kids, they have no tradition, no real soccer museum, no sporting hall of fame. For the most part, American teenagers have a real respect and understanding of their country's sports history. In Britain, a player, once retired, is immediately forgotten unless he moves on to management. I doubt if a single knife-toting British ruffian could identify Alex James (Britain's Babe Ruth) or Ted Drake (Britain's Lou Gehrig). If British youth had something like Cooperstown to visit and revere, the atmosphere in British ballparks might not be so poisonous.

A visitor to Cooperstown does face one problem: dragging himself away. A day there is insufficient. So is a week. A lifetime is necessary for the real aficionado.

HOW TO PLAN A BUDGET — AND MAKE IT WORK

By Kate Kelly

Family budgeting is surrounded by myths. Most people associate it with severe sacrifice; others fear it will reveal a bleak financial situation; and almost everybody assumes budgeting requires a lot of laborious paper work.

Budgeting doesn't deserve all these negative associations. It is simply planning, setting priorities and caring enough about large needs and desires to forgo a few momentary pleasures. The system does require a realistic look at your financial picture, but rather than cramping your style, it should help create more money for the things about which you really care. And once you establish a system, little record-keeping will be necessary.

First, you'll want to establish what your family will gain from better money management. "It's like anything else you plan. You have to have a realistic goal," says Anthony Ronda, director of marketing at New York City's Central Savings Bank.

Reasonable figures are what you'll need next. Surprisingly, many people don't know exactly what their real income is. To get your after-taxes income figure, make a list of your take-home pay, including wife's income, husband's income, part-time job income and all other money your family may receive regularly.

Next, you need to know how much money you spend each month. A careful look at your checkbook should reflect major monthly expenses. (Don't forget to average in quarterly insurance premiums and periodic medical bills.) You'll also want to examine what happens to the ever-fleeting cash. Financial expert Paul Gross suggests carrying an index card for a week, noting exactly what you spend.

Now, subtract your monthly expenses from your monthly income. Perhaps you have $20 left over. If so, saving $25 a month (just $6.25 per week) probably is a realistic goal.

Organizing your budget is the next step. You'll need to develop a list of categories. Then, taking your previous month's expenses into account, you should allot money to each category. The categories and amounts will depend on your family's spending habits. One family may put aside $5 a week for music lessons while another sets aside $10 for special car repairs. Most lists, however, will include some variation of the following:

- Savings
- Rent or mortgage payments
- Money to be set aside for periodic billings
- Past debts or loans
- Transportation
- Food
- Personal allowance
- Clothing

Savings at the top of the list? There's good reason. "You have to pay yourself first," stresses Karen Meyers, a CPA and manager with a leading accounting firm in New York City. "If you don't set it aside immediately, it will be spent."

Money set aside for periodic billings may include estimated expenses on such items as insurance, taxes (other than income), education, medical and dental bills, major household expenses and holiday money.

Involving the whole family in budgeting is also important. Obviously, both husband and wife need to agree on the new financial system, but the children should begin to understand it, too. Paul Gross recommends a weekly allowance system and notes, "The earlier you give a child a sense of responsibility, the better off he will be."

To lend spirit to your family's efforts, you might establish periodic rewards. Anthony Ronda suggests, "Since retirement or a car two years from now is a distant goal, you might allot some money for a dinner out as a reward for a successful month of budgeting."

And remember the promise about paper work? "As you become adept at budgeting, you won't even need to keep a record," says Mr. Gross. "A monthly tabulation of your checkbook should do." By recording what your checks were for, you'll be able to assess where your money was spent during the month. Even a check made out to cash should note "groceries —$30, personal—$20."

"Budgeting is like dieting," says Mr. Ronda. "It's most difficult in the beginning. Once you begin to see and feel the difference, it will become easier."

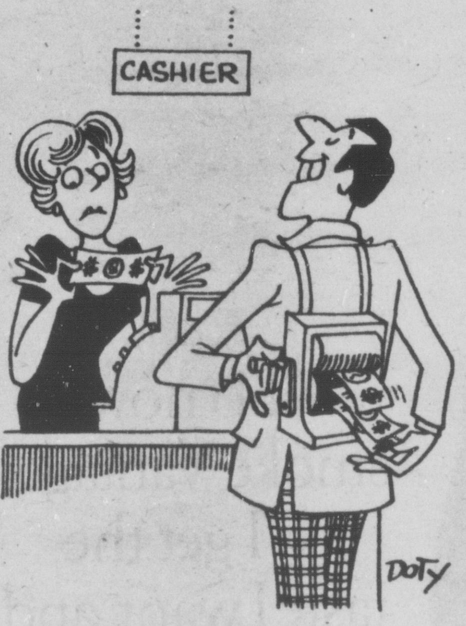
LEARN TO COUNTER THE COUNTERFEITERS

The bogus bill passer flourishes where crowds are largest. And though the Secret Service seizes millions in phony money each year, other millions still go into circulation.



By Leo Rosenhouse

When a ring of counterfeiters set up a bill-passing operation in San Jose, Calif., they were unaware that one of their intended victims had a sharp eye.

It happened in a popular malt and sandwich shop where two young men offered the cashier a new $20 bill.

"Haven't you anything smaller?" the employee asked as she accepted the bill and opened the register. "We're down to a few ones and lots of coins, so I'll have to go to a cash reserve box in the back."

While the pair waited impatiently, the cashier hurried to a desk light in the rear office and carefully inspected the twenty. What caused her hesitation in paying out change, which she actually had, was the fact that the portrait on the bill looked blurred and far too dark. Then, when her sharp eyes noted that the saw-toothed points on the edge of the colored seal were irregular, she dialed the police.

The men were seized as they were driving out of the restaurant parking lot. On their persons and in the back of the car were a number of packets of bills, some tens, but mostly twenties, and officers, holding some of the money in the sunlight, recognized them to be counterfeits.

According to U.S. Secret Service Director H. Stuart Knight, his agency, which has the task of protecting our currency as well as the President, seized nearly $32 million of the estimated $35 million in bogus money produced by counterfeiters during 1976. The bad bills were confiscated before they could be passed to the public, but the remaining $3,000,000 did get into circulation, and many hundreds of unsuspecting Americans may still be holding some of this currency.

Since 1971, Knight says the U.S. public has lost at least $21 million by accepting counterfeit money. (Don't forget that you, the innocent victim, will be stuck with the loss.) However, during that same period the Secret Service seized, before circulation, more than $181 million, which would have been a staggering economic loss had that money gotten on the street.

Although you may stay at home, avoiding hotels, theaters, amusement centers, restaurants and airports, where counterfeit bills are easily passed, you may still be the victim of bad money. Many counterfeiting rings adopt specific targets, such as shopping centers and supermarkets.

So it pays to know how to counter the counterfeiter, and the average person can do this using caution and good sense.

As a beginning, remember that counterfeiters cannot achieve the perfection of notes made by the U.S. Government at Treasury mints.

Here are a few pointers that may help you avoid becoming the victim of a counterfeiter. Even a youngster can apply them:

- Examine your money when you receive it, expecially large bills. Did you know that some counterfeiters are careless enough to put the wrong portrait on fake currency? If you remember that Benjamin Franklin is on on the $100 note, Grant on the $50, Jackson on the $20, Hamilton on the $10 and Lincoln on the $5, you can reduce the chances of being passed some bad green.
- If you do get a suspect bill, determine whether it's genuine by comparing it with another bill (usually one given to you by your bank or which has had considerable usage), and by studying the portrait. Counterfeit portraits are lifeless, with the background often too dark. Hairlines are not distinct, and the portrait merges into the background.
- Check the colored seal. Bad bills often have blunt, saw-toothed points on the circumference, and some points even may be broken off.
- Make sure the fine, crisscrossing lines on the bill's borders are clear and distinct.
- The counterfeit is usually printed on bond paper without the colored fibers of the real bill. A clandestine printer may add fine red and blue lines to simulate fibers in the genuine, but these show as glaring faults.
- Ask your bank, the police or the Secret Service to look at any paper money you think may be counterfeit.
- Don't play hero and try to apprehend a counterfeiter yourself. If you are handed a suspect bill, do not return it to the passer or make a fuss. Do delay the passer, if possible, and telephone the police or the U.S. Secret Service. Retain a description of the passer and get his auto license number if you have the opportunity. Then, surrender the suspect bill as quickly as possible to the police or the Secret Service.

Remember, most bad money is passed during holidays, at conventions — wherever crowds gather.

America's Favorite Meat

Yes, ground beef is the all-around, round-the-calendar meat favorite of American shoppers. While its use for hamburgers dominates, versatile ground beef is also used to make meat loaf, meatballs, casseroles and soups.

Usually you will find various kinds of ground beef at your meat counter. The difference is in fat content. There is no standard terminology for these ground-beef products; some of the names are: "premium," "regular," "extra lean," "ground round," "ground chuck" and "ground sirloin." The names normally do not indicate fat content. That information is needed, however, to make price comparisons among the different kinds, and stores will usually provide it if you ask.

Base your selection of ground beef on the type of meat you are serving and on price. For example, if you want to grill or pan broil patties, use a ground beef that has a fat content of about 25 percent. Ground beef this lean contains enough fat for self-basting to keep patties moist and juicy but not enough to cause excessive fire flare-ups on the grill or excessive shrinking.

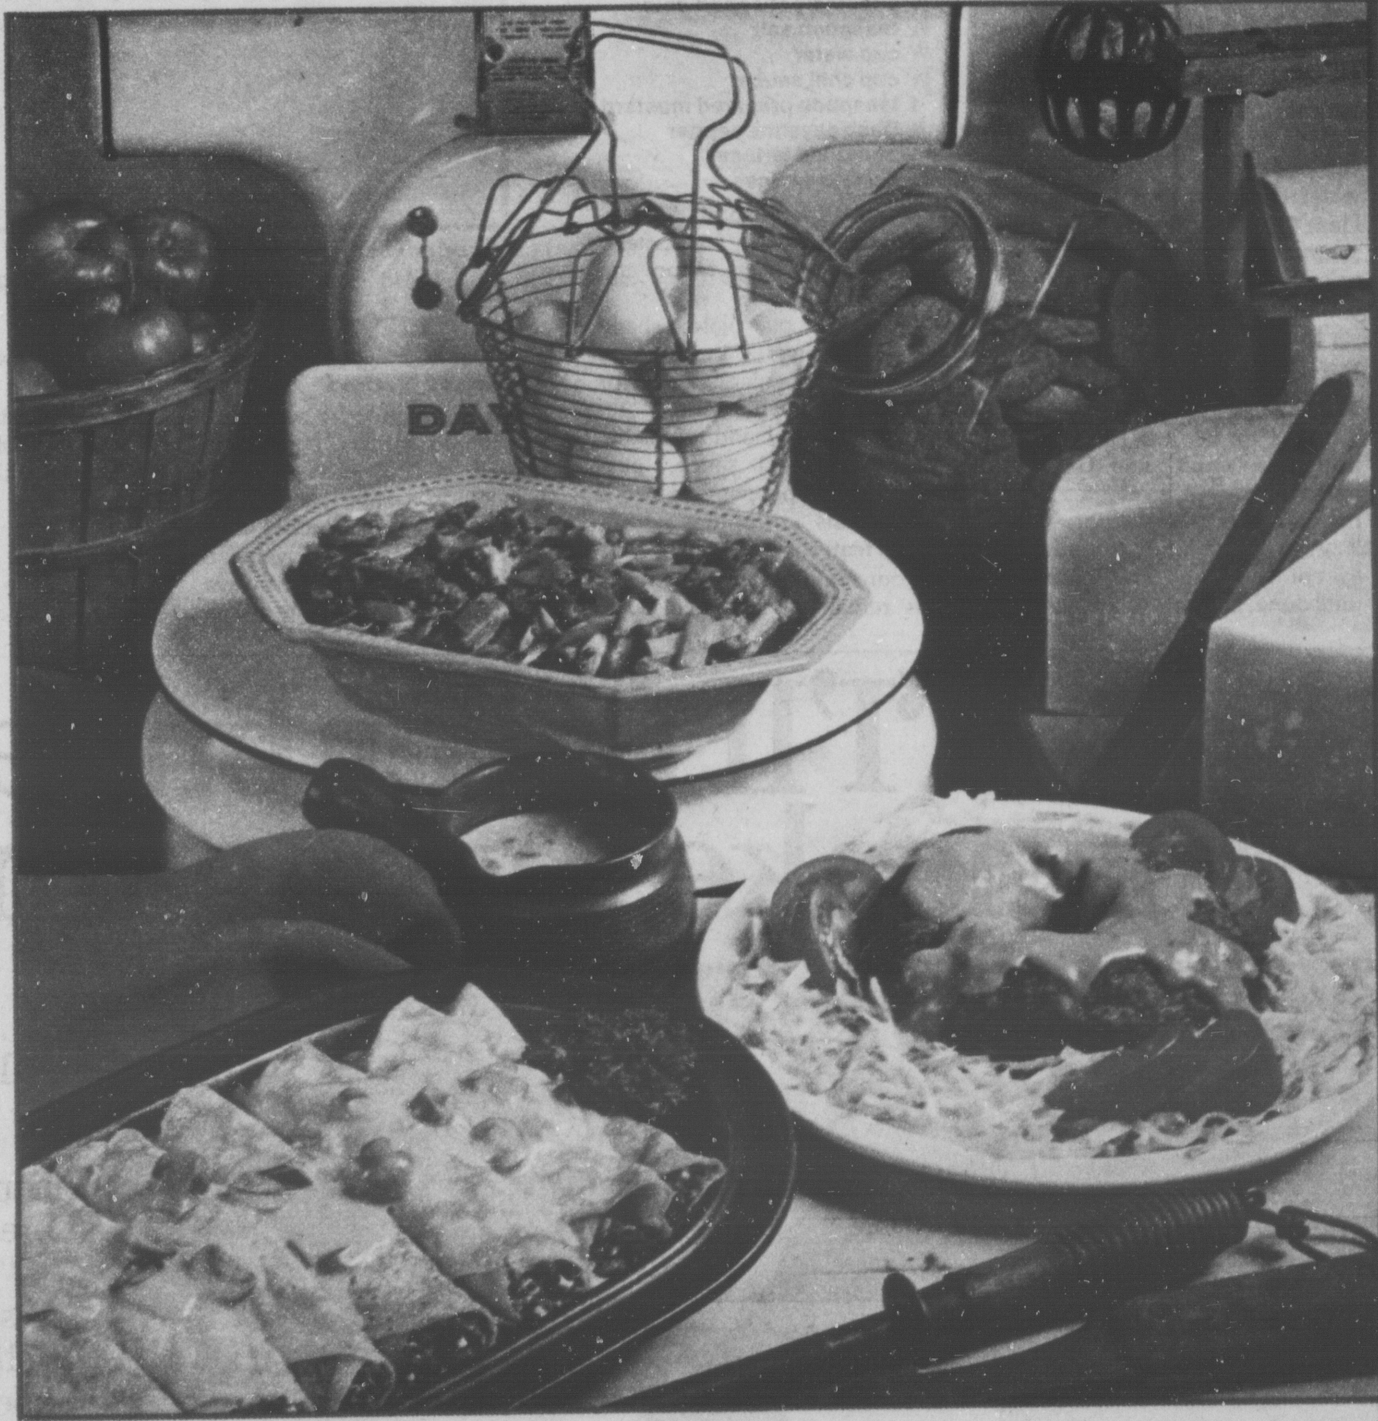
If you are planning a ground-beef casserole in which the fat is not drained off during cooking, then it may be wise to choose the extra-lean ground beef. But if the meat is to be browned and the fat drained off before other ingredients are added, you may get a better buy with regular ground beef. Leaner ground beef is more expensive than the fattier varieties, but many consumers find little difference between ground beef of differing fat content. So, before you spend extra money for the leaner product, consider whether ground beef with a higher fat content will suit your purpose.

Nutritionally, beef is beef, and it makes no difference whether it is in ground form or a standing rib roast. All beef contains the same high-quality protein,which the body must have to grow, repair tissues, regenerate blood and help build resistance to infection. Beef also contains B-complex vitamins and some essential minerals.



New ways with an old favorite include Beef Orientale, Mexican Meat Loaf (both may be prepared conventionally or in a microwave oven) and Company Crepes with Mushroom Sauce.

COMPANY CREPES

- 12 crepes (use basic recipe)
- 1 lb. ground chuck
- 1 can (10¾ ozs.) condensed cream of celery soup
- 1 cup small curd creamed cottage cheese
- 1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen chopped spinach, cooked and well drained
- ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup sliced fresh mushrooms
- ¼ cup diagonally sliced green onions
- ⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ cup water
- ½ teaspoon lemon juice

1. Make crepes and set aside. Prepare filling: in saucepan, brown beef (use shortening if necessary); stir to separate meat. Pour off fat.

2. Stir in 2 tablespoons soup, cottage cheese, spinach, Parmesan cheese and salt. Spoon about ¼ cup filling on each crepe; roll up.

3. Arrange crepes, seam-side down on oven-to-table serving dish; keep warm, covered, in low (300°F.) oven.

4. Make sauce. In saucepan, brown mushrooms and cook onions with nutmeg in butter until tender. Add remaining soup, water and lemon juice. Heat just to boiling, stirring occasionally.

5. Pour hot sauce over crepes. Garnish with parsley if desired.

Tips 'N' Topics

GROUND BEEF CARE

Ground beef needs special care. Grinding it multiplies the surfaces on which bacteria can grow, and mishandling gives them the chance to do so.

Taking good care of ground beef starts when you buy it. Choose packages that are well sealed, not torn. The meat should feel cold, and temperatures in the refrigerator case should be no higher than 40°F.

Warm temperatures encourage bacterial growth, so make ground beef one of your last purchases in the store. Refrigerate the meat soon after you get it home. If you plan to use ground beef within a day or two, place it in the coldest, nonfreezing part of your refrigerator. Freeze for longer storage. Ground beef will maintain its quality for four to six months at freezer temperatures of zero-degrees Fahrenheit or lower.

"I Lost 23 Pounds In Less Than Two Weeks Using The PRO-fas-TEIN PLAN."—J.D., New York.

Now . . . A Weight Reduction Plan That's Easy to Swallow!

It's true! There's probably no faster, more efficient way for losing weight than the PRO-fas-TEIN LIQUID PROTEIN REDUCING PLAN. You'll be amazed at how quickly pounds disappear from your body. You'll lose weight so fast that friends will have to notice how good you look in only a few short days. You'll lose weight the very first day you start your PRO-fas-TEIN LPR PLAN . . . and continue to lose . . . lose . . . lose!

LIQUID PROTEIN: TOMORROW'S DIET . . . TODAY!

Let's face it. If you don't eat, you simply don't gain weight. After all the talk about weight loss plans, strict diets and costly "fat" doctors, the most effective way of reducing quickly is fasting.

But, just plain fasting is not only unpleasant —it's unhealthy. If you don't eat, the first cells your body uses up are muscle tissues—not fat cells. That's why protein is absolutely essential in any modified fasting diet. With protein, your body burns off the fat cells first. And, as long as you keep taking protein, you will burn off only your fat cells. This is the key to the liquid protein reducing plan. It supplies you with all the protein you need to keep on burning off only those ugly, harmful fat cells while keeping your muscle tissue firm and healthy. It gives you all this without giving you the added fat of many "high protein" foods such as hamburgers and steak.

The liquid protein diet has been hailed by leading women's magazines as the most amazing weight reducing plan of the decade. It is recommended in "the most talked about" diet book of our time.

Until now, persons taking protein supplements were forced to cope with foul smelling, unpleasant tasting liquids in cumbersome cans.

Now there's PRO-fas-TEIN: predigested liquid protein containing all eight essential amino acids in one, easy-to-swallow capsule! No more foul-tasting, smelly liquids! No more messy spoons! Now you can take your liquid protein wherever you go. It fits conveniently in pocket or purse. Take it to the beach, the office, even a friend's house. The PRO-fas-TEIN LPR PLAN lets you take off pound after pound of fat with the proven effectiveness of the modified fast and without the unpleasantness associated with other liquid protein supplements.

YOU CAN'T HELP BUT LOSE WITH PRO-fas-TEIN . . . AND KEEP RIGHT ON LOSING!

When you follow the PRO-fas-TEIN LPR PLAN, you can't help but lose pound after pound—quickly and easily. All serious reducing programs require a certain amount of self-discipline, but the PRO-fas-TEIN LPR PLAN yields results you can see so quickly and easily, that you and your friends will be astounded.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

PRO-fas-TEIN is especially formulated for those who are on restricted diets for protein supplementation. The modified fasting diet has been proven to be the most effective method of losing pounds quickly. However, as with any weight loss program you're considering, we strongly urge you to consult your physician. We confidently invite you to discuss the PRO-fas-TEIN LPR PLAN with your doctor. If you are pregnant, or subject to certain metabolic disorders, this program is not for you. But, if your doctor gives you a clean bill of health, then you can start watching pound after pound peel off from your body in only days!

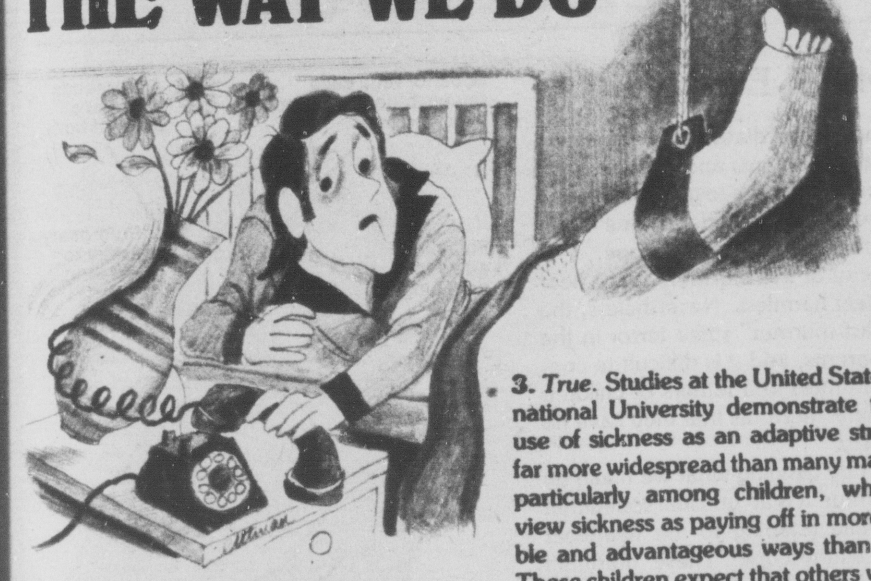
PEOPLE QUIZ/ By John E. Gibson

Are accident-prone people simply the victims of bad luck? Is there a certain personality type that gets lost easily?

WHY WE BEHAVE THE WAY WE DO



TRUE OR FALSE?

1. There's a specific reason why some people are hostile, unfriendly and antisocial and show little consideration for the feelings of others.
2. People of a certain personality type tend to get lost easily in unfamiliar surroundings and to become repeatedly confused because of their fixed concept of where north or south may be.
3. Many people pretend to get sick to achieve various desirable ends.
4. Most people who take drug overdoses do so because they're tired of living.
5. The reason more accidents happen to some people than to others is largely a matter of luck.
6. When faced with vexing problems or under severe mental stress, many men will stop in a bar for a "quick one" — even if they don't particularly want a drink; and many women under similar emotional stress will visit their hairdresser or beautician — even when they have no actual need for their services.

ANSWERS

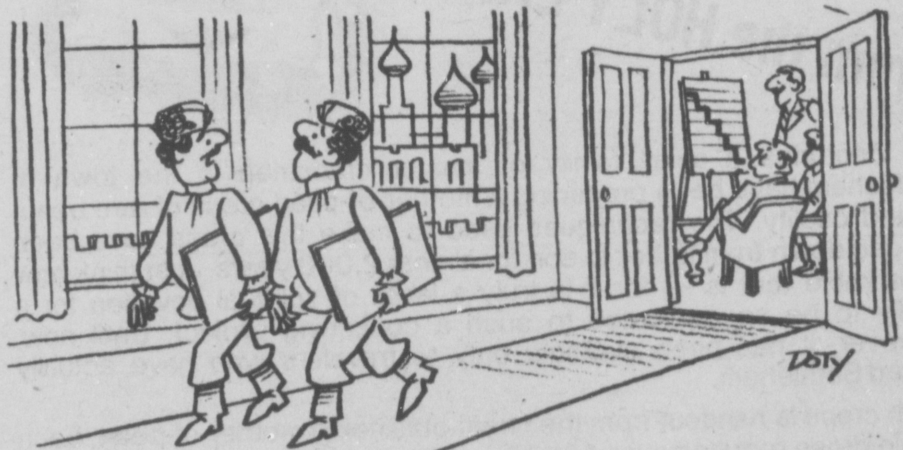
1. True. At Britain's Bradford University 200 students were given a battery of personality tests "to assess their attitudes toward themselves and specific persons and groups." Results: it was generally found that a person's attitude toward himself was duplicated in his attitude toward other people. The investigators concluded that self-rejection not only is a major factor in individual hostility but also appears to play an important role "in industrial friction, intergroup relations — even international clashes."
2. True. Studies at the University of Miami show that dogmatic (stubborn, opinionated, overbearing, close-minded) people often get it firmly in their minds that north is to the left or right of them and continue to think so when they are in different locations. Psychologists term this phenomenon directional disorientation, and it's one of the easiest ways to get lost in a strange neighborhood.
3. True. Studies at the United States International University demonstrate that the use of sickness as an adaptive strategy is far more widespread than many may think, particularly among children, who often view sickness as paying off in more desirable and advantageous ways than activity. These children expect that others will often sympathize with sickness and rarely be antagonistic toward the sick person. The study further showed that in only one situation — the gaining of attention from peers — was activity viewed to be a strategy superior to sickness.
4. False. A study of 128 subjects, who were interviewed by Britain's Department of Health and Social Security immediately after their recoveries from overdoses, indicated that just 44 percent said that they wanted to die. The most frequent reasons for the overdoses were seeking help, escaping from a situation and, in one case out of five, trying to influence someone. The latter response was likely to come from someone under 21 and is related to an attempt to win back a friend after a threatened breakup of a relationship.
5. False. Research at the University of California shows that "in general, the accident-haver is emotionally less mature, less responsible, more antisocial and not as well adjusted as the relatively accident-free person. Accident-prone people tend to have a more disturbed life history, such as an unhappy childhood, family disruption and an uneven work record." The anguish resulting from emotional conflicts tends to find physical expression in the trauma caused by the bruises and broken bones sustained in accidents.
6. True. A National Association for Mental Health study points out that everyone copes daily with a variety of stresses, and now and then problems threaten to assume such proportions that people find it difficult to take them in their stride without talking about them with someone they feel comfortable with and trust — doctors, clergymen, professional counselors or friends. When such help is unavailable, a person may turn to the traditional listeners: the bartender and the beautician. Although not trained to help, they are nonetheless important because they offer the beleaguered person an opportunity to verbalize problems and, perhaps, as a result, to resolve them.

Observations

Harvest secret. What makes the U.S. the world's most efficient food exporter? The Soviets employ many more farm workers than we do, yet they harvest only 80 percent as much grain and get but 65 percent as big a grain yield per acre. They use 15 pounds of grain to produce 1 pound of livestock—we do it for half that. A farm worker in the Soviet Union feeds seven people; each American farmer, 55.

Here's the answer. America's secret is partly weather and climate but largely the widespread use of fertilizer and suitable machinery in our superbly efficient agricultural system. Soviet farms also suffer from being too large, adds agronomist Ronald Nairn of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars: they're generally run by planners too far away to make quick, critical decisions. Russian farmers produce prodigiously on their own private garden plots but not on the "collectives," demonstrating once more that free enterprise is a powerful economic spur to producing bounty for all.

The key: energy. Nowhere is the dependency of economic growth on energy growth more evident than in feeding America. Growing and processing food now account for 16.5 percent of the energy the U.S. consumes. Part of this goes to fuel ever-more-complex machines, and for crop-drying, irrigation, and transportation. Much goes, too, for pesticides, herbicides, fungicides, and fertilizers made from petroleum feedstocks.



"It's our new five-year plan. Sow a little, reap a little, and buy grain in America."

Food for thought. The lesson is clear. If American agriculture is to continue to prosper, farmers must have secure energy supply: one reason the American Farm Bureau Federation wants an end to petroleum price controls so there'll be incentive to find more energy in this country. For U.S. farmers recognize what Russian farmers are trying to tell their own government: nothing brings out supply quite like a marketplace freed from excessive government regulation. What works for grain works also for oil, gas, and coal.

HEART MURMURS IN CHILDREN

Some important good news: Murmurs are usually nothing to worry about, and a child who has one need not have his activity restricted in any way.

By Alvin N. Eden, M.D.

Aorta sends blood to all parts of body.
Pulmonary artery to right lung.
Pulmonary artery to left lung.
Veins
Inferior vena cava carries blood from abdominal organs and legs.
Veins return blood from heart muscle to right side of heart.

As a practicing pediatrician, I examine a large number of infants and children each day. It is unusual for me to get through one day without hearing at least one heart murmur through my stethoscope. The great majority of the murmurs that I hear are absolutely harmless. Nevertheless, the words "heart murmur" strike terror in the hearts of parents, and it is difficult to convince the mothers and fathers of children with functional murmurs that they have no need to worry.

Let's start by defining what we mean by a heart murmur. It is an unusual sound that is heard while listening to the heartbeat through a stethoscope. These murmurs vary in loudness, pitch and location. There are two separate and distinct types: functional (a better word would be "innocent") and organic.

The functional or innocent murmur is a normal finding and does not mean a thing. If your child's physician tells you that your child has a functional murmur, you can relax and forget about it. On the other hand, an organic heart murmur represents some type of heart disease. Therefore, it's all-important for your pediatrician to determine which type of murmur your child has. He usually can do this without too much difficulty with his stethoscope. Sometimes various laboratory tests, including an electrocardiogram, are needed. If he concludes that your child has an innocent murmur, that should be the end of it. If the murmur turns out to be organic, some specialized tests may need to be performed to decide what method of treatment is required. An organic murmur means either that the child has some type of heart defect that he was born with (congenital heart disease) or that he has some type of acquired heart disease (such as that following some cases of acute rheumatic fever).

The statistics of heart murmurs in children are very interesting. About one child in three has an innocent or functional heart murmur at one time or another. In some studies the incidence of functional murmurs is said to be as high as 50 percent. Functional murmurs are heard less often in infants than in older children. They are heard most frequently in youngsters between 3 and 6 years of age. Organic heart murmurs occur in only about six out of every 1,000 children.

What is disturbing is the large number of children with innocent murmurs who are forced to lead unnecessarily restricted lives. About 25 percent of the children I examine with innocent murmurs fall into this category. This may be due to misdiagnosis, where an innocent murmur may be mistaken for an organic murmur. More often, however, trouble rests with the parents. Even though their doctor has reassured them that there is nothing to worry about, they simply cannot accept that any murmur can be normal. These parents take it upon themselves to restrict their child's activities and thus unnecessarily create tremendous psychological and emotional problems.

Of course, this misunderstanding on the part of the family may be due in part to inconclusive and incomplete advice that they have been given by their physician. A doctor not only must explain to the parents that the murmur is functional and innocent but also must be certain that they understand that this type of murmur does not mean anything is wrong with the child's heart. These parents must be convinced that since the innocent murmur is not related to heart disease, restricting the child's activities is ridiculous.

In many cases a functional murmur disappears as the child gets older, but it makes no difference whether this happens. We still do not know what causes an innocent murmur. There are many theories, but the exact mechanism is not clear. We do know, however, that the child with a functional murmur has a completely normal heart. No special supervision is necessary, and the murmur should not pose any restrictions on the amount or type of activity the child undertakes.

How to safely lose 8-80* lbs. fast -- while using Liquid Protein to naturally stop hunger signals

*8—80 lbs. is the weight loss range of Dr. Litten's patients.

"New Jersey Doctor develops __new__ improved Liquid Protein Weight Loss System which helps patients achieve quick and lasting weight loss"

By Richard Swan

Most people think hunger is controlled by their stomachs. It isn't. Your 'Hunger Control Center' is located in your head. It's called your Hypothalamus Gland.

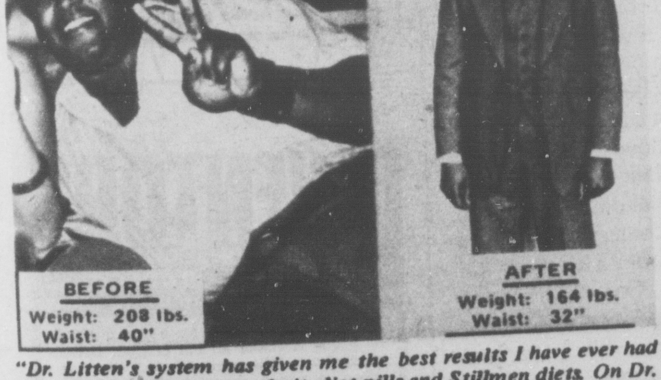
By using Dr. Litten's "Liquid Protein Weight Loss System," you can naturally command your Hypothalamus Gland to stop sending hunger signals. You can then lose all the weight you want, faster than you ever have before, without hunger. Since all of us have a Hypothalamus Gland – everyone, whether 8 lbs. or 80 lbs. overweight, can succeed with Dr. Litten's system.

How much can you lose? Some people lost 13–15 lbs. the first week. Others lost 20–24 lbs. in just 14 days. Total weight losses of 20, 30, 50 and even 80 lbs. were recorded. The number of pounds you can quickly shed and keep off will depend on how much you're over your ideal weight.

BEFORE
Weight: 157 lbs.
Waist: 34"
AFTER
Weight: 129 lbs.
Waist: 28"

"On Dr. Litten's system, I had no side effects and mostly lots of energy – more energy than I ever had in my life. Getting on the scale every morning is a joy. I've lost 28 lbs. and I'm still losing. It's a pleasure now to buy clothes in small 7–9 sizes, instead of 15–16 or larger. It's the only diet I have ever been on that I have never felt hungry, irritable or tired. My whole life and outlook has changed – a new job, new clothes. I take much, much better care of myself than ever before."

Janice Mount
Mt. Holly, New Jersey



"Dr. Litten's system has given me the best results I have ever had out of all the diets; grapefruit, diet pills and Stillmen diets. On Dr. Litten's system, I lost 8 lbs. the first week and then went on to lose 44 lbs. As a fireman, I was concerned about the loss of strength, which I had experienced on other diets. But I was able to work without any loss of strength. Since going off the system, I haven't gained one pound back."

Parris Branch
Cherry Hill, New Jersey

How is it possible to safely lose weight that fast without hunger? As a copywriter, that's what I wanted to know. So I flew to Cherry Hill, New Jersey and set up an interview with Dr. Litten. Here's what I found out.

Swan: How does your system work?

Dr. Litten: My system utilizes Liquid Protein and works in two steps. First, you temporarily change your body chemistry to stop hunger signals. This allows you to lose weight very quickly without the usual torturous hunger pangs. In step two, you permanently change your 'heavy body chemistry' to a 'slim body chemistry.' Like a slim person, you'll crave food less, so you'll keep the weight off.

Swan: Why does an overweight person have to change their body chemistry?

Dr. Litten: Because medical research has finally revealed what overweight people have known all along – they have a different body chemistry than slim people. The key to losing weight and keeping it off is to attack the 'heavy body chemistry' problem.

Swan: What is a 'heavy body chemistry?'

Dr. Litten: Heavy people have more fat cells and larger fat cells than slim people. This gives them a 'heavy body chemistry.' A 'heavy body chemistry' has three drawbacks. First, it causes heavy people to crave food more than slim people. Second, it speeds up the conversion of food into new fat cells. And finally, it prevents fat cells, which are already there, from being burned up.

Swan: It sounds like a stacked deck. But can't a heavy person still lose weight and keep it off if they have will power?

Dr. Litten: Not really. And again the problem is body chemistry. When you starve yourself, your body begins to burn up fat for its energy. It also burns muscles and vital organs. You literally become a cannibal. Since some of the weight you lose is muscle and vital organs, you still have too many fat cells. Which means that you still have a 'heavy body chemistry.' As soon as you quit your starvation diet, your mind gives, eat, eat, eat signals to repair and replace your burned up muscles and vital organs. You then gain all your weight back and sometimes more.

Swan: Can this vicious circle ever be broken?

Dr. Litten: Yes. But you'll never break it with pills, fad diets, or by using will power to starve yourself; because none of these methods attack the real problem – a 'heavy body chemistry.' But my "Liquid Protein Weight Loss System" does.

Swan: How can you change your body chemistry?'

Dr. Litten: The key to my system is a special Liquid Protein. You drink it 5 times a day. Approximately 24–48 hours after you begin my system, your body chemistry will change. Your body starts to generate natural appetite suppressors. These suppressors travel to your Hypothalamus Gland and quiet your 'Hunger Control Center.' Because of this, 97% of the people who have followed my system experienced no hunger when they skipped eating.

Swan: What about step two of your system?

Dr. Litten: Again the key to step two is liquid protein. As you quickly lose weight, your protein requirements are taken care of by the liquid protein – not by burning muscles and vital organs. You lose what you want to lose, namely fat cells and excess water. As your fat cells quickly melt away, so does your 'heavy body chemistry.' And since you haven't burned up muscles and vital organs, there are no eat, eat, eat signals to replace these tissues.

Swan: What happens when you reach your ideal weight?

Dr. Litten: The obvious benefit is that you'll have a slimmer, sexier figure. But there's an extra bonus. Along with your attractive outside appearance, you'll now have a 'slim body chemistry.'

Swan: Exactly what do you mean by a 'slim body chemistry?'

Dr. Litten: We all know the slim person who eats what he wants. He enjoys food more than you because he is not guilty about eating. But he never puts on any weight. You'll have his or her body chemistry. You'll actually crave food less. You'll be able to eat delicious well-balanced meals and totally satisfy your hunger. But since you'll be eating less, you won't gain your weight back.

Swan: Is your system safe?

Dr. Litten: It's completely safe for anyone in normal health. But, of course, you should check with your doctor before starting my or any other weight loss system.

Swan: How does your system compare to clinical Liquid Protein programs?

Dr. Litten: With my system, you lose weight virtually as fast as the clinical fasting programs. But unlike most clinical programs, you must eat a dinner-time meal on my system. Eating makes my system much easier to follow than the clinical cold turkey fasting programs.

Swan: It sounds great. But I'm from Missouri. Do you have case histories of successful users?

Dr. Litten: Yes. I can give you their stories and even supply before and after photos.

Dr. Litten supplied hundreds of case histories and before and after photos. Since space is limited, I've just shown two before and after photos, along with three stories. But before you read them, let me mention this. I did my own research and found that leading universities have conducted studies which verify the effectiveness of Liquid Protein for achieving rapid weight loss.

BEFORE: 163 lbs. 34" waist
AFTER: 120 lbs. 28" waist

"I was going into a size 18 dress when I started Dr. Litten's system. I lost enough weight, 43 lbs., to fit into my 23 year old daughter's size 5 dungarees. It is an easy and fast way to lose weight. It's not boring. I lost 10 lbs. the first week and I didn't feel the usual hunger pangs."

Betty Mahoney
Cherry Hill, New Jersey

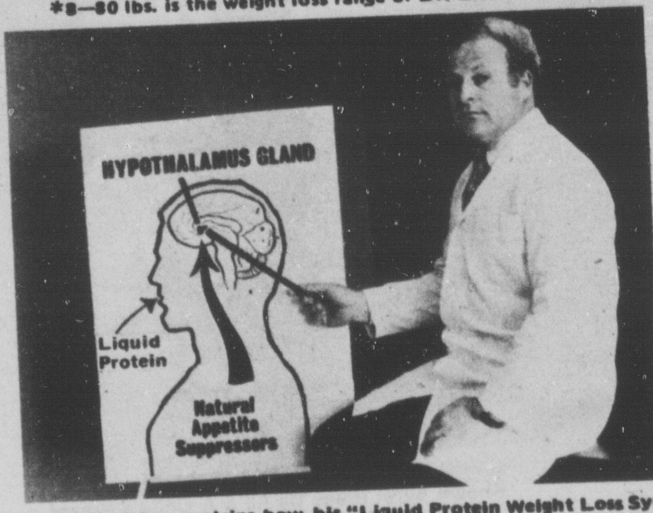
AFTER: 178 lbs. 37" waist

"When I started Dr. Litten's system, I was a diabetic and had hypertension. I lost 13 lbs. in seven days. While taking the protein, I was never hungry and I worked in a restaurant, where I would pick constantly before. I was weighed every 3 days and every time I was weighed, I constantly lost 1 to 3 lbs. Now that I am off the program – and 82 lbs. lighter – I'm just not as interested in food as I was."

John Valentino
Gloucester, New Jersey



Dr. Neil Litten explains how his "Liquid Protein Weight Loss System" stops hunger. Contrary to popular belief, your hunger is not controlled by your stomach. It's controlled by your Hypothalamus Gland. Approximately 24 — 48 hours after you begin taking Liquid Protein on Dr. Litten's system, your body chemistry will change. Your body will begin to generate Natural Appetite Suppressors. These suppressors will travel to your Hypothalamus Gland and quiet your 'Hunger Control Center.' The article below will explain how you can safely lose all the weight you want — faster than you ever have before — without hunger.

AFTER: 114 lbs. 26" waist

"I experienced no hunger from the beginning. I lost 53 lbs.–8 lbs. in the first week. During my 'fat days' I slept more than 12 hrs. a day. Soon after I began the system I became an early morning riser– my energy was abundant."

Shirley Watson
Delran, New Jersey

Dr. Litten's system worked for Betty, John and Shirley and can work for you too.

WHAT CAN THE SYSTEM DO FOR YOU?

After you follow the system, the following benefits can be yours:

- You can 'safely' lose weight faster than you ever have before.
- Lose inches off your waist, hips, thighs and banish ugly cellulite bumps.
- You won't be hungry, so little will power is needed.
- Once you start, you must lose weight. If you follow his system properly, it is impossible to fail.
- You can lose as much as you want. Just stick to the system to reach your ideal weight.
- After you lose your weight, you can keep it off with your new 'slim body chemistry.' You'll actually crave food less.

Dr. Litten's system is not available anywhere, except in the New Jersey area. If you check locally, you'll probably find that a clinical program will cost you $200–$300. But you can order Dr. Litten's system now, direct by mail, for just $9.95.

HOW CAN YOU ORDER THE SYSTEM?

If you wish to order Dr. Litten's complete "Liquid Protein Weight Loss System," which includes a supply of special Liquid Protein and an easy-to-understand instruction booklet, simply do this: Write "Weight Loss System" and your name and address on a piece of paper and send it along with $9.95 + $1 postage and handling in cash, check or money order. (Make checks payable to Weight Loss Research Group.) If you have Master Charge or VISA, you may charge your purchase by sending the following information: A. name of card B. card number C. card exp. date.

Mail your orders to WEIGHT LOSS RESEARCH GROUP, 536 Cleveland Ave. N.W., Dept. C–72, Canton, Ohio 44702.

Dr. Litten's system is backed with a 100% money back guarantee. After following his system, you must safely lose weight faster than you ever have before and keep it off. If this does not happen, or if you are dissatisfied in any way, just send it back. You'll receive every penny of your money back – no questions asked.

Supplies of liquid protein are becoming limited. To make sure you get Dr. Litten's system, why not order right now, while you're thinking about it. If you have any questions, feel free to call me, Richard Swan, at (216) 455–1474.

ROASTING THE STARS

By Joey Adams

Humor columnist Joey Adams is the author of many books, including Here's to the Friars: The Heart of Show Business.

Milton Berle said to Frank Sinatra: "Don't just sit there, Frank — enjoy yourself — hit somebody." Don Rickles noted: "You got a great voice, Frank, too bad it hasn't reached your throat." George Jessel said: "Frank has never let anything put him down. Once he went to visit a little old man in a hospital in Hoboken, and he sang to the poor soul for an hour. When he finished, he said to him, 'I hope you get better,' and the little old man said, 'You, too.'"

At celebrity roasts, such as this Friars Roast in honor of Frank Sinatra, luminaries come from all over the world — not to praise the emperor but to bury him. That's the way it is with show people — they do you in to do you proud. The idea of the roasts is — if you can't think of anything nice to say about the guy — let's hear it. These show-business organizations pride themselves on the massacre of their "dishonored" guests.

A good roastmaster never unintentionally insults anybody. It's premeditated murder. Milton Berle said about Henny Youngman: "I've known Henny, man and boy, for 40 years — and I don't like him any more as a man than I did as a boy." Uncle Miltie about Howard Cosell: "Everybody is always insulting Howard, spitting on him, abusing him — and rightly so." Henny Youngman about Berle: "He doesn't have ulcers — but he's a carrier."

You can always pick out actors or politicians by the glazed look that comes into their eyes when the conversation wanders away from themselves. That's why we go to work on one another. I remember the Georgie Jessel dinner. Bob Hope said: "That Jessel knows a lot — he just can't think of it. I like him. I have no taste, but I like him."

Don Rickles is a very gentle man until he faces an audience — and then he makes Attila the Hun sound like a Boy Scout. Don said to Milton Berle: "You got a nice personality — but not for a human being." Looking at Ernest Borgnine he said: "Hey Ernie — who else was in the accident?" To Howard Cosell: "I'd bring you a present — but what do you give a guy who has nothing?" He said about Dean Martin: "I won't say he drinks — but somebody gave him a hot foot, and he burned for four days."

At the vivisection for Rickles, they all waited to see Don get the hot seat. Dr. Joyce Brothers said: "He is the kind to help old ladies halfway across the street." Jan Murray finished him off: "Rickles is the man about whom Idi Amin once said, 'From him I could learn.'"

I hate to do political jokes — too many of them have been getting elected. But what do you do when you face a dais of congressmen and senators as well as a President, a mayor and a governor. You treat them all alike — you kill them all equally. "This Congress," I said, "doesn't care whether the budget is balanced or not — they get paid either way. There is one solution — put them on commission." I said about one congressman: "They elected him — just to get him out of town." Bob Hope said: "The more you listen to political speeches, the more you realize this is a land of promise."

Everyone loves to razz the man in the White House. I said at one Presidential dinner: "Jimmy Carter's only conflict of interest is — how do you sell a brother?" Of course, Plains, Ga., comes in for some heckling: "It's so small that the mayor is an Elk — a real elk." Or how about "Plains is so small that they can't afford a sanitation department, so a cleaning woman comes in twice a week." And "Plains' sewerage system is a goat, the dogcatcher is a mean cat, the traffic light only has one color, and they can't afford X-rated movies so once a week somebody leaves his shades up."

And the insults go on and on. ■

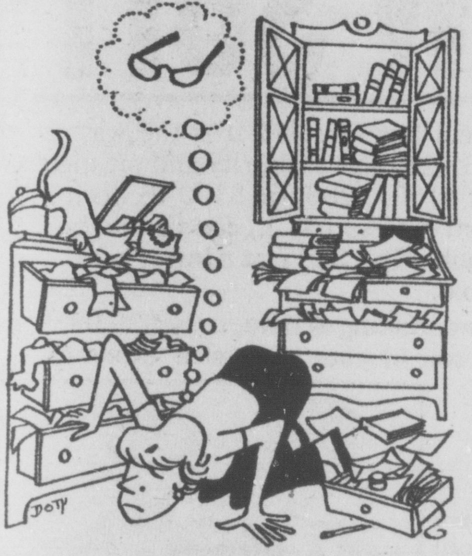
YOU CAN IMPROVE YOUR MEMORY

Paying attention and using visual imagery the way a child does are just two of the simple techniques you can learn to improve your ability to recall.



By Kenneth L. Higbee

"I have a bad memory." You've heard that complaint a thousand times, but, unfortunately, most people don't do anything to improve their memories.

Many believe that they were born with a bad memory and that little can be done to change it. Actually, memory ability does not depend on innate capabilites or brain power as much as it depends on acquired techniques and skills.

Other people try to find the "secret" that will take the work out of remembering. In fact, there is no single secret to never forgetting anything. Neither is there a completely effortless way to remember. Remembering is a learned skill, and improving memory is just like acquiring any other skill — you must work at it.

Pay Attention

Sometimes when you complain about not being able to remember, you are blaming your memory for something that is not its fault. You must know a thing before you can forget it, and often what we really mean when we say that we forgot is that we never really knew it in the first place — we simply were not paying attention.

Failure to pay attention is probably the most common reason why we "forget" the names of people we meet. When we are introduced, our minds are on something else. (We might be waiting to hear our own name, or trying to think of a clever thing to say after the introduction.) You can improve your memory for names by consciously paying attention and by making sure you get the name in the first place (such as asking the person to repeat it or using it in the conversation).

Failure to pay attention is also a common cause of absentmindedness. When you forget, for example, where you left your keys or whether you turned off the lights at home, it is often because you were not consciously paying attention to what you were doing when you put down the keys or left the house. Your mind was on something else—it was literally "absent." Thus, you can reduce absentmindedness by concentrating on what you are doing, perhaps even telling yourself at the time, for example, "I am putting the car keys on top of the refrigerator."

Make It Meaningful

Anything you can do to make material meaningful to you will help you remember it. When the material itself is not meaningful, you can sometimes give meaning to it by structuring it in a rhyme or jingle. For example, as children, we remembered how many days there are in a month from the rhyme, "Thirty days has September, April, June and November....": and young children learn the alphabet with the aid of a sing-song rhythm. As adults, we can invent rhymes, too—and have fun as well. Names can be made meaningful by using substitute words to remind you of the names. A Miss Colby might be remembered by coal-bee, and a Mr. Henderson by hen-door-sun.

Associate It

Association refers to relating the thing you want to remember with something you already know. For example, most people can draw a rough outline of Italy better than they can of Denmark because they have learned to associate Italy with a boot. Similarly, one can remember the difference in spelling and meaning between "principle" and "principal" by remembering that "a principal is a pal."

Picture It

The saying that "one picture is worth a thousand words" usually refers to the effectiveness of a picture in communicating an idea that would take many words to express. People remember pictures better than words. Thus, anything you can do to form a mental picture of something you want to remember will help you remember it.

Young children use visual imagery quite frequently, but as we get older and acquire more language skills we think and remember more in words than in mental pictures. Thus, one way to improve our memories is to become a little child in this respect.

These techniques do not, of course, guarantee you will never again forget something, but they will help you remember more. Try them and see — right away, before you forget.

If you have problem hair, read this—

AT 42, I HAVE TO CUT 2 INCHES OFF MY HAIR EVERY 2 MONTHS,

As it is, I keep my hair exactly 23 inches long. And it's still so thick and so strong that I can hardly force a comb through it. And it has so much life and shine that, when I recently did a TV commercial for a leading hair company, the producer asked one of the staff to lightly pat face-powder on it, so it wouldn't blind the camera.

Most 18-Year-Olds Don't Have Hair This Healthy. But I've MADE IT That Way. And So Can You . . . If You'll Simply Follow My Five "Golden Rules" For The Kind Of Hair Your Man Can't Resist.

As you may have read on these pages before, even at 42, beauty is my business. I sell the way I look, as a model and as a beauty expert. And as I grow older and older, more and more women begin to believe my essential message—that you can make yourself beautiful, and keep yourself beautiful, despite any number of years.

Nowhere, but nowhere, does this hold more true than with your hair. Because other women can look at me, and excuse their own appearance by saying that I was "born lucky" as far as keeping my face and figure trim and young (which is not at all true, incidentally). But when they realize that I have been a two-process blonde for over 20 years — that I both bleach and color my hair — and my hair STILL looks like this . . . then they KNOW that I've discovered something that can work for THEM too.

(And that may, incidentally, give them some of the most delightful romantic moments of their life.) So let me put it as bluntly as this —

It Took Me 20 Years To Find Out How To Make Your Hair Thicker, Longer, Faster-Growing. With Such Dazzling Life And Shine That Your Man May Not Be Able To Keep His Hands Off It. And I Can Teach It To You In A Single Weekend —

Let me share just a few of them with you:

Age has nothing to do with beautiful, healthy hair. Knowledge does. And the first thing you have to know is this: Re-growth of your scalp and hair cells occurs 7 times as fast as other body cells. That's why, even if you're giving your body proper nourishment today, you may still be starving your hair.

Therefore, great-looking hair demands a special hair diet. A check list of the right vitamins and the right foods to make that hair grow as thick and as fast as it possibly can. I list every one of them for you . . . tell you how to get them in your daily diet easily and inexpensively . . . have you "eating your way" to a gorgeous head of hair — overnight — at exactly the same time that you eat your way to a more beautiful face, and a slimmer body.

This is step one—food. Step two, believe it or not—is sleep. Most women ruin their hair by the way they sleep (and I do not mean curlers). Therefore, sleep my way for a week (see page 9), and your mirror may astound you when you wake up the eighth morning. (Extra bonus here: a wrinkle-smoothing treatment for your face.)

Then We Go On, To Remove The Hidden Causes Of Brittle, Easily-Breaking Hair . . .

Believe it or not, and I'll prove this to you on page 8, I have made one tiny change in the way friends comb and brush their hair, and that hair has immediately stopped breaking. Even with women whose hair has been "hopeless" for years—one hour was all it took to give them the "body" they had dreamed about!

And also, incidentally, while we're talking about your comb and brush, did you know that right now they are the villains that are taking the shine right out of your hair!

Let me repeat this fact, because it's so terribly important: Forget about spending a single penny on any commercial product whatsoever to put a glorious shine in your hair. First, turn to page 8, and make the one simple change I tell you. If your hair doesn't "knock you out" in a single week with its new glow—then just send back the Guide for your money.

MEN! Everything said here applies to you too! Plus a special program starting on page 23 that you must try before you give up on thinning hair or baldness!

This absolutely unretouched photograph of Oleda Baker was taken when she was 42 years, 1 month, and 10 days old.

And Now The Most Important Discovery Of All—Not Only How To Swell The Shaft Of Each Hair, And Thus Increase Its Width, But Also Make New Hair START GROWING Where It Wasn't Growing Before.

It takes less than five minutes to learn this procedure . . . only one evening to put it to work for you. It could save, not only your hair and your scalp, but your complexion as well.

And, though I've boiled this Guide down to a single weekend's reading, there's so much more in it including: The natural way to make your hair soft and manageable . . . how to restore flexibility and bounce and strength, especially to over-processed or aging hair . . . how to quietly control dandruff . . . why, if you have oily hair today, you can get rid of it tomorrow . . . exactly what to do if you now suffer from baby-fine hair, unruly hair, sunburned hair, "coarse" hair, or dry hair . . . how to keep new hair-growth coming in so fast and so thick that you too may have to cut AN INCH A MONTH from that hair—just to keep it in style.

A SALUTE TO NEWS CARRIERS

By Megan Oliver

What do John Wayne, Willie Mays and Sen. Abraham Ribicoff have in common? All of these famous Americans got their start as newspaper carriers and, like dozens of other prominent people, give part of the credit for their success to the sense of responsibility and perseverance they developed delivering newspapers. In the words of another well-known former newspaperboy, the late Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, "A newspaper route is as good a teacher of lessons as any institution we have in America."

Why are we telling you all of this? Well, Saturday, October 15, is International Newspaper Carrier Day, the day set aside each year during National Newspaper Week to honor the boys — and since 1974 the girls — whose job it is to "get the paper out." Most of us who read the paper never stop to think about the carrier until it's time to pay him or her,or unless it's one of those occasions,like a snowstorm, when the paper's not there.

Newspaper carriers have not always been unsung heroes, as newspaperman Barrie J. Hughes of the Watertown (N.Y.) Daily Times discovered while researching his booklet, The World Honors the News Carrier. He reports that there are six known statues of newspaper carriers in places as far-flung as Lisbon and Los Angeles. The oldest known statue was dedicated on October 10, 1895, in Great Barrington, Mass. It was presented to the town by Col. William Lee Brown, a New York newspaper publisher. Col. Brown wanted to honor the newsboys whose energy had helped circulation of his second paper, the New York Daily News, climb from a few thousand to more than half a million.

The newsboy statue in Great Barrington is the most famous, and copies of it have been given to honor various people, including former President Ford.

Another famous statue of a newsboy is the bronze figure dedicated in 1933 in Rio de Janiero. Tradition has it that each time the Brazilian press is muzzled with stronger censorship, rags are stuffed into the open bronze mouth of the newsboy as a symbol.

So your local newspaper carrier is part of a long tradition. Who knows, maybe in a few years you'll be able to say you knew him or her back when.

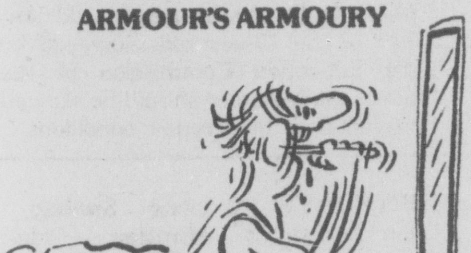
ARMOUR'S ARMOURY



TO TELL THE TOOTH

My toothbrush is a wondrous thing,
Its usefulness I hail and sing.
It keeps my teeth all white and clean
And free of caries dark and mean.
By doing such devoted duty
It makes my smile a thing of beauty.
It keeps me free of dentists' drills
As well as still more frightful bills.

It doesn't do this by itself.
I have to take it from the shelf
And ply it often, wield it lustily,
So if the things above aren't done,
Don't blame the toothbrush. I'm the one.

WHAT IN THE WORLD...

Childsafe

Parents who let infants or young children ride in cars without proper restraints are asking for trouble. Auto accidents are the leading cause of death among children, who can become flying missiles in a crash or a sudden stop. And adult seat belts aren't suitable for children under 4 or who weigh less than 40 pounds because their pelvic structures are fragile and the children are top-heavy. A wide variety of restraints are designed especially for children, but whatever kind you select, Susan Kummerow of the Wisconsin Hospital Assoc. says the restraint should distribute the pressure of the child's body over the largest possible area and provide good support for the head and neck to protect against whiplash. It also should be made of strong, energy-absorbing materials and be free of potential injury-producing features, such as a collapsible seat or a flimsy safety bar. The seat should be secured by using the standard lap belt or, says Kummerow, "your protection is flying out the window." Most restraints manufactured after July 1975 provide effective protection, but if you'd like a list of crash-tested models, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Susan Kummerow, Wisconsin Hospital Assoc., P.O. Box 4387, Madison, Wis. 53711.

Suited To A "T"

Many people's T-shirts fit them better than they think, says Dr. Max Fogel, as assoc. prof. of psychiatry at the Univ. of Pennsylvania. Although there are exceptions, "you can tell something about the person because the choice of messages is so deliberate." He continues, "Just the fact that the people are wearing the shirts says that they want some communication to take place between themselves and strangers — after all, some people won't wear these shirts at all." Dr. Fogel says that people who wear idol T-shirts, such as those that say "Rocky" or "Farrah," find something to admire about the star and would like you to associate them with that person. By contrast, he believes that people who wear T-shirts with place names on them don't have a strongly developed sense of identity at this point and tend to bury themselves in their environment. As for people who wear T-shirts with a sexually ambiguous message, such as "Foxy Lady," Dr. Fogel says they want the passerby to notice them and to make his own interpretation.

Making Crime Not Pay

Parents in Deerfield, Ill., have an added incentive to keep their teenagers from committing acts of vandalism — they can be fined up to $500. Alarmed by the rising vandalism rate, a few years ago the city fathers in Deerfield passed an ordinance providing that police can cite parents after the second act of vandalism by the same child in 12 months. And if the court finds the parent did not properly supervise the child, the parent can be fined from $25 to $500. During the first year after the law was passed, vandalism dropped 40% — and there haven't been any second offenses. Police Chief Richard Brandt gives the ordinance credit for reducing vandalism but points out that Deerfield also took other steps, including a "Youth Jury" program in which teenagers accused of minor offenses are tried by a jury of their peers.

Household Hazards For Pets

Many people worry about their pet being hit by a car, but chances are your dog or cat is in more immediate danger right inside your house. Dr. Walter E. Weirich, head of the Small Animal Clinic at Purdue Univ.'s School of Veterinary Medicine, says that at least ¾ of the pet injuries the clinic sees could have been prevented by owners. One major pet ailment is "garbage-can-itis," an illness caused by the pet's eating spoiled food from garbage cans. It often can cause severe vomiting and diarrhea for several days and can even be fatal. And despite the stereotype that dogs and bones go together like rabbits and carrots, never feed your pet bones — splintered bones can cause perforations in the digestive tract or constipation problems severe enough to require surgery. Another problem Dr. Weirich sees is that of dogs who drink from toilet bowls. If the bowl is in the process of being cleaned, the considerable lye in the toilet-bowl cleaner can cause severe damage. Pesticides and insecticides can be fatal to pets, so beware.

Keeping The Life Of The Party Alive

What do you do when the party's over and an intoxicated guest who shouldn't drive insists that he will? Since the odds of becoming involved in an automobile accident are increased 7 times if your guest has had even a few drinks, the last thing you should do is let him or her drive. And according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), the old remedy of pumping your guest full of coffee "will only make him a wide-awake drunk." The best way of handling the situation, says the NHTSA, is to have someone drive the guest home or talk him into staying over. Calling a cab and offering to pay the fare is another good solution — few people will turn down a free ride. If all else fails, risk losing a friend and take away his car keys — it's a lot better than risking his life. Some NHTSA tips for helping guests avoid having one too many:

- Have jiggers at the bar so guests can measure their drinks.
- Serve party snacks that slow down the rate at which the body absorbs alcohol. Foods with protein, such as cheese, eggs and meats, are especially good.
- Don't rush to refill your guest's glass the second it's empty — people often accept another drink only to avoid being rude.
- If you're serving an alcoholic punch, mix it with a tea or fruit juice base; carbonated mixers cause the body to absorb alcohol faster.

Quick Takes

There's nothing like a doctor to help a patient feel better — even if it's just the sound of the doctor's voice. Patients at a Calif. hospital who listened to the taped voice of a comforting doctor the night before an operation required less medication and recovered more quickly.... These days the head of the house might be the only person in it. The Census Bureau says the number of persons living alone in the U.S. more than doubled from 1960-1976; currently 1/5 of all households in the country consist of one person.... More and more young women are deciding that a law degree is a girl's best friend. Female enrollment in the 164 American Bar Assoc.-approved law schools increased more than 1000% from 1966-76. One of every 4 law students is now a woman.... Follow the birds and head south is good advice for people planning to retire, according to a report by the U.S. Labor Dept. The report, which compares retirement budgets for couples in 40 metropolitan areas, shows that retirement is likely to cost less in the South. Baton Rouge, La., has the lowest budget of all 40 cities surveyed, followed by Atlanta, Dallas and Austin. Aside from superexpensive Honolulu and Anchorage, the highest budgets are reported in the Northeastern cities.... Cities may not be as hazardous to one's mental health as many believe. A Columbia Univ. prof. of psychiatry reports that rates of emotional disturbance among Manhattanites were lower than those reported for residents of small towns and rural areas.... Despite well-publicized efforts to get women out of the house, ⅓ of American teenagers still believe that a woman's place is in the home. In addition, 1/5 of the 17-year-olds surveyed by the Education Commission of the States think women should be allowed to work only under certain conditions.

Here, indeed, is an exciting array of America's favorite recording stars from every field of music—classical, rock, jazz, country, popular, folk—music to satisfy your every mood. There are 318 selections to choose from in this booklet, and you may have any 11—at once—on this introductory offer!

To join the Club simply mail the application, together with your check or money order for $1.86 as payment (that's $1.00 for your first 11 records or tapes, plus 86¢ for shipping and handling).

How the Club operates: every four weeks (13 times a year) you'll receive the Club's music magazine, which describes the Selection of the Month for each musical interest...plus hundreds of alternates from every field of music. In addition, up to six times a year you may receive offers of Special Selections, usually at a discount off regular Club prices.

If you wish to receive the Selection of the Month or the Special Selection, you need do nothing—it will be shipped automatically. If you prefer an alternate selection, or none at all, simply fill in the response card always provided and mail it by the date specified.

You will always have at least 10 days in which to make your decision. If you ever receive any Selection without having had at least 10 days to decide, you may return it at our expense, for full credit.

Your own charge account will be opened...the records and tapes you order will be mailed and billed at regular Club prices, which currently are $6.98 or $7.98—plus shipping and handling. (Multiple unit sets and Double Selections may be somewhat higher.)

Dept. of Economic Development to attack urban problems

Carter aides study new cabinet-level post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressed to develop a comprehensive strategy for dealing with urban ills, President Carter's advisers are considering the possibility of creating a new Cabinet-level Department of Economic Development.

Administration sources said consideration of a new department is included in a reorganization study of federal programs that are aimed at promoting local economic development.

That study now is being speeded up as part of an overall White House push to quickly devise an extensive urban strategy.

Although there was no indication Carter directly ordered that consideration be given to creating a new Cabinet department, it was learned he has been informed about the study's proposal.

According to several sources, the new Cabinet department could assume a variety of economic development tasks that currently are spread among existing agencies, such as the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Commerce, Agriculture and Labor departments.

The major economic development tasks currently are carried out in the Commerce Department, under its Economic Development Administration, and at the Agriculture Department, which operates a rural development program.

The latest department to be created was the Department of Energy, which took form only this year. During his campaign for president, Carter had also mentioned the possibility of forming a Cabinet education department. That idea is now under study.

The White House effort to develop a broad urban policy was given high priority following recent complaints to Carter by members of the Congressional Black Caucus and by spokesmen for the urban poor. The push to develop a White House urban program is being directed by Stuart Eizenstat, the President's assistant for domestic affairs and policy.

Two bodyguards also killed in ambush

President of Basque province slain

GUERNICA, Spain (AP) — The Basque president of Vizcaya province was shot to death Saturday in an ambush outside his jai lai court. His two police bodyguards were also killed and a driver was seriously wounded in the submachinegun attack.

Police sources said the killings were apparently the work of the Basque separatist organization ETA, which seeks independence for the Basque provinces of northern Spain. Guernica is a symbolic center of Basque nationalism.

Augusto Unceta Barrenechea, 53, president of the Vizcaya provincial government, was shot in the face and chest as he stepped from his car for his regular jai lai workout, police said. His guards were fatally shot while still in the car.

Police said the wounded guards tried to turn their car in the direction of the attack, but crashed into a car full of teenage girls, none of whom were injured.

Police sealed off the town and launched an intensive search for the killers.

The attack was the worst since rightist gunmen killed eight leftists in Madrid last January. It came as Suarez and his government prepared to grant amnesty to Spain's remaining political prisoners and negotiated to return to the Basques the autonomy they lost at the end of the Spanish civil war in 1939.

Police noted that ETA had announced only 24 hours earlier that amnesty was not enough and that it was fighting for independence to establish a Marxist state in the Basque region.

Carter signs after considering veto

New law may cut benefits for 16,000 vets

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter signed legislation Saturday that could result in a loss of veteran benefit elibility for some of the 16,000 persons whose military discharges were upgraded under an administration program.

A White House spokesman said Carter seriously considered vetoing the bill but decided, on balance, that the legislation will help veterans.

The White House announced Carter's signing of the measure, but the President was at Camp David in Maryland's Catoctin mountains for a three-day weekend with wife Rosalynn and daughter Amy.

There had been speculation during the day that the President would veto the measure, which had been sent to him on Sept. 23. It would have been the first veto of his administration.

"It was a close call," said presidential assistant Stuart Eizenstat.

The measure does not change the honorable discharges granted under Carter's program that was aimed at upgrading discharges of some Vietnam-era veterans. About 16,000 veterans who originally left the service witn less-than-honorable papers took advantage of Carter's program.

The bill requires a case-by-case reevalution of the eligibility of those veterans for Veterans Administration benefits.

Veterans whose discharges were upgraded under Carter's program had automatically been eligible for VA benefits.

Carter said in a statement that the requirement for the reevaluation was one of the provisions that troubled him and "which I will attempt to alleviate by submitting legislation next year."

The White House said less than 100 of the 16,000 veterans who received the upgraded discharges have sought and received VA benefits.

Admits ruining masterpieces

Art vandal, 40, 'must destroy'

HAMBURG, West Germany (AP) — A 40-year-old widower, who told investigators, "I must destroy what other men cherish," has confessed to vandalizing nearly a dozen art treasures in West German galleries, police said Saturday.

Hans-Joachim Bohlmann, described by police as emotionally disturbed, was arrested Friday night at his apartment in Hamburg, where the first attacks took place seven months ago.

The arrest came eight hours after acid was sprayed on four paintings, two of them by the Dutch master Rembrandt, in a gallery in Kassel, 150 miles south of Hamburg.

Police said Bohlmann, who is unemployed, suffered from "pent-up aggression" which was relieved by destroying art treasures.

After the Kassel attack, visitors to the gallery in the Wilhelmshoehe Palace told police they had seen a suspicious man near the paintings just before the damage was discovered.

According to authorities, Kassel police screened hotel records and found that Bohlmann had booked a room for a week but checked out prematurely soon after the attack.

The description of Bohlmann given by hotel employes matched that provided by the gallery visitors.

Crowd of 2,000 attacks Nazis

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Eight uniformed Nazis dodged eggs, tomatoes, sticks and fists Saturday as an angry crowd of 2,000 disrupted an attempted white-power demonstration, police said.

"We're Americans. We should be allowed to speak," cried one member of the National Socialist White Workers party at the ill-fated demonstration.

"Down with scum! We don't want scum in the valley!" was the shouted reply from the crowd.

Police Sgt. Thomas Seck said there were 17 arrests in the brief melee in St. James Park. One policeman was slightly injured by a flying object and one of those arrested was taken to a local hospital with minor injuries.

Several hundred people had crammed city council chambers Friday, when the council voted 5-2 to reverse its decision to revoke the Nazi's permit and granted them permission to hold the rally.

Mayor Janet Gray Hayes, who switched her stand on the controversy, said in a joint statement with Councilman Jim Self the city was legally bound to grant the permit.

"We do not condone the Nazi party. They are a despicable and pitiful group which represents the worst example of hatred the world has ever seen," the statement said.

"There are many people who are outraged that we are changing our votes, but I have to do what's right," Hayes said.

The council also granted the Equal Rights Committee the right to hold a rally in the same downtown park. The group had vowed to hold a counter-demonstration to any Nazi demonstration.

OFFICER JUDY HAINES — 'FREEZE'

Foil jewelry store holdup

2 ladies go into action, jail 4 male suspects

By CONRAD CASLER
PB Staff Writer

Two women — -one using guile and the other big bore diplomacy — - helped break up a Glendora jewelry store robbery Saturday landing four young valley men in jail.

Arrest of the quartet may have solved another jewelry store hiest an hour earlier in Claremont, police said.

The bizarre case began at 1 p.m. when two young men sauntered into Mayfair Jewelers at Baseline Road and Grand Avenue in Glendora and looked at jewelry displays. They then walked out and met two other men outside, police said.

Clerk Mary Dzierwa became suspicious and called police. While she was on the phone, three of the young men walked back in brandishing pistols.

"Your watch is ready, sir," Mrs. Dzierwa told the police officer to whom she was talking.

"Are you being robbed?" he asked at his end of the phone line.

"Yes," she answered sweetly and hung up.

Officer Judy Haines, a Glendora patrolwoman for 16 months, was just getting into her car a mile from the robbery scene when she heard the robbery broadcast on her police radio.

She raced to the small shopping center just in time to see police Agent John Maycock chasing one suspect into an alley nearby. Officer Haines stopped her car and ran to Maycock's aid as the suspect tossed a gun into a trash can, then dashed through a restaurant rear door out the front door with both officers in pursuit.

Chaffey student, 17, shot at football game

A 17-year-old Chaffey High School student was shot in an altercation on the campus about 9:35 p.m. Friday evening as the football game at the school stadium was ending.

Bruce Lewman was reported in fair and stable condition at Ontario Community Hospital Saturday night after receiving a blast from a .410 shotgun with a sawed off barrel.

Police said that Lewman was shot following an altercation between a group of white and Latin youths in the north quad area of the campus near the swimming pool. Officers said that the severity of Lewman's wounds was reduced because he did not receive the full brunt of the blast directly, but at an angle when he was struck in the left shoulder and chest by the pellets shotgun.

Police said that the weapon believed used in the incident was found this morning under a bush in the 1300 block of North Euclid Avenue.

No arrests have been made, but police are continuing their investigation.

'It sounded like an earthquake'

Airplane flap slams Walnut home

One of three pieces of an aircraft landing flap which fell from a Houston to Los Angeles jetliner Saturday, slammed through a roof and window of a Walnut home.

Two other pieces of the flap wrenched from the Continental Airlines DC10, fell harmlessly in the 19800 block of Valley Boulevard and the 500 block of Camino de Teodoro.

Daniel Thomas of 19919 Camino de Rosa, a night accountant at a Los Angeles newspaper, said he was sleeping when the flap hit his roof, bounced onto a camper truck in the driveway, then richocheted through a picture window scattering glass and debris into the home.

"It sounded like an earthquake. It really shook the house," Thomas said. "My father-in-law from Holland was out in the front yard yelling in Dutch 'Airplane, Airplane.' I ran out and he was pointing up the hill and over the other way where the other two pieces fell, "Thomas said.

No one was injured in the 11 a.m. mishap which apparently occurred as the pilot lowered his flaps for the landing approach to LAX. Thomas said the piece of flap which hit his home weighed more than 200 pounds. "It took four sheriff's deputies to carry it off," he said.

The aircraft landed at LAX without incident.

Thomas said the flap hit directly on a roof beam when it struck his house. "Otherwise it would have come right through the roof and ceiling," he said.

Cause of the mishap was not immediately known but is under investigation.

Thomas said no one from the airline has contacted him. "I haven't heard from those turkeys yet," he said.

Police jail Chino man after valley shooting

West End heriff's deputies are today continuing their search for persons involved in a shooting Friday evening at at a Cucamonga shopping center.

Following an altercation between two men, Craig Stankiewicz and Ronald Livengood, and a group of Latins at the Sunrise Shopping Center, Base Line Road and Carnelian Avenue, Stankiewicz was shot with a large caliber handgun.

Deputies said that the altercation broke out in the shopping center's parking lot with heated words exchanged about 8:40 p.m. Members of the Latin group apparently pulled the gun from their car and shot Stankiewicz in the chest.

Livengood then proceeded to chase the group of Latins on foot for several blocks before deputies from the West End Sheriff's substation arrived.

Stankiewicz was treated at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland where he was reported in fair condition Saturday night.

Police seek two suspects

Ontario police are searching today for two male Latin adults believed to be involved with a burglary and attempted rape in the 200 block of East California Street Friday night.

Police said the burglary and attack took place about 9:45 p.m. Friday with two suspects, in their 20s, seen fleeing on a dark colored Japanese motorcycle.

Compton man, 22, booked

100 mph freeway chase ends in arrest

A 100-mile per hour freeway chase ended in the arrest of a Compton man late Friday night by Montclair police near the intersection of Rosewood Avenue and Orange Street in Ontario.

Montclair police said Leonard White, 22, was arrested after officers responded to a call of a break in at the apartment of Diane Marchinsky, 9414 Benson Ave., Montclair about 11 p.m. Friday.

When officers arrived at the scene, they were informed that White had broken into the apartment. When he failed to stop as he pulled away from the curb officers went into pursuit through Montclair and Ontario at speeds up to 70 miles per hour.

White's car entered the San Bernardino Freeway eastbound at Mountain Avenue with officers still in pursuit in a 100-mile per hour chase. He left the freeway at Fourth Street in Ontario and was then stopped by police.

The child was recovered in White's car by Montclair police.

3 burglars are sought

Montclair police are today searching for three burglars who stole an estimed $4,000 worth of household items from a Montclair apartment Friday night.

Police said the home of January Kirt, 10390 Amherst St. was burglarized about 11 p.m. Friday with numerous household items taken.

Police said they are looking for three black males approximately 5-feet, 9-inches in height and ranging in age from 19 to 21 who were seen fleeing the scene on foot.

Two women come to the rescue

Maycock nabbed his suspect when the man dashed headlong into a moving car in the shopping center and fell. "He was looking over his shoulder when he heard me click a round (of ammunition) into my shotgun and he didn't see the car," Maycock said.

Officer Haines a few steps behind Maycock was passing the front door of the jewelry shop when two other suspects burst out and almost ran into her.

"I was only three feet from them when they came out," she said. "I leveled my 9 mm (automatic pistol) and them and told them to get their hands on the wall.

"Yes, m'am," m'am, was all they said. Then my walkie talkie started broadcasting information about the robbery and that all four suspects were armed. 'Don't you move,' I told them,' Officer Haines said.

"Yes, m'am," they said again.

"It couldn't have been over a couple of minutes until other officers got there and we got them (the suspects) on the ground and handcuffed them," she said.

Meanwhile two other patrolmen nabbed the getaway car driver suspect as he attempted to flee the shopping center.

Miss Haines said she wasn't scared during the chase and capture. "That old adrenalin was really moving through my bloodstream," she said.

Glendora detectives said an hour before the Glendora robbery attempt, two robbers, either women or men dressed as women, robbed Foster Jewelry at 310 N. Yale Ave. in Claremont. That pair escaped with a large quantity of diamond jewelry and watches after threatening and shoving two young women clerks.

Glendora police said although the car used in the Glendora robbery was not the same as the one in Claremont, a jacket worn by one of the suspects was identical to one worn in the Claremont holdup. Investigation of that link is continuing.

Held on robbery bookings at Glendora jail are Earl Lee, 18, of Monrovia; Ozine Matthews, 21, of 1449 E. D St., Ontario, and two juveniles — -one on probation following a burglary conviction, police said.

The getaway car seized in Glendora was stolen earlier Saturday in Ontario, police said.

"This was the first time I've been involved in a 211 (robbery)," Officer Haines, all 118 pounds of her, said.

Deadly brotherhood born of prison life

By BILL GARDNER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bruno Chavez wasn't a kid anymore. At 29, he was slowing down, getting tired of the killings and the deadly brotherhood of the gang known as the Mexican Mafia. He decided to quietly drop out and go his own way.

It was a fatal mistake. His former comrades stabbed him 12 times.

That's the story as told by Edward Gonzales, a former Mexican Mafia member who has turned state's evidence.

Gonzales told a grand jury last spring that he was present when the Mexican Mafia voted to kill Chavez. Gonzales said Chavez was killed because he wanted to stop doing Mexican Mafia business and to "kick on back and just live his life."

Law enforcement experts on the Mexican Mafia tell the same story.

"There's no retirement from the Mexican Mafia," one said.

"It's a blood in, blood out organization," said another. "You've got to spill someone's blood to get in. They spill yours if you try to get out."

Active primarily in California, the Mexican Mafia has spilled a lot of blood in the state over the past 2½ years. A police intelligence officer who has kept score since January 1975 blames about 100 killings on the Mexican Mafia or its rival gang, the Nuestra Familia, including more than 40 such killings already this year.

Fresno alone has had 18 gang killings since last fall, and in Los Angeles, police have declared war on the Mexican Mafia following a recent spate of violence. But the murders stretch throughout the state and are often brutal. A few examples from this year:

'There's no retirement from the Mexican Mafia . . . You've got to spill someone's blood to get in . . . they spill yours if you try to get out'

—Pomona, Jan. 21: Carlos N. Rodriguez, .12-gauge shotgun fired point-blank at his face.

—San Jose, Feb. 8: Raul Mendoza, shot with .45-caliber pistol and dumped in culvert.

—Los Angeles, Feb. 15: George Felix, stabbed more than 30 times.

—Sacramento, Feb. 17: Ellen Delia, shot three times in the head.

—Monterey County, July 18: Gracie Maria Hernandez, stabbed numerous times, shot twice in the head, car set afire.

—Fresno, July 28: Frank Neri Vindiola, 36, shot three times in chest, once in head.

The Mexican Mafia — who are they and what do they want?

The gang was born in the state prison system in the late 1950s but in the past few years has set up business on the streets as inmates were turned loose. They went home to their neighborhoods, banged on the door of the local drug dealer and demanded a piece of the action.

If he was stubborn, they killed him. Unless the dealer had a small army of bodyguards, he didn't have much choice. "What's the guy going to do, call the cops and say his drug business is getting ripped off?" asked one investigator.

Most officials won't talk on the record about the Mexican Mafia, but they estimate there are several hundred members, about half in prison and half on the streets. Many persons contacted in connection with this story would talk only if their names were not used.

Many Californians have probably never heard the term Mexican Mafia and find it hard to believe such a group exists. Some might think it's a derogatory term used by police to refer to any criminal activity in Mexican-American areas. But the gang named

He gambles $100,000 that wealthy people like old trains

MONTE CARLO (AP) — An American businessman, gambling $100,000 that he can make nostalgia pay off, bought a pair of luxurious 1920s railway sleeping cars at auction here Saturday.

James Sherwood, the 44-year-old president of Sea Container, Inc., said he planned to use the two 16-bed sleeping cars to carry wealthy tourists from London through Paris to his company's luxury hotel in Venice, the Cipriane.

The auction was touted by its organizer, the British firm of Sotheby Parke Bernet, as a sale for society buffs ready to drop a little fortune to realize memories of days when plush railroad cars rumbled across Europe carrying the noble-born or the rich in bygone splendor.

But the auctioneers missed their mark.

Most of the bidders were businessmen interested less in high life than in turning a profit from the romantic nostalgia of trains like the Orient Express and the Fleche d'Or.

Sherwood, from Lexington, Ky., told reporters: "I don't know much about trains myself but I'm surrounded by people who do."

"Nostalgic train travel seems to have touched a nerve in people who are looking for a little adventure," he said.

A dining car also in the five-coach lot went for $58,000 to the Zurich-based Intraflug travel agency that operates an modern-day Orient Express between Zurich and Istanbul. Intraflug charges its passengers $950 a head.

The final two cars, another sleeper and an opulent lounge car with embossed velvet wingchairs and inlaid glass floral designs in its wood paneling, went to a nervous, thick-browed bidder who insisted on remaining anonymous.

He signed certified checks for the total price of $132,000 with a trembling hand in the name "Andre Paccard."

"It's personal, it's personal," he responded when asked what he planned to do with the cars.

Later, however, the man told a bystander the coaches would be used commercially. There was speculation he planned to turn them into a restaurant.

Sotheby Chairman Peter Wilson, who ran the auction, estimated the cars would cost about $425,000 apiece to build today. That is three times what they cost when the Compagnie Internationale des Wagon-Lits — the European equivalent of the American coachmaker Pullman — had them built in the 1920s.

Zamora's lawyer joining drive to curb violence on television

MIAMI (AP) — The lawyer who claimed his young client was driven to kill by "the bizarre and unusual murders" on television said Saturday that he was joining a national campaign against television violence.

"There are millions of people in this country who think that television is affecting their children," said Ellis Rubin. "I think the Ronny Zamora case will give this a direction."

Rubin defended Zamora, 15, on charges of first-degree murder in the shooting of his elderly next-door neighbor. The junior high school student faces a minimum of 25 years in jail. A jury found him guilty Thursday.

Rubin said he has been contacted by several organizations, including one from the Methodist Church and a group led by Nicholas Johnson, a former Federal Communications Commission member who is fighting TV violence.

"I think there is a great movement out there," Rubin said. "I'm going to devote as much to it as I can."

Rubin's announcement came during a press conference called by the boy's parents to ask for public support in appealing the case.

Four die as plane crashes into home

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — A twin-engine plane crashed into a home and burst into flames Saturday, killing a woman in the kitchen and three people aboard the aircraft, police said.

Six other occupants of the house escaped safely before the two-story building was destroyed by fire, said Fire Chief Otto Jensen.

The Piper Navajo, registered to Mark 50 Machinery, Inc. of Portland, Ore., took off from Pearson Airpark here about 8:30 a.m. and crashed minutes later, police said.

Authorities said they believed only three persons were aboard the plane.

Jensen said it appeared one of the plane's engines may have stalled. He said Federal Aviation Administration and National Transportation Safety Board officials were investigating the accident.

S.B. man is killed in shootout

WRIGHTWOOD (AP) — A San Bernardino man has been killed in a canyon shootout with San Bernardino County sheriff's officers, officers say.

John F. Schweikart Jr., 23, was pronounced dead on arrival at a Loma Linda hospital Friday night after being flown there by helicopter from Lone Pine Canyon where the fatal shootout occurred.

Deputy Sonja Barber said Schweikart had been arrested at a Wrightwood service station Friday after an employe reported that he resembled a robber who had held up the place several days earlier.

16 persons injured in railroad accident

SPENCER, N.C. (AP) — Sixteen passengers were injured Saturday when a Southern Railway train derailed in a switching yard, smashing into several freight cars sitting on an adjacent track.

Three persons were admitted to Rowan Memorial Hospital in nearby Salisbury. The rest were treated and released.

Southern Railway officials said 135 passengers were aboard the Southern Crescent, which was enroute from Washington, D.C., to Atlanta and New Orleans.

Four engines, two baggage cars and nine passenger cars including the diner and lounge car were derailed, a spokesman said. None overturned, but one of the freight cars was knocked on its side.

"It was rough for a few minutes. The car was on the ground and felt like it was going sideways," said conductor R.E. McCowan. "All the signals was clear, we don't know what happened."

A malfunction in a switch appeared to cause the 2:50 a.m. accident, said a railyard worker who asked his name not be used.

60 days to answer treaty suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has 60 days to tell a federal judge why he believes the House of Representatives should have no say in the ratification of the Panama Canal treaty.

Seven Democrats joined 44 Republican House members Monday in filing suit against Carter to force him to submit the pact to both houses of Congress.

Meanwhile, several members of Congress are lined up to testify today before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which is holding hearings on the treaty.

Opposition to the pact is considered stronger in the House than in the Senate, but House members will have no vote on the treaty unless the congressmen win their case in court. The House would, however, have to approve funds to carry out certain provisions ratified by the Senate.

Actually, there are two treaties, but they are considered indivisible. Under one the United States would turn over sovereignty of the Canal Zone to Panama by the year 2000. The other would always permit the United States to militarily ensure the neutrality of the canal.

In their suit, the House members told U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker that both houses of Congress must vote on the pact since it would dispose of U.S. property acquired under an act of Congress in 1903.

Barrington gave the President two months to respond.

Vacant castle is royal concern

IONE, Calif. (AP) — Up in the Sierra foothills sits a 120room castle with 20 fireplaces. Nobody knows what to do with it, and efforts by local townspeople to restore it have hit a dead end.

A few years ago a newspaper article excited some interest in the site, and a couple from Southern California wrote that they would like to be the castle's baron and baroness.

But nobody — the tiny city of Ione, the rural county of Amador 90 miles east of San Francisco or the State of California — has come up with an idea and any money to take care of the castle, built in the 1890s as a state reform school.

"We're at a dead end. It will just fall down eventually, go to pieces. It's all just leading to decay," says Audrey Miller, the mayor of Ione.

The castle's roof is falling in. Many of its windows are broken. Birds, owls, pigeons and even a fox, are the castle's residents.

Years ago the structure's furnishings were removed by the state and some of the material was used in restoration projects elsewhere.

Back in 1958 the state decided to quit using the old structure and knock it down, but local residents signed a petition and fought the move until the state abandoned the idea.

"It has really become something people expect to see there. It would be understandable if it fell down in the middle of the night," said C.A. Terhune, superintendent of the state-run Preston School of Industry which surrounds the castle.

"But to come in with bulldozers and drop it would cause some heavy concerns," said Terhune, who heads the Youth Authority facility for 400 offenders from 17 to 24.

People get excited about possible uses for the castle when they see it, Terhune says, but the cost of revamping the castle always acts as a "major stumbling block."

This stumbling block has finally become too much for Mrs. Miller. She says she will write the local merchants' association to recommend disbanding the campaign.

Smooth ride for bus plan

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's court-ordered school desegregation program is well into its second year, and the debate over the pupil busing issue has diminished from a shout to a whisper.

To the surprise of many, the Motor City ended a year of limited busing last January without a single major incident.

In the first days of the program, parents kept youngsters at home apparently out of fear, but the desegregation plan was launched without the kind of violence that marred similar programs in Boston and Louisville.

"This city met the challenge with peace and dignity," proclaims Detroit School Supt. Arthur Jefferson. "It set an example for the nation it can be proud of."

In a 124-page decree handed down in August 1975, U.S. District Court Judge Robert DeMascio rejected proposals for massive busing in Detroit and ordered adoption of a limited busing plan.

But a year later, the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the busing plan was inadequate, and DeMascio was ordered to expand the program to include some inner city black schools that had been left out. This could mean the busing of more blacks to some predominantly white schools.

There have been fewer and fewer of these at the beginning of each new school term, however.

themselves and they're very much in existence.

One Mexican-American intelligence officer who specializes on the organization said, "Some people in East Los Angeles think the use of the term is an insult to all Chicanos, but people there should be aware the Mexican Mafia does exist."

The Mexican Mafia is not a group with strong family ties and an "Honor Thy Father" tradition. They are simply a bunch of men who got together in prison and stayed together when they got out. Most are in their 20's or early 30's.

Although Mexican Mafia is their own term, they usually refer to themselves by the nickname "La Eme," for the Spanish letter "M." Many wear tattoos of "MM," "La Eme" or "EME." Police have a photo of one member with the words "Mexican Mafia" tattooed across his chest in big letters.

"Guys don't wear shirts much in prison and the tattoos serve a purpose," one officer said. "If you see one of those tattoos coming, you get out of the way. But on the outside it backfires on them by letting us know who they are."

For all the murders blamed on the Mexican Mafia during the past couple of years, the gang didn't really catch the public eye until the murder of Ellen Delia last February. Mrs. Delia was shot to death in Sacramento, hours before a meeting she had scheduled to tell state officials about fraud and corruption in East Los Angeles federally funded social projects.

The Sacramento County prosecutor, John O'Mara, told the grand jury that Mrs. Delia was killed because "she possessed too much knowledge" about the Mexican Mafia. Four men, including her estranged husband, Michael Delia, have been charged with her murder.

Delia ran the Get Going halfway house in East Los Angeles and Mrs. Delia worked there.

> 'Police Chief Ed Davis wants to put them out of business and that's exactly what we're going to do . . . I'm declaring war'
>
> —LAPD Cmdr. Ray Ruddell

"People can get upset about the Ellen Delia killing because she seemed to be a normal person," an organized crime official said.

Most of the other murders involved gang members killing members of other gangs or "disciplining" their own members. Many of the killings took place in prison.

"As long as the killings were inside the joint, nobody gave a damn," one official said.

Along with controlling drug traffic, a major goal of the Mexican Mafia, officials say, infiltration of the federally funded social projects, as in the Delia case. Many of these projects try to rehabilitate ex-convicts.

One officer described how the gang gets a foothold in the projects:

"The ex-convict comes into these programs as a client and, because of his expertise in the barrio, he later gets hired as a counselor. Eventually, he becomes management and has a say as to where the grant money goes. There is very little accountability in these programs. Money disappears and nobody knows where it went."

Officials say two East Los Angeles social projects, Community Concern and Delia's Get Going, were infiltrated by the Mexican Mafia. The City Council ordered Get Going shut down after Delia's arrest, and Councilman Arthur Snyder has waged a personal battle to halt funding of Community Concern.

Snyder persuaded the City Council to disqualify Community Concern for about $300,000 in federal funds. Shortly after that, Snyder said he received a death threat and was given armed bodyguards by police.

Snyder also enrolled himself and his wife, Michele, in a police firearms course. He now packs a gun and says crossing swords with the Mexican Mafia "makes it a great deal harder to sleep at night."

The councilman and his wife announced Aug. 10 that they had agreed to divorce because of political pressures and the strain of threats from the Mexican Mafia.

Rudolfo "Cheyenne" Cadena, an early leader of the Mexican Mafia, is credited for targeting social projects as a money source. "He was sort of a visionary," said one officer. "He had a lot more foresight than most of these guys."

In 1972, Cadena was stabbed 50 times and thrown off a tier in a prison battle with the rival gang, the Nuestra Familia. He has since become a legendary figure in the crime culture. There are songs and poems about him. Inspired Mexican Mafia members have been known to have their picture taken at his grave as soon as they get out of prison, authorities say.

Since Cadena's death, fighting between the two gangs has been deadly. The Mexican Mafia is primarily of urban Mexican-Americans, while Nuestra Familia members come from rural areas in the San Joaquin Valley.

"Just to belong to the Nuestra Familia is a capital crime as far as the Mexican Mafia is concerned," an official said.

State officials try to keep the two gangs apart by sending Mexican Mafia inmates to Folsom or San Quentin prisons and Nuestra Familia members to Soledad or Deuel Vocational Institute at Tracy.

"We go to great lengths to try to find out what gang a guy belongs to," said Phil Guthrie, spokesman for the Department of Corrections. "We have some obligation to keep the guy from getting killed. Half to two-thirds of the killings in prison are gang related and most of that is due to warfare between the Nuestra Familia and the Mexican Mafia."

How is California law enforcement dealing with the two gangs outside prison?

On the state level, Pat Casey, chief of the attorney general's organized crime unit, calls the Mexican Mafia "one of the bigger problems that California is experiencing right now."

A small state task force attempts to monitor gang activities, keeping local police agencies up to date on the latest intelligence. Officers from the task force also help local police fit particular murders into a possible pattern of gang killings.

"We are keeping in touch with local law enforcement officials regarding the Mexican Mafia and trying to provide assistance in the way of intelligence," said Casey.

When the task force was set up five years ago, even law enforcement officials hadn't heard of the Mexican Mafia. "People laughed at us for years," said one original member of the task force. "But what if law enforcement had not touched these people (the gangs) the last four or five years?"

Although the state offers intelligence assistance, it's the local agencies that must provide the muscle, and at least one department has decided to hit the Mexican Mafia full force.

On Sept. 6, Los Angeles police announced they were "declaring war" on the gang, following a sudden surge of local gang activity, including the threat to Councilman Snyder, a $39,000 bank robbery and increased narcotics traffic.

"When there's no activity, who the hell's going to declare war?" asked police Cmdr. Ray Ruddell. "Now that there's activity," he continued, "I'm declaring war, I'm telling you."

Ruddell told reporters that Police Chief Ed Davis wants to "put them out of business and that's exactly what we're going to do."

Ruddell said the depart-

Negotiates such things as who, when to kill

Garcia is Henry Kissinger of barrio street gangs

By BILL GARDNER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jose Garcia is the Henry Kissinger of the rough East Los Angeles barrio neighborhoods where some Mexican Mafia members learned their trade. He negotiates such things as when they can kill each other, how they can kill each other and who gets killed.

It's like the Hatfields and the McCoys in this Mexican-American ghetto. Nearly every neighborhood is at war with at least one other neighborhood. Many of these disputes go back years, and there are traditional rivalries.

Some people call it a juvenile gang problem, but it's bigger than that, Garcia says. Each neighborhood is a colony, and most of the warriors are juveniles but many are in their 20s or older. A few youths choose to be warriors for the neighorhood, but most don't, Garcia said.

The Mexican Mafia, on the other hand, is a gang. It's not tied to any particular neighborhood, and if a member of the neighborhood joins the Mexican Mafia, he is considered a traitor, Garcia said.

Garcia, in his early 40s, spoke admiringly of one neighborhood that managed to stay out of wars for eight years. That peace was shattered a year ago when a young child was killed by a rival neighborhood, and it's been steady war since.

Garcia, not his real name, is a local government official who grew up in this area and is paid to promote peace. Negotiation is his main job, Garcia said while giving a tour of the barrio.

"There's one guy I'm negotiating for," he said, pointing to a man working on his car. One group wanted to kill him, but Garcia was trying to talk them out of it.

"Sometimes a group will bring me a list of eight people they plan to kill, and I'll look it over and say this one guy just became a Christian or this guy's getting married and moving away. So maybe they'll say, 'Okay, you can have these two guys, but forget about the others, we're gonna get them.'"

Garcia also negotiates the times and style of battle. In one recent dispute, bullets were flying at all hours of the day. The neighborhoods refused to stop fighting, but Garcia got them to agree to a cease-fire from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

"Guys were working out there during the day on both sides and there were innocent children working with them," Garcia said.

In one case, Garcia said he talked opposing groups into firing their bullets up the street instead of across the street. That way, most bullets would harmlessly hit a freeway embankment instead of putting holes in people's houses.

Garcia said he told the groups, "Now you can shoot that way but try not to shoot this way."

Warriors from one neighborhood are not welcome in others, and Garcia told of talking one day to more than 100 school-age warriors who were not enrolled in school because their school was in another neighborhood. "They wouldn't go there, no matter what," he said.

These kids have nothing to do during the day, and that's the biggest reason for the violence, Garcia said. "Boredom, that's it. A few get government jobs, but it's 'Clean this, clean that.' Nothing meaningful."

ment is gathering intelligence on the Mexican Mafia through intensive undercover surveillance in an effort to run the gang out of the city.

"We will not tolerate $39,000 robberies," said Ruddell, growing intense almost to the point of anger during an interview. "We will not tolerate threats, we will not tolerate the disbursement of heroin, we will not tolerate their ripoff of the public."

Ruddell's apparent personal vengeance toward the gang and the emotional fervor with which he discusses the group can also be seen in other law enforcement officials in the state who are close to the problem.

One ranking law enforcement official has two pictures tacked to his wall. One is Farrah Fawcett-Majors. The other is Joe Morgan, generally regarded as the top man in the Mexican Mafia.

"I keep that picture there to remind me this guy is running around on the streets somewhere," the official says. "How would you like to meet him in a dark alley?"

Often called the "Godfather" because of his work to expand the gang, Morgan is one of its few Anglo members. But he grew up in a Mexican-American community.

Morgan, who has spent nearly 30 of his 47 years in prison, was recently arrested in the Los Angeles suburb of Lomita. He had spent more than a year on the run after skipping bail on a heroin charge but was

Mexican Mafia blamed

Delia's 'murder' shocks public, spotlights crime

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Perhaps more than any other incident, the discovery of Ellen Delia's body in a field near the Sacramento airport last winter has brought the Mexican Mafia to the attention of authorities and the public.

She had been shot to death in the back of the head before she could keep a meeting with state officials to talk about irregularities in East Los Angeles halfway houses for ex-convicts.

The highly publicized investigation of her death led to further revelations in Los Angeles about the doings of the Mexican Mafia and related slayings.

And the Sacramento murder trial stemming from her slaying, scheduled to unfold in the next two months, may focus more of a spotlight on the gang that was spawned in California prisons.

Sacramento County Deputy Dist. Atty. John O'Mara, according to a grand jury transcript, said, "The evidence will disclose that the motive, at least in part, for this particular killing was the feeling by members of the Mexican Mafia that the victim possessed too much knowledge about that group and might go to outside persons and reveal this knowledge."

Mrs. Delia, 35, was expert in obtaining federal and state funds for community projects. Her body was found early Feb. 18 alongside a rural road about eight miles from the airport where she had arrived from Los Angeles the night before.

Four men, including the woman's estranged husband, Michael Delia, 32, have pleaded innocent to murder charges. The trial is tentatively scheduled to begin Oct. 11.

Delia operated the Get-Going Project, a halfway house for ex-convicts in East Los Angeles. He signed a letter dated Dec. 28, 1976, to the state's top welfare official, Mario Obledo, complaining of a coalition squeezing his project out. The letter said there was documented proof of wrongdoing.

Mrs. Delia's murder touched off a state audit of Get-Going and two other halfway houses in the same area. Auditors found alleged conflict of interest and questionable expenses. Other information was not released and was turned over to the state attorney general.

Delia's co-defendants are Alfred R. Sosa, 34, of Los Angeles, and two Sacramento men, Abraham and Joe Hernandez, who are unrelated.

Edward C. Gonzales, an unindicted co-conspirator who may be granted immunity for his testimony, appeared before a grand jury April 13. His testimony was sealed.

However, Sacramento homicide detective Donald Steed II filed an affidavit with the court that included statements by Gonzales that Sosa was the "shooter" and he claimed that Sosa verified with Delia by telephone that Mrs. Delia "had to die" and that it was "strictly Mexican Mafia business."

A court order prevents attorneys on both sides from discussing the case. James dela Vergne, a lawyer appointed to help Delia with his defense, said, "My client's position is going to be he's not a member (of the Mexican Mafia), period."

Delia also awaits trial in Los Angeles on two counts of murder. He has pleaded innocent in that case also.

Another murder trial for Sosa is pending too in Fresno in the Feb. 1 shotgun slaying of a man who was to have appeared in Tulare County court the next day on a robbery charge. Sosa pleaded innocent.

Public Defender Kenneth Wells, arguing his unsuccessful motion to have pretrial hearings closed to the press and the public, said this past summer that presenting his material in open court would cause a sensation "up and down the state."

Another defense lawyer, Ernest Winters, said public knowledge of matters yet to be unveiled would be an "invasion of the privacies of people not represented here...these people could be in jeopardy themselves."

BINGO! Church of All Faiths draws crowds, official scrutiny

Progress Bulletin

Pomona, California ■ Sunday, October 9, 1977

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

If you drive north on Garey Avenue in Pomona most any night, you're likely to go past one of the brightest and busiest spots in the valley: The Church of All Faiths.

The large storefront window is undraped, and the light that spills onto the sidewalk paints a strange contrast to the after-hours darkness of the rest of the shopping center at Garey Avenue and Foothill Boulevard.

It is after 10 o'clock, and the sidewalk is rolled up except for the nightly church event which once more has brought together more than 300 participants, not only from the valley but also from as far as San Diego and Bakersfield.

The energy is high. The concentration is intense as the congregation and its guests, mostly middle aged, sit at tables that span the entire room and respond to the call of numbers in the back.

Six nights a week they come to the church for entertainment, for a social life and to pass the time. And in so doing, they make it possible to run one of the largest current bingo operations in Southern California, one that grosses between $80,000 and $100,000 a month.

The church and its affiliate, the Christian Fellowship Center, are operated as a corporation by the Rev. Bob Smith of Orange, as president; Jack Rosenberg of Ontario as treasurer; Sharon Bratlosky of Ontario as secretary, and the Rev. Michael V. (Vic) Barbish as associate pastor. He has the final say on policy matters.

That the operation is legal — under a state initiative passed by the voters in November, 1975, which gave cities the option to permit charitable organizations to play bingo for money — there is no doubt.

What some city officials question is whether the organization is a church that plays bingo or a bingo game that uses a church facade to circumvent the spirit of the law.

And while Barbish, the local guru of bingo who has been running games here and in San Berrardino for the past six years, admits that without the nightly bingo he couldn't run the church, he also points out that the church does a lot of evangelizing all over the Southland.

Moreover, Barbish contends, profits from bingo also help support the Pomona Valley Humane Society to which he is contributing $5,000 a month, and the Pomona Boys' Club which is supposed to get $24,000 over the next year, providing that the Pomona City Council doesn't curtail his operation.

An ordinance that would cut back Barbish's operation to one night a week is coming up for final approval by the council Monday night.

City Atty. Pat Sampson believes any nonprofit organization which holds bingo games six nights a week is "abusing the privilege of the license."

"I have no hangups about playing two, or even three nights a week," he declared. "But playing every night is like the tail wagging the dog."

As usual, Barbish will be on hand to fight the ordinance. If necessary, he will go to court.

Fighting city hall is nothing new to the 42-year-old former restauranteur, food market operator, shoe concessionaire, and investor, who began working at nine on his grandfather's dairy farm in Pennsylvania. Barbish, a product of a well-to-do family, has always been an individualist with strong beliefs.

It was those beliefs which locked him in a three-year fight with La Verne, when he tried to open a card room over his restaurant at 1520 White Avenue Ave. in the late 1960s, a fight which, he says, left him practically penniless.

It was his belief that there was nothing wrong with bingo that subsequently led himto run a game for the benefit of the handicapped in San Bernardino where he was raided and arrested five times within a six month period.

And he says it was his desire to help youths that prompted him to start a donation-type game on the Pomona Mall that lasted several years but proved not too profitable. Much of the proceeds went to legal costs in fighting gambling charges.

Further, Barbish insists, it is his determination to fight prejudice and to preach love of mankind regardless of race or religion that prompted him to join Smith and Rosenberg in establishing the "Church of All Faiths" two years ago.

"Don't get me wrong," he explains. "There is nothing wrong with making money. But in this case my need to preach is also satisfied."

Barbish says he spent nine months in St. Herman's Monastery in Illinois when he was a younger man.

In 1974, he obtained a clergyman's certificate from the Universal Life Church that allowed him to preach and to perform marriage ceremonies. But he says he was too embarrassed to use it.

"It was a mail order house," he contended. "You send in your money and you get a diploma. You didn't have to study. Anybody can get one."

So in 1975 he joined Smith's Christian Fellowship Ministry, and was ordained an associate pastor six months later. He says he is continuing his studies to become a fullfledged pastor.

Now, Barbish preaches along with Smith at tent services, revivals and before Bible study groups. He also preaches to his gambling audiences.

One of his favorite sermons is a denunciation of pornography and prostitution which, he contends are not only immoral but tends to cause decay in society.

Bingo, on the other hand, is immoral only when the game is corrupt. He sees bingo as a social game, primarily for people who want a few hours of diversion.

Barbish insists that he runs a total-

A DUALITY OF PURPOSE

Signs on the window of the Church of All Faiths — nightly bingo on the left and Bible lectures at right — testify to the dual purpose of the church's existence. The Pomona City Council is considering cutting the games to once a week so the "tail doesn't wag the dog."

Agoraphobia—morbid fear of many things

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

A young housewife was standing in the checkout line at the supermarket when she suddenly left her cart and fled out the door. The clerk stared after her, thinking she was just another impatient customer.

Another woman, in the midst of a cocktail party, grabbed her husband's arm and pleaded to leave immediately. Her hostess thought the woman had been offended by another guest.

The clerk and the hostess were wrong.

Agoraphobia is the morbid fear of many things, places or situations. As such, it is a condition where many things can produce a phobic reaction.

"One out of 100 people probably are victims of this rarely discussed condition, but they are hiding the fact," says Dr. Erwin Theobold, a psychologists who specializes in treating these victims.

"These people make excuses for not going out of the house, shopping, attending parties or driving, because they fear an attack."

It's an understandable reaction, says the psychologist. Neither the public nor the medical profession has much awareness of the condition although many other phobias are well identified.

"It's natural to be afraid of strange situations and everyone has some fear and anxiety, but when these fears become so severe that the person can no longer function, then treatment is needed."

The fear that overtakes an agoraphobic is a very real reaction. They may be afraid that they will faint. They break out in a cold sweat, fight for their breath and panic.

According to Dr. Theobold, the usual method of insight therapy has not proven very effective with phobias.

"But a new group therapy program first developed by Dr. A.B. Hardy in Menlo Park has proven highly successful," says the psychologist who now conducts therapy sessions in Southern California.

The new organization for treating agoraphobics is called Terrap, a contraction of the phrase Territorial Apprehensiveness. First organized for the specific purpose of making information available concerning the recognition, cause and treatment of the phobia, the group has developed effective procedures for diagnosing and treating agoraphobia.

"For some, the idea of leaving their home is appalling. We have to go into the home and urge them to just approach the front door at first.

"With constant encouragement and reassurance, we finally get them to leave the house, enter a car, and join us at a session.

"Almost every person approaches the first meeting with great anxiety. But then the person is delighted to learn that others share the same problem," continued Dr. Theobold.

The psychologist, who maintains a practice in Pasadena, became involved with agoraphobics through attempting to help a woman patient with severe phobias.

He contacted Dr. Hardy and others involved in the treatment of phobias and started researching the field.

"I now have about 20 patients who have severe phobias, but none as bad as that first woman," he adds.

He says phobic patients do get depressed, but this is not their major problem and it can be treated.

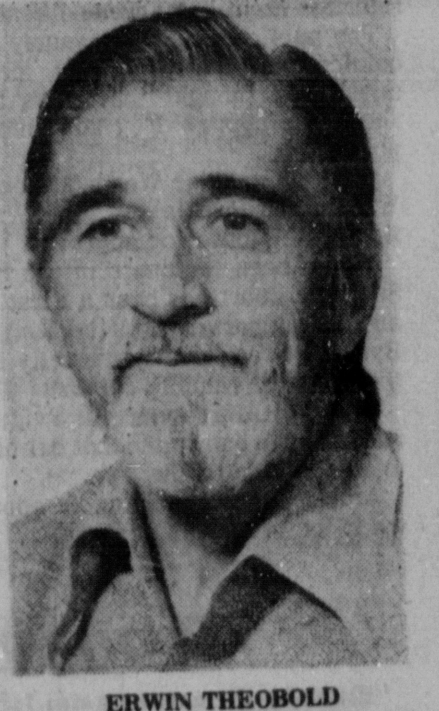
Most agoraphobics are women, usually young and middle or upper class, although men are among the more than 1½ million persons in the United States suffering from the phobia. The typical victim is a creative, dramatic, brighter-than-average person who has been inhibited by excessive criticism and has a desire to please.



ERWIN THEOBOLD

Dr. Theobold says he encourages spouses, a relative or an understanding friend to attend the Terrap sessions and share in the program.

"In fact, most of the victims need someone along to leave home and attend the meeting," adds the psychologist.

Interested persons are sent a questionnaire to complete before attending their first session. The fee includes lectures, self-help programs, literature and other educational services.

Valley residents interested in learning more about Terrap are invited to call the regional office in Garden Grove at (714) 636-1551, or Joyce Boyd, valley coordinator, in Claremont at 614-7423.

Bingo issue looms Monday

Many bingo enthusiasts are expected to crowd the Pomona City Council chamber Monday at 8 p.m. when the council holds the second reading of an ordinance restricting the playing of bingo to once a week.

Protestors of the ordinance which would go into effect in a month probably will be led by Victor Barbish of the Church of All Faiths, 3240 N. Garey Ave., Pomona, where bingo is played every night except Sunday.

Other organizations which sponsor bingo in the city are the Fraternal Order of Eagles, VFW Post 2018, St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Knight of Columbus Pomona Council 877, and Loyal Order of Moose 650.

Merchants at Garey Center, the location of the Church of All Faiths, have complained to the city about the parking problem.

Freedom is in our hands

You would become furious if a policeman put his hand over your mouth while you were trying to tell people what you thought about Jimmy Carter or Gerald Ford.

"Hey," you might say, "I've got a right to speak freely — the Constitution says so."

But would you stand up and protest when a public official gags a newspaper?

Probably not. Few Americans do. They don't realize that freedom of the press is every bit as important to them as their right to speak out.

When the press is gagged or otherwise restricted, there is little or no chance for people to learn what is happening in the world around them; no adequate way to let government know how citizens feel about important issues, and no hope that we can continue to live in the free society we enjoy today.

Free press. Free speech. Free society. They go together. You can't have one without the other.

Most Americans don't appreciate freedom of the press because they have never been without it. They really can't comprehend that most people in the world don't have a free press — and don't have any means of knowing the truth about what is happening in their own country or the world beyond.

In China, the editor of the People's Daily states flatly that his job is to print propaganda for the Communist Party.

In all of these countries, and many more, press has become a bulletin board for the government. The readers know only what their rulers want them to know — and have no chance to talk back.

Could it happen here?

It's entirely possible. Frequent efforts are made to restrain the press from reporting events of public interest, to prevent reporters from attending meetings of public officials who are conducting the public's business, to close records of interest to the public, to jail newsmen for failing to reveal sources of confidential information that has been printed in the public interest.

Most of the efforts to destroy the free press have been defeated by vigilant newspapers and newspaper organizations which have waged campaigns against restrictive legislation and gone to court to fight for their First Amendment rights.

The public remains strangely silent. One public opinion poll indicated that most of the people questioned thought that news about government should be approved by government before it was printed.

Can you imagine Woodward and Bernstein of the Washington Post taking their Watergate stories to the White House for approval?

We've been fortunate in the United States. The Supreme Court has been a First Amendment court and has supported press freedom in most instances. But courts can change, usually in the direction of the prevailing public opinion.

Strong citizen support for a vigorous, free press is necessary to guarantee that our nation will continue to be the land of the free.

Americans are holding freedom in their hands when they read the newspaper.

Thoughts

"Enter by the narrow gate; for the gate is wide and the way is easy, that leads to destruction, and those who enter by it are many. For the gate is narrow and the way is hard, that leads to life, and those who find it are few." — Matthew 7:13, 14.

"God asks now man whether he will accept life. That is not the choice. You must take it. The only choice is how." Henry Ward Beecher, American clergyman.

The Lord has sworn by the pride of Jacob: "Surely I will never forget any of their deeds." — Amos 8:7.

"We may elevate ourselves but we should never reach so high that we would ever forget those who helped us get there." — Will Rogers, American humorist.

But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control; against such there is no law. — Galatians 5:22, 23.

"Today we are afraid of simple words like goodness and mercy and kindness. We don't believe in the good old words because we don't believe in the good old values anymore. And that is why the world is so sick." — Lin Yutang, Chinese philosopher.

Draw near to God and he will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, you sinner, and purify your hearts, you men of double mind. — James 4:8.

"Better keep yourself clean and bright; you are the window through which you must see the world." — George Bernard Shaw, British playwright.

Alcohol fuel bill readied

WASHINGTON — In past columns, we have raised the possibility that alcohol fuels could make up much of the oil deficit and reduce our dangerous dependence upon overseas supplies.

The idea is now catching on in Congress, where Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and Rep. David Emery, R-Me., are preparing alcohol fuel legislation.

They may introduce a comprehensive bill, which would require the nation to use alcohol for 10 percent of its automotive fuels needs by 1985. A 10 percent blend of alcohol fuel with gasoline, experts tell us, would require no engine adjustments in most cars.

Only minor alterations would be necessary to convert engines to 100 percent alcohol fuel. Government experts contend alcohol engines would operate more efficiently and produce less pollution.

Alcohol fuels could also be produced in the United States, thus saving billions that we now pay to the oil potentates. The fuel could be distilled from coal, grain, wood and even garbage.

The proposed legislation would offer tax incentives to encourage the production of alcohol fuels. Dr. William Scheller, a University of Nebraska professor, has conducted a comprehensive study of the production problems. With a three-cent tax credit, he contends, "gasohol" could be produced and sold at a price competitive with unleaded gasoline in Nebraska. This would be gasoline with a 10 percent alcohol mix.

At least 20 senators, Democrats and Republicans alike, are ready to back the alcohol fuel legislation the moment it is introduced. Some want to bar the oil industry from participating in alcohol fuel production.

Senators from farm states are the strongest supporters. They see alcohol fuel as a way to utilize the growing stockpile of surplus grain. According to Dr. Scheller, two-thirds of the wheat that is processed into alcohol can be salvaged as protein mash. This can be used as cattle feed or a base for breakfast cereals.

Sens. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., and Robert Dole, R-Kas., co-sponsored an amendment to the farm bill, which will provide $60 million in federal loan subsidies to build four alcohol production plants.

The Agriculture Department has shown little interest, however, in the project. A spokesman told our reporter Hal Bernton that Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland would prefer to let the Energy Department build the plants. Their economists are skeptical of Dr. Scheller's studies.

Indeed, no one at the top level of the Carter administration is excited about alcohol fuels. Yet President Carter has called for a 10 percent reduction in foreign oil imports. He hopes to achieve this by conserving oil. But a major effort to produce enough alcohol fuel could help to reduce oil imports without requiring Americans to change their lifestyles.

At the middle levels, meanwhile, energy officials have been impressed with the results of their alcohol fuel studies. One of our recent columns on alcohol fuels also stimulated the Federal Energy Administration into commissioning a more comprehensive study.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: In violation of a Justice Department ruling, Thaddeus Garrett has continued to hold down two outside jobs while he serves on the Consumer Product Safety Commission. He is an associate pastor at a church in Akron and a member of Ohio's Board of Education. At the time of Garrett's appointment a year ago, the Justice Department ruled these jobs were "prohibited," adding: "We assume that he intends to resign from these outside activities." Garrett promised he would do so, but he never got around to it. He told us he sees no conflict because he doesn't draw a salary from either outside job. Now he has accepted the vice presidency of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

— A bizarre loophole in the Senate anti-bribe bill would allow corporations to refuse to let the Securities and Exchange Commission see corporate books on "national security" work. This would protect the military contractors from scrutiny, yet they have been among the biggest offenders in the SEC's bribe revelations. Declares an unpublished report by the Military Audit Project: "Political bribery, which is concealed from the stockholders, has . . . an effect upon a company's foreign corporations" which the stockholders have a right to know about.

— Gun enthusiasts are quietly pushing on Capitol Hill to take tax money away from wildlife refuges and authorize its use instead for target shooting ranges. For years, states have been free to spend certain tax revenues from firearms on preserving wildlife facilities. But a House proposal would force the states to earmark 50 percent of the tax money for the construction of shooting ranges. An alarmed Rep. Abner Mikva, D-Ill., will oppose the move.

— Space officials are preparing plans to apply the lessons learned in space to improve daily living on earth. Within the next decade, for example, people may use Dick Tracy wristwatches for communication. They could call for help, for example, without the need for a telephone. By bouncing radio signals off satellites, the wristwatch radios will make individuals capable of instantaneous communication. Scientists are also working on holographic lights — laser beams that can project eerie, three-dimensional images anywhere. Businessmen could have face-to-face conferences across the nation without leaving their offices.

Acupuncture—used and misused

Not all that we call progress is.

I am unconvinced that higher and faster and farther and bigger are necessarily better.

But in alleviating pain, in affording humans and animals additional, useful years with less physical discomfort — that is progress!

Among the prestigious dozen hospitals which have established special pain clinics is Presbyterian St. Luke's in Chicago.

In charge of this clinic is Dr. Max Sadove, a scientist determined that science must challenge itself.

Acupuncture, as anesthesia, had to prove itself to him personally in three of five surgical operations.

So what? We have anesthetics which ensure five-for-five.

Acupuncture, as an analgesic, had to prove itself — but how?

Results, alleviating pain with acupuncture, seemed impressive — but how could we know that the effect was not "hypnotic" or otherwise dependent upon the patient's psychological response?

After all, any surgeon recognizes that, for example, the discomfort from a nose job — where the objective is beauty — is much less than the discomfort from a similar degree of mutilating surgery.

So — back to the laboratory.

Then each was repeatedly tested with identical low-level electrical shocks.

The rats had not read the books. The rats did not know the purpose of the needles.

Suffering is a reaction. Some people suffer before the needle goes in. Pain is a definitive brain response unrelated to anxiety.

Purposely, I have been writing around some big words such as "endorphins" and "enkefalins" but the "beta endorphins" are what cause the analgesic effect and it is now established that acupuncture does increase the beta-endorphin level — thus minimizing pain.

Acupuncture has been evolving for 3,000 years. As with most sciences, recently that evolution has accelerated. More than 20 new acupuncture techniques have been developed in China in the past decade.

Essentially, the classic theory remains this: There are 12 channels in the human body (comparable to the primary circuitry in your television set). Any blockage of a channel (any short-circuit, so to speak) causes a flaw in the energy flow and must be corrected with properly placed needles. (As your TV repairman does with his soldering iron.)

Yet, while therapeutic acupuncture has demonstrated some effectiveness in the treatment of diabetes, hypertension, ulcers, epilepsy and assorted chronic pain — there are now semi-skilled or unskilled practitioners running in all directions with their exaggerated claims, peddling acupuncture treatments for obesity, for erasing wrinkles, for growing hair.

For the truth confirms that acupuncture has a place alongside dozens of drug combinations and biofeedback and hypnosis and "blocks" in the alleviation of pain.

As with electricity — and this science may involve that — we are required to believe more than we can see if we are to benefit from it.

Just in jest

Bureaucracy in action is a wonderful thing to behold provided one has the stomach to behold it. So when I read that a special panel had been set up to devise ways and means for reducing government paper work, I wasn't quite sure I was constitutionally up to witnessing the results of that study. And I must admit my fears were certainly justified. After all, wouldn't it make you feel a bit nauseated to learn that a panel to reduce government paper work turned out 36 separate reports and 770 recommendations before coming to the conclusion that poorly written legislation is to blame for government red tape?

* * *

I note that recreation departments in some cities throughout the valley are now offering classes in belly dancing. A woeful misuse of the taxpayers' dollars, I say. Wouldn't it be far more practical to use that money to teach the fine art of using an abacus to all the new leisure folks who are blessed with having the time to devote to such exotic oriental activities?

Rabbit's night vision is poor

DEAR DR. MILLER: How come Lillian Leper, my rabbit, has such poor night vision? I thought carrots were supposed to fix a problem like that. So much for that theory. Lillian loves carrots and eats them by the bushel. — S.E.

DEAR S.E.: Lillian Leper's lack of night vision doesn't ruin the theory, it just indicates that her poor vision is not related to a carotine or vitamin A deficiency. What's causing it? Well, only her doctor knows for sure (or could, if he had the chance to look . . .)

DEAR DR. MILLER: Homer, my pigeon, never made it home from his first test flight. I found out too late it was because of a cloudy day and that he needed the sun to find his way home.

How do birds who migrate for long distances ever find their way if the weather is cloudy? — K.G.

DEAR K.G.: Birds from cuckoos to starlings migrate using polarized light so they can navigate using the sun or even a small patch of blue sky. Conversely, many birds could not care less about the sun during migration. These night flyers, from sea birds to warblers, use the stars for navigation. Others, including robins, can utilize the earth's magnetic field as a directional guide. Some birds may use a combination of some of the above along with other navigational aids. (Pigeons, nearing home, use familiar terrain.)

DEAR DR. MILLER: How come a nine-week-old puppy — Bumper is a schnauser — has such sharp teeth? My hands are not puncture-proof I'm finding out, and he doesn't know his own strength yet so he bites too hard.

How long will I have to wait before he knows enough to be gentle? — N.B.

DEAR N.B.: It could be a long, long wait. Those needle-sharp puppy teeth will be replaced with duller but stronger adult teeth in about four months (should you last so long). You won't, probably, unless you teach Bumper that his hand biting is unacceptable. It is. You can't expect him to stop on his own, however, since gnawing is pleasurable to puppies and if he is allowed to gnaw on human flesh without restriction, there is no reason, from his standpoint, not to. The young puppy who learns that chewing on humans is permissible will tend to do so as an adult with even graver consequences. Even puppies weeks younger than Bumper should be dissuaded from this practice by substituting some other acceptable gnawing substance or, preferably, by never letting them start.

What people say

"If I had one wish for my children, it would be that each of you would dare to do the things and reach for goals . . . doing as much as you can for everybody, but not worrying if you don't please everyone."

Ann Landers

Time to end 'klutz number'

Dear Ann Landers: I was very much interested in the letter signed "Carol The Klutz." I know the feeling well — and I'm a guy.

When I was in the seventh grade the class voted me "The Klutz of the Year."

All my life people have been telling me "Slow Down," "Don't Hurry," "Watch out, there's a plant there," "Look up, you're going to walk into the fire hydrant."

I have accidentally tripped waitresses, run into the bishop of our church with my bike, spilled soup on my rich aunt, torn the sleeve out of the neighbor lady's dress by just pulling a loose thread. (How did I know it was something she crocheted herself?) I once dropped the whole Thanksgiving turkey trying to help my grandmother. That same night I stumbled and fell — face first into the pumpkin pie.

I am what you called "star-crossed" and nothing can be done about it. Now that I have accepted my fate I am a lot happier, but I still do some awfully klutzy things.

If you take a good look at this letter you'll see I started, "Dear Abby," and crossed out her name and wrote yours.

I know you can't help me, but you can at least wish me luck. — King Of The Klutzes

Dear King: I do wish you luck, but I still say as long as you resign yourself to being klutzy you'll be one. The day you announce, "I've done the klutz number long enough — from now on I shape up" — you'll see a big improvement.

Dear Ann: Regarding your answer to Jerry in Yonkers who doesn't need to work to be happy and whose statement "work — which I hate" you found so "revealing:"

It's too bad YOU didn't get YOUR problem resolved earlier. Anyone who finds leisure "hell" exhibits a terrible emptiness. For one whose work is supposed to give her such joy, your lack of perception is astonishing.

Hooray for Jerry who hates work and will settle for a can of beer and a story by Faulkner. Down with Philistines like you! — Rebecca In Pittsburgh

Dear Pitts: Go back and read that column again, please. I did not say "leisure is hell." I said, "My idea of hell would be a life of leisure." And that's exactly what I meant.

If a person who enjoys work is a Philistine, then I plead guilty as charged — and I make no apologies.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 26 years old, wear a size five dress and have a baby face. To look at me you'd think I was 16, even though I have two sons. One is seven, the other is six.

The problem is that whenever my husband and I go out I am taken for his daughter. When the kids are with us people think they are my little brothers. Clyde is only 37 years of age, but he is bald on top and his love of beer shows. He has a pot-belly that hangs over his belt.

Don't suggest that I wear more sophisticated clothes. I hate high heels and frilly lady outfits. I feel as if I am "playing house." Clyde never says anything, but I know it must have hurt him when the waiter asked last night, "And what would your daughter like?"

Any suggestions? — Idaho Falls

Dear Ida: My suggestions are for Clyde. He's the one with the problem. He should lose weight and keep his hat on whenever possible.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Erma Bombeck

Household junk or mementos?

I was going to clean the house a few years back, but I thought, "What the heck. Might as well wait until the children are grown."

The other day my husband said to me, "When are you going to get rid of the potty seat with the ducks on it in the hall bathroom?"

"When the baby no longer needs it."

"The 'baby' is a sophomore at USC."

"He comes home on holidays, doesn't he?"

"Look," he said, "you're being unrealistic to hang onto all this junk. When I get home tonight, I want to see how strong you really are. Just close your eyes and start tossing."

I wanted to throw away my report cards from the first eight grades — I really did — but I rationalized if they ever fell into the wrong hands, I'd be ruined.

I toyed with the idea of discarding three maternity skirts with the cut-out fronts and the drawstrings, but the way my body was going, I figured it was only a matter of months before I could turn them around and wear them backwards.

I wavered over whether or not to toss out a signature of Imogene Coca on a cocktail napkin, a kitchen linen calendar from 1969, and a French fry basket that needed a handle.

On some things, there was no decision to be made . . . the melted candles, the rain-soaked Halloween masks, a single boot, and 35 used adhesive bows from Christmas packages . . . all would be saved.

Other things I wasn't so decisive about . . . the pre-hips bikini suit that would make wonderful coasters. The 15 navel bands (still in pre-soak) that would come in handy if one of the kids suffered from an umbilical hernia.

But I was ruthless. At the end of the day I was proud as I stood beside four neatly stacked boxes of junk!

My husband's eyes glistened when he saw it. "I told you you could do it," he said. "It's just a matter of being realistic and saying, 'I'm never going to use this again.' Wait a minute! Are those my golf scorecards from pre-Pearl Harbor? And the composition books from the first class I ever taught? Good Lord, woman, what are you doing with my loafers with the pennies in them? And my porkpie hat? And the picture of Gale Storm that came with my billfold and . . . "

Dr. Lamb

Prostate cancer warning

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am writing this on the most depressing day of my life. This is the first day of an extended sick leave leading to disability retirement. I am a 60-year-old male. A year ago a bone scan showed my prostate cancer in several bones. My urologist started me on female hormone when he felt the enlarged prostate. A prostate operation and castration followed. Three months ago I started having nighttime pain in my bones and joints from my hips down. The urologist has limited my hormones because of possible side effects such as blood clots.

Would aspirin act as a blood thinner and help prevent the complications of female hormones in forming blood clots? Would it be a good choice for my aches and pains in view of this?

My castration and retirement have made it difficult to maintain even the slightest semblance of weight control. What kind of exercise would you suggest?

I'd like also to give some advice to men over 40. Don't depend upon symptoms you have heard about or your doctor to tell you when you should get your prostate gland checked. The classic symptoms may never occur or come on so gradually that they are not recognized.

Men over 40 should use age alone as a guide as to how often the prostate should be examined. Perhaps an annual check is adequate for men in their early 40s. By 45 or 50 a semi-annual check or every three months would be a good thing. At the rate my urologist charges for office calls the weekly cost for a checkup every three months would be only $1.25. To learn you have prostate cancer after it is too late for surgery to cure it is a much higher price.

DEAR READER — Yours is an all too familiar story. I agree that every man over 40 should have an annual examination of his prostate gland and think it would be wise to have such an examination at least twice a year after age 50.

You are absolutely right it is important to find the cancer while it can still be completely cured. Prostate cancer is the third most common cause of cancer deaths in American men largely because this simple examination is not done. It is just as important to find a lump in a man's prostate as it is to find a lump in a woman's breast.

Unfortunately the public has not been made aware of the importance of early detection of prostate cancer. Some cancer literature even suggests that symptoms of prostatic obstruction or bone pain should be cause to seek professional help. How shocking! The public needs to be told the time to find and cure prostate cancer is before there are any symptoms. I am sending you the Health Letter number 1-6, Prostate Gland, which will tell you more about the gland and its common disorders. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019.

You might be able to get some benefit from aspirin but talk to your doctor about it. You don't want to start bleeding from an area where the tissue is eroded.

For exercise I would suggest walking as long as that is feasible. If you like swimming that would be good exercise too.

Look into the possibilities of chemotherapy with a cancer specialty unit. Some modern chemotherapy can make life a lot more comfortable.

Opening lead — 5♥

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

South was most unhappy. He had been doing very well until this hand came along and felt that his failure to make more than three notrump would be a very bad score.

Actually, it turned out to be a good one. He won the opening lead with the king of hearts over East's jack, entered dummy with a club, led the jack of spades, ducked after East played low and let West take his queen.

West led a second heart. South played low and East scored his queen. South was held to nine tricks, since he still had to lose a spade and a diamond. Left to himself, he might have dropped the queen of hearts and made an overtrick.

Why did South turn out to have a good score? Other South declarers played the same way with the same result. When North became declarer at three notrump the queen of diamonds was led. He would win in either hand, make the same spade play, watch West lead a second diamond and wind up losing two diamonds and two spades.

Then a couple of declarers got to six clubs and went down two tricks for the really bad North-South scores.

Forget about an elephant

Please do not think of an elephant as you read the rest of this column. Do not let the word elephant occur to you. Do not picture an elephant in your mind. You can prove your mental strength by following these instructions exactly. Others may weaken, and think elephant, elephant, elephant. But not you. Resist.

Out of the American College of Allergists once came the report that seven out of every 10 asthmatic children stop wheezing within one week after they've been moved away from their parents into new surroundings.

You've read that the word "lord" comes from the Anglo-Saxon for "loaf keeper," but were you aware that the word "lady" out of the same language once meant "dough kneader?"

MAN'S WEIGHT

Statisticians for years have reported that the weight of the average man is in the neighborhood of 165 pounds. Some airlines simply accepted that, and lost money. For instance, Condor Airlines, a subsidiary of Lufthansa. Its managers just couldn't figure out why their planes were making so many unscheduled fuel stops, so shy they were falling short of their projected profits every year by about $2 million. When they found that the average weight of the man who flies is closer to 185 pounds, more like Dumbo, they fixed the thing.

EINSTEIN

Another little known fact about the theory genius Albert Einstein is that he was an unsuccessful inventor. In Berlin during the 1920s, he patented a quiet refrigerator with no moving parts. Better refrigeration techniques sank that one. Years later at Princeton, he devised an electric eye to control a camera lens opening. But the camera makers ignored it, then.

Counseling Corner

No short cut to divorce survival

By CLIFF WATERS
Marriage and Family Counselor

It takes five years to survive a divorce. There are no short cuts.

To achieve a successful marital partnership is probably the most difficult of life's social requirements. Roughly half those who marry this year will divorce.

Divorce isn't so much an event as it is a process. It begins at the point of contemplating divorce, goes on through the litigation, through feeling uncomfortable about being divorced, and getting accustomed to being single. This transition from being married to being single requires redirection of a person's life.

When a person is thinking about getting a divorce, there is often a long period of basic ambivalence. This strings out the misery.

The person who has made the decision to get divorced isn't ready to pay the cost of getting out. So, he plays it safe. He keeps hanging in and hanging in. Nobody wants to say simply, "I want to get out of the marriage."

The litigation part begins when the person picks up the telephone to call the lawyer. Many people make the first call to the lawyer with the fantasy that they won't end the marriage, they'll improve it. They look at the telephone call as a demonstration of how serious they are about their demands.

They say, "That will fix my husband; now he'll know I mean it."

The legal proceedings can drag on and be the roughest part of all. People who have lived through it call it "the crazies" because people going through it do nutty, unpredictable things.

After divorce, a person is uncomfortable being alone. They fight being single. This period usually lasts about eighteen months. This is a very stress-filled period.

If the wife has the children, there is not enough money or time.

Men engage in empty, meaningless activities. But it's better than going home to an empty apartment, I'm told. Men describe feelings of rootlessness and emptiness. They drink, get involved in work and date a whole lot for a swinger's image. For the most part, it is just to kill time.

Redirection comes about when they stop fighting being single. They start doing things for themselves that they wouldn't have done when married. When they do these things, they feel good about it.

People also meet themselves again and they are delighted. They get back to the person they were before they got married, and it's kind of nice.

Time is a friend. The bitterness, the pain, and the yearning for the ex-spouse passes. It will be a bad time, but time is an ally.

A community self-help project

Greenhouse is designed to 'yield' energy

By JOE WHEELAN
Associated Press Writer

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — If you ask Gary Garber what the sun, coal, wood, cow manure and water in 55-gallon drums have in common, he'll tell you: They will help heat the nation's first community greenhouse, where vegetables will be raised for the poor and elderly.

Garber, 29, is the boss of a unique project whose goal is twofold. He aims to show people they can draw upon cheap and renewable resources to heat their homes, and he hopes to feed scores of Cheyenne's elderly and poor with home-grown vegetables.

"We're trying to bring technology down to earth," Garber says. "Big no longer is good."

Garber works for Community Action of Laramie County, a service organization whose purpose is to assist low-income families. The greenhouse complex is the most ambitious undertaking tackled so far by Community Action, which is regarded as one of the most innovative organizations in the nation.

When completed later this year, the three units forming the solar greenhouse will be a showcase of inexpensive, alternative energy sources and an important food source for low-income persons. A federal stipend of $15,000 has defrayed some of the $35,000 cost of building the complex, Garber said.

Seventy of Cheyenne's elderly will be bused to the greenhouse daily to tend the vegetables grown there. They will take much of what they grow home with them. What's left will either wind up on the tables of some of the city's poor, or be sold to the public.

And the grassroots-level technology employed to heat the greenhouse is so elementary that it could easily be put to work heating homes, Garber says.

Flanked by two smaller greenhouses, the principal greenhouse unit will stay warm because of hinged fiberglass panels fitted into the south roof that open to let sunshine in and close to keep out the cold at night.

During the day, the sun's heat is trapped in a row of black, 55-gallon drums filled with water. When the panels are lowered back into place at night, the drums exude the heat they have absorbed during the day, sustaining the warm, moist conditions needed to grow tomatoes, lettuce, green chili and carrots.

Garber says a series of cloudy days presents no problems, because the greenhouse has a backup heating source — methane gas from cow manure.

If the greenhouse is the heart of the project, the methane digestor is its stomach. It works like one.

The other two greenhouse units will rely on coal and wood stoves for heat on cloudy days, and they, too, will depend on removable fiber glass panels and steel drums for their primary source of heat.

released again on bail two days later.

"We have no assurances whatever that he'll show up for trial (Oct. 11)," said Robert Schirn, head of the Los Angeles County district attorney's narcotics section, who is personally handling the Morgan case. "He's got no reason to stick around, except for the fact that he might feel that he can beat the case."

Why then did the courts let him out a second time after he skipped bail once before? Schirn said that bail cannot be denied except in a capital case If a person has a record of jumping bail, he explained, his bail could be increased but not denied.

In the Morgan case, bail was increased from $5,000 to $25,000, but the Mexican Mafia had no trouble coming up with the money to gain freedom for a member.

Officials don't know how much money the Mexican Mafia makes off drug traffic, but there always seems to be plenty for bail. One member made bail of $350,000, police report.

The gang presumably makes money but it's not clear what they do with it besides saving it for bail. "We really don't see where the money goes," said one Mexican-American officer who was himself a juvenile gang member and is considered one of the leading experts on the gang.

Mexican Mafia members don't live big. There are no long, black limousines or secluded mansions. They seem to stay in the communities they grew up in and don't bother to change lifestyles even if they get some money.

The gang has yet to turn its money into legitimate businesses as organized crime has done in other parts of the country. "They've yet to develop a great deal of sophistication," one official said. "These folks didn't graduate from Harvard School of Business."

Though Morgan is a leader, officials say, the Mexican Mafia is organized as a one-man one-vote democracy. Certain members have more respect, but there is no rigid hierarchy. The Nuestra Familia, on the other hand, has generals and is run like the military.

One law enforcement official believes the democratic organization of the Mexican Mafia cuts their effectiveness. "They're kind of stumbling over each other to get the job done. Once they develop a board of directors, there's no stopping them."

So far, neither the Mexican Mafia nor the Nuestra Familia has gone in for assassinating politicians or shooting police. But the investigators dealing with the gangs are wary.

One Mexican-American officer said, "It's scary as hell knowing this bunch of hoodlums is after you. And I hear they have a particular animosity toward Chicano law enforcement. Anybody who says he's not afraid is a fool."

A joke-cracking hulk of a man, this officer says rumors that he sleeps with a shotgun are exaggerated but he realizes the gang knows his name. "They even know what I look like. I talked to one of them who told me their description of me is perfect — a big, fat, ugly Mexican."

The officer said the gangs would have to be crazy to start shooting police. "Cops are tough, man. You put one down and 10 more will stand up to take his place."

Prison officials say they have been getting calls from other states asking about the Mexican Mafia and the Nuestra Familia. Arizona already has a bit of a problem with the gangs in the state prison at Florence, and gang members are popping up in federal prisons around the country, officials say.

A big reason that federal prisons will be seeing more and more gang members is that the most common offense for an ex-convict is being an ex-convict with a gun — a federal offense.

White, formal rites preferred by majority

By Rosette Hargrove

PARIS (NEA) — Anybody who declared that a white or formal wedding no longer interested young couples would have had to eat his words after visiting the first "Salon du Mariage".

The organizers based their efforts on statistics revealing 400,000 marriages were performed last year in France. They dreamed up an emporium of just about everything related to a wedding, plus a display of dreamy wedding dresses.

The salon proved an immense success. Over 10,000 people came, despite the absence of advance publicity. Admission was free and visitors were greeted by a bevy of pretty young hostesses who led the way to the bar where a glass of champagne and a piece of wedding cake were offered.

A third of the 400,000 marriages reported took place in and around Paris, a good reason for the show here.

On show a young couple could see all the things that could be loosely connected with the "happiest day" of their lives. From caterer to house agent, from honeymoon cruises to house furnishings, from table decorations to furniture (ranging from Louis XV pieces to more modern ideas), a book store, a florist, a bank, a legal advisor, a display of wedding rings, and, finally, a booth run by the representative of a well-known marriage bureau — for the timid soul. The book store provided a choice of cookbooks, hints on homemaking and a solemn volume on contraception. Maryline Dognin, one of the organizers, had met many young people who needed advice, and their mothers.

According to George Becker, the man behind the novel emporium, the salon provided a particularly relevant function. Most people, he had found out, have little or no experience when it comes to entertaining on a large scale.

Prospective in-laws, for example, want to know how and where, not to mention how much the event will cost.

Naturally, the bulk of the visitors were couples, or prospective brides accompanied by by a girl friend starting to think about a forthcoming marriage. The marriage season in France starts late in May and continues through July.

At the salon we learned the cost of an average wedding usually comes to about $5,000 dollars. A leading was able to offer suggestions for buffet luncheons, cocktail party or afternoon reception, places where these could be held. Starting price was $800 for a buffet lunch for 50 people, including champagne, whiskey and soft drinks, also all the dishes, glasses and two or three waiters.

There were four fashion shows a day run by the three leading wedding-dress specialists in Paris — Aurore, Pronuptia and Ceremonial. Their models range in price from $100 to $1,000 and up, and offered a dazzling procession of romantic, ethereal wedding dresses for every type. According to reports, brides still favor a train of sorts, while veils vary from the brief shoulder length to yards and yards of fluttering net or a widebrimmed picture hat.

Pure white still is the favorite even though a mod bride might choose to be married in a daytime dress. Bridegrooms were either dressed in a black or all-white tuxedo and, for very posh ceremonies, the cutaway coat, striped trousers and gray topper. These shows were accompanied by appropriate organ bridal marches.

Average age for weddings is said to be 22 for the girl and 24 for the man. One young couple finally overcame their shyness to say they had come to visit the Salon because they planned a white wedding, also because they wanted to start a family the right way and finally because marriage was preferable to so-called free love. Many of their friends, they said, were not against trial marriage but they still believed the consecration of marriage added something to their relationship besides contributing a happy memory.

Special occasions marked

Wondering what to give your spouse on your anniversary? If it is the first commemoration of the happy occasion, paper is traditional, but then so is a bottle of wine or a bouquet of flowers.

Wood is the custom on the fifth anniversary. At least it was the custom. Crystal and glass are just as appropriate nowadays.

As is generally the case in this age of change, the list of traditional gifts for wedding anniversaries is being updated, says researcher Sally Hopkins of Hallmark Cards. So, just as there are traditional and modern weddings, there are traditional and modern gift lists for anniversaries.

The traditional list reads: first, paper; second, cotton; third, leather; fourth, fruits or flowers; fifth, wood; sixth, candy or iron; seventh, wool or copper; eighth, bronze or pottery; ninth, pottery or willow; 10th, tin or aluminum; 11th, steel; 12th, silk or linen; 13th, lace; 14th, ivory; 15th, crystal; 20th, china; 25th, silver; 30th, pearl; 35th, coral; 40th, ruby; 45th, sapphire; 50th, emerald; 60th, diamond.

The modern presents for the first 15 anniversaries are: wine or flowers, books, house plants, pottery, crystal or glass, copper, linens, wood, pewter, art, gourmet cookware, leather, clocks or watches, iron or steel and pearls.

Coral can now be given on a 30th anniversary and jade on a 35th. The other anniversary gifts are the same as the traditional list.

What do you do when it is your 17th anniversary? Or when you just can't find the right piece of jade? Miss Hopkins says a greeting card is always appropriate.

'Church' bingo faces council bid to cut it back—

ly honest operation, earning a salary of less than $20,000 a year, not from bingo but from the church.

Barbish says more than half the money that's taken in is returned to participants in prizes. The rest is turned over to the "Church of All Faiths" which has about 10 paid employees. The church employes then run the games "free."

The church also pays for the cost of services, all expenses related to evangelizing, and mortgages on the building. Donations to charitable causes are paid out of the bingo fund.

The bingo games are run by Rosenberg. Barbish says he merely oversees the operation. He says he'd rather preach.

Ironically, the church is not allowed to hold services in the building because, being in a shopping center, it is in the wrong zone.

So instead of church services, Barbish holds Bible study sessions — those are allowed.

Barbish maintains that if the Pomona City Council cuts him back to one night a week he will go broke, "and a lot of people will be hurt. There will always be bingo, but people will have to find them, and some of the operations are corrupt."

He says last week he polled his players on the issue.

"Nobody raised a hand to playing once a week," he shrugged. "Only about six people were satisfied with three times a week. The rest wanted to keep it open like it is."

He says the fact that other organizations who offer bingo in the city — the Eagles, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, St. Joseph's Catholic Church, The Knights of Columbus, the Moose — play only once a week is a matter of preference.

For Barbish, the bingo players comprise a captive church audience. He frequently gives mini-sermons.

Without bingo the audience dwindles.

Last Sept. 25, Barbish took out a large ad in the newspapers extolling people to come to a revival at the church. As part of the service, there would be free food.

The next night the bingo players had a feast.

Less than half now OK Carter performance

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time, less than half the American people approve of President Carter's performance in the White House, according to an NBC poll.

Poll analysts said the people questioned found nothing specific Carter had done that they could praise, while they cited inflation, the Panama Canal treaties and the resignation of budget director Bert Lance as areas they disapproved of.

The network said only 46 per cent of the 1,600 persons polled said they approved of Carter's performance, down from 56 per cent in June and 60 per cent in February.

In addition, NBC said its poll showed the same decline in the South, where Carter's approval rate went from 66 per cent in August to 47 per cent this week.

Pollster Louis Harris reported on Monday that the public's rating of Carter on "inspiring confidence in the White House" dropped from 75 per cent last March to 50 per cent in September.

Bird, beetle pests

Starlings, sparrows and Japanese beetles are among the major agricultural pests in the United States which have come from foreign lands. However, the North American muskrat overran Europe and the European rabbit nearly ruined Australia, reports National Geographic.

Phenomena center enjoys success

Oil spill information valuable commodity

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A landslide leveled three small villages high in the mountains of Yugoslavia, and eight people took notes in a basement near Harvard Square.

The next day, they darted after details about an earthquake shaking eastern Romania, 682 rare red-necked grebes winging along the Massachusetts coast and a volcano spouting eight streams of lava in the Aleutian Islands.

Pestilence, catastrophe and assorted acts of God are the daily concerns of this curious group. It is the Center for Short-Lived Phenomena, perhaps the world's strangest news service.

For a yearly fee, they inform scientists, corporations, libraries and amateur naturalists around the world about oddities of man and nature.

Unlike the sooner-or-later approach of scholarly journals, this group thrives on immediacy. And depending on how much its subscribers are willing to pay, it will send daily telegrams or weekly packets of reports.

"We try to report everything around the world," says Richard Golob, the center's director. Everything boils down to about 300 "event notification reports" a year.

Typically, half of the reports concern natural events: earthquakes, tidal waves, fireballs, red tide, dolphin strandings, meteorites, mudslides, forest fires, epidemics and rat infestations.

The rest tell about pollution accidents. They range over chemical leaks in Chicago, oil spills in the Strait of Malacca and the escape of dangerous gas from a refinery in Houston.

The center was set up nine years ago as part of the Smithsonian Institution. It was intended to let the institution's scientists know about volcanoes and other natural outbursts so they could dash off to study them.

Two years ago, however, it split from the government and now is struggling to meet its $150,000 annual expenses as a private, nonprofit organization.

It is trying to build a reputation of impartiality that will make it as trusted by conservation groups as by oil companies.

"Newspapers take a very man-oriented view toward the world," Golob says. "It's a different type of information that we provide. It doesn't focus on individuals. It focuses on events.

"We report all earthquakes 6.5 on the Richter scale and above. We report them whether they are on a remote island or kill 60 million people in China."

The reports are pieced together in a small suite of offices in the basement of a building on the fringe of Harvard University. Golob, 26, directs a staff that deals by mail and phone with a scattered global corps of correspondents.

The number of these contributors, 2,000, rivals the list of subscribers, 2,200.

Most contributors are government scientists and college researchers. But they also include common folk who happen to see the unusual. A cab driver in Chicago, for instance, calls with reports on pollution spills, and a radarman in Alaska watches vapor clouds over volcanoes.

"I always had a great conflict between doing work in a laboratory and being in the outdoors," Godob says. He has a biochemistry degree from Harvard, but the environment is as much a concern as molecular formulas. "So this organization is a very exciting marriage between my interests."

Dealing with nature on its most terrifying scale has given him a feeling about how man fits in.

"The constant exposure to volcanic eruptions, earthquakes and infestations does provide a very real sense of man's niche in the ecosystem," he says. "Man is one of many species occupying the planet, and the forces of the planet are so powerful that man cannot deal with them."

Most of the people who subscribe to the service receive the reports in weekly packets of postcards. The costs range from $35 a year for reports on natural science to $600 for telegrams on all of the center's reports.

Recession just over the horizon?

Fear of high interest rates, trade 'imbalance' visible

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Is the stock market depressed because of fears of higher interest rates, the imbalance of trade, worry about upcoming income tax proposals, or concern that Congress will overreact to the slowdown?

Or perhaps because it is feared a recession is just over the horizon, that the Carter administration's programs are slow to develop, that government is anti-business, that the Fed is confused, that U.S. productivity is slowing?

Still searching? Try these: a belief that consumer confidence is slipping, that capital investment by industry isn't taking up the slack, that we are headed into the downside of the economic cycle.

All were offered this week by market analysts, who've found that "explanations" are as much a commodity for sale as are forecasts of things to come.

The grab-bag of explanations is now overstuffed with plausible theories, always available to those who claim to have some understanding of the market or who simply cannot afford to appear mute before puzzled clients.

Although he has offered some theories of his own in the past — mainly that the Fed's money policy is the cause — John Wright this week breaks with the ranks, avoid explanations and just tells where the market is.

Measured in inflation'adjusted dollars, he observes, the Down Jones Industrial Average is now about the same as its average price 23 years ago, lower even than in the 1974 bear market.

Meanwhile, he continues, earnings are now 50 percent higher than in 1954, and dividends are about 8 percent greater and growing faster than earnings.

Refreshingly, no explanation of how the market got to where it is — just some compelling, clear evidence that it is there.

Other comparisons by Wright, whose Wright Investors Service of Bridgeport, Conn. is widely used by professional portfolio managers, add emphasis.

—The current dividend yield of about 5.3 percent is far above both 1929 and post-World War II averages of 4.2 percent (but apparently not sufficiently attractive to investors.)

—The 8.7 to 1 ratio of market price to earnings is about one-third below the post-1929 average of 14 to 1 and lower than the average for any years except 1948-1950 and 1974.

The cost of a share in the 30 Dow Jones industrial blue chips now averages about $1.06 per dollar of shareholders' equity, about one third less than the post-1929 average of $1.54, and less than during any of the 47 intervening years except 1932-1933, 1942 and 1975.

Thus he comments that "it is inescapable that on any basis which takes into account historic value relationships during peace and war, prosperity and recession, stock prices are today severely undervalued."

"WIS believes that equity investment values are currently so attractive in relation to both historic standards and prospective earnings and dividends that high-quality common stocks should be accumulated now in expectation of a sustained stock market recovery and advance beginning before 1977 yearend."

Elder Brown to serve on board

NEWPORT BEACH (BW) — The election of former governor Edmund G. Brown to the board of directors of National Systems Corp. was announced by John McNaughton, president and chairman of the vocational educational organization.

Gov. "Pat" Brown was elected at a special shareholders meeting held in the Sheraton Hotel in Newport Beach.

Brown became the ninth member of the board and will serve for a two-year term. He now serves on several commissions, being chairman of the California Council for Environmental & Economic Balance and formerly chairman of the President's Commission on Reform of the Federal Criminal Laws.

He is a senior partner in the Beverly Hills law firm of Ball, Hunt, Hart, Brown and Baerwitz.

A third-generation Californian, Brown served two terms as district attorney before becoming attorney general in 1950. He was elected governor of the State of California for the first time in 1958 and was re-elected for a second term.

In the history of the state, his administration is credited with the vital California Water Project which brought water to central and southern California for the first time in 1958 and under a 20-year program financed by a multi-billion dollar bond issue.

He also pioneered in smog control legislation, higher education master planning, and established the Office of Consumer Counsel and the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

"We are pleased to welcome the Honorable Edmund G. Brown to the board of National Systems," President McNaughton told shareholders at the meeting. "We know that former-governor Brown's interest in education and his business acumen will be invaluable in the direction of the company," he said.

National Systems is America's largest publicly owned company solely dedicated to vocational education. It owns and franchises more than 70 vocational schools throughout the United States and currently trains more than 65,000 active students in such fields as aircraft maintenance, flight training, real estate, dental/medical assisting, secretarial, legal secretarial, contracting, drafting and accounting.

Its accredited correspondence and resident schools include North American Correspondence Schools, Anthony Schools, Spartan School of Aeronautics and Bryman-Sawyer Schools.

Commerce department computes direct costs

Shoplifting — and stopping it — multi-billion dollar business

By DAN SKARTVEDT
Associated ress Writer

LOS ANGELES — Shoplifting — and stopping it — has become a multi-billon-dollar business these days.

A recent study by the Commerce department computes the direct costs of shoplifting at $1.5 billion a year, but it notes that retailers spend even more money trying to protect themselves against shoplifters and other thieves, expending some $2 billion for security.

Ultimately, of course, these expenses are passed on to consumers in the form of higher prices. As one Los Angeles small retailer puts it: "We can absorb some of the costs, but eventually the public has to pay for it. There's no Santa Claus."

California merchants, the victims of roughly 10 per cent of the nation's total shoplifting incidents, now are armed with a new law which should help cut their losses.

They should also benefit from advice contained in a new antishoplifting manual which the Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce has just published and hopes to distribute to retailers throughout the state.

The law, which took effect this year, is aimed particularly at juveniles, who are blamed for up to half of all shoplifting. Under its provisions, parents or legal guardians of a minor caught stealing merchandise can be made to pay for goods not recovered in marketable condition, and could face civil penalties up to $500.

The law also specifies that petty theft is punishable by up to six months in jail and fines of up to $1,000, and provides that a portion of the proceeds from these fines may be earmarked for public school counseling sessions and classes to deter young people from such pilfering.

Another tough provision of the new law gives merchants broad authority to detain shoplifting suspects and to use "non-deadly force" in preventing their escape. If a merchant subsequently is sued for false arrest, he may present a suitable defense merely by demonstrating that he had probable cause to be suspicious.

Economy upswing hits General Telephone

Training requirements doubled

SANTA MONICA (BW) — An upswing in the economy over the past year-and-a-half has helped nearly double General Telephone of California's employee job training requirements, with women heavily involved as they move into traditionally male jobs.

"As the economy improved in the third quarter of 1976, customer demand increased. General also began accelerated hiring for the first time in several years and job transfers began speeding up," said S.A. Jacobucci, training director for General.

This, coupled with changes resulting from competition, a more sophisticated work force and advanced technology, has greatly accelerated company training needs.

General trained 7,316 persons in the first half of 1977, compared with 5,543 during the like period of 1976. "During this year we expect to train at least double the number of employes we trained last year," Jacobucci said.

An increasing number of those employes are women moving into traditionally men's jobs and, to a lesser extent, men moving into the traditional female jobs, such as operator and customer representative.

Today, 83.7 percent of General's frame maintenance are women, filling jobs which formerly were a male-only domain. Female percentages in other former male bastions are: cable splicers, 3.6 percent; equipment maintainers, 13.6 percent; warehouse attendants, 44.3 percent; senior equipment production assemblers, 75.8 percent, and equipment installers, 13 percent.

In 1976, the company had 251 employes going through its telephone pole climbing classes. This year, 323 already have gone through the class and the total is expected to reach 775 by the end of the year.

Jacobucci said approximately two out of three women students pass the pole climbing class, with failures mainly attributed to physical inability to complete the strenuous course.

The male failure rate — about 5 percent — is traced primarily to mental attitudes. "Some people are just bothered by heights," Jacobucci said, and the pole climbers have to be able to scramble up poles at least 22 feet high.

(General's equal employment opportunity record, both in regard to women and minorities, has received compliments from federal and state enforcement agencies.

In 1971, for instance, only 5.4 percent of its top five grade level jobs were filled by female employes. Today, however, with a 44.7 percent female work force, 15 percent of the top five level jobs are held by females and one member of the board of directors is a woman.

General also has more than doubled its percentage of minority management employes — from 4.4 percent in 1971 to 10.4 percent today, and is aiming at 16.4 percent by 1979).

Jacobucci said that training efforts are aimed at two goals: developing the company's work force to provide the best possible service to customers, and, assisting employes in their own personal career and job development.

"The telephone industry is unique in that much of what we do isn't taught anywhere else," he said. General's training program today includes about 360 courses ranging from an eight-hour cardiopulmonary resuscitation class to a 185-day course in toll switching center control room operator and equipment maintenance training.

The company is making increasing use of video tape units and is putting as much material as possible on a self-teach basis using video and audio tapes and accompanying workbooks as an economical means of offering material on a timely basis.

Many courses, of course, are still instructor-taught in classroom situations, utilizing "hands-on" demonstration of operating equipment whenever possible.

And, in addition to its own extensive craft and management courses, General also encourages its employes to work toward college degrees, assisting 360 employes in doing so last year via its tuition aid program.

Help for the fearful flyer is on the way

Pan American World Airways is offering a "Fearful Flyer" seminar Oct. 11-19.

Captain T.W. "Slim" Cummings, a 30-year veteran with Pan Am, will lead the seven session course. Although this marks the West Coast debut of the program, Capt. Cummings, a licensed psychologist, has conducted 18 previous "Fearful Flyer" seminars throughout the United States.

The sessions include relaxation exercises, lectures, films and discussions with members of the Federal Aviation Administration. Culminating the program is a "Day at the Airport" taxi session and a one-hour graduate flight aboard a Pan Am jet.

By the time the seminar is over, graduates generally know far more about a commercial jetliner than the average passenger. With their new-found confidence and knowledge, participants have been able to overcome their fear and enjoy flying.

To date, there have been approximately 950 graduates — well over 90 percent of the students who have enrolled. The fee for the seminar is $100 and enrollment is limited to 70 participants.

For more information, contact 624-0192, ext. 365.

The Four Colleges Players of Claremont will stage "Female Transport," a British drama by Steven Gooch, in Balch Auditorium, Scripps College, at 8 p.m. Oct. 19 through 23.

Set in the early 1800s, "Female Transport" focuses on six of 117 women convicts who are being transported from Britain to the colony of Australia. As the play unfolds, the six very different women reluctantly form a core of solidarity against the men who govern their lives on the ship.

Director Susan Obrow stresses the importance of physical and mental chains both in the 1800s and today. The action on the ship takes place within an open wooden complex designed by Phil Delony, lecturer in drama at Scripps, enabling the audience to be privy to the most detailed movement of each character.

General admission is $3, students and senior citizens, $1. Further information may be obtained by calling 626-8511, ext. 2974.

Cheryl Ladd
Steps into Farrah's sneakers

By DAVID HANDLER

I was very anxious to see whether Charlie's Angels would be the same without America's favorite set of choppers. If Farrah was missed, it would mean she's an authentic star. If, however, Cheryl Ladd could ably fill those cute little sneakers, it would mean that Farrah was merely last year's fad; a hot product for a while. Nothing more.

Farrah, I think you made a serious mistake.

Charlie's Angels was the first fall premiere show to strike gold since the Beverly Hillbillies. It catapulted Farrah Fawcett-Majors out of shampoo commercials and onto the wall of every auto body repair shop and mailroom in America. Parents witnessed a generation of young males ripening to sexual maturity over her — down came the poster of Kareem Abdul Jabbar making his patented sky hook shot, up went the one of Farrah tugging at a blonde lock. Week in and week out, tabloid and pulp magazine headlines promised us that her perfect marriage to the Six Million Dollar Stiff was on the rocks, that she stays thin by subsisting on a diet of franks 'n beans, that her hair looks like that because she washes it every morning in vinegar and lime jello.

So she became a free agent, and in stepped Cheryl Ladd. Cheryl, who breezes onto the scene as Farrah's kid sister, Chris Munroe, is pretty, sweet and looks fine in a bikini. She can also act. There's no chance she will overtake Kate Jackson as my Favorite Angel (Kate remains this viewer's FA, even if she did show up at the Emmy's on the arm of Nick Nolte, an insincere bum who will cramp her lifestyle and no doubt break her heart), but Cheryl is convincing evidence that Farrah's primary marketing asset was her image.

Farrah committed the one cardinal sin of the TV star: she cut off her air supply. Henry Winkler and John Travolta are both much bigger than the shows that made them superstars — each is starring in feature films now — but they knew better than to indulge in bridge burning. Oh sure, the press releases say that they've stayed on out of fan loyalty, but the truth is that a series is a weekly showcase. It keeps the name and the face alive. Without that, Farrah will fade away to the obscurity that inevitably overtakes our poster boys and girls.

CHERYL LADD

The most popular poster stars of the last 15 years have been males. It seems to be an annual ritual. Each has had a spot on a TV show and then an album, although their talents generally consist of a sweet, innocent face. Run down the list: Davey Jones, Bobby Sherman, David Cassidy (who is now being overtaken by half-brother Shaun). David Soul of Starsky and Hutch is making a run this year; ironically he co-starred with Bobby Sherman about 10 years ago in Here Comes the Brides and was universally overlooked.

These poster idols tend to fade into obscurity. It takes tremendous talent not to. Paul McCartney was once noteworthy as the heartthrob of the slumber party set.

The turnover for women poster stars hasn't been as rapid. Raquel Welch is Farrah's only true predecessor of recent times. I suspect this could be attributed to the proliferation of explicit and easily-accessible girlie magazines. And this is precisely what makes Farrah so unique. In an era that produced scratch-and-sniff centerfolds, she stands out as a totally wholesome sex object. Farrah openly advocates the likes of true love, monogamy and the work ethic. You won't find her lolling around Bernie Cornfeld's pool.

I can't help but think that much of Farrah's appeal is nostalgic. She is, after all, an anachronism, a throwback to simple, man-woman interaction that is the stuff of Hollywood myth. Only time and the caliber of her work away from Charlie's Angels will allow us to determine whether she'll go the way of the hula-hoop.

The 12th annual Riverside Antique Show will be held in the Convention Center of Raincross Square, Riverside, Friday, Saturday and next Sunday.

The show — one of California's oldest such events — changed its dates from September because the hot weather often prohibited attendance by interested parties from areas outside the Inland Empire.

Antique shows are one of the few mart-type events that are open to the general public for an admission price. Children are admitted free, along with antique shop owners and decorators.

Lamkin previews opera

Michael Lamkin, assistant professor at Scripps College and director of the Concert Choir of the Claremont Colleges, will present a preview of Bizet's "Carmen" to the West End Opera Guild at an apertivo at the home of Mrs. Ronald Mathis, 1656 N. Laurel Ave., Upland, Thursday.

The West End Opera Company will present the opera in Spring Auditorium, Ontario, at 8 p.m. Oct. 22. Lamkin will discuss the opera, the life of the composer, and the social background in which the opera takes place.

Lamkin, a graduate of Baylor University, holds a master of music degree from the university and a doctorate of musicology from the University of Iowa.

Police shows fading from tube

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Like the Western before it, the police show is in danger of extinction, victim of its own popularity and a continuing assault on television violence.

Four years ago there were 17 police series on TV. This season the networks pared them to 10, and no new ones are planned for midseason or next year.

"I can see the cop shows disappearing altogether," says David Gerber, executive producer of "Police Woman" and "Police Story."

Although Gerber places the major blame on pressure groups which he says "would turn television into a benign, passive, stultifying medium."

Last year five new police shows bowed, but only one made it. That was "Charlie's Angels," a fairy tale with sex and humor. This year, there's only one new police show, "CHiPs," which has been described as bubblegum for kid viewers.

Frank Price, president of Universal Television, which supplies 11 series' each week to the three networks, says he doesn't like the meddling by pressure groups but likes the end result — "the better variety of shows."

McMahon and others agree that if the police show disappears, it won't be for long. Television is cyclical. Medical shows and lawyers have periodically vanished and reappeared.

Until this year the police show remained a television staple despite antiviolence campaigns that date back 10 years. But the networks now are feeling real pressure, particularly from the American Medical Association, the Parent-Teacher Association and the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting.

Although the networks still are in the market for movies with police themes, such as a two-hour "Police Story" film, the end of this season will see the ranks of TV policemen further depleted. Robert Blake has said this is his final year with "Baretta." "Hawaii Five-0," now in its 10th year, could be nearing the end of the line. "Barnaby Jones" also is showing signs of strain and "Switch" was renewed only by the skin of its teeth.

Gerber believes that now that police shows are declining, the next target will be sex on TV.

"People will start finding sex on television where it's never been before because the pressure groups will start calling attention to it."

Gerber, who says he has been working with other producers to answer the critics, says, "We're taking off the so-called violent shows. That makes television better? Baloney! What's violence? Who decides?

"It comes down to who is going to decide what the American public sees."

CONSORT CONCERT — John Biggs will lead the John Biggs Consort in a program of Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque and contemporary music in Spring Auditorium, Ontario, at 8 p.m. Oct. 20 under the auspices of the Pomona Valley Community Concert Association.

PVCCA to present John Biggs Consort

The John Biggs Consort, an ensemble made up of four singers who also play various instruments of the medieval, Renaissance, Baroque and contemporary periods, will open the 1977-78 season of the Pomona Valley Community Concert Association in Spring Auditorium, Ontario, at 8 p.m. Oct. 20.

The group was founded by Biggs while he was a student at UCLA. His first formal training in music began at the age of seven when he was granted a scholarship in violin to the National Institute of Music and Art in Los Angeles. Later as a member of the Roger Wagner Chorale he met his wife Salli Terri, singer, arranger and recording star, who won a Grammy Award with Laurindo Almeida for their album on Angel Records, "Duets with the Spanish Guitar." At that time Biggs began to build up a large private collection of authentic reproductions of early instruments all of which he learned to play.

The Consort has made an award-winning movie, "Discovery of the Music of the Middle Ages," that has become the definitive film on the subject on campuses across the country.

Non-member persons wishing to attend the concert, the first of four attractions this season, may contact Mrs. Stuart Brockway, secretary, at 986-5789.

Dodgers singing in Philadelphia rain

Progress Bulletin
Sports
Pomona, California ■ Sunday, October 9, 1977

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, behind the clutch pitching of Tommy John and the home run power of Dusty Baker, survived the most adverse weather conditions in baseball playoff history to beat the Philadelphia Phillies 4-1 Saturday night and win the National League pennant.

Baker's two-run homer in the second inning was all the Dodgers needed to back the seven-hit pitching of John, who three years ago was told he'd never throw a baseball again.

Dodgers rookie Manager Tommy Lasorda said the big thing to him was beating the Phillies two straight in Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium, where the East Division champions won 60 and lost 21 for a .741 percentage during the regular season.

Lasorda a made a point to say, "And they said we couldn't win in Philadelphia. It's very satisfying to clinch it here. I saw a clipping that quoted Greg Luzinski as saying the Dodgers didn't even belong on the same field as the Phillies.

"Then my brother sent me another clipping with Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark saying the Phils would win the thing and all anyone has talked about during the playoffs is that the Dodgers couldn't win at the Vet."

The 34-year-old John, who underwent a unique arm operation in Sept. 1974, said, "I owe a lot to the Dodgers' organization for putting up with me the year I was out."

John said he threw 90 per cent fastballs at the Phillies, generally an explosive fastball-hitting team.

"I had to go out there and challenge hitters and keep the ball low," said John, who in his 17th year of professional baseball won 20 games for the first time.

Someone asked the Dodgers' pitcher when he started planning for Saturday night's game.

"During the sixth inning of the first game, after I left the game," John replied. "I was in Lasorda's office watching the game on TV. I was taught as a youngster that sometimes you learn more by not pitching than actually pitching."

"If we had stopped and put the tarp on, we never would have been able to get it off," Feeney said. "I think both teams were entitled to play nine innings."

It was Feeney's decision to start the game, which began 17 minutes late after more than an hour of steady drizzle. The rain could be seen splashing off puddles in front of the Phillies' dugout. But the nationally-televised show went on, even though the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted clear weather for today and Monday.

Meanwhile, back in the ballgame, the Dodgers took a 2-0 lead against Philadelphia's 23-game winner Steve Carlton, who failed to finish for the second time in the series.

Baker turned out to be the offensive hero of the series for the Dodgers collecting five hits in 14 at-bats, hitting two homers and driving in eight runs to break Henry Aaron's 1969 playoff record of seven RBI.

The Dodgers put it away in the fifth as the troublesome Baker walked. With one out, Steve Yeager singled Baker to second. John bunted foul on a third strike for a strikeout, but Carlton threw a wild pitch with the slippery baseball, Baker scoring all the way from second and Yeager advancing to third.

The Dodgers got an assist from the soaking-wet turf on the next play when Bill Russell dropped a suicide squeeze bunt toward third. Yeager scored as Carlton slipped off the mound trying to field the ball.

Feeney said that once the game started, it had to be played to its completion.

'WE WON!'

Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda is embraced by Reggie Smith, left, and Steve Garvey, right, after the Dodgers won the National League pennant in Philadelphia Saturday night.

'Best game of my life'-John

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tommy John, who pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers into the World Series Saturday night with a 4-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, called his performance "the best game of my life."

"I think I threw about 90 per cent fastballs," he said in the lockeroom, hefting a bottle of California champagne. "I knew that I had good stuff. I had to go out there and challenge the hitters and keep the ball low.

The Phillies spent most of the evening grounding out to Dodger infielders, hitting less than a half-dozen balls out of the infield on the fly.

The 34-year-old Dodger left-hander, who was told by doctors two years ago that a ruptured ligament in his left elbow had ended his pitching career, said the victory was the icing on "a storybook year for me."

"Last year people didn't think I could win," John said. "Then everything fell into place this year. I have to thank God ... win or lose, I just thank God I'm playing baseball. You don't realize how much you miss it until you're out of it."

The Dodgers' offensive hero during the four-game series was left-fielder Dusty Baker, whose eight RBI tied a major league playoff record set last year by Chris Chambliss of the New York Yankees.

Baker, who has homered in three of his last five games, picked up one in the second inning Saturday night to drive in Ron Cey with what proved to be the winning runs.

Baker and the Phillies' Greg Luzinski were the only players to hit safely in all four playoff games.

Yanks win to even series

KANSAS CITY (AP) — So now, the seesaw American League pennant playoff has come down to a single, winner-take-all-fifth game, a familiar feeling for the Kansas City Royals and New York Yankees.

Sparky Lyle, New York's rubber-armed reliever, bailed the Yankees out with 5 1/3 innings of two-hit relief Saturday that saved a 6-4 victory and tied the best-of-five series at 2-2 with the deciding fifth game scheduled for tonight.

A year ago, the same two teams also went the full five-game limit before the Yankees won the pennant. New York's Lou Piniella thinks the memory of that nightmarish ninth-inning loss will hurt the Royals.

"We beat them in Game Five last year," said Piniella. "They know it and we know it. That will work in our favor."

So, too, will Lyle—if needed.

He was the last dependable pitcher available in the Yankee bullpen Saturday, and he'll be back there again tonight when Ron Guidry starts for New York against the Royals' Paul Splittorff.

Lyle permitted just two hits and shut off a Royal comeback that nearly wiped out an early 4-0 Yankee lead. It was a great clutch performance by Lyle, who led the American League by pitching in 72 games and had a piece of 39 of New York's 100 regular-season victories with 13 wins and 26 saves.

Using his slider and some tight New York defense, the left-handed reliever kept the Yankees' championship hopes alive in this do-or-die game. He came on with runners at first and third in the fourth inning and retired George Brett on a rally-ending line drive that left Kansas City's comeback one run short.

Then he kept the Royals away for the rest of this windy, chilly afternoon.

USC comes to life too late

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — USC came to life too late.

The Trojans (4-1) played some of the greatest football in their long and storied history Saturday against seventh-ranked Alabama in the last nine minutes and 34 seconds.

'Bama escaped when Hertel's pass for an attempted two-point conversion and a win was intercepted.

In an actual elapsed time of 8:59, Hertel took Southern Cal on touchdown drives of 91 and 79 yards completing 12 of 17 passes to six different receivers for 158 yards and a touchdown in the process.

The former Los Altos star also connected on a two-point conversion pass to fullback Mosi Tatupu after the first touchdown drive to make it 13 of 18 completions in 8:59.

Hertel was tackled and threw the ball as he was falling. Tatupu grabbed it at the two and raced over the goalline as the Coliseum crowd of 63,140 screamed.

The situation was the same on the second two-point attempt. This time Hertel was hit and barely managed to get the ball away sidearm.

He threw up a dying quail just before hitting the turf and it fell into the waiting hands of Alabama linebacker Barry Krauss.

The Trojans, with 34 seconds left, tried an onside kick, but the Crimson Tide recovered on its own 47. From scrimmage, quarterback Jeff Rutledge fell on the ball as the clock ran out.

The 21-20 loss snapped USC's 15-game winning streak which was the longest in major college football at the time. The loss will knock the Trojans out of first place when the ratings come out and possibly out of a (later) national championship.

"I think it was a great football game," said USC coach John Robinson. "They (Alabama) won, but I'm extremely proud of our kids.

"I don't think they played great football throughout the game and that's probably why we lost. But they came back like no team I've ever seen."

Hertel, who had only two of six completions for nine yards with one interception in the first half, finished the day with 18 of 30 for 239 yards out of USC's total offensive effort of 359 (to 'Bama's 249).

"They seemed to stop our run pretty much," said Hertel. "I didn't throw much in the first half so I couldn't get much rhythm.

"But our balanced offense has been so successful that we kept running even though they stopped our run today. We thought we could bowl 'em over."

Indeed, Alabama's speedy, swarming and quick defense smothered Troy's ground game. The Trojans ran for just 120 yards, 83 of them in the first half (out of a first half total of only 92).

Charlie White was held to 63 yards on 15 carries (10 carries and 47 yards in the first half). Dwight Ford had 31 yards on 13 carries (including 5-for-14 in the first half). Tatupu, 33 yards on four carries in the first half, finished with nine for 40 yards.

"It actually was three different games," said Alabama's "Bear" Bryant. "We had an even first half. We won the first half of the second half and they won the second half of the second half. We came back and they came back.

"Never have I seen a team come back as strong as USC today. It's a tribute to their coaching. And that Hertel, my was he hot. They've got some kind of program.

"I was a little disappointed in our pass rush, but our overall defense has really tightened since the Nebraska game. This was a great win for our team."

But the Trojans didn't score again until after the visitors had taken a 7-3 lead following a 51-yard drive in the third quarter.

USC drove 79 yards to to a second-and-one at the Tide's one. But Tatupu couldn't gain and Ford was thrown for a five-yard loss. So Jordan had to boot a 23-yard field goal from the 15 to make it 7-6.

Alabama went 77 yards in nine plays plus two USC penalties in the fourth quarter to go ahead 14-6. When Troy got the ball, Hertel's pass was intercepted at his own eight and Tony Nathan scored his second TD for 'Bama and it was 21-6.

"This won't hurt us for the conference," said Hertel. "We'll come out smokin' for Oregon."

Poly can't move the ball

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

When a team manages only 15 yards total offense in a game, it's safe to say it has problems.

Northern Arizona's defense was just too much for the struggling Broncos Saturday as the visiting Lumberjacks enjoyed a 16-0 shutout at Kellogg Field.

Poly's defense also did an outstanding job, coming up with seven big plays to give the offense the ball in NAU territory.

As it turned out, the Broncs might have won the game if they went for a field goal on first down plays after getting the ball. In almost all cases, Poly's defense ended up retreating instead of advancing the ball.

Poly rolled up minus 39 yards on 41 rushing plays and managed only 54 through the air as three quarterbacks combined to complete only seven of 21 passes.

What really made the night frustrating for the winless Broncs (0-4) was the way they wasted golden opportunities created by the defense.

The trend of the night was established early in the first quarter when freshman Jim Wilson blocked a Northern Arizona punt on the Lumberjack 20. The offense managed to lose 10 yards on three plays so a 47-yard field goal try was short.

In the second half alone, Poly's defense gave the ball to the offense on the NAU 30 on Steve Boron's pass interception, on the NAU 47 on Jim Middleton's interception, on the NAU 49 on Scott Pickwith's fumble recovery, on the NAU 37 on Don Drake's fumble recovery, on the Lumberjack 13 on Rodney Soward's fumble recovery and on the Northern Arizona 35 on Boron's recovery of a bad hike from center.

Offensively, NAU quarterback Herb Daniel, a former Citrus College star, set a Lumberjack career total offense record with 137 Saturday night for a total of 2,326 in just 16 games.

Kicker Tom Jurich kicked field goals of 27, 34 and 32 yards to give him 12 for the season as Poly's tired defense allowed only one touchdown on an one-yard run by Carl Golden early in the second period.

The Lumberjacks (4-1) managed 362 yards total offense as Daniel completed 13 of 22 passes and Allan Clark ran for 109 yards.

Poly will have a bye next week before traveling to Muncie, Ind. in two weeks to face Ball State, another rugged defensive outfit.

Chaffey claims Mission opener

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Chaffey College overcame a blizzard of penalty flags Saturday night to down visiting Palomar College 27-14 in the Mission Conference opener for both schools.

The win gives the high-flying Panthers a perfect 4-0 season mark, the schools' best start in many years.

On a night when Chaffey rule infractions (14 flags for 130 yards) kept Palomar in the contest until midway through the final quarter, it was the rugged Panther defense which carried the day for the hosts.

Despite giving up two touchdowns (both set up on penalties), that Panther defensive eleven was virtually air-tight when it counted.

Chaffey, in addition to winning the battle on the scoreboard, also outclassed its foe in the other statistical departments.

The Panthers rolled up 320 yards in total offense and 23 first downs. In contrast, the Comets could manage only 118 yards in offense, and only eight of those yards came via the airways.

Potter, after a slow first half, finished the contest with 15 completions in 27 attempts good for 125 yards and one touchdown. Potter did not throw an interception, while Chaffey's secondary picked off three Palomar passes.

Actually, Comet quarterbacks Rick Disney and Greg Hadfield wound up "hitting" Chaffey defenders more often than their own mates. The two combined for only two completions in 16 attempts.

Carr, the Upland High grad, scored three times while San Dimas' Bob Pleasant had the other Chaffey TD. Carr scored on runs of one and two yards and also clicked with QB Potter on a 27-yard pass play.

Pleasant, spelling Carr, scored the final TD of the night on a four-yard run with less than a minute remaining in the contest.

The visiting Comets came back later in the final period to score and make things interesting at 20-14, but the CC defense toughened thereafter and came up with two big interceptions to put a halt to the comeback attempt.

Jennings was the game's leading rusher with 85 yards on 16 totes, while Carr contributed 56 yards and Potter 24 to the Panther running game.

Making those big pass thefts for Chaffey were John Gable, Dirk McJunkin and Ed Edwards. Chino High grad Dave McGeorge anchored the Panther defensive line with an outstanding night of his own, with plenty of help from another ex-Cowboy, Marty Edens.

Eddings catches touchdown pass

PULLMAN, Wash. — California wide receiver Floyd Eddings, a freshman from Ganesha High, caught a 21-yard touchdown pass from Gary Grauman with 1:09 remaining in the Bears' 17-10 loss to Washington State Saturday.

UCLA edged, 32-28

Lofton, a senior wide receiver, had set up the winning score seconds earlier when he caught a 39-yard bomb from Dils, leaping high in the air to steal the ball from two UCLA defenders.

Dils, a junior who started in place of injured Guy Benjamin, completed 24 of 37 passes for 287 yards, but most of the heroics belonged to little Darrin Nelson.

Nelson, a freshman, gained 187 yards in 22 carries and scored on touchdown runs of 31 and four yards. He became the first freshman in Stanford's history to surpass 100 yards rushing in a game.

UCLA had trouble getting started and didn't gain a first down until early in the second quarter. By then, the Bruins trailed 16-0.

UCLA kept the game close on individual effort, including a 75-yard run by Theotis Brown and a 78-yard romp by Freeman McNeil.

UCLA had gone ahead for the first time in the game with 2:20 remaining when Brown caught a 21-yard pass from quarterback Rick Bashore. The score was set up by a 27-yard pass from Bashore to Homer Butler.

Stanford improved its record to 4-1, 2-0 in the Pac 8, while UCLA slipped to 2-3, 0-1. It was the Cardinals first win over UCLA since 1971.

Stanford dominated the game for most of the first half, despite holding only a 19-14 halftime advantage. The Cards had 18 first downs in the first half to only four for the Bruins.

Stanford scored the first time it had the ball on a 20-yard field-goal by Ken Naber, then made it 9-0 when Nelson skirted right end and sped through two would-be tacklers for a 31-yard touchdown.

The Cardinals extended the lead early in the second period when Phil Francis ran three yards for a score, but then the breaks turned for UCLA.

Stanford's Savann Thompson fumbled a punt and Ken Walker recoverd on the Stanford 15. Four plays later James Owens scored from five yards out.

Muldowney qualifies in 2nd position

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — Shirley Muldowney rushed from 14th place to second position Saturday at the end of qualifying for Sunday's eliminations in the $249,000 World Finals of Drag Racing at Ontario Motor Speedway.

John Abbott of Denver maintained the top spot among the 16 qualifiers with his Friday run of 5.883 seconds for the quarter mile, clocked at 243.24 miles per hour.

Miss Muldowney, 37, of Mount Clemens, Mich., is this year's world champion among top-fuel drivers. She improved her best time to 5.911 seconds Saturday, and a speed of 238.72 m.p.h.

Eleven of the qualifiers bettered six seconds.

Gary Burgin, Stanton, Calif., qualified first for the Sunday finals in the funny car category with 6.047 seconds and 241.93 m.p.h., just ahead of Don Prudhomme of Granada Hills, Calif., timed in 6.056 seconds and 241.28 m.p.h.

Top college teams falter

By The Associated Press

The nation's major unbeaten college football teams dwindled down to a precious few Saturday after upsets claimed top-ranked Southern Cal, second-ranked Oklahoma, 13th-ranked Brigham Young and No. 14 California.

Only five undefeated teams were left in the Top Twenty after No. 7 Alabama stunned Southern Cal 21-20; fifth-ranked Texas stopped Oklahoma 13-6; Oregon State trimmed Brigham Young 24-19 and Washington State edged California 17-10.

The Trojans made a belated bid to pull out their game with a dramatic fourth-quarter rally during which they scored 14 points in 10 minutes. But they fell short when their two-point conversion after their second touchdown ended in an intercepted pass.

Alabama halfback Tony Nathan ran for two fourth-quarter touchdowns to give the eight-point underdogs from Alabama a 21-6 lead before the furious Southern Cal comeback behind quarterback Rob Hertel.

Hertel hit Calvin Sweeney with a 10-yard touchdown pass with 6:46 remaining, then passed to Mosi Tatupu for the two-point conversion that made it 21-14.

Then, starting at his own 21yard line, Hertel marched the Trojans to the Alabama 1-yard line, where fullback Lynn Cain swept end for the score with 39 seconds left to play. But this time, the USC two-point conversion failed as Barry Krauss intercepted Hertel's desperation pass to preserve the victory.

Texas' third-string quarterback Randy McEachern, a redshirt junior who never has lettered, came off the bench to pass Oklahoma dizzy and Earl Campbell supplied the running muscle as the Longhorns prevailed in a bruising battle of the unbeaten.

A tremendous goal-line stand in the final four minutes sealed Texas' first victory over Oklahoma since 1970. Tackle Brad Shearer and defensive back Johnnie Johnson tackled Oklahoma quarterback Thomas Lott for no gain on fourth-and-one at the Texas 5.

"You might see something like that in a storybook," said Texas Coach Fred Akers. "Maybe make a movie about it, but I've never seen anything like that."

McEachern, who watched last year's annual Texas-OU battle from the press box as a spotter for a radio network, was pressed into service when the Longhorns' top two quarterbacks were injured in the first quarter.

"On the way to the game, I hoped I would have a chance to play, but I never dreamed of that," said McEachern, who guided the Longhorns on an 80-yard touchdown drive and a fourth-quarter field goal.

"For me to go in for a big game like this was pretty nerve-racking," added the redshirted junior from Pasadena. "I was a little uneasy and nervous. I never played in a big game like this."

Oregon State defenders intercepted three Gifford Nielsen passes and returned two of them for touchdowns as the Beavers defeated Brigham Young. Nielsen, college football's leading passer, had not thrown an interception going into the contest. He suffered a partial tear to ligaments in his left knee and had to leave the game in the final quarter.

Brilliant defensive play by Washington State's George Yarno, John Troppman, Ken Greene and Spud Harris complemented Jack Thompson's passing as the Cougars upset California.

Thompson orchestrated two touchdown drives for an early 17-0 lead and Washington State's eventual winning points, and the defense held off a furious, late rally by California.

In other games Saturday afternoon involving the ranked teams, No. 3 Michigan defeated Michigan State 24-14; No. 4 Ohio State walloped Purdue 46-0; No. 6 Colorado tripped Oklahoma State 29-13; No. 9 Nebraska turned back Kansas State 26-9; 10th-rated Penn State defeated Utah State 16-7.

Palomar nips MSAC by 3

By PAUL CLICK
PB Correspondent

Mt. San Antonio College came within theee points of upsetting the top offensive football team in the South Coast Conference Saturday night at MSAC.

The Mounties rolled up 356 yards and held San Diego Mesa's quarterback Steve Fairchild (top passer in the SCC) to no yards in the second half as he did not complete a pass. The Mounties ground game finally clicked as it rolled up 292 yards. Stan Webster (17-99), Russ Esmus (12-96) and Grady Hubbard (8-53) were given big holes to run through by the MSAC offensive line.

But the Olympians were able to take a 27-24 victory behind the talented legs of halfback Melvin Fields. He zig-zagged through the Mountie defense for a 49-yard touchdown to put Mesa ahead 27-24 with 11:30 remaining in the contest. His run wiped out a MSAC lead of 24-21. Earlier, he had galloped 13 yards for a score.

Fields concluded his night's work with 164 yards on 28 carries. Fairchild was 8 for 32 with 111 yards. Mesa racked up 346 offensive yards.

The Mounties were their own worst enemy with 13 turnovers. MSAC had four passes intercepted and committed nine fumbles. Mesa, the victor, had eight turnovers (three passes intercepted and five fumbles).

La Verne's defense stifles Azusa Pacific

By RAY NELSON
PB Correspondent

The common phrase could not have been truer than Saturday afternoon as La Verne capitalized on a staunch defense to gain a 10-point halftime lead and drew out to a 33-3 thrashing of Azusa Pacific.

Although the Leo defense dominated the Cougars throughout the first 30 minutes, it was not until the first play following intermission that La Verne iced its second win in three outings.

It was then that La Verne fullback Ben Morrow bulled his way through the line of scrimmage, broke into the clear and streaked down the right sidelines for an 80-yard touchdown which extended the Leo lead to 19-3 and broke the hearts of the Cougars.

The La Verne defense controlled the line of scrimmage to such an extent in the first two periods that APC could manage only minus 18 yards rushing. The Cougars did collect 121 yards in the air, but La Verne stiffened whenever Azusa crossed midfield.

After the Cougars were bottled up inside their own 10 halfway through the initial quarter and punted, La Verne took the ball and drove 19 yards to the APC 13, where Andrew Ford started the Leo scoring with a 30-yard field goal.

Four minutes later, Ford connected a 40-yard boot for what proved to be the winning points after La Verne recovered a Cougar fumble at the Azusa 26.

Bruce Hines intercepted a Greg Hines pass to set up a 24-yard scoring drive which culminated when Brad Frick plunged over from the two.

Morro followed his long TD run by racing over from the 6-yard line early in the final stanza and Frick embarrassed the Cougars by scampering for a 20-yard score in the last 30 seconds of the contest.

Morrow led the rushing battle With 171 yards on 30 carries, while Frick dashed for 105 yards on 20 rushes.

The Leos, besides surrendering a 30-yard field goal by Randy Granger in the second quarter, held the Cougars to minus 58 yards rushing for the contest and outdistanced APC, 341-133, as the defense actually became stiffer following intermission. APC could only accumulate 30 yards total offense in the second half.

Rams test Bear defense

CHICAGO (AP) -- Joe Namath and the Los Angeles Rams will test the Chicago Bears' soft defenses Monday night in a nationally televised game.

The Bears opened the season with a 30-20 victory over the Detroit Lions but have lost their last two games to St. Louis 16-13 and to New Orleans 42-24.

The Rams have worked in reverse. They dropped their opener to Atlanta 17-6 but have won their last two starts from Philadelphia 20-0 and San Francisco 34-14.

The Bears insist one man doesn't make or break a team but they miss tackle Wally Chambers who has an injured knee. The team has had virtually no pass rush in his absence. The Bears have not sacked a quarterback since their victory over Detroit.

As a result, Bear opponents have completed 41 of 66 passes for 622 yards and 62.1 completion percentage. Namath comes into the game with 34 completions in 67 attempts for 403 yards and a completion percentage of 50.7. Namath has been intercepted only once.

Bob Avellini, who won the quarterbacking job which many thought would go to Mike Phipps, has been pleagued by dropped passes. No less than seven passes which should have been caught were dropped by this receivers in the New Orleans game.

Avellini has completed 40 of 84 attempts for 460 yards and a completion percentage of 47.6. Four of his passes have been intercepted. The Rams led the National Football League in interceptions with 32 last year and have five this season.

In addition to Chambers who will not start but might see action Monday night, safety Doug Plank has an injured knee and might not play. Plank also missed the New Orleans game.

The Rams will be without wide receiver Ron Jessie who was lost for the season when he suffered torn ligaments on the second play of the 49ers' game.

Walter Payton once again is the bright spot for the Bears. Payton gained 140 yards in 19 carries against New Orleans and now has 336 yards in 53 attempts this season. He also has snared nine passes for 75 yards.

Queen Mary's final round set for today

By PHIL ROCHE
PB Staff Writer

The final round of the 72-hole, $30,000 Long Beach Queen Mary Open tournament will be played today at El Dorado Muncipal.

A host of touring pros and top-notch area professionals entered the tournament, which is growing steadily each year under the management of Monty Blodgett and Doug Ives.

The event is becoming so popular that tournament directors had to call a halt to entries when they reached the 156 maximum. The pros had to dig deeply too for entry fees for this one because it took $150 to get in.

If you're in the Long Beach area, drop in at El Dorado on Studebaker Rd, just south of the Willow Street offramp from the 605 Freeway.

Gallery tickets are priced at $2.50.

The Lake Havasu City Open tournament has been scheduled for the London Bridge Golf Course on April 22-24.

A field of 40 pros and 120 amateurs will compete in the $12,000 event at Lake Havasu, Ariz. Entry information can be obtained from Ralph Bernhisel, 2400 Club House Drive, Lake Havasu, Ariz.

Flight winners for the La Mancha Women's Club recently were: 1st flight, Bonnie Woodrow, low gross, Vel Fairbanks, low net; 2nd flight, May Extale and Doris Allen; 3rd flight, Beverly Greenwood and Albest Pate,

Marshall Canyon Men's Club will hold the annual turkey shoot on Saturday, Oct. 29 . . . The November away tournament is scheduled for Green River Golf Course on Saturday, Nov. 12 . . . Rich Croson shot an 80 to win low gross honors recently at the Los Serranos outing.

Thomas, the defending champ, had to birdie the first sudden death hole to beat out Jack Valasek for second place.

Other flight winners and runnersup were: flight 1, Maurice Johnson and J.B. Hogan; flight 2, Ron Hamer and Frank Cassis; flight 3, Keith Spencer and Bob Burwell; flight 4, George Benzon and Jim Totaro.

The National Association of Amateur Golfers will play their next tournament at San Clemente Municipal on Thursday, Oct. 20.

Lincoln-Mercury will sponsor the PGA Seniors Championship, which will be held Feb. 2-5, 1978 at Walt Disney World.

Bert Harvey, certainly one of the most knowledgable golfers in the valley, was our authority last week on the condition of Red Hill C.C.

Harvey, who once held the record for Mountain Meadows Golf Course, was our source for the tip-top condition of Red Hill C.C. since the new fairway sprinkler system was installed.

Harvey, who has been a member of Red Hill C.C. since 1947, said the course was in splendid condition, not Burt Wheeler as reported here.

Incidentally I had a chance to play the challenging course last week, and I can vouch for Harvey's evaluation of Red Hill. It indeed is in excellent shape.

Two area women, Betty Greene and Betty Greenstein of Via Verde C.C., are among the qualifiers for the 3rd annual Silver Circle Senior Women's Golf Championship.

The Better-Ball of Partners tournament will be held Monday, Oct. 17 at Los Coyotes C.C. in Buena Park.

NHL season opens Wednesday

By Associated Press

With six new coaches, some hastily rearranged line-ups and a new playoff plan, the National Hockey League begins its 60th season Wednesday.

The new coaches are JeanGuy Talbot with the New York Rangers, Bob Pulford with the Chicago Black Hawks, Pat Kelly with the Colorado Rockies, Ron Stewart with the Los Angeles Kings, Johnny Wilson with the Pittsburgh Penguins and Roger Neilson with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

They'll lead their teams in the quest for the playoff championship the Montreal Canadiens have won the last two seasons, but there is uncertainty over exactly which players will be used.

That's because Monday — just two days before the campaign opens with four games — there will be an intra-league player draft designed to bolster the weaker teams.

The clubs will choose in the reverse order of last year's standings by points, meaning the Detroit Red Wings will choose first and the Canadiens last in the pool which will be conducted through a conference telephone bookup linking the franchises with league headquarters in Montreal.

Each team will protect 18 players, two goaltenders and three second-year players. First-year players are exempt from selection, as are unsigned draft choices and goalies who have played less than three years.

Once the draft is held, the teams can begin in earnest their attempts to unseat the powerful Canadiens.

The playoff structure also has been reorganized.

Lewis Homes—La Verne and San Dimas

'Close-in' locations are available

The crazy quilt pattern of surburban homebuilding over the past decade caused buyers to leapfrog further and further down freeways, leaving patches of more accessible building sites untouched, notes a Southland marketing executive.

"Two such closer-in locations, both in countrylike areas with spectacular mountain views, are San Dimas and La Verne," said Randall W. Lewis, vice-president of Lewis Homes. "They are fast becoming favorite residential havens for buyers whose workday desks are in Los Angeles and Orange County cities."

His firm's Lewis Homes-San Dimas and Lewis Homes-La Verne communities both display single-family homes with three or four bedrooms, two or 2½ baths and two or three-car garages. Shake roofs and wood-burning fireplaces are features noted.

The San Dimas development, centering at Allen Avenue, just east of San Dimas Avenue, displays one- and two-story elevations with up to 1,712 square feet of livable area. Purchase price is from $60,400 to $73,500.

The community may be reached from the Foothill Freeway by exiting at San Dimas Avenue and driving south ¼ mile to Allen Avenue, then left to the site. Another route is via the San Bernardino Freeway to Route 10 Freeway, north to Foothill Freeway 30, east to San Dimas Avenue and south ¼ mile to Allen Avenue then left to sales office.

A short distance away is Lewis Homes-La Verne, whose residences are designed in one- and two-story elevations as well as split-level designs. Floor plans range up to 2,194 square feet in living area, with purchase price bracketed from $69,000 to $85,000.

Located near the intersection of Damien Avenue and Sentinel Drive, the Lewis Homes-La Verne community is now conducting sales for its final unit of homes.

The route is via the San Bernardino Freeway to Route 210 Freeway. Continue north on Foothill Freeway to its junction with Foothill Freeway (30) to its end in La Verne at Foothill Boulevard. East on Foothill Boulevard 1 block to Damien Avenue. South (right) on Damien 1 block to Sentinel Drive then right to models.

New units in both communities are currently under construction with a wide range of homes available to current buyers.

Saddlewood community is for growing families

American National Housing Corporation's Saddlewood community in Chino offers the "Winchester," a four bedroom one story dramatically designed home for the growing family.

Double doors under an extended roof and beamed covering open to a formal entry inside. Soaring vaulted ceilings enchance the spacious formal living and dining rooms bring in the country views through sliding glass doors. The large family room is beautifully suited to active family life and informal entertaining with wood-burning fireplace and a huge, impressive wall of glass with sliding doors to the side patio area.

The kitchen features General Electric range and a double oven (continuous-cleaning lower oven), trash compactor, dishwasher and disposal plus ceramic tile countertops and eloquent custom finished hardwood cabinetry. Between the kitchen and family room is a sunny breakfast nook for those on-the-go meals.

The Master Suite offers a private bath with extra-large ceramic tiled shower and double lavatories of porcelainized steel set in luxurious cultured onyx pullman tops in the dressing area. The sense of space in the master bedroom is further expanded by vaulted ceiling and large glass sliding doors opening onto a possible private patio, whirlpool spa or garden spot to enjoy the big outdoors.

The "Winchester," with 2,030 square feet of living area, has a three-car garage with a laundry tray and direct access to a most convenient service room with washer and dryer spaces.

Outside, for the family that loves to live, the landscaped equestrian trails tie each half-acre average sized lot to the trail system and around to the compact but complete equestrian center which provides a training ring, wash-down area, water troughs, and horse trailer loading turnaround. The center and a park with playground, picnic and barbecue facilities are maintained by the Homeowner's Association, insuring carefree enjoyment of these unique Saddlewood facilities.

"Buyers have expressed high interest in Saddlewood's west-Chino location, so convenient to the Corona Freeway with fast access to Orange County via the Riverside Freeway or the Los Angeles, San Gabriel Valley employment centers via the Pomona Freeway just two miles north of Saddlewood" reports Jim Lenon, vice president of Sales and Marketing for American National Housing Corporation.

The models, priced from $82,995, may be viewed daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. by taking the Corona Freeway (71) to the Chino Avenue exit, east on Chino Avenue one block to Saddlewood. Phone 628-4761 for more information.

Inflationary 'pressures' cited

WASHINGTON — Robert Arquilla, president of the National Association of Home Builders, is urging Congress to conduct hearings on the many inflationary pressures, particularly the recent surge in materials costs, which are driving up the price of housing.

"The cost increases are hitting builders and consumers from all directions," Arquilla said. "And the danger signals which have warned of each national economic decline since World War II seem to be flashing once again."

Arquilla, a Chicago builder, said that while the rest of the economy is saddled with 6 percent inflation, the housing industry is experiencing cost increases reminiscent of the double-digit inflation days of 1973-74. "These costs, which must be passed along to the consumer, are shattering the housing hopes of millions of American families and raising serious doubts as to the strength and durability of the national economic recovery," he said.

Arquilla said there are many causes of housing's high rate of inflation including restrictive governmental regulations and delays, escalating land and development costs, and rising labor wages without a corresponding increase in productivity.

"But the straw that could break the camel's back," Arquilla said, "is the recent surge in materials costs."

Builders adopt voluntary energy guidelines for new construction

Voluntary energy guidelines for new home construction were adopted by the Board of Directors of the National Association of Home Builders.

Robert Arquilla, president of the 90,000-member NAHB, made the announcement during the Association's Fall Board of Directors and Builders Meeting being held here this week.

Arquilla called the new guidelines an important contribution to the housing industry and to the people of the United States. "For the first time" Arquilla said, "buyers of new one and two family homes and townhouses can be assured of a cost-effective and balanced package of energy conserving techniques regardless of where they live or the style of home they choose."

Arquilla, a Chicago homebuilder, said buyers will no longer need to compare the often conflicting claims for home energy packages. "Here is a simple and systematic approach, based upon performance engineering, that can be applied to all residential construction. It eliminates the guesswork for both builders and buyers," he said.

According to Arquilla, the guidelines establish criteria for equitably insulating ceilings, walls, windows, floors, doors and ducts of any new house in any part of the country. He said, "Any energy-saving investment beyond basic needs should pay for itself within seven years or less. The NAHB guidelines provide for a maximum seven-year payback; however, in most cases the payback period is within four to five years." Seven years is the length of time the average American stays in the same house.

The guidelines are based upon a set of energy index numbers. The index numbers are easily calculated from existing data on local weather conditions, fuel costs, and the type of heating and cooling system to be used in the home. The index numbers are then matched to bar graphs representing 19 construction items of energy concern (such as ceiling insulation, walls, windows) to determine the amount or type of energy conserving feature which is most effective for the money invested in it.

For example: for a gas-heated, electrically-cooled home in San Antonio the Energy Index number for determining the proper amount of ceiling insulation is 2227. When this number is applied to the bar graph for ceiling insulation it shows that R-19 (6-inches of mineral fiber blanket insulation or its equivalent) is the best choice. This simple procedure is then repeated for each of the construction items required by the design of the home.

The guidelines use a Present Worth Formula to project the length of time required to recoup an investment made today. This procedure allows the guidelines a unique flexibility in conforming with local economic conditions. The guidelines as presented make several basic assumptions: an annual increase in energy costs of 10 percent (in current dollars); a mortgage or financing interest rate of 9 percent; and national average costs for each energy conserving technique. These factors may be altered to more closely reflect specific local situations.

The NAHB guidelines recommend many other energy conserving techniques which could not be indexed. They cover such important factors as protecting against air infiltration, insulation application, mechanical/electrical equipment and appliances, construction techniques and design.

The thermal performance guidelines for one and two family homes was developed for NAHB by its Research Foundation, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of the association. The foundation's team of research engineers, worked with NAHB's technical staff and a specially appointed committee on energy headed by builders Ivan Wholworth of Hicksville, NY, and Jack Demetree of Jacksonville, FL.

Arquilla pointed out that the guidelines are voluntary. They may be adopted locally by both member and non-member builders of the association. NAHB holds the copyright to the guidelines.

"Right now," Arquilla said, "the industry is facing a shortage of insulation materials which will make it difficult in some areas for the guidelines to be put to use quickly and completely. However, we have developed an accurate new tool for coping with the energy crisis that confronts us all today. We feel it is our obligation to make this tool available wherever it can be used."

NAHB is scheduling a series of seminars throughout the country to inform builders, architects, engineers, and manufacturers on designing, building and selling energy conserving houses. NAHB's thermal performance guidelines will be a principal part of these seminars.

Our next step, Arquilla said, is to develop similar guidelines for commercial construction and for the retrofit market. "The sooner we can provide sound-investment guidelines for energy conserving improvements to each homeowner, the better our chances of beating the energy crunch."

Indian Oaks for young lifestyle

Saturday marked the grand opening of decorated models for Indian Oaks, a new community of reasonably priced, single family detached homes in Alta Loma designed to compliment the lifestyle of today's young, working couples.

"It is our policy to provide buyers with top quality at reasonable prices at a time when such opportunities are becoming increasingly rare," said Ira C. Norris, president of Inco Homes, co-developer of Indian Oaks.

Located in the burgeoning, foothill community of Alta Loma, Indian Oaks enjoys an inspiring view of the San Bernardino Mountains and is 42 minutes from downtown Los Angeles, 30 minutes from Orange County and 25 minutes from Mt. Baldy.

In addition to the growing number of residential homes, the Alta Loma area boasts seven new freeways and several full service shopping centers including the ultra-modern Montclair Plaza regional center.

Priced from $54,990 to $69,990, the three and four bedroom Indian Oaks homes range in size from 1,360 to 1,941 square feet. No down VA, low down FHA and 10 and 20 percent down conventional financing plans are available.

The community is the result of a creative and highly professional development team, according to Norris. INCO Homes acted as the community's master planner following research into the needs and desires of families moving to the Alta Loma area. The firm also worked with the local government agencies to gain the necessary approvals for development and insure that Indian Oaks harmonized with its surroundings.

Crowell/Leventhal, Inc. is the general contractor whose local track record spans more than a decade and includes some 3,000 homes. More than 40 percent of Crowell/Leventhal's buyers were referred by satisfied customers. This figure is significantly above the industry average and is convincing evidence of the firm's quality and service.

The design team is headed by William R. Pauli, AIA whose architectural and neighborhood planning credits include residential communities in the U.S., Canada and Europe. Pauli has also designed private, custom homes.

The interiors are highlighted by Sumner Gravier Designs of Beverly Hills and the model complex features landscaping by Jerry Cummings & Associates. "The decor and landscaping are done in such a way that buyers can apply the ideas and techniques they see in the models to their own home," said Norris.

Indian Oaks offers two one-story homes and one two-story home. Buyers may select from a variety of exterior designs and colors and all models offer optional three-car garages. Architectural attractions include covered entries and heavy wood timber treatments. One of the two-story elevations features fixed windows above the front door and windows as well as a graceful entry arch.

Interiors are spacious with such quality standard features as ceramic tile entry foyers, wood-burning fireplaces, wall to wall carpeting, breakfast nooks in the kitchen areas, pantries, smoke detectors, walk-in closets and dressing rooms. A separate family room compliments the casual kitchen nook and the formal dining room.

Extra bedrooms easily convert to offices or special retreat rooms like a library or sewing room, Norris explained.

Energy conservation was also a primary design concern. Major features are fiberglass insulation in exterior walls and ceilings; dishwashers with cool-dry cycles; pilot-less high/low gas oven and burners using 30 percent less energy than ordinary gas units; 50 gallon, quick-recovery gas water heaters; covered entries and generous overhangs; and weatherstripping on exterior doors and windows.

To find Indian Oaks, take the San Bernardino Freeway to the Archibald Avenue exit, then turn north on Archibald Avenue to 19th Street (Route 30). Then right one block to Ramona Avenue. The sales office and models are open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

Updating heating equipment can improve fuel economy

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Updating heating equipment can be a big factor in fuel economy. A new burner might save 15 to 20 per cent on your oil bill, a fact that might be difficult for some people to comprehend.

So says Lillian Siegel of Fairfield, Conn., who has been in the oil business for 48 years. She was explaining a notice — "a new burner can save you money" — that was appended to her oil bills.

"If an oil bill is $600 a year, a nominal amount, a new burner might save as much as $120 dollars. In addition, the equipment is modern. New burners have electronic controls and retention heads which are economical to operate." A burner is part of the boiler equipment.

It is a question of how old is old, she says. Some 40-year-old burners have motors and transformers in excellent condition, whereas newer ones might be exhausted. Much depends on the care they have been given and the quality of the equipment.

"Today's motors give you 3450 RPMs that go like mad, a little noisier, but they deliver more rapidly giving more energy at lower cost." Like other companies, she provides budget plans for the purchase of new equipment.

An oil service company should be trusted to give good advice and should be asked for an equipment check-up if bills become high.

What bothers Miss Siegel is that some customers don't trust her judgment even though "there are legions that do" who seek the advice of Lil, as she is known in the trade. In fact, when they call to ask questions she never asks whether they are customers. Some use other service companies because of business affiliations or because they owe the company money or whatever, but she has a long-time reputation for knowledgeability in the business so she willingly provides information.

Occasionally she "loses her cool," she says, when people ignore their equipment "because it isn't visible."

"If they had a pale pink boiler in the middle of the living room floor, they would keep it immaculate, but because it is out of sight they simply don't keep it clean.

"The worst form of insulation is soot. A burner should be adjusted every year and the boiler should be cleaned whenever it is sooty. A boiler must work twice as hard to deliver when the parts are dirty," she explained. It's energy dollars up the flue as far as she is concerned.

In her own oil business for 27 years — she is president of Superior Oil Co. — she has seen a lot of changes. In the beginning she "could not drive a truck" so she had to hire a man. He stayed until the first cold day.

She started the business from scratch — new customers and new trucks. One cold day she got some calls — one for 500 gallons of oil — "it had seemed stupendous at the time." Now she is into sales of millions of gallons of oil every year.

"Winter time is rough, full of emergencies," she says. "You might occasionally get a call and find that a person forgot to turn on a switch, but people are more sensible now."

When she started her business the price of oil delivery was less than half of what the oil costs wholesale today, and "it will soon go up again," she said. That is one reason she tries to interest people in asking for a check of their equipment.

Some homeowners are buying wood-burning furnaces, spending $800 or more for them, she said, something she cannot understand because "wood is so expensive."

Budget homes' features sometimes fade

In today's housing market, one of few alternatives to the high cost of new construction is to brave the glowing advertisements in the Sunday classifieds and search for an older home in need of care and repair.

Once you've moved into the cozy cottage of your dreams, however, the very elements that charmed a prospective buyer may come back to haunt you.

You vaguely remember exclaiming, "You just don't see these old claw-foot tubs anymore!" But facing it in its olden-days surroundings may prove pretty grim at 6 o'clock every morning.

New fixtures and cabinets are one answer. An expensive one. But beyond the budget, there is a subtlety involved in personalizing a "mature" home. To quote one homeowner, "The things you do to an old house should blend with what it is naturally."

His advice is sound based on his own experience. His natural answer was natural wood.

Numerous coats of old enamel were sanded off original built-in cabinets to reveal handsome grain in the framing, if not the face panels.

One coat of a waterproof sealer made the softwoods impervious to steamy shower conditions, except for a heavenly scent.

Richly customized by a surrounding rectangular counter of ¾-inch plywood covered with plastic laminate (bright orange!), the sink was framed in substantial fir 2x6s to match other trim.

A new counter-width mirror extends to the ceiling, flanked by floor to ceiling 2x6s which also serve as a light valance over the new unit. Exposed but recessed screws hold the framing together.

Track lighting, a new silver Mylar ceiling, Seth Thomas clock and mist-loving ferns complete the updated decor.

With a friend's help, the entire re-do took a few evenings and one weekend of labor, and about $300 in materials.

The stunning results, an upbeat blend of old and new, suit the house and its owners — and promise a contemporary bath for the next 50 years.

Mobile home increase set

Mobile home manufacturers across the country shipped 22,280 homes in July, an 11 percent increase over July, 1976.

The July shipment, according to a report prepared by Elrick and Lavidge for the Manufactured Housing Institute, brought 1977's cumulative shipments to 154,000, a 6 percent increase over last year.

Three regions of the country recorded strong July gains. The Pacific region continued strong with a 28 percent increase, the East North Central recorded a 21 percent gain and the South Central region registered a 17 percent increase over year ago totals.

With the Pacific region up 28 percent, most of the increase came from California. The state shipped 2,375 homes in July, a 47 percent increase over '76. California led all other states in total units shipped. Cumulatively, California has shipped 15,331 homes for the first seven months, up 26 percent.

Oregon shipped 761 units in July to bring their cumulative '77 total to 5,521, up 18 percent.

Washington totaled 1,077 units in July. Through July, Washington is ahead 20 percent over last year with 6,985 units shipped.

Arizona led the way with 464 units shipped, up 48 percent. Arizona has shipped 3,335 homes for the first seven months of 1977, up 27 percent.

Wyoming July shipments were up 45 percent and 24 percent cumulatively for the year. Utah also recorded a strong July, with 155 units shipped representing a 40 percent increase over July, '76.

New Mexico has shipped 2,747 units through July, up 51 percent over 1976s seven month total. Nevada also is experiencing strong mobile home sales with 1,255 homes shipped in 1977, up 69 percent over '76. Montana has shipped 2,047 homes through July, up 45 percent over last year.

The only two western states whose July shipments did not break their '76 total was Colorado, down 38 percent and Idaho, down 19 percent. However, Colorado cumulatively has shipped 2,164 homes through July, up 11 percent over last year and Idaho, with 2,309 cumulative shipments is up 6 percent over the 1976 January to July total.

Mobile home consumer manual

Manufacturers of mobile homes built under Federal standards are now required to give buyers a consumer manual. The manuals are to include such items as an explanation of Federal mobile home construction and safety standards, a list of state agencies to handle consumer complaints and a statement regarding warranties.

Coast problems

The West Coast has long been viewed as the Promised Land — high-paying jobs in a warm climate. But it has been hit by a variety of economic problems in recent years. Many West Coast metropolitan areas are having trouble providing jobs for people seeking work there.

Oriental paintings by Joan Beauregard are on display through October in the Lobby Gallery of Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 399 N. Garey Ave., Pomona. They include landscapes, florals and animals.

Although Mrs. Beauregard has worked mostly in acrylics in the oil style, she is now devoting herself to Oriental painting using brush and ink. She mixes her own ink using an ink stick made from pine smoke.

The artist has studied oil painting, watercolor and life drawing at Cal Poly under Walt Glaser. She is currently studying Oriental panting under Claremont artist Nigh Yeh. She is a member of Associated Artists and a member of the board of directors of the Pomona Valley Art Association. Mrs. Beauregard's works are in private collections throughout California, Texas and Hawaii. Her paintings have been on exhibit at several revolving shows as well as at the Cal Poly Library.

GISELA MAY and the Berkeley Cabaret Ensemble will present an evening of songs by Bertolt Brecht and Kurt Weill in UCLA's Schoenberg Hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

Artist to talk at D.B.

Local artist Lorraine Christensen will demonstrate portrait painting at a meeting of the Diamond Bar Artists Guild at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Chaparral Intermediate School, 1405 S. Spruce Tree Drive, Diamond Bar.

Studying commercial art in College, Mrs. Christensen decided to concentrate on portrait painting, especially children. She studied with Rio Terasaki and Lee Gomez and did further work in classes and workshops. She now teaches art at Rowland Adult School and does the art work for the Mt. San Antonio College bookstore. She is an active member of several art associations.

Further information on the meeting can be obtained from Gerry Vesey, 595-6396, or Lee Laue, 595-6573.

Gilbert art at library

The Chaffey Community Art Association will exhibit the weaving and stitchery of Cucamonga artist Gretchen Gilbert in the Garden Room of the Ontario Public Library during October. A reception for the artist will be held there at 2:30 this afternoon.

Miss Gilbert will discuss her work and answer questions at the reception, demonstrating her method of hand spinning raw wool with a simple dreidel.

Most of her weavings are created from fibers which she spins and dyes herself, using natural "ecology" products. She has used safflowers, acacia bark, onion skins, coffee, tea, various berries, juniper leaves, Brazil nut wood, herbs and a variety of other natural materials.

Miss Gilbert is a graduate of Scripps College and has studied art and literature at Cal State Los Angeles and UC Irvine, where she completed a year of doctoral study.

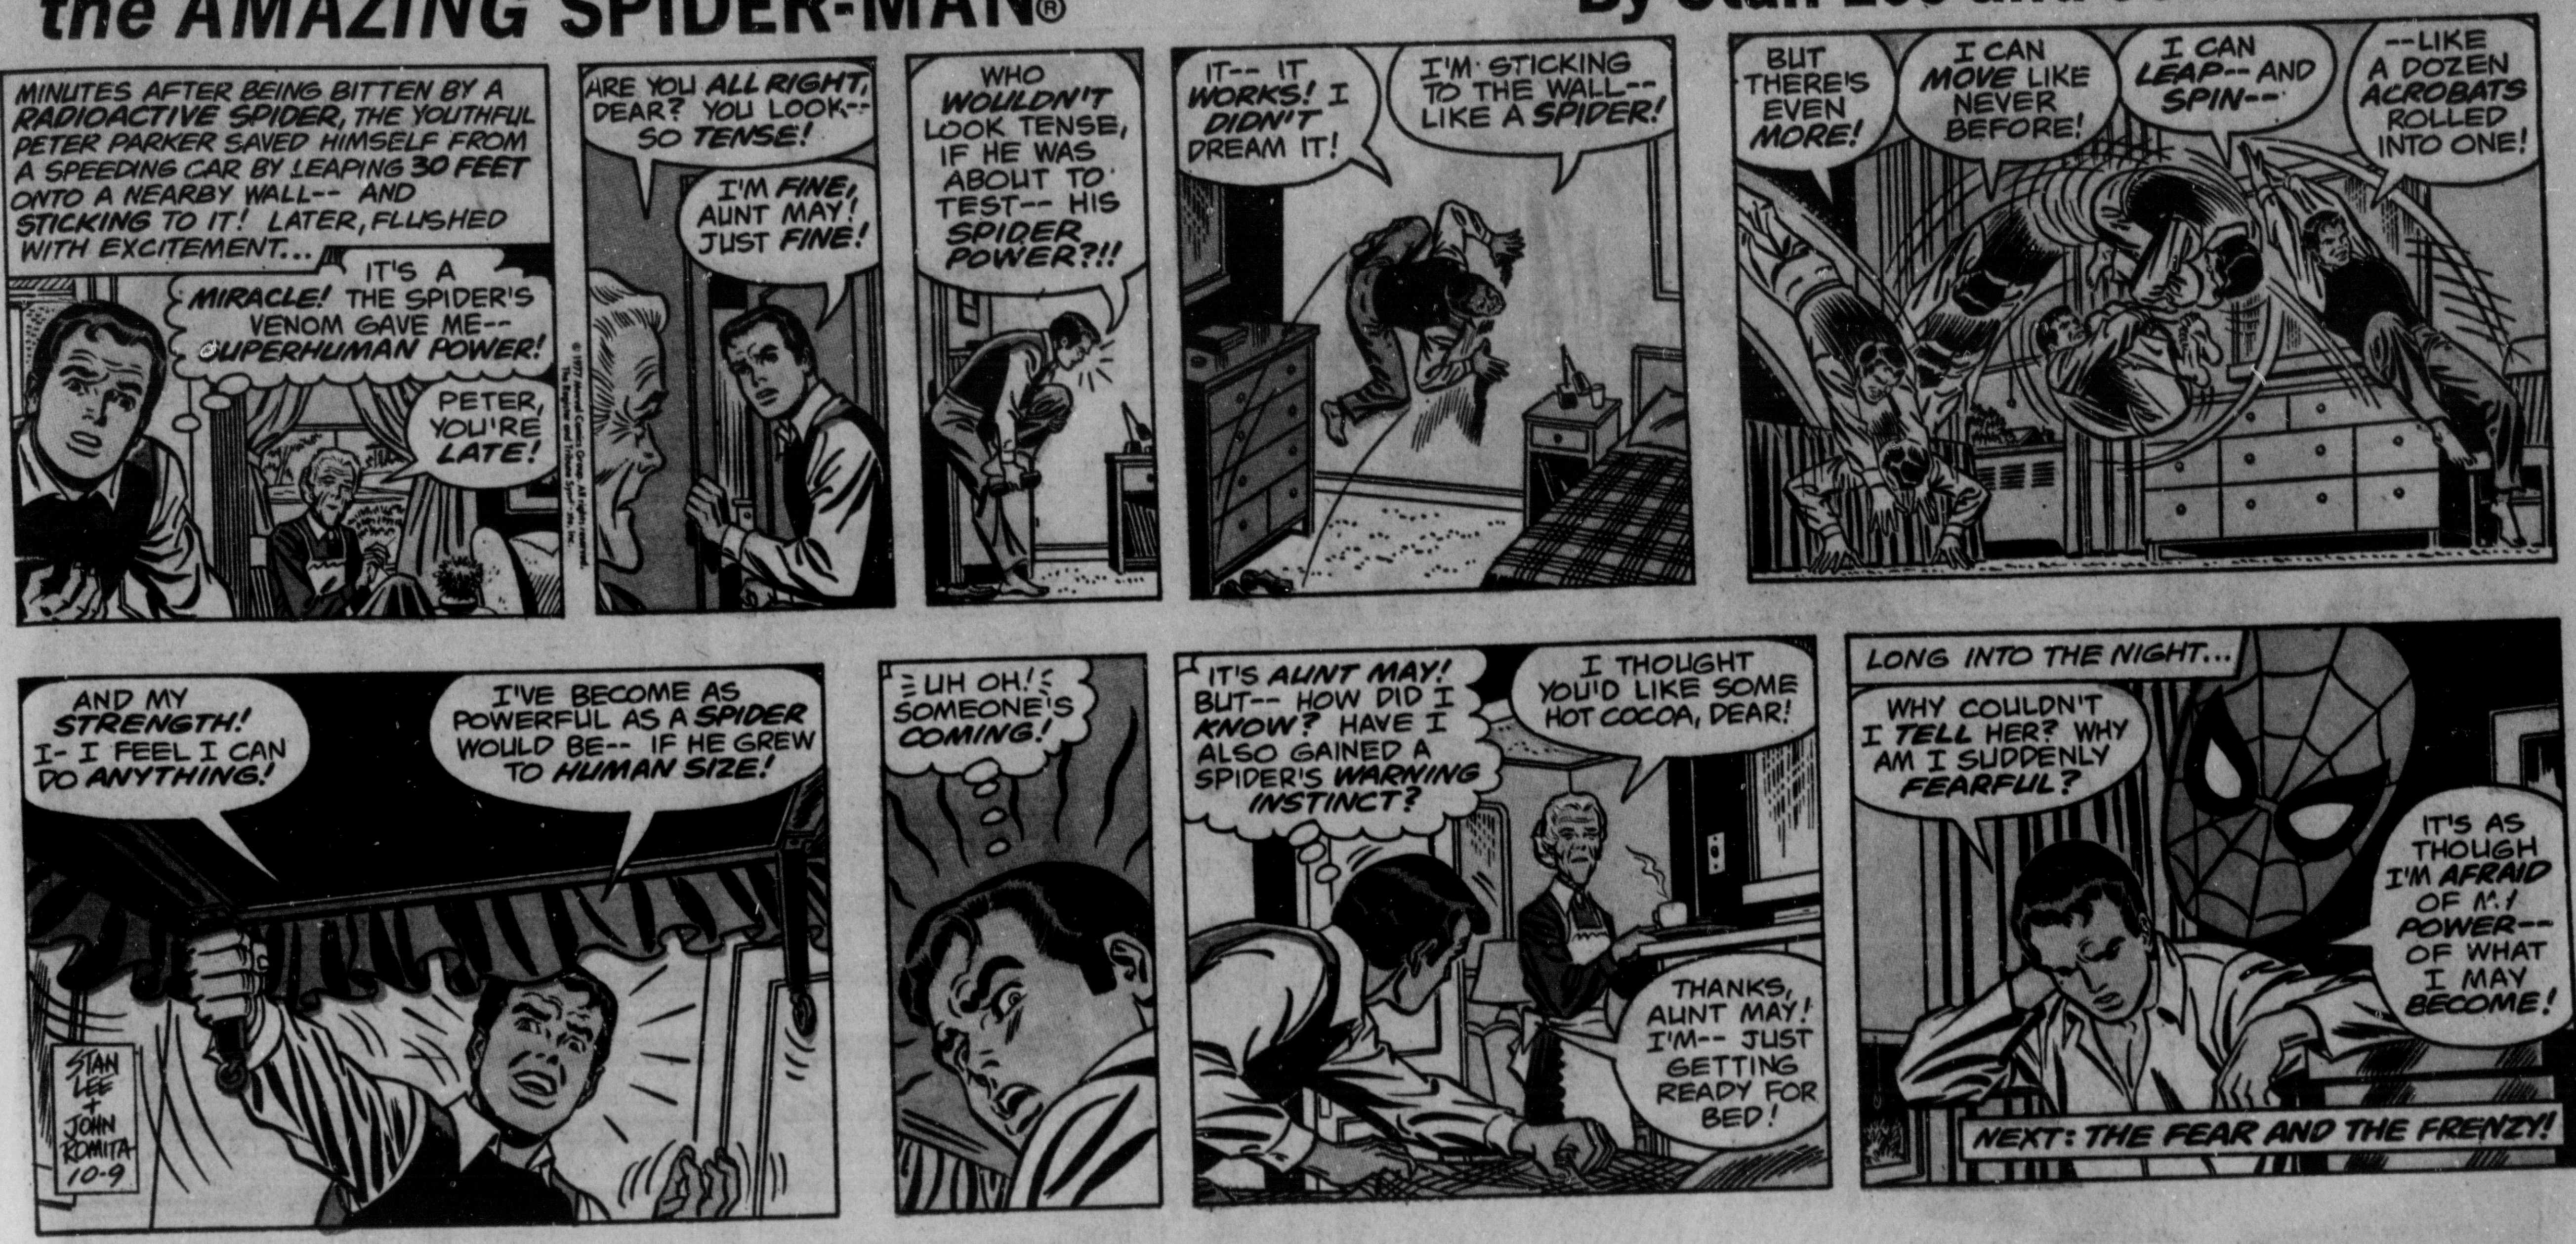
the AMAZING SPIDER-MAN®

By Stan Lee and John Romita



MINUTES AFTER BEING BITTEN BY A RADIOACTIVE SPIDER, THE YOUTHFUL PETER PARKER SAVED HIMSELF FROM A SPEEDING CAR BY LEAPING 30 FEET ONTO A NEARBY WALL-- AND STICKING TO IT! LATER, FLUSHED WITH EXCITEMENT...
IT'S A MIRACLE! THE SPIDER'S VENOM GAVE ME-- SUPERHUMAN POWER!
PETER, YOU'RE LATE!
© 1977 Marvel Comics Group. All rights reserved. The Register and Tribune Synd., Inc.
ARE YOU ALL RIGHT, DEAR? YOU LOOK-- SO TENSE!
I'M FINE, AUNT MAY! JUST FINE!
WHO WOULDN'T LOOK TENSE, IF HE WAS ABOUT TO TEST-- HIS SPIDER POWER?!!
IT-- IT WORKS! I DIDN'T DREAM IT!
I'M STICKING TO THE WALL-- LIKE A SPIDER!
BUT THERE'S EVEN MORE!
I CAN MOVE LIKE NEVER BEFORE!
I CAN LEAP-- AND SPIN--
--LIKE A DOZEN ACROBATS ROLLED INTO ONE!
AND MY STRENGTH! I- I FEEL I CAN DO ANYTHING!
I'VE BECOME AS POWERFUL AS A SPIDER WOULD BE-- IF HE GREW TO HUMAN SIZE!
STAN LEE + JOHN ROMITA 10-9
UH OH! SOMEONE'S COMING!
IT'S AUNT MAY! BUT-- HOW DID I KNOW? HAVE I ALSO GAINED A SPIDER'S WARNING INSTINCT?
I THOUGHT YOU'D LIKE SOME HOT COCOA, DEAR!
THANKS, AUNT MAY! I'M-- JUST GETTING READY FOR BED!
LONG INTO THE NIGHT...
WHY COULDN'T I TELL HER? WHY AM I SUDDENLY FEARFUL?
IT'S AS THOUGH I'M AFRAID OF MY POWER-- OF WHAT I MAY BECOME!
NEXT: THE FEAR AND THE FRENZY!

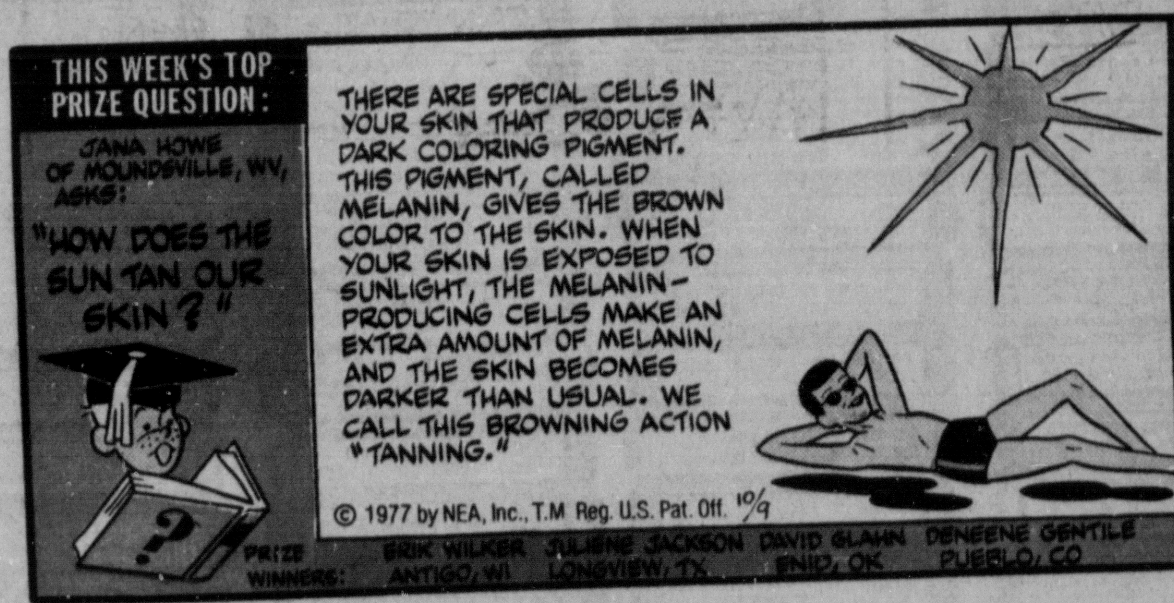
THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:

JANA HOWE OF MOUNDSVILLE, WV, ASKS:

"HOW DOES THE SUN TAN OUR SKIN?"



THERE ARE SPECIAL CELLS IN YOUR SKIN THAT PRODUCE A DARK COLORING PIGMENT. THIS PIGMENT, CALLED MELANIN, GIVES THE BROWN COLOR TO THE SKIN. WHEN YOUR SKIN IS EXPOSED TO SUNLIGHT, THE MELANIN-PRODUCING CELLS MAKE AN EXTRA AMOUNT OF MELANIN, AND THE SKIN BECOMES DARKER THAN USUAL. WE CALL THIS BROWNING ACTION "TANNING."

Make this coming Holiday Season the merriest ever by taking advantage of this great offer from the Columbia Record & Tape Club! Take your pick of ANY 11 of the records or tapes shown here—they're yours for only $1.00, plus shipping and handling. And just look at the selection you have to choose from...latest best-sellers, oldies but goodies, year-round favorites...music to suit every taste. Each one will make an ideal gift for someone on your Christmas list...or an exciting addition to your very own collection!

To order your 11 records or tapes just mail the application in an envelope, together with your check or money order for $1.86 as payment (that's $1.00 for your first 11 records or tapes, plus 86¢ to cover shipping and handling). In exchange, you agree to buy as few as 8 more selections (at regular Club prices) in the coming three years...and you may cancel your membership at any time after doing so.

How the Club operates: every four weeks (13 times a year) you'll receive the Club's music magazine, which describes the Selection of the Month for each musical interest...plus hundreds of alternates from every field of music. In addition, up to six times a year you may receive offers of Special Selections, usually at a discount off regular Club prices.

If you wish to receive the Selection of the Month or the Special Selection, you need do nothing—it will be shipped automatically. If you prefer an alternate selection, or none at all, simply fill in the response card always provided and mail it by the date specified.

You will always have at least 10 days in which to make your decision. If you ever receive any Selection without having had at least 10 days in which to decide, you may return it at our expense, for full credit.

Your own charge account will be opened...the selections you order will be mailed and billed at regular Club prices, which currently are $6.98 or $7.98—plus shipping and handling. (Multiple unit sets and Double Selections may be somewhat higher.)

You'll be eligible for our bonus plan upon completing your enrollment agreement—a plan which enables you to continue getting the records and tapes you want at the greatest savings possible! So act now—mail the application today!

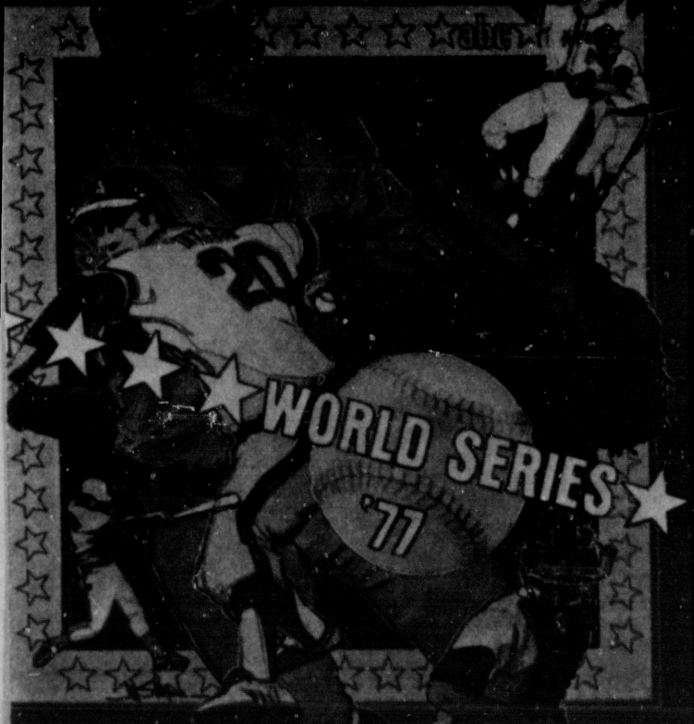
"SERVING THE POMONA & SAN GABRIEL VALLEYS FOR 15 YEARS



The pageantry of America's favorite pastime—The World Series—is telecast for the first time on ABC television. Weekend starting times will depend upon the National League representative in the Series. The winners of the National and American Leagues will meet in the best-of-seven competition in alternating cities. The schedule follows:

TUESDAY, Oct. 11—Game 1, 5PM in the American League city.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 12—Game 2, 5PM in the American League city.

FRIDAY, Oct. 14—Game 3, 5PM in the National League city.

SATURDAY, Oct. 15—Game 4, either 9:30AM (if played in a National League city other than Los Angeles), or 1PM (if the National League city IS Los Angeles).

SUNDAY, Oct.16—Game 5 (if necessary) either 9:30AM or 1PM (depending on the National League city.

TUESDAY, Oct. 18—Game 6 (if necessary), 5PM in the American League city.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 19—Game 7 (if necessary), 5PM in the American League City.

"Dick Clark's Good Ol' Days: From Bobbysox to Bikinis," a two-hour special starring Frankie Avalon and Annette Funicello as hosts, airs as an NBC Big Event, Tuesday from 9 to 11PM. The special—combining live entertainment and film footage—deals with the music, fads, fashions and attitudes of the late 1950s and early 1960s. Among the stars set to appear and perform are Connie Francis, Fabian, Martha & the Vandellas, Joey Dee, Freddy Cannon, The Kingston Trio, Bo Diddley, The Shirelles, Lesley Gore, Edd Byrnes, Dion, and Snooky Lanson—all of whom enjoyed fame during the years 1957-1963, years in which America's youth sought to turn away from the fears and responsibilities facing adults. At intervals during the special, Avalon an Ms. Funicello are joined on camera by Dick Clark in recalling the "good ol' days" which were sometimes not so good.

"Hewitt's Just Different," an original story about the friendship of retarded 16-year-old Hewitt Calder (Perry Lang) and 12-year-old Willie Arthur (Moosie Drier), airs as an ABC Afterschool Special, Wednesday at 4PM. Hewitt is large for his age, is a good baseball player and helps the undersized Willie develop his skills to make the team. Once on the team, however, Willie is taunted by his teammates for befriending a "retard," so Willie disowns Hewitt to mollify his teammates. Hewitt is crestfallen and takes to following Willie at a distance. The team bully continues to taunt Willie and when he decides to stand up to the bully, he is overpowered. Hewitt comes to his friend's rescue and teaches Willie a new understanding of the words friendship and loyalty.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Can a big-city cop get along with a small-town police chief and work well with him? Can a small-town police chief get along with a big-city cop and work well with him?

Those are just two of the questions raised on ABC's new half-hour comedy series, Carter Country, airing Thursdays at 9:30PM. The series answers both questions with an emphatic "yes." But the very different backgrounds of the two men often lead them to hilarious misunderstandings and situations on their way to working well together.

Victor French stars as Roy Mobey, a big, kindly bear-of-a-man who was born and brought up in the small southern town where he is now chief of police. He's a little bit set in his ways and occasionally nostalgic for the good old days and ways. Kene Holliday stars as Roy's new sergeant, Curtis Baker. Curtis is a black, New York-trained policeman. He is young, savvy, quick-witted and irreverent. It is inevitable that the two often have disagreements and confrontations. Underlying them all, however, is a deep mutual respect because the two men understand each other and each other's methods.

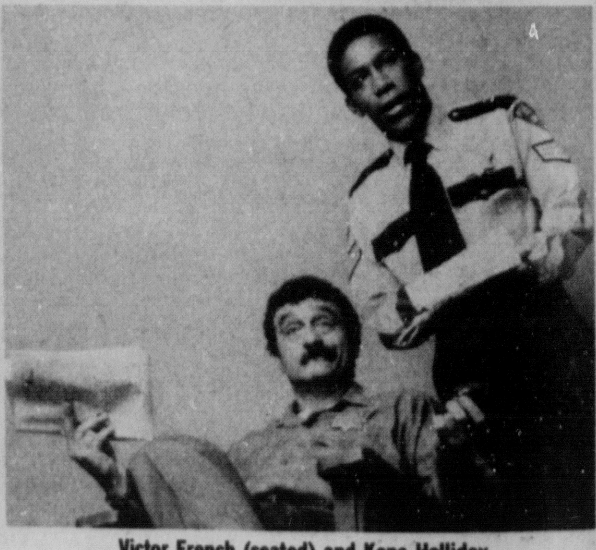
French and Holliday were born on opposite sides of the United States—French in Santa Barbara, Calif., and Holliday in New York City, but their acting backgrounds are very similar in that both have a deep love for the stage.

French started training for his career as an actor during his years at Los Angeles State College, where he earned a degree in Drama. Then he studied at the Herhert Berghoff Studio in New York City, returning to Hollywood to play leading roles in such stage plays as "All the King's Men," "Of Mice and Men," and "Night of the Iguana." For years, French has directed the Victor French Drama Workshop, a regular weekly get-together in Hollywood, so that he and other prominent actors and actresses can meet and learn, rehearse, perform and generally just "stay in shape."

Recently he starred with his wife, actress Julie Cobb, in Arthur Miller's "After the Fall" at the Company of Angels Theatre in Hollywood. In the television field, besides many guest stints on top series, he co-starred as a regular on Little House on the Prairie in the role of Mr. Edwards.

Holliday attended the University of Maryland where he earned a B.S. degree in Speech and Drama Education. Holliday is a "new face" for network television, but he has been very active on local television in Washington, D.C., and theatre-goers in New York know him for his performance in the powerful Tony-nominated play, "Streamers." In Wasyington, he was on stage with the Folger Theatre Group, the University of Maryland Main Stage, the D.C. Repertory Company and the Burn Brae Dinner Theatre.

When he wasn't on stage or in front of a camera, most of Holliday's young adult life was spent in some aspect of the living theatre. At the Black Repertory Company, he taught "Fundamentals of Acting." For the Smithsonian Institution, he was stage manager and presenter for the performing artists at the American Folklife Festival.



Victor French (seated) and Kene Holliday.

Pretty and petite 12-piece Demitasse Sets, only $9.95

When Marco Polo returned from China, he was laden with all sorts of treasure. But nothing amazed his fellow Europeans more than the snowy white, translucent pottery he brought with him.

This was the western world's first glimpse of Chinese porcelain, the fabulous material from which China's greatest artists and craftsmen made Ming vases and countless other priceless works of art.

The secret of true porcelain is in the clay. Nothing will do but kaolin clay, which is extremely fine in texture and absolutely white. Such clay is very rare.

The same clay used for Ming vases

Two of the world's most valuable deposits of kaolin lie in China; one in Li-ling in the Hunan Province, the other in Ching-te-chen in the Kiangsi Province. It seems certain that many of the original Ming vases that now grace the world's museums were made in these areas. Now you can own superb cups, saucers and other tableware made from the same rare and historic clay.

Weston World proudly presents authentic, imported Chinese dinnerware, made, hand-finished, and decorated in Li-ling and Ching-te-chen.

To appreciate their beauty, you must see them and use them — which is why we make this extraordinary, no risk offer:

PERIWINKLE

Pretty and petite 12-piece Demitasse Sets, only $9.95

When Marco Polo returned from China, he was laden with all sorts of treasure. But nothing amazed his fellow Europeans more than the snowy white, translucent pottery he brought with him.

This was the western world's first glimpse of Chinese porcelain, the fabulous material from which China's greatest artists and craftsmen made Ming vases and countless other priceless works of art.

The secret of true porcelain is in the clay. Nothing will do but kaolin clay, which is extremely fine in texture and absolutely white. Such clay is very rare.

The same clay used for Ming vases

Two of the world's most valuable deposits of kaolin lie in China; one in Li-ling in the Hunan Province, the other in Ching-te-chen in the Kiangsi Province. It seems certain that many of the original Ming vases that now grace the world's museums were made in these areas. Now you can own superb cups, saucers and other tableware made from the same rare and historic clay.

Weston World proudly presents authentic, imported Chinese dinnerware, made, hand-finished, and decorated in Li-ling and Ching-te-chen.

ASK THEM YOURSELF

Send the question, on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR KATE JACKSON, star of Charlie's Angels

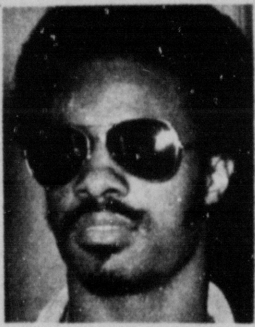
How do you feel about dialogue with bad language and blasphemy? — C.J., Meridian, Miss.

● I've never used obscenities on TV, and I hope I never have to. Even if it's in the script, I won't say "Oh, God" on TV. I don't believe in saying "God" lightly. If I were doing a wonderful film and something awful happened to someone I loved and there was a poignant moment that called for me to say, "Oh, God," that would be all right. But, so far, that moment, or that kind of script, has not come.



FOR STEVIE WONDER, singer

Seems to me that every time I've seen you get an award on TV, you give it away to someone. Why? — L.L. Krause, Joliet, Ill.

● What I'm actually doing is sharing it with those who've been most instrumental in helping me win that award. I work hard, but the people who work with me don't have it easy, either. By handing away my trophy, I'm symbolically including them in my honor.

● I equate it with homework: isolation and a lot of work. Most of the time I write, I get sick to my stomach. The thrill is not in writing but in seeing the pages grow. With the last word, the excitement makes you want to start all over again. I'm fortunate in that I'm not regimented. I can write at odd times — not set ones, as most writers do. I usually toss off a few pages between housework and fixing dinner.

FOR JACK LA LANNE, physical-fitness authority

How did you get into such an unusual business? — T.H., Alexandria, Va.

● I was a sickly boy, with poor grades and known as a "sugarholic." At 15, my mother took me to hear food naturalist Paul Bragg lecture. He saved my life. After the lecture, he talked to me for hours about natural foods and nutrition. From that day on, my life changed. Physically, I admired K.V. Iyer of India. I wanted to have his measurements. As I worked on building my body, I would match my measurements to his, and on my 19th birthday reached my goal.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

Way back in the 50's I used to adore Teresa Brewer. Whatever happened to her? — L.F., New London, N.H.

● She's busy working — mostly in Vegas and Lake Tahoe — with some guest appearances on talk shows thrown in. She's still making records and does a lot of overseas touring. This year she did a benefit in Rumania to aid the earthquake victims. She's prouder of her weight than she is of her long career. Teresa claims she's been 100 pounds since adolescence. She lives in upstate New York with her producer-husband, Bob Thiele, and three of her four daughters.

Now that fall is here and cold weather not far away, do you think this winter will be as bad as the last, and are you prepared for it? — B.C., Niagara Falls, N.Y.

● We have to go under the assumption that the next winter might be just as bad as this past one. That is why the President has ordered my Department and other Government agencies to do everything possible to see that natural gas production is increased. Just because the problem went away with the warm months, we can't afford to forget about the icy ones.

FOR TRACY AUSTIN, tennis player

Which is more important in tennis — brains or brawn? — S.S.N., Seattle, Wash.

● That's a tough question and, frankly, can't be answered. I've seen players without great skill win by sheer power — big serves, heavy ground strokes. But I've also seen smart players win over superior strength. As an aside, though, there are more "better" players around today than a generation ago.

FOR HENRY FORD II, chairman of the board, Ford Motor Company

What would surprise your grandfather the most if he could come back long enough to look your company over? — Joe Lowe, Logan, W. Va.

● I really can't think of anything that would surprise him. Cars, trucks and tractors are still the company's business. Even our work in space has roots in things my grandfather was doing when he was alive.

If you were First Lady, what's the first thing you'd try to do? — I.B., Crestline, Ohio

● I'd make the requirements for graduating students stiffer. High-school diplomas don't mean much anymore because they're too simple to come by. I'm not setting myself apart — I have it too easy, too. I'd rather be taught than have to work at learning. We're forgetting how to learn and think. I don't know why kids complain about getting too much work. I don't get enough.

FOR BENJAMIN F. BAILAR, Postmaster General

Is it costly to print so many special stamps? — Mrs. R.T.K., Key West, Fla.

● Millions of mail users in the U.S., including many stamp collectors, have indicated they like a variety of colorful stamps. It does cost more to print multicolored stamps than regular ones. However, the added cost is more than offset by the revenue received from the sales of philatelic items. In 1975 this revenue amounted to approximately $52 million, which was applied against the operational deficit of the Postal Service.

PRO AND CON

Should TV Cameras Be Allowed In The Courtroom?

PRO Chief Justice Edward E. Pringle, Colorado Supreme Court

The time has come to end the treatment of judicial proceedings as the holy of holies into which none may enter. It's important that people see exactly what is happening in our courtrooms instead of getting information from fictional characterizations. Any technique which facilitates an actual representation of court proceedings ought to be encouraged rather than discouraged. TV cameras are allowed in Colorado courtrooms, and I've never found it to cause any problem with the operation of the system. I've never seen witnesses show off or jurors become upset. If the judge is going to showboat, he is going to showboat anyway. Maybe the people ought to see it. But I've never seen it happen.

CON Prof. Geoffrey C. Hazard Jr., Yale U. Law School

There are three reasons which argue against TV in the courtroom. First, camera noise and a two-or three-person TV crew usually will be distracting. Second, broadcasting pictures of the trial participants presents them before a larger audience. This can change their behavior in the courtroom. Third, the possibility of being televised may intimidate some jurors, witnesses or litigants. Some may be afraid of retaliation if it is known they were involved in a particular legal case. The result can be that a televised trial may turn out different from one not televised. That is injustice in some sense. The difficult question is whether this risk is outweighed by the value of publicizing trials.

WHAT SETS LIV ULLMANN APART?

A special kind of beauty, masterful performances that have made her known as one of the world's great actresses and a best-selling autobiography...these are just a few of the qualities that make her a unique woman.

Roger Prigent/Sygma

By William Wolf

At 38 Liv Ullmann is the career woman who has everything — almost.

Some critics have acclaimed the Norwegian star as the world's greatest film actress working today. Her first attempt as an author resulted in an unusual autobiography, Changing, which became a best seller and a Book of the Month Club selection. She was lauded for her Broadway performance last season in the revival of Eugene O'Neill's Anna Christie. Celebrated Swedish director Ingmar Bergman writes film after film with outstanding parts for her, and she is besieged with other screen offers. She adores her 11-year-old daughter Linn, and her current status as an independent, single woman gives her freedom of choice with men.

What's missing?

Ullmann is still not a Hollywood superstar. The New York Critics Circle gave her its award for her shattering performance of a woman having a mental breakdown in Bergman's Face to Face, but at the Academy Awards last spring, she sat in the audience only to see the best-actress Oscar go to Faye Dunaway for Network. She says with resignation, "Foreigners don't usually get Oscars," but regards her performance in Face to Face as "an exam in everything I know as a film actress." She is clearly disappointed.

Mindful of her extraordinarily photogenic face as well as her talent, people talk about her as the new Garbo. Ingrid Bergman is another Scandinavian actress who succeeded in American movies. But the odds are against a star from abroad making a spectacular transition to films in English. Ullmann's efforts away from Bergman's genius have been uneven, and in the case of the ill-conceived musical remake of Lost Horizon, downright embarrassing. She was used so awkwardly that one would never have guessed she is a seasoned actress, let alone a great one.

"Normally, such disasters would have locked the doors, but I'm lucky and get second chances," she says. "Now I'm being more careful with what I choose."

One thing she doesn't have to worry about is attitudes of the sort that drove Ingrid Bergman from Hollywood when she and director Roberto Rossellini had a child out of wedlock. Ullmann was welcomed with open arms when she first went to Hollywood, even though Ingmar Bergman had fathered her daughter while she was married to psychiatrist Dr. Jappe Stang, from whom she is now divorced. (Her liaison with Bergman lasted six years.) Times have changed. Socially, Liv is adored in Hollywood; everyone vies to have her at parties and men consider her a prize date. In Changing Ullmann writes amusingly and perceptively of how Henry Kissinger had someone scout her as a possible "blind date" and then finally phoned himself prior to escorting her to an official ball.

Before leaving for a stage engagement in Norway, Liv reminisced about her book and her latest stay in the United States. "I'm getting tremendous feedback — letters from people who say they realize for the first time that there is someone else who feels as they do about life and also has contradictory reactions. My writing of the mixed feelings I have about so many aspects of life strikes a note of recognition in people who think similarly but have been reluctant to express themselves. For some reason I have received much mail from nuns and monks."

Ullmann deliberately refrained from writing the typically indulgent star-tells-all type of autobiography. Instead, she gives a free-form series of impressions, almost like a Bergman script, and subtly reveals much about herself and her questioning attitudes toward what is expected of her as a woman and mother in relation to what she wants for herself.

"Someone criticized me for supposedly not telling enough about my work as an actress," she continues. "That's ridiculous. Lee Strasberg wrote me and said he was making my book required reading for his students at the Strasberg Institute and the Actors Studio.

"That gives me great satisfaction. I suppose the letter most important to me is the one from Bette Davis. She wrote that she felt the book to be an honest, intelligent and true picture of what it is to be a woman performer, or any woman who works. This is especially meaningful, for seeing her pictures gave me the inspiration for wanting to be an actress."

Liv is elated about the warmth she encountered here. "Americans tend to be more friendly to visitors than we are in Norway, and I feel at home. It is so easy to be friendly in return. In Norway we are less open to foreigners than Americans are.

"My stay here was also good because Linn got to like New York this time. Before, she hated it and didn't want us to return. This time, she is urging me to come back. I'll tell you a funny story about Linn. At the opening-night dinner party for Anna Christie, a girlfriend of mine whom I had invited was there with a very handsome man. He and Linn got into a long conversation. Suddenly I realized that she wasn't there. Neither was he. They were gone a long time, and I began to worry. Finally, when they returned, I learned that Linn had told him that she didn't like the fish being served and suggested that they go out to a coffee shop to get a hamburger. She had made off with an attractive man. That's pretty good — even I would need nerve to do that."

Leonard De Raemy/Sygma

Linn is beautiful and graceful as well as self-assured. She takes ballet lessons, and the great George Balanchine obligingly choreographed a little dance for her. The youngster spends some of the year with her father, with whom Ullmann maintains both a close friendship and a professional relationship. The Passion of Anna, Persona, Cries and Whispers and Scenes from a Marriage are some of the Bergman films that have enhanced her reputation. (Their latest film together, The Serpent's Egg, is his first picture in English.)

Liv hints that Bergman might come to New York next season to direct her in a production of Ibsen's Rosmersholm on Broadway. It would be a theatrical event of importance — the first time Bergman would direct in New York. She also may do a Broadway musical. "I'd like to continue writing, too, but I have to decide what to write next. It is very hard work, and I'd like to take more time for the next thing I do. I wrote Changing while working in the theater, devoting time to it each day."

She is more amused than offended at being asked about the rumor mill concerning her love life. "Either people talk about me as someone who is lonely all the time or as someone running around having affairs with everybody," she says. "There was one report that I was secretly married. I don't like to deny that one because if people thought I were married, I could live quietly for years with someone and be left alone. No, I'm not secretly married. I really don't like to talk about my private life. But I can say unequivocally that I did not have an affair with Henry Kissinger, Ryan O'Neal or Warren Beatty."

With or without Hollywood, Ullmann is already assured a major place in film history by virtue of her triumphs in Bergman's masterpieces. She would be less than human if she did not want to prove she can be a Hollywood superstar, too. However, as anyone who has read her book knows, she has her own values as a person and as an artist and is not one to hunger for mere glamor or tinsel.

Merit Challenges Entire Low Tar Field To Match Taste.

Until MERIT. Until work began on the tobacco end of smoking.

By cracking cigarette smoke down into separate elements, researchers were able to isolate certain flavor-rich ingredients that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

The result was 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. Tobacco that delivers the kind of taste smokers can switch to. And stick with.

A TREASURE TROVE OF BASEBALL NOSTALGIA

Each year, more than 200,000 people visit this shrine to see everything from Mickey Mantle's locker to Joe DiMaggio's uniform.

Babe Ruth by Robert Riger

The Three Umpires by Norman Rockwell.

An Umpire and Boys by Vincent Civiletti. (Art courtesy of the National Baseball Hall of Fame Museum Inc.)

By Geoffrey Bocca

On the banks of Lake Otsego, by the Susquehanna River in Cooperstown, N.Y., the world's greatest shrine to a single sport is about to expand. The Baseball Museum and Hall of Fame has begun its second extension since World War II. It enjoys no subsidy. All the money comes from the more than 200,000 visitors who pass through the turnstile into the shrine of Gen. Abner Doubleday, the man who did not invent baseball.

Cooperstown, pop. 2,500, is so placid out of season that a recent visitor stood in the middle of Main Street at noon looking for someone to give him directions. It is so quaint that shops still sell Bicentennial souvenirs.

But the Cooperstown baseball complex is one of the sporting wonders of the world. Churchill Downs, Ky., and Aintree, England, are venerated by horse players. Lords Cricket Ground in London is called "the temple of cricket" from Canberra to Calcutta. At all these shrines the sports themselves are enjoyed, but in Cooperstown's pocket-sized ballpark only one game of importance is played each year — a ceremonial contest between two major-league teams to honor the heroes elected to the Hall of Fame that year.

So why Cooperstown? The township was settled in Indian territory by the Cooper family, and here James Fenimore Cooper wrote The Last of the Mohicans in 1826. After that, "nothing" happened in Cooperstown for 113 years. Then, in June, 1939, in a brilliant ceremony, the town was inaugurated as the birthplace of our national game.

It happened to be the birthplace of Gen. Doubleday, who fired the first shot at Fort Sumter, sparking the Civil War. Doubleday also distinguished himself at Gettysburg. In 1839 he had doodled with a game approximating baseball to be played by West Point cadets, and for simplicity's sake he is credited as the inventor of the modern game. Much of the "evidence" emerged more than 50 years later in the faulty memory of Doubleday's friend, Abner Graves, then in his 70's. Doubleday never claimed to be the inventor. When he died in 1893, his obituary in the New York Times made no reference to baseball. But he was a gallant officer, a gentleman and a sportsman. What better man could fill the role? And what more ideal home could be found than his birthplace, the lovely, unspoiled little village on the lake, miles from anywhere? In fact, the rules of the game, scarcely changed to this day, were drawn up by the Knickerbocker Club in New York in 1845.

The first players elected to the Hall of Fame in 1939 were Ty Cobb, leading with 222 of the 228 ballots, Babe Ruth and Honus Wagner with 206 apiece, Christy Matthewson with 204 and Walter Johnson with 188.

The Museum consists of a wondrous collection of baseball memorabilia, including the original lockers of great players, with their uniforms, shoes, caps and bats. This close-up view of athletic royalty is sometimes disconcerting. When we recall Joe DiMaggio's balletic spanning of the bases, we don't think of his wearing shirts with inside tags that contain such mortal information as "Dry-clean only."

Many visitors find themselves drawn more and more to the lockers and memories of the tremendous heroes who filled the uniforms. One Museum executive said that visitors often stand next to the locker of Ruth, DiMaggio or Mantle for hours, just looking, filling the uniforms with dreams. "Like the famous painting of the Duke of Wellington contemplating the tomb of Napoleon," the executive added.

There are baseball shoes, old and new, and catcher's masks dating back more than 100 years. There is a section on the Negro leagues, the youth leagues and the minor leagues. There are statues, paintings and great Norman Rockwell covers from the Saturday Evening Post and American Weekly. An entire room is devoted to the memorabilia and accomplishments of Babe Ruth.

On speakerphones one can hear the firsthand, on-the-spot account of Bobby Thomson's 1951 home run, the Babe's whiskeyish admonitions to the youth of America, DiMaggio's description of the tightrope he trod when he hit safely in 56 consecutive games.

The quasi-religious feeling inside the red-brick Georgian building is overwhelming. The Hall of Fame gallery is 89 feet long, 43 feet wide and 25 feet high. With its marble grandeur and its walls lined with plaques commemorating the 163 members, it looks like a cross between an imperial museum and a rococo Moscow subway station. One feels the only things missing are an eternal flame in an urn and the piped-in voice of Lucy Monroe singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" as she used to do — flat — at every World Series.

Sometime in the past, the Museum directorate, consciously or unconsciously, had to decide whether they presided over a museum or a shrine. Although called a museum, it actually is a shrine. It sees no evil, ennobles no villains. There is no acknowledgment of the blackest episode in baseball history, the 1919 World Series, when players on the Chicago Black Sox confessed to taking bribes. Yet surely one of the most immortal lines in baseball history is the heartbroken cry of a little boy to his fallen idol, Shoeless Joe Jackson: "Say it ain't so, Joe." The directorate justifies the omission by pointing out that one can read about the scandal in the library. The library, however, is restricted to researchers. A photograph of the triumphant Cincinnati team is the only reminder of the scandal.

Still, there is one word one can use for the Baseball Museum without embarrassment or exaggeration — "inspiring." Fans who have never been there feel its impact in their everyday lives. One of the most serious problems in British sport is the hooliganism of youthful fans in the bleachers. Unlike American kids, they have no tradition, no real soccer museum, no sporting hall of fame. For the most part, American teenagers have a real respect and understanding of their country's sports history. In Britain, a player, once retired, is immediately forgotten unless he moves on to management. I doubt if a single knife-toting British ruffian could identify Alex James (Britain's Babe Ruth) or Ted Drake (Britain's Lou Gehrig). If British youth had something like Cooperstown to visit and revere, the atmosphere in British ballparks might not be so poisonous.

A visitor to Cooperstown does face one problem: dragging himself away. A day there is insufficient. So is a week. A lifetime is necessary for the real aficionado.

HOW TO PLAN A BUDGET — AND MAKE IT WORK

By Kate Kelly

Family budgeting is surrounded by myths. Most people associate it with severe sacrifice; others fear it will reveal a bleak financial situation; and almost everybody assumes budgeting requires a lot of laborious paper work.

Budgeting doesn't deserve all these negative associations. It is simply planning, setting priorities and caring enough about large needs and desires to forgo a few momentary pleasures. The system does require a realistic look at your financial picture, but rather than cramping your style, it should help create more money for the things about which you really care. And once you establish a system, little record-keeping will be necessary.

First, you'll want to establish what your family will gain from better money management. "It's like anything else you plan. You have to have a realistic goal," says Anthony Ronda, director of marketing at New York City's Central Savings Bank.

Reasonable figures are what you'll need next. Surprisingly, many people don't know exactly what their real income is. To get your after-taxes income figure, make a list of your take-home pay, including wife's income, husband's income, part-time job income and all other money your family may receive regularly.

Next, you need to know how much money you spend each month. A careful look at your checkbook should reflect major monthly expenses. (Don't forget to average in quarterly insurance premiums and periodic medical bills.) You'll also want to examine what happens to the ever-fleeting cash. Financial expert Paul Gross suggests carrying an index card for a week, noting exactly what you spend.

Now, subtract your monthly expenses from your monthly income. Perhaps you have $20 left over. If so, saving $25 a month (just $6.25 per week) probably is a realistic goal.

Organizing your budget is the next step. You'll need to develop a list of categories. Then, taking your previous month's expenses into account, you should allot money to each category. The categories and amounts will depend on your family's spending habits. One family may put aside $5 a week for music lessons while another sets aside $10 for special car repairs. Most lists, however, will include some variation of the following:

- Savings
- Rent or mortgage payments
- Money to be set aside for periodic billings
- Past debts or loans
- Transportation
- Food
- Personal allowance
- Clothing

Savings at the top of the list? There's good reason. "You have to pay yourself first," stresses Karen Meyers, a CPA and manager with a leading accounting firm in New York City. "If you don't set it aside immediately, it will be spent."

Money set aside for periodic billings may include estimated expenses on such items as insurance, taxes (other than income), education, medical and dental bills, major household expenses and holiday money.

Involving the whole family in budgeting is also important. Obviously, both husband and wife need to agree on the new financial system, but the children should begin to understand it, too. Paul Gross recommends a weekly allowance system and notes, "The earlier you give a child a sense of responsibility, the better off he will be."

To lend spirit to your family's efforts, you might establish periodic rewards. Anthony Ronda suggests, "Since retirement or a car two years from now is a distant goal, you might allot some money for a dinner out as a reward for a successful month of budgeting."

And remember the promise about paper work? "As you become adept at budgeting, you won't even need to keep a record," says Mr. Gross. "A monthly tabulation of your checkbook should do." By recording what your checks were for, you'll be able to assess where your money was spent during the month. Even a check made out to cash should note "groceries —$30, personal—$20."

"Budgeting is like dieting," says Mr. Ronda. "It's most difficult in the beginning. Once you begin to see and feel the difference, it will become easier."

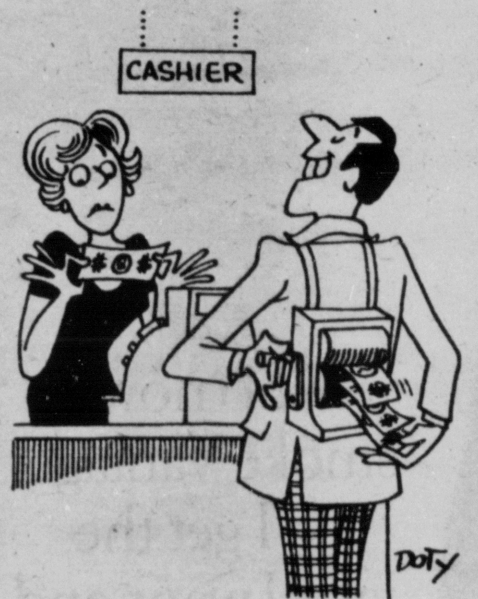
LEARN TO COUNTER THE COUNTERFEITERS

The bogus bill passer flourishes where crowds are largest. And though the Secret Service seizes millions in phony money each year, other millions still go into circulation.



By Leo Rosenhouse

When a ring of counterfeiters set up a bill-passing operation in San Jose, Calif., they were unaware that one of their intended victims had a sharp eye.

It happened in a popular malt and sandwich shop where two young men offered the cashier a new $20 bill.

"Haven't you anything smaller?" the employee asked as she accepted the bill and opened the register. "We're down to a few ones and lots of coins, so I'll have to go to a cash reserve box in the back."

While the pair waited impatiently, the cashier hurried to a desk light in the rear office and carefully inspected the twenty. What caused her hesitation in paying out change, which she actually had, was the fact that the portrait on the bill looked blurred and far too dark. Then, when her sharp eyes noted that the saw-toothed points on the edge of the colored seal were irregular, she dialed the police.

The men were seized as they were driving out of the restaurant parking lot. On their persons and in the back of the car were a number of packets of bills, some tens, but mostly twenties, and officers, holding some of the money in the sunlight, recognized them to be counterfeits.

According to U.S. Secret Service Director H. Stuart Knight, his agency, which has the task of protecting our currency as well as the President, seized nearly $32 million of the estimated $35 million in bogus money produced by counterfeiters during 1976. The bad bills were confiscated before they could be passed to the public, but the remaining $3,000,000 did get into circulation, and many hundreds of unsuspecting Americans may still be holding some of this currency.

Since 1971, Knight says the U.S. public has lost at least $21 million by accepting counterfeit money. (Don't forget that you, the innocent victim, will be stuck with the loss.) However, during that same period the Secret Service seized, before circulation, more than $181 million, which would have been a staggering economic loss had that money gotten on the street.

Although you may stay at home, avoiding hotels, theaters, amusement centers, restaurants and airports, where counterfeit bills are easily passed, you may still be the victim of bad money. Many counterfeiting rings adopt specific targets, such as shopping centers and supermarkets.

So it pays to know how to counter the counterfeiter, and the average person can do this using caution and good sense.

As a beginning, remember that counterfeiters cannot achieve the perfection of notes made by the U.S. Government at Treasury mints.

Here are a few pointers that may help you avoid becoming the victim of a counterfeiter. Even a youngster can apply them:

- Examine your money when you receive it, expecially large bills. Did you know that some counterfeiters are careless enough to put the wrong portrait on fake currency? If you remember that Benjamin Franklin is on on the $100 note, Grant on the $50, Jackson on the $20, Hamilton on the $10 and Lincoln on the $5, you can reduce the chances of being passed some bad green.
- If you do get a suspect bill, determine whether it's genuine by comparing it with another bill (usually one given to you by your bank or which has had considerable usage), and by studying the portrait. Counterfeit portraits are lifeless, with the background often too dark. Hairlines are not distinct, and the portrait merges into the background.
- Check the colored seal. Bad bills often have blunt, saw-toothed points on the circumference, and some points even may be broken off.
- Make sure the fine, crisscrossing lines on the bill's borders are clear and distinct.
- The counterfeit is usually printed on bond paper without the colored fibers of the real bill. A clandestine printer may add fine red and blue lines to simulate fibers in the genuine, but these show as glaring faults.
- Ask your bank, the police or the Secret Service to look at any paper money you think may be counterfeit.
- Don't play hero and try to apprehend a counterfeiter yourself. If you are handed a suspect bill, do not return it to the passer or make a fuss. Do delay the passer, if possible, and telephone the police or the U.S. Secret Service. Retain a description of the passer and get his auto license number if you have the opportunity. Then, surrender the suspect bill as quickly as possible to the police or the Secret Service.

Remember, most bad money is passed during holidays, at conventions — wherever crowds gather.

FAMILY WEEKLY COOKBOOK

EASY RECIPES USING ALL-AMERICAN HAMBURGER

It's the country's favorite meat, and when cooks don't know what to make for dinner, they can always pick up a package of freshly ground beef. Here are some delicious new dishes for your family to try.

By Marilyn Hansen

America's Favorite Meat

Yes, ground beef is the all-around, round-the-calendar meat favorite of American shoppers. While its use for hamburgers dominates, versatile ground beef is also used to make meat loaf, meatballs, casseroles and soups.

Usually you will find various kinds of ground beef at your meat counter. The difference is in fat content. There is no standard terminology for these ground-beef products; some of the names are: "premium," "regular," "extra lean," "ground round," "ground chuck" and "ground sirloin." The names normally do not indicate fat content. That information is needed, however, to make price comparisons among the different kinds, and stores will usually provide it if you ask.

●

Base your selection of ground beef on the type of meat you are serving and on price. For example, if you want to grill or pan broil patties, use a ground beef that has a fat content of about 25 percent. Ground beef this lean contains enough fat for self-basting to keep patties moist and juicy but not enough to cause excessive fire flare-ups on the grill or excessive shrinking.

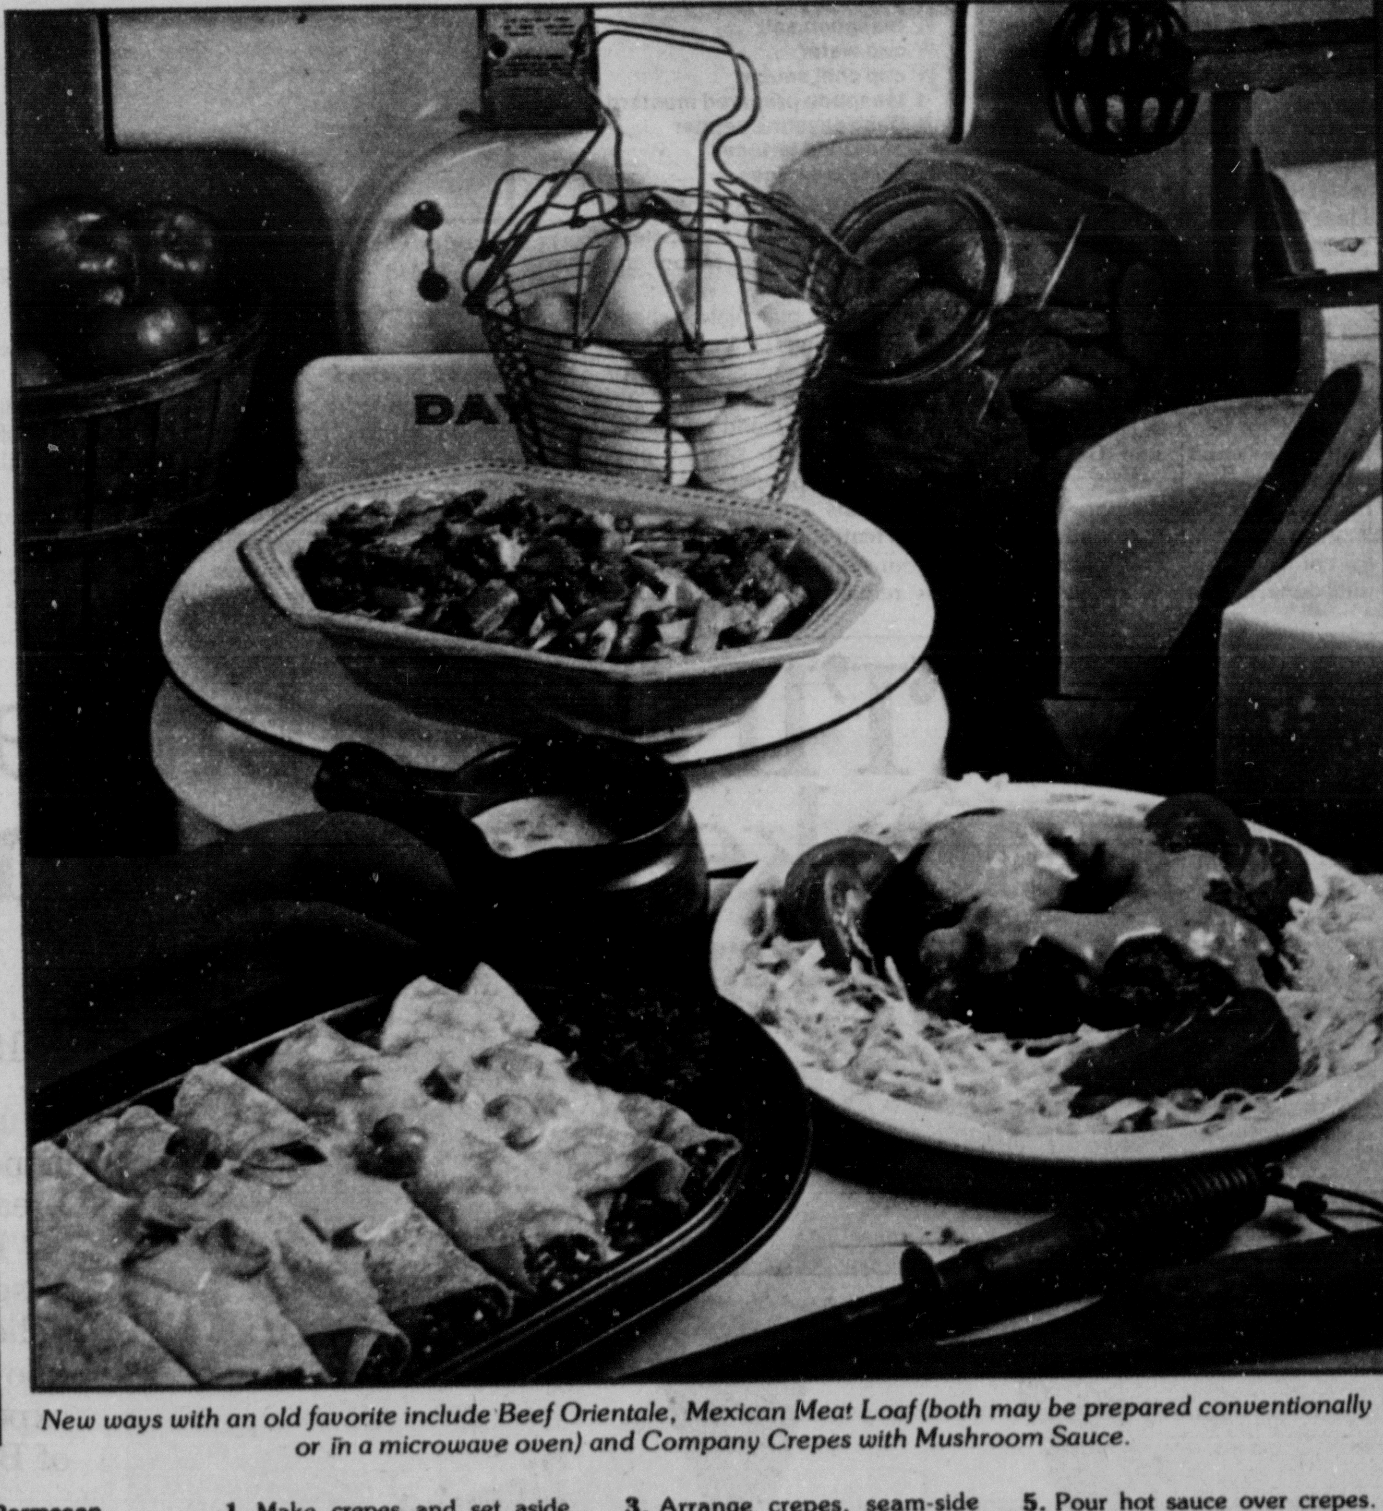
If you are planning a ground-beef casserole in which the fat is not drained off during cooking, then it may be wise to choose the extra-lean ground beef. But if the meat is to be browned and the fat drained off before other ingredients are added, you may get a better buy with regular ground beef. Leaner ground beef is more expensive than the fattier varieties, but many consumers find little difference between ground beef of differing fat content. So, before you spend extra money for the leaner product, consider whether ground beef with a higher fat content will suit your purpose.

Nutritionally, beef is beef, and it makes no difference whether it is in ground form or a standing rib roast. All beef contains the same high-quality protein,which the body must have to grow, repair tissues, regenerate blood and help build resistance to infection. Beef also contains B-complex vitamins and some essential minerals.



New ways with an old favorite include Beef Orientale, Mexican Meat Loaf (both may be prepared conventionally or in a microwave oven) and Company Crepes with Mushroom Sauce.

COMPANY CREPES

12 crepes (use basic recipe)
1 lb. ground chuck
1 can (10¾ ozs.) condensed cream of celery soup
1 cup small curd creamed cottage cheese
1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen chopped spinach, cooked and well drained
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup sliced fresh mushrooms
¼ cup diagonally sliced green onions
⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup water
½ teaspoon lemon juice

1. Make crepes and set aside. Prepare filling: in saucepan, brown beef (use shortening if necessary); stir to separate meat. Pour off fat.

2. Stir in 2 tablespoons soup, cottage cheese, spinach, Parmesan cheese and salt. Spoon about ¼ cup filling on each crepe; roll up.

3. Arrange crepes, seam-side down on oven-to-table serving dish; keep warm, covered, in low (300°F.) oven.

4. Make sauce. In saucepan, brown mushrooms and cook onions with nutmeg in butter until tender. Add remaining soup, water and lemon juice. Heat just to boiling, stirring occasionally.

5. Pour hot sauce over crepes. Garnish with parsley if desired.

Makes 6 servings

BEEF ORIENTALE

1 lb. ground beef
1 cup carrots, thinly sliced diagonally
1 medium clove garlic, minced

BEEF: AMERICA'S FAVORITE MEAT

Continued

1 can (10¾ ozs.) condensed golden mushroom soup
⅓ cup water
[illegible] pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen broccoli spears, partially thawed and cut up
½ cup bamboo shoots
½ cup diagonally sliced green onions
½ cup sliced water chestnuts
1 tablespoon soy sauce
Cooked rice

1. In large skillet, cook beef, carrots and garlic, stirring until meat loses its red color, about 5 minutes.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Viceroy

More Tobacco, Less 'Tar' than Winston or Marlboro.

Rich, full flavor is the promise that Viceroy makes.

And it's a promise that Viceroy keeps.

The method for delivering flavor is as simple as it is smart.

Instead of using stronger tobacco, Viceroy uses more tobacco, and a lower 'tar' blend than Winston or Marlboro.

The result is a mild, fully packed cigarette with an extra satisfying taste. And, yes, lower 'tar' than Marlboro or Winston.

Tips 'N' Topics

GROUND BEEF CARE

Ground beef needs special care. Grinding it multiplies the surfaces on which bacteria can grow, and mishandling gives them the chance to do so.

Taking good care of ground beef starts when you buy it. Choose packages that are well sealed, not torn. The meat should feel cold, and temperatures in the refrigerator case should be no higher than 40°F.

Warm temperatures encourage bacterial growth, so make ground beef one of your last purchases in the store. Refrigerate the meat soon after you get it home. If you plan to use ground beef within a day or two, place it in the coldest, nonfreezing part of your refrigerator. Freeze for longer storage. Ground beef will maintain its quality for four to six months at freezer temperatures of zero-degrees Fahrenheit or lower.

PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS is a distinctive concept of life insurance, achieved as a result of the years of effort Colonial Penn has devoted to meeting the insurance needs of mature people.

Our goal was a life insurance policy we can make available to all mature people—a policy whose cost would be reasonable and whose benefits would be worthwhile. With PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS, the Colonial Penn Life Insurance Company has succeeded.

Here's How PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS Can Do This For You:

During the first two years that your policy is in effect, your coverage is reduced. If you should die during the first policy year, the benefit paid to your beneficiary is $100. If death occurs during the second policy year, your beneficiary receives $250. Once two years have passed, you are covered for the full face amount of the policy.

PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS enables the older person to obtain worthwhile benefits for his insurance dollar—and, at the same time, guarantees acceptance for all applicants.

PRIME LIFE 50 PLUS also provides increasing cash values which begin in the first or second year.

The cost? JUST $6.95 A MONTH.

No matter what your age, your sex, or the condition of your health, you pay just $6.95 a month. The amount of coverage you receive is based on your sex and age. However, once you are insured the amount of your insurance will never go down, and your payments will never go up!

"I Lost 23 Pounds In Less Than Two Weeks Using The PRO-fas-TEIN PLAN."—J.D., New York.

Now . . . A Weight Reduction Plan That's Easy to Swallow!

It's true! There's probably no faster, more efficient way for losing weight than the PRO-fas-TEIN LIQUID PROTEIN REDUCING PLAN. You'll be amazed at how quickly pounds disappear from your body. You'll lose weight so fast that friends will have to notice how good you look in only a few short days. You'll lose weight the very first day you start your PRO-fas-TEIN LPR PLAN . . . and continue to lose . . . lose . . . lose!

LIQUID PROTEIN: TOMORROW'S DIET . . . TODAY!

Let's face it. If you don't eat, you simply don't gain weight. After all the talk about weight loss plans, strict diets and costly "fat" doctors, the most effective way of reducing quickly is fasting.

But, just plain fasting is not only unpleasant —it's unhealthy. If you don't eat, the first cells your body uses up are muscle tissues—not fat cells. That's why protein is absolutely essential in any modified fasting diet. With protein, your body burns off the fat cells first. And, as long as you keep taking protein, you will burn off only your fat cells. This is the key to the liquid protein reducing plan. It supplies you with all the protein you need to keep on burning off only those ugly, harmful fat cells while keeping your muscle tissue firm and healthy. It gives you all this without giving you the added fat of many "high protein" foods such as hamburgers and steak.

The liquid protein diet has been hailed by leading women's magazines as the most amazing weight reducing plan of the decade. It is recommended in "the most talked about" diet book of our time.

Until now, persons taking protein supplements were forced to cope with foul smelling, unpleasant tasting liquids in cumbersome cans.

Now there's PRO-fas-TEIN: predigested liquid protein containing all eight essential amino acids in one, easy-to-swallow capsule! No more foul-tasting, smelly liquids! No more messy spoons! Now you can take your liquid protein wherever you go. It fits conveniently in pocket or purse. Take it to the beach, the office, even a friend's house. The PRO-fas-TEIN LPR PLAN lets you take off pound after pound of fat with the proven effectiveness of the modified fast and without the unpleasantness associated with other liquid protein supplements.

YOU CAN'T HELP BUT LOSE WITH PRO-fas-TEIN . . . AND KEEP RIGHT ON LOSING!

When you follow the PRO-fas-TEIN LPR PLAN, you can't help but lose pound after pound—quickly and easily. All serious reducing programs require a certain amount of self-discipline, but the PRO-fas-TEIN LPR PLAN yields results you can see so quickly and easily, that you and your friends will be astounded.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

PRO-fas-TEIN is especially formulated for those who are on restricted diets for protein supplementation. The modified fasting diet has been proven to be the most effective method of losing pounds quickly. However, as with any weight loss program you're considering, we strongly urge you to consult your physician. We confidently invite you to discuss the PRO-fas-TEIN LPR PLAN with your doctor. If you are pregnant, or subject to certain metabolic disorders, this program is not for you. But, if your doctor gives you a clean bill of health, then you can start watching pound after pound peel off from your body in only days!

PEOPLE QUIZ/ By John E. Gibson

Are accident-prone people simply the victims of bad luck? Is there a certain personality type that gets lost easily?

WHY WE BEHAVE THE WAY WE DO

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. There's a specific reason why some people are hostile, unfriendly and antisocial and show little consideration for the feelings of others.

2. People of a certain personality type tend to get lost easily in unfamiliar surroundings and to become repeatedly confused because of their fixed concept of where north or south may be.

3. Many people pretend to get sick to achieve various desirable ends.

4. Most people who take drug overdoses do so because they're tired of living.

5. The reason more accidents happen to some people than to others is largely a matter of luck.

6. When faced with vexing problems or under severe mental stress, many men will stop in a bar for a "quick one" — even if they don't particularly want a drink; and many women under similar emotional stress will visit their hairdresser or beautician — even when they have no actual need for their services.

ANSWERS

1. True. At Britain's Bradford University 200 students were given a battery of personality tests "to assess their attitudes toward themselves and specific persons and groups." Results: it was generally found that a person's attitude toward himself was duplicated in his attitude toward other people. The investigators concluded that self-rejection not only is a major factor in individual hostility but also appears to play an important role "in industrial friction, intergroup relations — even international clashes."

2. True. Studies at the University of Miami show that dogmatic (stubborn, opinionated, overbearing, close-minded) people often get it firmly in their minds that north is to the left or right of them and continue to think so when they are in different locations. Psychologists term this phenomenon directional disorientation, and it's one of the easiest ways to get lost in a strange neighborhood.

3. True. Studies at the United States International University demonstrate that the use of sickness as an adaptive strategy is far more widespread than many may think, particularly among children, who often view sickness as paying off in more desirable and advantageous ways than activity. These children expect that others will often sympathize with sickness and rarely be antagonistic toward the sick person. The study further showed that in only one situation — the gaining of attention from peers — was activity viewed to be a strategy superior to sickness.

4. False. A study of 128 subjects, who were interviewed by Britain's Department of Health and Social Security immediately after their recoveries from overdoses, indicated that just 44 percent said that they wanted to die. The most frequent reasons for the overdoses were seeking help, escaping from a situation and, in one case out of five, trying to influence someone. The latter response was likely to come from someone under 21 and is related to an attempt to win back a friend after a threatened breakup of a relationship.

5. False. Research at the University of California shows that "in general, the accident-haver is emotionally less mature, less responsible, more antisocial and not as well adjusted as the relatively accident-free person. Accident-prone people tend to have a more disturbed life history, such as an unhappy childhood, family disruption and an uneven work record." The anguish resulting from emotional conflicts tends to find physical expression in the trauma caused by the bruises and broken bones sustained in accidents.

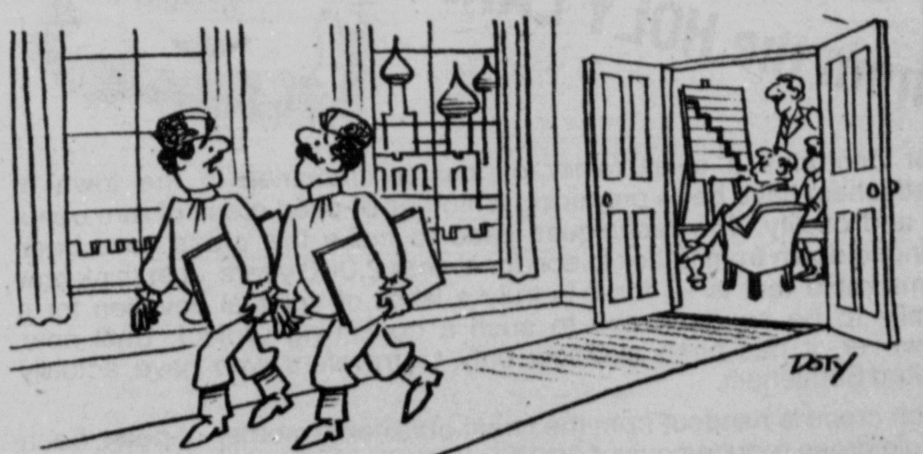
6. True. A National Association for Mental Health study points out that everyone copes daily with a variety of stresses, and now and then problems threaten to assume such proportions that people find it difficult to take them in their stride without talking about them with someone they feel comfortable with and trust — doctors, clergymen, professional counselors or friends. When such help is unavailable, a person may turn to the traditional listeners: the bartender and the beautician. Although not trained to help, they are nonetheless important because they offer the beleaguered person an opportunity to verbalize problems and, perhaps, as a result, to resolve them.

Observations

Harvest secret. What makes the U.S. the world's most efficient food exporter? The Soviets employ many more farm workers than we do, yet they harvest only 80 percent as much grain and get but 65 percent as big a grain yield per acre. They use 15 pounds of grain to produce 1 pound of livestock—we do it for half that. A farm worker in the Soviet Union feeds seven people; each American farmer, 55.

Here's the answer. America's secret is partly weather and climate but largely the widespread use of fertilizer and suitable machinery in our superbly efficient agricultural system. Soviet farms also suffer from being too large, adds agronomist Ronald Nairn of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars: they're generally run by planners too far away to make quick, critical decisions. Russian farmers produce prodigiously on their own private garden plots but not on the "collectives," demonstrating once more that free enterprise is a powerful economic spur to producing bounty for all.

The key: energy. Nowhere is the dependency of economic growth on energy growth more evident than in feeding America. Growing and processing food now account for 16.5 percent of the energy the U.S. consumes. Part of this goes to fuel ever-more-complex machines, and for crop-drying, irrigation, and transportation. Much goes, too, for pesticides, herbicides, fungicides, and fertilizers made from petroleum feedstocks.



"It's our new five-year plan. Sow a little, reap a little, and buy grain in America."

Food for thought. The lesson is clear. If American agriculture is to continue to prosper, farmers must have secure energy supply: one reason the American Farm Bureau Federation wants an end to petroleum price controls so there'll be incentive to find more energy in this country. For U.S. farmers recognize what Russian farmers are trying to tell their own government: nothing brings out supply quite like a marketplace freed from excessive government regulation. What works for grain works also for oil, gas, and coal.

HEART MURMURS IN CHILDREN

Some important good news: Murmurs are usually nothing to worry about, and a child who has one need not have his activity restricted in any way.

By Alvin N. Eden, M.D.

As a practicing pediatrician, I examine a large number of infants and children each day. It is unusual for me to get through one day without hearing at least one heart murmur through my stethoscope. The great majority of the murmurs that I hear are absolutely harmless. Nevertheless, the words "heart murmur" strike terror in the hearts of parents, and it is difficult to convince the mothers and fathers of children with functional murmurs that they have no need to worry.

Let's start by defining what we mean by a heart murmur. It is an unusual sound that is heard while listening to the heartbeat through a stethoscope. These murmurs vary in loudness, pitch and location. There are two separate and distinct types: functional (a better word would be "innocent") and organic.

The functional or innocent murmur is a normal finding and does not mean a thing. If your child's physician tells you that your child has a functional murmur, you can relax and forget about it. On the other hand, an organic heart murmur represents some type of heart disease. Therefore, it's all-important for your pediatrician to determine which type of murmur your child has. He usually can do this without too much difficulty with his stethoscope. Sometimes various laboratory tests, including an electrocardiogram, are needed. If he concludes that your child has an innocent murmur, that should be the end of it. If the murmur turns out to be organic, some specialized tests may need to be performed to decide what method of treatment is required. An organic murmur means either that the child has some type of heart defect that he was born with (congenital heart disease) or that he has some type of acquired heart disease (such as that following some cases of acute rheumatic fever).

The statistics of heart murmurs in children are very interesting. About one child in three has an innocent or functional heart murmur at one time or another. In some studies the incidence of functional murmurs is said to be as high as 50 percent. Functional murmurs are heard less often in infants than in older children. They are heard most frequently in youngsters between 3 and 6 years of age. Organic heart murmurs occur in only about six out of every 1,000 children.

What is disturbing is the large number of children with innocent murmurs who are forced to lead unnecessarily restricted lives. About 25 percent of the children I examine with innocent murmurs fall into this category. This may be due to misdiagnosis, where an innocent murmur may be mistaken for an organic murmur. More often, however, trouble rests with the parents. Even though their doctor has reassured them that there is nothing to worry about, they simply cannot accept that any murmur can be normal. These parents take it upon themselves to restrict their child's activities and thus unnecessarily create tremendous psychological and emotional problems.

Pulmonary artery to right lung.
Pulmonary artery to left lung.
Veins
Veins return blood from heart muscle to right side of heart.

Of course, this misunderstanding on the part of the family may be due in part to inconclusive and incomplete advice that they have been given by their physician. A doctor not only must explain to the parents that the murmur is functional and innocent but also must be certain that they understand that this type of murmur does not mean anything is wrong with the child's heart. These parents must be convinced that since the innocent murmur is not related to heart disease, restricting the child's activities is ridiculous.

In many cases a functional murmur disappears as the child gets older, but it makes no difference whether this happens. We still do not know what causes an innocent murmur. There are many theories, but the exact mechanism is not clear. We do know, however, that the child with a functional murmur has a completely normal heart. No special supervision is necessary, and the murmur should not pose any restrictions on the amount or type of activity the child undertakes.

How to safely lose 8-80* lbs. fast -- while using Liquid Protein to naturally stop hunger signals

©1977

"New Jersey Doctor develops new improved Liquid Protein Weight Loss System which helps patients achieve quick and lasting weight loss"

By Richard Swan

Most people think hunger is controlled by their stomachs. It isn't. Your 'Hunger Control Center' is located in your head. It's called your Hypothalamus Gland.

By using Dr. Litten's "Liquid Protein Weight Loss System," you can naturally command your Hypothalamus Gland to stop sending hunger signals. You can then lose all the weight you want, faster than you ever have before, without hunger. Since all of us have a Hypothalamus Gland – everyone, whether 8 lbs. or 80 lbs. overweight, can succeed with Dr. Litten's system.

BEFORE

Weight: 157 lbs.
Waist: 34"

AFTER

Weight: 129 lbs.
Waist: 28"

"On Dr. Litten's system, I had no side effects and mostly lots of energy – more energy than I ever had in my life. Getting on the scale every morning is a joy. I've lost 28 lbs. and I'm still losing. It's a pleasure now to buy clothes in small 7–9 sizes, instead of 15–16 or larger. It's the only diet I have ever been on that I have never felt hungry, irritable or tired. My whole life and outlook has changed – a new job, new clothes. I take much, much better care of myself than ever before."

Janice Mount
Mt. Holly, New Jersey

BEFORE

Weight: 208 lbs.
Waist: 40"

AFTER

Weight: 164 lbs.
Waist: 32"

"Dr. Litten's system has given me the best results I have ever had out of all the diets; grapefruit, diet pills and Stillmen diets. On Dr. Litten's system, I lost 8 lbs. the first week and then went on to lose 44 lbs. As a fireman, I was concerned about the loss of strength, which I had experienced on other diets. But I was able to work without any loss of strength. Since going off the system, I haven't gained one pound back."

Parris Branch
Cherry Hill, New Jersey

How much can you lose? Some people lost 13–15 lbs. the first week. Others lost 20–24 lbs. in just 14 days. Total weight losses of 20, 30, 50 and even 80 lbs. were recorded. The number of pounds you can quickly shed and keep off will depend on how much you're over your ideal weight.

How is it possible to safely lose weight that fast without hunger? As a copywriter, that's what I wanted to know. So I flew to Cherry Hill, New Jersey and set up an interview with Dr. Litten. Here's what I found out.

Swan: How does your system work?

Dr. Litten: My system utilizes Liquid Protein and works in two steps. First, you temporarily change your body chemistry to stop hunger signals. This allows you to lose weight very quickly without the usual torturous hunger pangs. In step two, you permanently change your 'heavy body chemistry' to a 'slim body chemistry.' Like a slim person, you'll crave food less, so you'll keep the weight off.

Swan: Why does an overweight person have to change their body chemistry?

Dr. Litten: Because medical research has finally revealed what overweight people have known all along – they have a different body chemistry than slim people. The key to losing weight and keeping it off is to attack the 'heavy body chemistry' problem.

Swan: What is a 'heavy body chemistry?'

Dr. Litten: Heavy people have more fat cells and larger fat cells than slim people. This gives them a 'heavy body chemistry.' A 'heavy body chemistry' has three drawbacks. First, it causes heavy people to crave food more than slim people. Second, it speeds up the conversion of food into new fat cells. And finally, it prevents fat cells, which are already there, from being burned up.

Swan: It sounds like a stacked deck. But can't a heavy person still lose weight and keep it off if they have will power?

Dr. Litten: Not really. And again the problem is body chemistry. When you starve yourself, your body begins to burn up fat for its energy. It also burns muscles and vital organs. You literally become a cannibal. Since some of the weight you lose is muscle and vital organs, you still have too many fat cells. Which means that you still have a 'heavy body chemistry.' As soon as you quit your starvation diet, your mind gives, eat, eat, eat signals to repair and replace your burned up muscles and vital organs. You then gain all your weight back and sometimes more.

Swan: Can this vicious circle ever be broken?

Dr. Litten: Yes. But you'll never break it with pills, fad diets, or by using will power to starve yourself; because none of these methods attack the real problem – a 'heavy body chemistry.' But my "Liquid Protein Weight Loss System" does.

Swan: How can you change your body chemistry?'

Dr. Litten: The key to my system is a special Liquid Protein. You drink it 5 times a day. Approximately 24–48 hours after you begin my system, your body chemistry will change. Your body starts to generate natural appetite suppressors. These suppressors travel to your Hypothalamus Gland and quiet your 'Hunger Control Center.' Because of this, 97% of the people who have followed my system experienced no hunger when they skipped eating.

Swan: What about step two of your system?

Dr. Litten: Again the key to step two is liquid protein. As you quickly lose weight, your protein requirements are taken care of by the liquid protein – not by burning muscles and vital organs. You lose what you want to lose, namely fat cells and excess water. As your fat cells quickly melt away, so does your 'heavy body chemistry.' And since you haven't burned up muscles and vital organs, there are no eat, eat, eat signals to replace these tissues.

Swan: What happens when you reach your ideal weight?

Dr. Litten: The obvious benefit is that you'll have a slimmer, sexier figure. But there's an extra bonus. Along with your attractive outside appearance, you'll now have a 'slim body chemistry.'

Dr. Litten: We all know the slim person who eats what he wants. He enjoys food more than you because he is not guilty about eating. But he never puts on any weight. You'll have his or her body chemistry. You'll actually crave food less. You'll be able to eat delicious well-balanced meals and totally satisfy your hunger. But since you'll be eating less, you won't gain your weight back.

Swan: Is your system safe?

Dr. Litten: It's completely safe for anyone in normal health. But, of course, you should check with your doctor before starting my or any other weight loss system.

Swan: How does your system compare to clinical Liquid Protein programs?

Dr. Litten: With my system, you lose weight virtually as fast as the clinical fasting programs. But unlike most clinical programs, you must eat a dinner-time meal on my system. Eating makes my system much easier to follow than the clinical cold turkey fasting programs.

Swan: It sounds great. But I'm from Missouri. Do you have case histories of successful users?

Dr. Litten: Yes. I can give you their stories and even supply before and after photos.

Dr. Litten supplied hundreds of case histories and before and after photos. Since space is limited, I've just shown two before and after photos, along with three stories. But before you read them, let me mention this. I did my own research and found that leading universities have conducted studies which verify the effectiveness of Liquid Protein for achieving rapid weight loss.

BEFORE: 163 lbs. 34" waist
AFTER: 120 lbs. 28" waist

"I was going into a size 18 dress when I started Dr. Litten's system. I lost enough weight, 43 lbs., to fit into my 23 year old daughter's size 5 dungarees. It is an easy and fast way to lose weight. It's not boring. I lost 10 lbs. the first week and I didn't feel the usual hunger pangs."

Betty Mahoney
Cherry Hill, New Jersey

BEFORE: 260 lbs. 48" waist
AFTER: 178 lbs. 37" waist

"When I started Dr. Litten's system, I was a diabetic and had hypertension. I lost 13 lbs. in seven days. While taking the protein, I was never hungry and I worked in a restaurant, where I would pick constantly before. I was weighed every 3 days and every time I was weighed, I constantly lost 1 to 3 lbs. Now that I am off the program – and 82 lbs. lighter – I'm just not as interested in food as I was."

John Valentino
Gloucester, New Jersey

HYPOTHALAMUS GLAND
Liquid Protein
Natural Appetite Suppressors

Dr. Neil Litten explains how his "Liquid Protein Weight Loss System" stops hunger. Contrary to popular belief, your hunger is not controlled by your stomach. It's controlled by your Hypothalamus Gland. Approximately 24 — 48 hours after you begin taking Liquid Protein on Dr. Litten's system, your body chemistry will change. Your body will begin to generate Natural Appetite Suppressors. These suppressors will travel to your Hypothalamus Gland and quiet your 'Hunger Control Center.' The article below will explain how you can safely lose all the weight you want — faster than you ever have before — without hunger.

BEFORE: 167 lbs. 35" waist
AFTER: 114 lbs. 26" waist

"I experienced no hunger from the beginning. I lost 53 lbs.–8 lbs. in the first week. During my 'fat days' I slept more than 12 hrs. a day. Soon after I began the system I became an early morning riser– my energy was abundant."

Shirley Watson
Delran, New Jersey

Dr. Litten's system worked for Betty, John and Shirley and can work for you too.

WHAT CAN THE SYSTEM DO FOR YOU?

After you follow the system, the following benefits can be yours:

- You can 'safely' lose weight faster than you ever have before.
- Lose inches off your waist, hips, thighs and banish ugly cellulite bumps.
- You won't be hungry, so little will power is needed.

ROASTING THE STARS

By Joey Adams

Humor columnist Joey Adams is the author of many books, including Here's to the Friars: The Heart of Show Business.

Milton Berle said to Frank Sinatra: "Don't just sit there, Frank — enjoy yourself — hit somebody." Don Rickles noted: "You got a great voice, Frank, too bad it hasn't reached your throat." George Jessel said: "Frank has never let anything put him down. Once he went to visit a little old man in a hospital in Hoboken, and he sang to the poor soul for an hour. When he finished, he said to him, 'I hope you get better,' and the little old man said, 'You, too.' "

At celebrity roasts, such as this Friars Roast in honor of Frank Sinatra, luminaries come from all over the world — not to praise the emperor but to bury him. That's the way it is with show people — they do you in to do you proud. The idea of the roasts is — if you can't think of anything nice to say about the guy — let's hear it. These show-business organizations pride themselves on the massacre of their "dishonored" guests.

A good roastmaster never unintentionally insults anybody. It's premeditated murder. Milton Berle said about Henny Youngman: "I've known Henny, man and boy, for 40 years — and I don't like him any more as a man than I did as a boy." Uncle Miltie about Howard Cosell: "Everybody is always insulting Howard, spitting on him, abusing him — and rightly so." Henny Youngman about Berle: "He doesn't have ulcers — but he's a carrier."

You can always pick out actors or politicians by the glazed look that comes into their eyes when the conversation wanders away from themselves. That's why we go to work on one another. I remember the Georgie Jessel dinner. Bob Hope said: "That Jessel knows a lot — he just can't think of it. I like him. I have no taste, but I like him."

Don Rickles is a very gentle man until he faces an audience — and then he makes Attila the Hun sound like a Boy Scout. Don said to Milton Berle: "You got a nice personality — but not for a human being." Looking at Ernest Borgnine he said: "Hey Ernie — who else was in the accident?" To Howard Cosell: "I'd bring you a present — but what do you give a guy who has nothing?" He said about Dean Martin: "I won't say he drinks — but somebody gave him a hot foot, and he burned for four days."

At the vivisection for Rickles, they all waited to see Don get the hot seat. Dr. Joyce Brothers said: "He is the kind to help old ladies halfway across the street." Jan Murray finished him off: "Rickles is the man about whom Idi Amin once said, 'From him I could learn.' "

I hate to do political jokes — too many of them have been getting elected. But what do you do when you face a dais of congressmen and senators as well as a President, a mayor and a governor. You treat them all alike — you kill them all equally. "This Congress," I said, "doesn't care whether the budget is balanced or not — they get paid either way. There is one solution — put them on commission." I said about one congressman: "They elected him — just to get him out of town." Bob Hope said: "The more you listen to political speeches, the more you realize this is a land of promise."

Everyone loves to razz the man in the White House. I said at one Presidential dinner: "Jimmy Carter's only conflict of interest is — how do you sell a brother?" Of course, Plains, Ga., comes in for some heckling: "It's so small that the mayor is an Elk — a real elk." Or how about "Plains is so small that they can't afford a sanitation department, so a cleaning woman comes in twice a week." And "Plains' sewerage system is a goat, the dogcatcher is a mean cat, the traffic light only has one color, and they can't afford X-rated movies so once a week somebody leaves his shades up."

And the insults go on and on. FW

YOU CAN IMPROVE YOUR MEMORY

Paying attention and using visual imagery the way a child does are just two of the simple techniques you can learn to improve your ability to recall.

By Kenneth L. Higbee

"I have a bad memory." You've heard that complaint a thousand times, but, unfortunately, most people don't do anything to improve their memories.

Many believe that they were born with a bad memory and that little can be done to change it. Actually, memory ability does not depend on innate capabilites or brain power as much as it depends on acquired techniques and skills.

Other people try to find the "secret" that will take the work out of remembering. In fact, there is no single secret to never forgetting anything. Neither is there a completely effortless way to remember. Remembering is a learned skill, and improving memory is just like acquiring any other skill — you must work at it.

Pay Attention

Sometimes when you complain about not being able to remember, you are blaming your memory for something that is not its fault. You must know a thing before you can forget it, and often what we really mean when we say that we forgot is that we never really knew it in the first place — we simply were not paying attention.

Failure to pay attention is probably the most common reason why we "forget" the names of people we meet. When we are introduced, our minds are on something else. (We might be waiting to hear our own name, or trying to think of a clever thing to say after the introduction.) You can improve your memory for names by consciously paying attention and by making sure you get the name in the first place (such as asking the person to repeat it or using it in the conversation).

Failure to pay attention is also a common cause of absentmindedness. When you forget, for example, where you left your keys or whether you turned off the lights at home, it is often because you were not consciously paying attention to what you were doing when you put down the keys or left the house. Your mind was on something else—it was literally "absent." Thus, you can reduce absentmindedness by concentrating on what you are doing, perhaps even telling yourself at the time, for example, "I am putting the car keys on top of the refrigerator."

Make It Meaningful

Anything you can do to make material meaningful to you will help you remember it. When the material itself is not meaningful, you can sometimes give meaning to it by structuring it in a rhyme or jingle. For example, as children, we remembered how many days there are in a month from the rhyme, "Thirty days has September, April, June and November....''; and young children learn the alphabet with the aid of a sing-song rhythm. As adults, we can invent rhymes, too—and have fun as well. Names can be made meaningful by using substitute words to remind you of the names. A Miss Colby might be remembered by coal-bee, and a Mr. Henderson by hen-door-sun.

Associate It

Association refers to relating the thing you want to remember with something you already know. For example, most people can draw a rough outline of Italy better than they can of Denmark because they have learned to associate Italy with a boot. Similarly, one can remember the difference in spelling and meaning between "principle" and "principal" by remembering that "a principal is a pal."

Picture It

The saying that "one picture is worth a thousand words" usually refers to the effectiveness of a picture in communicating an idea that would take many words to express. People remember pictures better than words. Thus, anything you can do to form a mental picture of something you want to remember will help you remember it.

Young children use visual imagery quite frequently, but as we get older and acquire more language skills we think and remember more in words than in mental pictures. Thus, one way to improve our memories is to become a little child in this respect.

These techniques do not, of course, guarantee you will never again forget something, but they will help you remember more. Try them and see — right away, before you forget.

If you have problem hair, read this—

AT 42, I HAVE TO CUT 2 INCHES OFF MY HAIR EVERY 2 MONTHS,

As it is, I keep my hair exactly 23 inches long. And it's still so thick and so strong that I can hardly force a comb through it. And it has so much life and shine that, when I recently did a TV commercial for a leading hair company, the producer asked one of the staff to lightly pat face-powder on it, so it wouldn't blind the camera.

Most 18-Year-Olds Don't Have Hair This Healthy. But I've MADE IT That Way. And So Can You . . . If You'll Simply Follow My Five "Golden Rules" For The Kind Of Hair Your Man Can't Resist.

As you may have read on these pages before, even at 42, beauty is my business. I sell the way I look, as a model and as a beauty expert. And as I grow older and older, more and more women begin to believe my essential message—that you can make yourself beautiful, and keep yourself beautiful, despite any number of years.

Nowhere, but nowhere, does this hold more true than with your hair. Because other women can look at me, and excuse their own appearance by saying that I was "born lucky" as far as keeping my face and figure trim and young (which is not at all true, incidentally). But when they realize that I have been a two-process blonde for over 20 years — that I both bleach and color my hair — and my hair STILL looks like this . . . then they KNOW that I've discovered something that can work for THEM too.

(And that may, incidentally, give them some of the most delightful romantic moments of their life.) So let me put it as bluntly as this —

It Took Me 20 Years To Find Out How To Make Your Hair Thicker, Longer, Faster-Growing. With Such Dazzling Life And Shine That Your Man May Not Be Able To Keep His Hands Off It. And I Can Teach It To You In A Single Weekend —

Let me share just a few of them with you:

Age has nothing to do with beautiful, healthy hair. Knowledge does. And the first thing you have to know is this: Re-growth of your scalp and hair cells occurs 7 times as fast as other body cells. That's why, even if you're giving your body proper nourishment today, you may still be starving your hair.

Therefore, great-looking hair demands a special hair diet. A check list of the right vitamins and the right foods to make that hair grow as thick and as fast as it possibly can. I list every one of them for you . . . tell you how to get them in your daily diet easily and inexpensively . . . have you "eating your way" to a gorgeous head of hair — overnight — at exactly the same time that you eat your way to a more beautiful face, and a slimmer body.

This is step one—food. Step two, believe it or not—is sleep. Most women ruin their hair by the way they sleep (and I do not mean curlers). Therefore, sleep my way for a week (see page 9), and your mirror may astound you when you wake up the eighth morning. (Extra bonus here: a wrinkle-smoothing treatment for your face.)

Then We Go On, To Remove The Hidden Causes Of Brittle, Easily-Breaking Hair . . .

Believe it or not, and I'll prove this to you on page 8, I have made one tiny change in the way friends comb and brush their hair, and that hair has immediately stopped breaking. Even with women whose hair has been "hopeless" for years—one hour was all it took to give them the "body" they had dreamed about!

And also, incidentally, while we're talking about your comb and brush, did you know that right now they are the villains that are taking the shine right out of your hair!

Let me repeat this fact, because it's so terribly important: Forget about spending a single penny on any commercial product whatsoever to put a glorious shine in your hair. First, turn to page 8, and make the one simple change I tell you. If your hair doesn't "knock you out" in a single week with its new glow—then just send back the Guide for your money.

MEN! Everything said here applies to you too! Plus a special program starting on page 23 that you must try before you give up on thinning hair or baldness!

MEGA-WOMAN, INC.

This absolutely unretouched photograph of Oleda Baker was taken when she was 42 years, 1 month, and 10 days old.

And Now The Most Important Discovery Of All—Not Only How To Swell The Shaft Of Each Hair, And Thus Increase Its Width, But Also Make New Hair START GROWING Where It Wasn't Growing Before.

It takes less than five minutes to learn this procedure . . . only one evening to put it to work for you. It could save, not only your hair and your scalp, but your complexion as well.

And, though I've boiled this Guide down to a single weekend's reading, there's so much more in it including: The natural way to make your hair soft and manageable . . . how to restore flexibility and bounce and strength, especially to over-processed or aging hair . . . how to quietly control dandruff . . . why, if you have oily hair today, you can get rid of it tomorrow . . . exactly what to do if you now suffer from baby-fine hair, unruly hair, sunburned hair, "coarse" hair, or dry hair . . . how to keep new hair-growth coming in so fast and so thick that you too may have to cut AN INCH A MONTH from that hair—just to keep it in style.

By Megan Oliver

What do John Wayne, Willie Mays and Sen. Abraham Ribicoff have in common? All of these famous Americans got their start as newspaper carriers and, like dozens of other prominent people, give part of the credit for their success to the sense of responsibility and perseverance they developed delivering newspapers. In the words of another well-known former newspaperboy, the late Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, "A newspaper route is as good a teacher of lessons as any institution we have in America."

Why are we telling you all of this? Well, Saturday, October 15, is International Newspaper Carrier Day, the day set aside each year during National Newspaper Week to honor the boys — and since 1974 the girls — whose job it is to "get the paper out." Most of us who read the paper never stop to think about the carrier until it's time to pay him or her, or unless it's one of those occasions, like a snowstorm, when the paper's not there.

Newspaper carriers have not always been unsung heroes, as newspaperman Barrie J. Hughes of the Watertown (N.Y.) Daily Times discovered while researching his booklet, The World Honors the News Carrier. He reports that there are six known statues of newspaper carriers in places as far-flung as Lisbon and Los Angeles. The oldest known statue was dedicated on October 10, 1895, in Great Barrington, Mass. It was presented to the town by Col. William Lee Brown, a New York newspaper publisher. Col. Brown wanted to honor the newsboys whose energy had helped circulation of his second paper, the New York Daily News, climb from a few thousand to more than half a million.

The newsboy statue in Great Barrington is the most famous, and copies of it have been given to honor various people, including former President Ford.

Another famous statue of a newsboy is the bronze figure dedicated in 1933 in Rio de Janiero. Tradition has it that each time the Brazilian press is muzzled with stronger censorship, rags are stuffed into the open bronze mouth of the newsboy as a symbol.

So your local newspaper carrier is part of a long tradition. Who knows, maybe in a few years you'll be able to say you knew him or her back when.

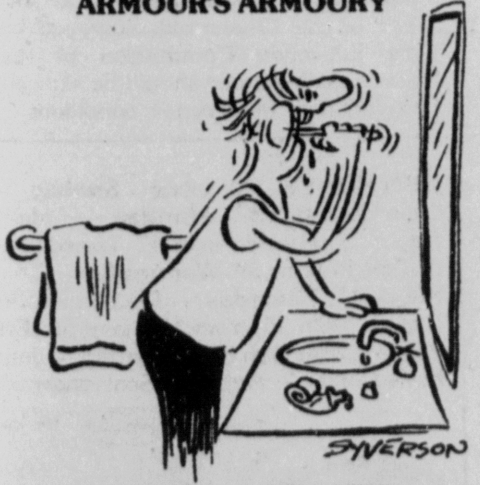
ARMOUR'S ARMOURY



TO TELL THE TOOTH

My toothbrush is a wondrous thing,
Its usefulness I hail and sing.
It keeps my teeth all white and clean
And free of caries dark and mean.
By doing such devoted duty
It makes my smile a thing of beauty.
It keeps me free of dentists' drills
As well as still more frightful bills.

It doesn't do this by itself.
I have to take it from the shelf
And ply it often, wield it lustily,
So if the things above aren't done,
Don't blame the toothbrush. I'm the one.

WHAT IN THE WORLD...

Childsafe

Parents who let infants or young children ride in cars without proper restraints are asking for trouble. Auto accidents are the leading cause of death among children, who can become flying missiles in a crash or a sudden stop. And adult seat belts aren't suitable for children under 4 or who weigh less than 40 pounds because their pelvic structures are fragile and the children are top-heavy. A wide variety of restraints are designed especially for children, but whatever kind you select, Susan Kummerow of the Wisconsin Hospital Assoc. says the restraint should distribute the pressure of the child's body over the largest possible area and provide good support for the head and neck to protect against whiplash. It also should be made of strong, energy-absorbing materials and be free of potential injury-producing features, such as a collapsible seat or a flimsy safety bar. The seat should be secured by using the standard lap belt or, says Kummerow, "your protection is flying out the window." Most restraints manufactured after July 1975 provide effective protection, but if you'd like a list of crash-tested models, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Susan Kummerow, Wisconsin Hospital Assoc., P.O. Box 4387, Madison, Wis. 53711.

Suited To A "T"

Many people's T-shirts fit them better than they think, says Dr. Max Fogel, as assoc. prof. of psychiatry at the Univ. of Pennsylvania. Although there are exceptions, "you can tell something about the person because the choice of messages is so deliberate." He continues, "Just the fact that the people are wearing the shirts says that they want some communication to take place between themselves and strangers — after all, some people won't wear these shirts at all." Dr. Fogel says that people who wear idol T-shirts, such as those that say "Rocky" or "Farrah," find something to admire about the star and would like you to associate them with that person. By contrast, he believes that people who wear T-shirts with place names on them don't have a strongly developed sense of identity at this point and tend to bury themselves in their environment. As for people who wear T-shirts with a sexually ambiguous message, such as "Foxy Lady," Dr. Fogel says they want the passerby to notice them and to make his own interpretation.

Making Crime Not Pay

Parents in Deerfield, Ill., have an added incentive to keep their teenagers from committing acts of vandalism — they can be fined up to $500. Alarmed by the rising vandalism rate, a few years ago the city fathers in Deerfield passed an ordinance providing that police can cite parents after the second act of vandalism by the same child in 12 months. And if the court finds the parent did not properly supervise the child, the parent can be fined from $25 to $500. During the first year after the law was passed, vandalism dropped 40% — and there haven't been any second offenses. Police Chief Richard Brandt gives the ordinance credit for reducing vandalism but points out that Deerfield also took other steps, including a "Youth Jury" program in which teenagers accused of minor offenses are tried by a jury of their peers.

Household Hazards For Pets

Many people worry about their pet being hit by a car, but chances are your dog or cat is in more immediate danger right inside your house. Dr. Walter E. Weirich, head of the Small Animal Clinic at Purdue Univ.'s School of Veterinary Medicine, says that at least ¾ of the pet injuries the clinic sees could have been prevented by owners. One major pet ailment is "garbage-can-itis," an illness caused by the pet's eating spoiled food from garbage cans. It often can cause severe vomiting and diarrhea for several days and can even be fatal. And despite the stereotype that dogs and bones go together like rabbits and carrots, never feed your pet bones — splintered bones can cause perforations in the digestive tract or constipation problems severe enough to require surgery. Another problem Dr. Weirich sees is that of dogs who drink from toilet bowls. If the bowl is in the process of being cleaned, the considerable lye in the toilet-bowl cleaner can cause severe damage. Pesticides and insecticides can be fatal to pets, so beware.

Keeping The Life Of The Party Alive

What do you do when the party's over and an intoxicated guest who shouldn't drive insists that he will? Since the odds of becoming involved in an automobile accident are increased 7 times if your guest has had even a few drinks, the last thing you should do is let him or her drive. And according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), the old remedy of pumping your guest full of coffee "will only make him a wide-awake drunk." The best way of handling the situation, says the NHTSA, is to have someone drive the guest home or talk him into staying over. Calling a cab and offering to pay the fare is another good solution — few people will turn down a free ride. If all else fails, risk losing a friend and take away his car keys — it's a lot better than risking his life. Some NHTSA tips for helping guests avoid having one too many:

- Have jiggers at the bar so guests can measure their drinks.
- Serve party snacks that slow down the rate at which the body absorbs alcohol. Foods with protein, such as cheese, eggs and meats, are especially good.
- Don't rush to refill your guest's glass the second it's empty — people often accept another drink only to avoid being rude.
- If you're serving an alcoholic punch, mix it with a tea or fruit juice base; carbonated mixers cause the body to absorb alcohol faster.

Quick Takes

There's nothing like a doctor to help a patient feel better — even if it's just the sound of the doctor's voice. Patients at a Calif. hospital who listened to the taped voice of a comforting doctor the night before an operation required less medication and recovered more quickly. . . . These days the head of the house might be the only person in it. The Census Bureau says the number of persons living alone in the U.S. more than doubled from 1960-1976; currently 1/5 of all households in the country consist of one person. . . . More and more young women are deciding that a law degree is a girl's best friend. Female enrollment in the 164 American Bar Assoc.-approved law schools increased more than 1000% from 1966-76. One of every 4 law students is now a woman. . . . Follow the birds and head south is good advice for people planning to retire, according to a report by the U.S. Labor Dept. The report, which compares retirement budgets for couples in 40 metropolitan areas, shows that retirement is likely to cost less in the South. Baton Rouge, La., has the lowest budget of all 40 cities surveyed, followed by Atlanta, Dallas and Austin. Aside from superexpensive Honolulu and Anchorage, the highest budgets are reported in the Northeastern cities. . . . Cities may not be as hazardous to one's mental health as many believe. A Columbia Univ. prof. of psychiatry reports that rates of emotional disturbance among Manhattanites were lower than those reported for residents of small towns and rural areas. . . . Despite well-publicized efforts to get women out of the house, ⅓ of American teenagers still believe that a woman's place is in the home. In addition, 1/5 of the 17-year-olds surveyed by the Education Commission of the States think women should be allowed to work only under certain conditions.

Here, indeed, is an exciting array of America's favorite recording stars from every field of music—classical, rock, jazz, country, popular, folk—music to satisfy your every mood. There are 318 selections to choose from in this booklet, and you may have any 11—at once—on this introductory offer!

To join the Club simply mail the application, together with your check or money order for $1.86 as payment (that's $1.00 for your first 11 records or tapes, plus 86¢ for shipping and handling).

How the Club operates: every four weeks (13 times a year) you'll receive the Club's music magazine, which describes the Selection of the Month for each musical interest...plus hundreds of alternates from every field of music. In addition, up to six times a year you may receive offers of Special Selections, usually at a discount off regular Club prices.

If you wish to receive the Selection of the Month or the Special Selection, you need do nothing—it will be shipped automatically. If you prefer an alternate selection, or none at all, simply fill in the response card always provided and mail it by the date specified.

You will always have at least 10 days in which to make your decision. If you ever receive any Selection without having had at least 10 days to decide, you may return it at our expense, for full credit.

Your own charge account will be opened...the records and tapes you order will be mailed and billed at regular Club prices, which currently are $6.98 or $7.98—plus shipping and handling. (Multiple unit sets and Double Selections may be somewhat higher.)

After completing your enrollment agreement (by buying 8 selections within 3 years), you may cancel membership at any time. If you decide to continue, you'll be eligible for our generous money-saving bonus plan. Here, indeed, is the most convenient way possible to acquire the record and tape library you want—at the greatest savings possible! So act now—fill in and mail the application today!
